AUTO CRASHES INTO RIG FATALLY INJURING GIRL

Returning From Mother's Grave Miss Olsen is Thrown From Carriage When Car Strikes it and Dies Alone After Being Taken Home —Police Search For Chauffuer in Whose Auto Were Two Women.

Miss May Olsen, of 420 West Second street, this city, was fatally injured ad John Gill, of St. Mary's hospital, slightly hurt as the result of an automobile crashing into their carriage last night near the Dunellen car barns. County Prosecutor Mac Farlarns.

The number of the automobile was not noted nor was the name of the driver. Gill stated to the police this morning that he has seen the chauffeur before and can identify him.

There is an extremely pathetic side to this sad fatality. Miss Olsen was to have been married to John Gill last December. She was twenty-three years old and an orphan. Her mother died on January 19, leaving her entirely alone. For the past few years the young woman and Gill were much together and on this occasion arrangements were made for a drive to Rahway to visit Gill's friend Hill, who is employed by the Crotty Livery Stables, on West Second street, proceeding in the carriage, and they started off about one o'clock.

With the memory of her recent sorrow fresh upon her Miss Olsen proposed a visit to her mother's grave in Hillside cemetery taking flowers along for the purpose of decorating it. They spent almost an hour in arranging and tidying the mound of earth, where lay her mother's remains, the girl giving way several times to emotion. Then the two drove off to Rahway, but were disappointed to find their friends absent from home. Undecided what to do they determined to continue their drive to Roosevelt. After some refreshments there they set out on the return journey via Westfield, arriving at Central avenue about nine o'clock, Gill being so fine the couple decided to prolong their enjoyment and drove through Plainfield, past Green to Mannion's corner, where they agreed that it was time to return.

It was then dusk and they had no light on the buggy. "They proceeded slowly and cautiously," Gill's deposition, "keeping to the right side of the road." Suddenly four glaring lights came into view and the noise of two automobiles rushing at a high rate of speed was heard. To avoid a collision Gill drew the horse and buggy into the ditch but this did not prove quite, for one of the automobiles struck the left wheel, wrecking the buggy and hurling its two occupants insensible into the roadway. Slowly stunned Gill picked himself up a minute later and found his companion lying across his chest.

Gill lifted the young woman to her feet and asked her how she felt. She replied that her shoulder hurt. She was also limping. The touring car, which Gill says hit them returned. It was too dark to see the number but he said he recognized the chauffeur. One of the women in the car suggested that Miss Olsen be taken back to Plainfield in their car. To this Gill demurred and as the girl said she felt able to go back in the trolley car the party drove on.

The horse was found uninjured in an adjoining field this morning. The other car which Gill stated as a runabout did not stop. The accident happened about 9:30.

The girl was taken on the trolley to her room in Mrs. Charles Jones's 425 West Second street. She was still complaining of her shoulder, and was suffering from shock. Gill told Mrs. Francisco about the accident and the girl went to bed. She said she would be all right in the morning. Gill went home.

Six o'clock this morning Mrs. Francisco knocked at the girl's door to call her to go to work. There was no reply, on entering the room she found the girl was dead. Dr. Potts was immediately summoned and pronounced life extinct. It is the opinion that an autopsy will be necessary and informed Chief of Police Kelly. The latter immediately notified Prosecutor George Silzer, of New Brunswick, and the Middlesex county physician.

The body of the girl was removed to George Cole's mortuary where an inquest will be held.

John Gill was deeply moved when the news was broken to him this morning of the death of his fiancee. The police are busily instituting inquiries for the automobile that crashed into the buggy. At the car may have been damaged, they hope to be able to locate it.

The Sunday school of the Crescent avenue church will not meet during the month of August.

BOYS START TO CAMP TOMORROW MORNING

The first party of Y. M. C. A. boys, who will spend their vacations at the association's camp at Lake Wawayanda, will leave for there on the 6:27 train tomorrow morning. The boys will go to New York where they will be met at the Erie Station by a leader who will take entire charge of the group until they reach the camping grounds. The trip means a two hours journey on the Erie. Delegations of jolly youths board the train at a number of points along the line and acquaintances of previous years are renewed.

When the train pulls into New Milford the boys will be piled into motor launches to take them across Greenwood Lake. They will be met here by a number of wagons ready to carry them nine miles over the mountain roads to a points where traffic is halted because of the steep drives. This necessitates a two mile walk through the woods to the camping grounds where they arrive about one o'clock in the afternoon, tired and hungry. The culinary department has made arrangements to offset this, however, and the boys will be well supplied with eatables upon their arrival.

The camp itself is situated in the beautiful hills of Northern New Jersey and is the best equipped and organized boys' camp in the state. The campers are devided into tent groups of eight boys each and boys of the same association are rarely placed together. This affords them a chance to become acquainted with fellows outside of their own delegation and gives them a broader view of the camp activities.

C. W. Bingeman, boys' secretary of the local association, has been in the camp for the past week and has had a staff of workers engaged in getting the tents and other equipment ready for opening on Tuesday.

SOME PROMOTIONS DUE IN POLICE DEPARTMENT

The Councilmanic Police Board will meet tomorrow night, when the question of promotions and the filling of vacancies will be discussed. It is expected that Mayor G. W. V. Moy will make the nominations and the Common Council will act on the appointments within a short time. It is said that he will either appoint two roundsmen or a roundsman and a sergeant, the latter to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Sergeant Herbert L. Overbaugh. In case two roundsmen are named it will give the department three officers of that rank, allowing one for every eight hours of duty.

When questioned about the matter today, Mayor Moy, while not willing to confirm the report, intimated that action would be taken soon. It is said that he is anxious to fill the vacancies in the department so that there will be the full quota of men on duty and the best police service possible be given in all parts of the city.

PATRIOTIC EXERCISES.

The mid-week prayer meeting at the First Baptist church, Wednesday night, will partake of Bible school patriotic exercises, in which there will be good singing by the Francisco Girls Quartet, solos and other selections and appropriate recitations. The exercises will conclude with services of an evangelistic nature. Mrs. Lucie Rising will be in charge.

TO CELEBRATE THE FOURTH.

The Park Golf Club is planning for a big time on July 4, when there will be special events on the course, and in addition a reception and tea at the clubhouse in the afternoon. There will be a play for the holiday cup, with handicap, 18 holes; also an approaching and putting competition.

7TH-DAY ADVENTISTS PLANNING CAMPAIGN

A vigorous campaign against infidelity will be conducted in six cities in New Jersey this summer according to an announcement made today by President A. R. Sandborn at the campmeeting and business session of the New Jersey Conference of Seventh-day Adventists which are being held at Park avenue and Randolph road. These gospel meetings will be held soon after the close of the campmeeting. There will be two series in Jersey City, one for the English speaking people and the other for the Swedes; one in Newark, one in Trenton, one in Camden, one in Paterson and one in Plainfield.

Seventh-day Adventist say they believe that they have a message to give to the world that Christ is to return to the earth in this generation and those who feel the responsibility of giving the gospel to the people of New Jersey are zealous to spread their doctrines. Several new canvas pavilions have been purchased in which the campaigns will be conducted.

President Sandborn, who is from Trenton, announced in his report that efforts will be made to win souls among the English, Germans, Hollanders, Slavish-Bohemians, and Danish-Norwegians. He told of the progress that has been made by the colporteurs to spread the gospel through the printed page in addition to the evangelistic work that has been done by the ministers. He dwelt on the church schools that are being conducted by the conference and how children are being taught to do service for the salvation of men.

The President said that three new churches have been organized during the last year—one in Ramah, one at Paterson and one at Rockaway. Pastor A. G. Christiansen, of San Diego, Calif., is expected to arrive any day to take up his labors in the New Jersey Conference, said the speaker, who told of the large number of foreigners in New Jersey and emphasized the fact that greater missionary endeavor will be put forth among them this summer than ever in the past. The real work in connection with the advancement of the denomination in this state has begun with the appointment of the committee as follows: Plans and Resolutions, J. G. Hanhardt, W. C. Cleveland, N. S. Ashton, C. E. Grey, Jr., A. E. Rambo, J. M. Gaff and George A. Rohde. Credentials and Licenses: W. H. Smith, F. M. Wilcox and H. J. Adams. Nominations, G. W. Spies, C. J. Beach, B. J. Blinn, A. O. Lund and Prof. B. G. Wilkinson.

With scores of Plainfield residents in attendance as well as practically all of the campers and many members who came to spend Sunday, a rousing temperance rally which resolved itself into a mass meeting was held yesterday afternoon. After stirring addresses condemning the liquor traffic in its various phases had been made by Mrs. Mary Davis Tomlinson, president of the W. C. T. U., of Plainfield, whose subject was "The Protection of the Homes;" Mrs. T. C. Bodine, state superintendent of the evangelistic department of the W. C. T. U., whose subject was "Christian Temperance, the Hope of Society;" Prof. B. G. Wilkinson, of Washington, D. C., and Dr. H. C. Menke, a returned medical missionary from India, a resolution opposing the liquor traffic was passed by the audience.

Mrs. Tomlinson in her remarks emphasized the necessity of having a guard line in the homes. She said it was her belief that if every child was asked to take a pledge there would be fewer drunkards in this country. She said it would teach children to say no when invited to imbibe in strong drink.

Mrs. Bodine told of the victory that has been gained by the Women's Christian Temperance Union through having incorporated in the physiologies used in school the dangers that follow from the drinking of intoxicating liquors. She dwelt at length on the moderate drinker and the chances he takes of becoming a drunkard through imbibing in "an occasional drink." She declared that a great many come to sorrow and grief through moderate drinking. She said that the sin is in the drinking and not in the drunkenness.

Prof Wilkinson gave some startling statistics as the result of the liquor traffic. Dr. Menkel spoke of the physical side of the liquor traffic, he told of the effect that alcohol has on the delicate organisms of the body, and emphatically declared that not only was it a terror to the human system when taken inwardly but was also dangerous when used as an anesthetic. At night, Prof. Wilkinson preached on the Millenium.

Miss Mellick and Miss Schuyler, of East Seventh street; Mrs. Carl Pfeiffer, of Cedarcroft, and Miss Maude Smith, of South Plainfield, are registered for the summer at the Nonantum, Kennebunkport, Maine.

TROOPS MAY YET GO TO SEA GIRT

READY FOR EMERGENCY

New Jersey Has $60,000 Available For Sending Militia to Mt. Gretna and Government Was to Add $27,000 to the Fund.

Trenton, July 1.—Unless there is a quick move in Washington, one which is not expected before the middle of July, the order of the Government and also of Governor Wilson, sending the Second brigade, to which Co. K, of Plainfield, belongs, into army maneuvers, at Mt. Gretna, Pa., with the regulars of Uncle Sam, will have to be rescinded, and, in that event, it is quite possible that Sea Girt will see the Second brigade in camp this summer.

At the present time the office of Quartermaster General Edward Murray is figuratively marking time, until it is known what the Federal Government can do. As it stands now there is not a cent of money available to pay the troops after July 1, this marking the commencement of the Government fiscal year of 1913, and, of course, under that condition the order for the Mt. Gretna maneuvers can not stand. It all depends on what Congress does with the army pay bill. At present that measure has been vetoed, and because of the obnoxious rider which would have taken Major General Wood from command of the army. Everybody is praising the President for his stand, but this does not help out the matter of money, and money is wanted for the maneuvers, which begin July 15.

The State of New Jersey has $60,000 available for camping purposes, and the Government was to put $27,000 more to this for the complete payment of the expense of the troops of this State. Now it can not put a cent toward the coming maneuvers at Mt. Gretna, and as it looks now the chances of the Second brigade going there this summer are slim. In the event of their not going, it is believed Governor Wilson will surely want them to go to the State grounds.

This situation is not as bad for the First brigade, as the date for those maneuvers, around New York, was set for August 22, by which time certainly the army muddle will be cleared up. The soldiers to be affected by the first order of July 15 are the Second and Third regiments alone, the First brigade being composed of the First, Fourth and Fifth infantries, the troops, batteries and signal and hospital corps being attached direct to division headquarters and not being under the brigade commanders.

A matter which will trouble the officers of the Second brigade if they have to go to Sea Girt instead of Mt. Gretna is the difference between the State pay and the Government pay, which is as follows: Major general, $16.67 per diem Government and $6 State pay; colonel, $11.11 Government against $5 State; lieutenant colonel, $9.72 Government, $4 State; major, $8.33 Government to $4 State; captain, $6.67 Government to $3 State; first lieutenant, $5.56 Government to $2.50 State; and second lieutenant, $4.72 Government to $2.50 State pay. The Government only gives enlisted men 50 cents a day, but the State of New Jersey always pays her soldiers $1.50 a day, so the enlisted men would not lose.

HEBREW FREE SCHOOL HAS ANNUAL OUTING

The second annual picnic of the Plainfield Hebrew Free School, which was held yesterday at Gillette, was attended by about 350 Hebrews and was a big success. Over $200 was netted from the outing at which games, baseball and dancing were the principal amusements. The children of the school presented a Biblical sketch, "Joseph and His Brothers," which proved to be interesting and amusing. Hyman Adelberg, chairman of the committee in charge, was given great credit for his untiring efforts to make the picnic a success. The other members of the committee were Kalman Rothberg, Morris Cohen, Samuel Gallison, Jacob Sklarew, Henry Rosenbaum and Edward Nadler.

The Plainfield Hebrew Free School, which has its home in the Y. M. H. A. building, is free to all the Hebrew children of Plainfield. The children are instructed in Hebrew history, Hebrew language, Hebrew literature and Hebrew religion.

POKER STAKES DISPUTE; ONE PLAYER SLASHED

Lonis Pelligren, of Cottage place, was badly slashed about the head with a razor during a row over a poker game, yesterday. He was taken to the hospital, where his injuries were attended to. His condition is not considered serious. Patsey Hawley, who was present at the scrap, was held as a witness by City Judge William G. DeMeza this morning, under a bond of $300. He said the man who slashed Pelligren was a stranger to him. There was some dispute over the stakes, and Pelligren was ordered by the stranger to hand over some money. This he refused to do, and the other attacked him with the razor. The men were playing cards in the hose of Pasquale Leucurrilo, Cottage place.

WILLIAM H. BRYAN DIES; FORMER BANK EXAMINER

William Howard Bryan, aged 57 years, of Hackensack, son of Mrs. Lydia L. and the late Rev. J. R. Bryan, of this city, died at his home, Saturday, following a long illness. He was a State bank examiner for many years. At various times he was cashier of the People's Bank, East Orange; president of the Hungarian Bank, of New York, and was employed for a number of years by the Park Bank, of New York. The funeral service will be held at the late home in Hackensack tomorrow afternoon and the burial will be in this city on Wednesday.

Surviving Mr. Bryan is his widow, who is a sister of Mrs. O. L. Jenkins, of Myrtle avenue; two daughters, Mrs. Matile, wife of Lieut. Matile, of the Philippine Islands, and Mrs. W. H. Wilson, of Hacensack; his mother, Mrs. Lydia L. Bryan, of Albert street; a brother, Dr. Joseph Bryan, of Asbury Park, and two sisters, Mrs. Russell R. Dorr, of this city, and Mrs. William Chandler, of Chicago.

EPWORTH LEAGUE OUTING.

The members of the Epworth League of the First M. E. church, to the number of about twenty, enjoyed a social gathering Saturday afternoon and evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Francis G. Crawford, on Myrtle avenue. During the afternoon the young people enjoyed games, including baseball, until the shower came up, and then the company adjourned to the house, where the festivities were continued. Mr. and Mrs. Crawford proved a delightful host and hostess and all had a genuine good time.

WILSON PASSES CLARK; JERSEYMAN MAY WIN

Gov. 475 and Speaker 446 on 31st Ballot.—Tammany Bitterness Against Bryan May Continue Deadlock.

Baltimore, July 1, 3:30 p. m.—On the thirty-first ballot Wilson received 475½, and Clark 446½. Underwood jumped up to 116½. Foss had 30 votes. The other votes were scattered.

Governor Wilson passed Speaker Clark on the thirtieth ballot. He was given a tremendous demonstration. His gain has been steady on each ballot since the convention started to vote today.

Baltimore, July 1.—The troubles of the Democratic convention had increased rather than diminished this morning when it reassembled at 11 o'clock to take its twenty-seventh Presidential ballot. The deadlock stood stancher than ever despite countless, prolonged conferences on Sunday.

And Col. Bryan continued a menacing figure bent on ruling the convention so far as threats and eloquence could sway the delegates. As for the several candidates, the Wilson forces counted on increasing their vote by at least 15 to 20 votes and even larger gains not far away.

But the Clark men were standing firm and looked to have a bedrock vote of about 400 so long as New York held with them. And Mr. Murphy had no notion of deserting Clark for the present at any rate.

Bitterness between the two camps was more intense than ever before. Conditions approximated closely to those at Chicago in the last stressful days before the break that produced two political parties out of the old Republican party. But there was no evident purpose on anybody's part to precipitate an open split.

Clear-headed leaders had worked out a plan to avoid a party rupture if worst comes to worst. Their plan to be brought forward if the deadlock should continue till Wednesday, is this:

To introduce a resolution which shall declare the convention in recess until probably Aug. 1. Then for it to direct the state organizer in each state to hold a presidential preference primary for which the general regulations would be laid down in the resolution. Plenty of latitude would be left modification with the view of meeting conditions in each state.

Baltimore, July 1.—John B. Stanchfield today dashed the hopes of the Wilson men that there would be aid for the Jerseyman from New York. This lawyer-politician was counted as one of the "Wilson men" in the dispatches sent out from here to the Wilson organ in New York.

But Stanchfield today declared: "It's to be a fight to a finish. If Bryan is to be the leader of the Democratic party, we might as well find it out now."

"We were in for a fight," continued Mr. Stanchfield, "and we might as well have it out.

"I don't know what the result will be, but this I do know: Any nominee of this convention tagged with Bryanism, will lose New York state by 250,000. He may carry Nebraska, but he won't get New York."

BOOKER WASHINGTON SPEAKS.

Somerville, July 1.—Booker Washington spoke in the Second Reformed church, here, last night, telling of the great work that is being done at Tuskegee Institute, and also something of himself, describing his early struggles for an education which led to the founding of the institute in the south. There are now about 2,000 students at Tuskegee being instructed in all the trades. The institute occupies thousands of acres upon which there are one hundred buildings.

Rev. Dr. Samuel M. Zwemer, of Arabia, will preach at Trinity Reformed church, Sunday morning, July 14.

The number of days clear were 10; partly cloudy, 16; cloudy, 4. The number of days on which .01 inch or more of precipitation occurred was 9. The prevailing wind for the month was southwest.

NEW YORK FIREMEN GUESTS AT BANQUET

The members of the New York fire department baseball team and the Plainfield nine were entertained at dinner at the Hotel Kensington, Saturday night, following the game between these teams on Crescent Oval, in the afternoon. The affair was arranged by "Ben" Mumford, one of the veteran firemen of the city, whose heart still beats strong for the fire-fighters of the present day.

V. W. Nash, Sr., another veteran fireman, was toastmaster, and both he, Chief T. O. Doane and Mr. Mumford, in short speeches, gave a warm welcome to the fire laddies from New York, who were referred to as the representatives of the finest department in the world. There were brief responses on the part of the visiting firemen, and they all thanked the Plainfielders for the fine entertainment provided. It is likely that another game will be arranged between these teams during the summer.

PLANNING IMPROVEMENTS.

Watchung Council, Knights of Columbus, will hold a meeting tomorrow night, when matters pertaining to the proposed addition to the clubhouse will be discussed. It is expected that operations will begin within a short time so that the work can be completed before fall.

TWO LICENSES HELD UP.

Atlantic City, July 1.—Aroused by the favorable attitude shown by some of the members of City Council toward the license applications of William Altreuter and Thomas Colotty, despite remonstrances submitted by property owners in the vicinity of their cafes, those who are opposed to the licenses obtained a writ of certiorari from Supreme Court Justice Kalisch. May's Landing Friday, rendering City Council powerless to renew either while the question is pending before the courts. The writ establishes a precedent in the fight that has been waged against license holders, and, as it is not returnable until July 6, both men will be compelled to close their bars today, when their present licenses expire, and keep them closed until some definite decision is reached.

DISPLAYED STUFFED BIRDS.

Union Hill, July 1.—A fine of $5 was imposed Friday on Benjamin Kohls, a milliner, who was displaying in his show window a stuffed bird. It had been shot while under protection of the law. The penalty was imposed by Justice of the Peace Jacob Weber, of West Hoboken, on complaint of Game Warden Daniel Laranze, of this place. He was passing the shop when he saw the bird in the window.

CLERIC RESIGNS AS SUPPLY.

Kingston, July 1.—Rev. [illegible] Sheddan, assistant librarian of Princeton Theological Seminary Library, has resigned his position as a supply at the Presbyterian church here. His duties at Princeton were too many for him to continue the work. The church is now hearing supplies. Mr. Sheddan supplied the Kingston pulpit for more than two years.

STARTS QUO WARRANTO TO OUST POLICE CHIEF

Trenton, July 1.—Questioning the right of David H. Ramsey to act as chief of police of Rahway, Alfred B. Cook has started quo warranto proceedings in the Supreme Court to oust him from the position. Cook, who is a citizen, says that Ramsey was nominated by Mayor William Howard, November 21, 1911, and confirmed by Common Council. He was not and had not been a member of the police force of the city.

It is averred that the city charter provides that no person shall be appointed to an official position in the department or promoted from one position to another unless he has served continuously for five years. On this ground the removal of Ramsey is asked.

ROOSEVELT STRIKERS MAY GET AN ADVANCE

Roosevelt, July 1.—Following a conference Friday afternoon between Mayor Joseph A. Harman, County Judge Peter F. Daly, representing the borough, and H. L. Dudley, general purchasing agent of the American Agricultural Chemical Works, whose employes are on strike, it was announced that the strikers would probably return to work this week.

"Our conference was very satisfactory," said the Mayor, "and I am confident that the strike will be over early this week. The strikers have been out now more than a week and have conducted themselves in an orderly manner."

It is expected that when the men return to work that they will receive $2 a day. When they struck they were getting $1.80 a day.

DEPOSED CLERK SEEKS TO OUST SUCCESSOR

Elizabeth, July 1.—Sidney Eldridge, of this city, has instituted proceedings to oust John R. Connolly, clerk of the County Board of Taxation. Mr. Connolly is a Democrat, while Mr. Eldridge is a Republican.

When Governor Wilson appointed as a member of the Union County Board of Taxation former Assemblyman Calvin S. Broadhead, of Plainfield, it made the tax board Democratic. Then the board elected Mr. Connolly to fill the place of Mr. Eldridge, who claims civil service protection.

The board's contention is that the clerk is only elected from year to year, and that the civil service law doesn't apply. Mr. Eldridge has appealed to the Civil Service Commission at Trenton.

COMMISSIONS AWARDED BY CHANCELLOR WALKER

Trenton, July 3.—The issuing of commissions as masters in Chancery to the following counselors-at-law has been directed by Chancellor Walker: Ernest T. Williamson, Charles L. Williams, Philip R. Van-Duyne, Clarence Sackett, Nicholas F. Perrotty, James H. Penn, John J. Murphy, Eugene H. Meyer, Harold W. Headley, Edward L. Hartman, Joseph M. Degnan, Runyon Colie, Henry P. Bedford and Nicholas Albani, all of Newark.

James T. Ackerman, Arthur B. Archibold, Abraham Levitan and Fred J. Stuhr, of Jersey City; William B. Vanecek and Harry H. Weinberger, of Passaic; Ira F. Smith and Eldon R. Walker, of Trenton; Harlan Besson and A. Orestes Ciccarelli, of Hoboken; William De Lorenzo, of Hackensack; David Armstrong, of Rahway; Arthur M. Agnew, of town of Union; Martin B. Stutsman, of Plainfield; Otto F. Seggel, of West Hoboken; H. Byron Lors, of Bridgeton, and Samuel C. Garrison, of Boonton.

BANKRUPTCY REFEREE'S ORDER IS REVERSED

Trenton, July 1.—The order of the referee in bankruptcy adjudging that the title of a suction dredge was in William J. Thompson at the time the bankruptcy proceedings against him were begun, was reversed by Judge Rellstab in the United States District Court Saturday.

The reversal was because certain testimony was executed, and Judge Rellstab directs that the cause be remanded so that it may be received, if offered again.

In the opinion Judge Rellstab states that the death of Mr. Thompson, who was known as the "Duke of Gloucester," seriously complicated the case, as he would have been a competent witness. John C. Stoer claimed to be the owner of the dredge. Thompson, according to the evidence, gave notes in payment for the dredge, but upon his inability to meet these notes he surrendered title to Stoer and the notes were returned. There was actual changes of possession, however, and the referee held that Thompson continued to hold title.

Plainfield, N. J., July 1, 1912.

Only once in all its long history has the Democratic party, the oldest party in American politics, engaged in such a prolonged fight over the nomination of a Presidential candidate. That was in 1860 when Stephen A. Douglas was named on the fifty-ninth ballot. After taking fifty-seven ballots the convention adjourned, without nominating. After reconvening two ballots were taken when Douglas won the coveted place on the ticket. Eight years previously, in 1852, Franklin Pierce was declared the party's choice on the forty-ninth ballot, the contest marking the second longest struggle. The present contest takes rank as third.

Twenty-two ballots were taken in 1868 when Horatio Seymour was declared the standard bearer. Four years later Horace Greely was named on the first ballot. His was practically an endorsement for he had already been nominated by the Liberal Republicans. In the Centennial year, Samuel Tilden received the nomination on the second ballot and in 1880 General Hancock won by changes taking place after the second ballot had been recorded and before the result was announced. Grover Cleveland's nomination in 1884 was determined on the second ballot. Four and eight years later, respectively, he was selected on the first ballot in each instance.

In the most violent convention held by the Democrats since 1860, William Jennings Bryan was declared the choice of the 1896 convention when the fifth ballot was taken. His famous "cross of gold and crown of thorns" speech brought him the nomination. In 1900 he got the honor again but on the first ballot. Alton B. Parker received the same treatment in 1904. The first ballot in 1908 landed the nomination for the Commoner. The present contest, therefore, is the most prolonged in forty-four years.

Announcement was made in the advertising columns of this paper on Saturday that at the close of business on that date the deposits of the State Trust Company had reached to nearly $500,000. When it is considered how brief has been the period since the institution was established, the showing reflects most creditably on the officers and directors and particularly on Edward P. Feickert to whose indefatigable efforts much of the success of the company is due. The phenominal growth has been attained in a very large measure by the policy of the State Trust in extending individual service to each and every one of its patrons. The average depositor is quick to appreciate the value of this and it has played an important part in the unusually speedy up-building of the concern.

Are there 133 residents whose conviction in a safe and sane Fourth of July celebration is strong enough to prompt them each to contribute $1 to the fund being raised for the Independence day demonstration at Parker Field. Altogether $88 has been given for this purpose by local men whose names will be found in another column of this issue. The Playgrounds Commission, which has charge of this proposed celebration, welcomes additional contributions. One dollar from you will be most acceptable.

It will surprise many persons to learn how much really valuable property in our State is exempt from taxation. It includes public schools, religious schools, church and charitable property, cemeteries and public property. Last year alone, there was exempted $187,499,746 worth of such property. The entire taxable property in the State was $2,166,735,535. That means that eleven per cent. of the entire valuation was exempt.

The contributing editor for next Saturday's issue will be a generous and public spirited citizen. He is the head of a great corporation with headquarters in New York, but although he is naturally much engrossed with his business he has found time to serve the people in public office. In the latter capacity he made a splendid record. His editorial will be of interest to all who have New Jersey's welfare at heart.

"Dollar Jim" Sherman has returned to Utica, N. Y., to receive notification of his re-nomination for the vice-presidency. Of course, it will be a great surprise to him.

Federal Government report explains how they are making figs from bananas. Very soon, they will be making pumpkin heads out of politicians.

The Bryan jackass, the Tammany tiger and the Clark hound dog are making Baltimore pass sleepless nights while they are mixing it up.

Woodrow Wilson is to be commended for the self-restraint he is exercising while the Democratic convention is struggling at Baltimore.

Weather forecast is that the sun will shine all week. Still, it promises to be stormy at Baltimore.

THE TEMPERATURE.

The thermometer at the State Trust Co. today stood at: 9 a. m., 68 degrees; 11 a. m., 77 degrees; 1 p. m., 80 degrees.

TERMS OF THREE DIRECTORS OF LIBRARY EXPIRE TODAY

The terms of office of William F. Merrill, Cornelius Boardman Tyler and Dr. B. vanD. Hedges as directors of the Plainfield Public Library and Reading Room expire today and the appointment of their successors is to be made by Mayor G. W. V. Moy. This will probably be done at once.

Whether the same three men will be named cannot be learned. They have served as directors of the board for some time.

SECOND SURPRISE FOR HIS MILLSTONE FLOCK

Rev. Floris Ferwerda, the pastor of the Reformed church at Millstone, who gave his parishioners a surprise a week ago yesterday when he and Miss Marie Undritz, of Raritan, were married at the dedication services of a Reformed church chapel at Somerville, gave his people another surprise yesterday, when at the morning service he tendered his resignation as pastor of the church.

Mr. Ferwerda told his congregation that he had decided to take up a special course of study at Princeton Theological Seminary and that he and his wife would soon remove to Princeton. The announcement completely upset the congregation for plans were underway for giving the couple a reception.

Joseph McIntyre, director of the McIntyre concerts, leaves today for Berkeley, California, where he will spend the summer with his family. He returns to take up his work here th last of September.

PULPIT SUPPLIES FOR CRESCENT AVE. CHURCH

Gilbert Lovell, Chang Teh, China.

MISS KURTZNER BRIDE OF GEORGE H. HANSEN

Miss Clara Ivy Belle Kurtzner, daughter of Mrs. John L. Anderson, and George Henry Hansen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hansen, of Lincoln, were married Saturday evening at the home of the bride's mother. Miss Effie Hansen, sister of the bridegroom, was the bridemaid and Edward S. Kurtzner, brother of the bride, was the best man.

The bride was gowned in white voile and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses. The bridemaid was also gowned in white and carried roses. The bride was the recipient of many gifts.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. William Kurtzner, Mr. and Mrs. John G. Kurtzner and family, of Albany; Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin, of Newark, the Misses Anna and Minnie Wuergler, Mr. and Mrs. William Hansen, of Plainfield; Mr. and Mrs. George B. Coffee, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hansen, Miss Effie Hansen, John Sobel. The couple will reside at the bride's home, the "Old Farm House," Lincoln, for the present.

EDWARD BRADLEY BURIED.

The funeral of Edward Bradley, of 86 Leland avenue, was held in St. Mary's church at 9 o'clock this morning when solemn requiem mass was said. Father Bogan was celebrant, Father Hogan acted as deacon and Father Sciola as sub-deacon. Many relatives and friends, and Plainfield lodge, No. 4, of the A. O. H., were present. The pall-bearers were John McNally, Martin Regan, Michael McCaffery, Joseph Divvier and Patrick Griffin. Interment was made at St. Mary's cemetery.

MISS SMITH'S FUNERAL.

The funeral services of the late Miss Imogen Smith, a school teacher, was held at her home 315 Washington avenue, Dunellen yesterday. Rev. A. R. Brown, pastor of the Presbyterian church, officiated. This morning the body was taken to Sparta where the interment will be made. Several beautiful wreaths, one from the children of the New Market school, were placed on the casket.

FIREWORKS AT PARK CLUB.

The Park Club has arranged to celebrate July 4 by giving a fine display of fireworks in the evening, to which the members of the Park Golf Club have been invited. There will also be dancing at the clubhouse. While the celebration will be intended for the members of the two clubs, the privilege of inviting a limited number of friends has been extended.

WILBUR TAYLOR BURIED.

The funeral of Wilbur Taylor, colored, was held at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Caesar Taylor, on Westervelt avenue, yesterday afternoon at 2:30. The funeral left the Calvary Baptist church at 3 o'clock. Rev. G. W. Bailey and the Rev. Frederick D. Tilden officiated. Interment was made at Hillside cemetery.

ADDRESSES FRIENDS.

Rev. Dr. George H. Whitney, of First place, made an excellent address to the Friends at the Meeting House on Watchung avenue yesterday. His topic was taken from the fifth chapter of Genesis, the twenty-second verse, "Enoch walked with God three hundred years." The meeting was well attended.

COLUMBUS KNIGHTS OUTING.

At a meeting of Watchung Council, Knights of Columbus, held last night, arrangements were made for its annual excursion on August 8. The committee appointed includes Miles Wilson, chairman; John J. Kenney, Andrew Kenney, David Doyle, Thomas Carty, Charles Kling and Robert McCormick.

FRANK EVANS INJURED.

Frank Evans, shortstop for the Public Service team in the Manufacturers' League, sprained his ankle on Saturday in the game with the R. G. E. team, on the Myrtle avenue grounds. Evans was stealing third base when the accident occurred, and he was obliged to go out of the game.

Mrs. Francis deLacy Hyde, of Mountain avenue, the borough, who has been visiting out of town for a short time, has returned home.

J. W. Jackson, of Crescent avenue, who with Mrs. Jackson is spending the summer in the Thousand Islands, has been in town for a few days.

Mrs. Charles I. Nash, of DeLacy avenue, who has been spending several months with her daughter, Mrs. Pettit, in Chicago, will return home this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Giddes, of Codington avenue, have left for a two week trip through western New York state. Among the places they will visit are Buffalo and Niagara Falls.

USEFUL INVENTION.

A Yorkshire farmer was paid by check for some cattle he had sold. It was the first time that it had ever happened.

"What's this?" he said.

"Why money for the beasts," said the cattle dealer.

The farmer stared and had to be assured that if he took it to the bank they would give him gold for it.

"Well," said he, "Aw'll try, but if it's wrong 'un thou'll hear about it."

The check was cashed, of course, and the farmer went home happy, but he could not sleep. He had seen a wonderful thing and it had excited him. As soon as day broke he made for the cattle dealer's house and woke the dealer.

"It's me," he said. "Where's tha got thim bits of paper from? Aw cud do wi' half a dozen myself!"—Youth's Companion.

MONTVILLE TO CELEBRATE.

Boonton, July 1.—The members of the Lower Montville Dutch Reformed church are planning an all-day celebration of Independence Day on the church grounds. Dinner and supper will be served in a tent. A literary and musical entertainment will be given in the church at night. The Montville Fourth of July celebration has been an annual event for more than a half century.

STEAL TROLLEY WIRE.

Morristown, July 1.—Thieves cut down and carried away about three hundred feet of trolley wire from the Boonton branch of the Morris County Traction Company near Foxhill Saturday morning. The theft occured betweeen 1 and 5 o'clock and was not discovered until it was attempted to start the power plant. Repairs have been made and the branch is again in service.

—Aaron Reed, of Fritz place, was arrested Saturday evening on the charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct. After a severe reprimand by Judge Gano and a promise to take the pledge for a year, he was released.

—Sherdon Jones, of Greenbrook road, was arraigned before Judge Gano this morning on the charge of drunkenness. He was arrested by Marshall Keller on Lincoln place, Saturday evening. Jones will enjoy bread and water for a week with a longer sentence impending.

The annual excursion of Trinity Reformed church and Sunday-school to Asbury Park will be held on Thursday, August 1.

LAY-OFF AT POWDER PLANTS.

Dover, July 1.—Failure of Congress to pass the army and navy bill is likely to throw out of employment about 100 employes, divided about equally between the Picatinny arsenal, where powder for the government is manufactured, and the naval power depot, which is used principally for the storage of powder. Unless an order is received from the War Department before Monday notifying the commandants to keep the men on they will be laid off indefinitely.

ASKS $10,000 FOR INJURIES.

Jersey City, July 1.—Charles Black, is suing the New Jersey Central Railroad for $10,000 damages for injuries received when his rig was struck by one of the defendant's trains some time ago. Testimony was taken before a jury in the Circuit Court Friday and more will be heard today. Black was driving a wagon for the United States Express Company at the time of the accident. He was hurled from the rig and his head crushed. One car was partly torn off. His inuries will disfigure him for life.

HELD A CAKE SALE.

Under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society of Trinity Reformed church a successful cake sale was held in the lecture room of the church, Saturday afternoon.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

SOME TEMPTING MUFFINS.

MUFFINS are nice to eat with fruit. Just try them with berries or a baked apple. They will be found to be just as delicious as when served with tea, as the English prefer them.

Fruit Muffins.

Huckleberry Muffins.—Take two and a half cupfuls of sifted flour, two tablespoonfuls of baking powder, three fourths of a cupful of sugar, one cupful of milk, two beaten eggs, melted butter the size of an egg, a large pinch of salt, one cupful of huckleberries Mix sugar, flour, baking powder, salt, add milk, then eggs and last add berries, slightly floured. Bake twenty minutes in moderate oven.

Light and Dainty.

Raspberry Muffins. — Take a half pound of sifted flour, one-half cupful of sugar and a pinch of salt. Add gradually three-fourths of a cupful of sweet milk and two tablespoonfuls of melted butter. Add the yolks of two eggs and beat the mixture thoroughly. Now take two teaspoonfuls baking powder and the well beaten whites of the eggs. Have ready, washed and dried one cupful of raspberries. Sprinkle with flour and put into muffin batter. Bake like ordinary muffins.

Cream Muffins.—Take the yolks of two well beaten eggs, a pint of flour, three-fourths of a cupful of cream the whites of the two eggs beaten stiff, a teaspoonful of cream of tartar, a half teaspoonful of soda and a half teaspoonful of salt. Mix these ingredients, fill the muffin pans with the batter and bake. Serve very hot.

With a Cereal.

Rice Muffins.—Take two cupfuls of boiled rice, two cupfuls of flour, a teaspoonful of salt, a tablespoonful of sugar, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, a cupful of milk and three eggs. Mix the rice with the milk and eggs and mash free from lumps. Sift the flour, salt, sugar and baking powder together and stir with the rice to make a smooth, thick batter. Grease the muffin pans, but do not heat them. Fill two-thirds full and bake in a quick oven.

Points for Mothers

The Size of Babies.

Many a mother is interested to know the size of the average infant and to compare her own with what is considered as a standard. The following measurements are given by Dr. Holt and may be accepted as average, says the Woman's World.

One year—Height, 20 inches; chest, 18 inches; head, 18 inches.

Three years—Height, 35 inches; chest, 20 inches; head, 19¼ inches.

The matter of the weight is one which should be watched more carefully. The gain in flesh is a good indication as to whether or not the child is thriving and often determines the amount and character of its nourishment. During the fifth month a baby's weight is supposed to be doubled; at the end of a year it should be tripled. For the first six months there should be a weekly weighing; at the end of the first week there will probably be a slight loss, which should be regained during the second week. After this there should be a weekly gain of from four to six ounces until the child is six months of age. This rate will be reduced during the next six months, when the increase in weight will be from two to four ounces each week. After the first year an annual gain of four or five pounds is all that can be expected until the child is nine or ten years of age.

Special emphasis must be laid upon the advisability of weighing the baby regularly during the first year, when a change of food is made.

Selecting the Infant's Shoes.

For the first few months of its life baby does not need shoes unless there is a tendency to have cold feet. In such a case warm knitted booties should be worn. These are the only shoes that should be worn until the baby is old enough to stand on its feet. If other shoes are worn before this time they are liable to cramp the feet and cause them to grow out of shape. There is no use in burdening a baby with unnecessary clothing.

As soon as a baby begins to stand on its feet it should have soft kid shoes with thin soles and no heels. These should be broad at the toes and conform to the shape of the feet. For this reason there should be "lefts" and "rights." If the baby wears a shoe that does not fit the tender muscles and bones are drawn out of shape. The shoe should be a little longer than the foot, so as not to crowd the toes It should fit at the heel and around the ankle; otherwise the foot may turn in the shoe and a sprain result. It is not uncommon for babies to suffer with sprained ankles as a result of wearing shoes that do not fit their feet. Laced shoes are better than buttoned ones, as they can be adjusted to the feet better.

When the child begins to run about the shoes may be a litle heavier, with thicker soles. There should be no heels on the shoes until the baby is about three years old; then it should wear "spring heels" until it is seven or eight years of age.

Childhood's Rights.

One of thhe common forms of injustice to children is the parents' failure to respect the belongings of the child. An instance related in a current magazine is as follows: A boy had raised in his own garden some specially splendid heads of lettuce. Mother, needing them for luncheon when a guest unexpectedly arrived, gathered several heads without waiting to ask the boy's permission. The boy was vexed and was punished for showing it.

In many ways parents are likely to show this disregard of the child's rights, and their appropriation of what belongs to him is certainly not the way to teach him respect for the rights of other people, one of the most important and fundamental lessons of childhood. A child may, of course, be encouraged to wish to share his possessions, such as the products of his little garden, but this is a different thing from confiscating them.

The Child's Appetite.

A healthy child has no right to be finical about his eating and should eat whatever is put before him and be glad to, provided it is the proper food. If he refuses the food he should eat let him go hungry until the next meal. Why should we neglect to educate our children to eat the proper food and teach them such accomplishments as German and music? Can a child eat too much sensible food? Occasionally I have seen children who had to have the amount of food limited, but usually a child who eats too much in bulk has some element of the food in insufficient quantity. Sick children ought not to be made to eat things which are distasteful to them, nor should they be forced to eat when they are sick.—"The Healthy Baby," by Dr. Dennett.

Hint to Mothers.

When sending the little one to the Land of Nod lay him on his back in his bed, cover him lightly and leave him to fall asleep quietly. Young mothers should never begin the practice of pacing the floor or rocking to put him to sleep, for surely the hour will come when they will be physically unable to do so, and trouble will follow.

For the Children

The White Rhinoceros, Rarest Living Animal.

The picture here shown is a photograph of a part of the rarest kind of animal in the world—rarer, perhaps, than the zebra-like okapi of Central Africa. It is the head of the gigantic, white, square mouthed rhinoceros from the Lado district of the upper Sudan It was shot in 1910 by Colonel Roosevelt and presented by him to the New York zoological park, where it is preserved in the collection of heads and horns. It is one of the most noted trophies of Colonel Roosevelt's African hunt.—St. Nicholas.

Youth of Great Musicians.

Mendelssohn was a brilliant piano player at the age of six. He gave concerts when he was nine. Music may be called the art of youth. Shubert, the composer of operas, symphonies, overtures, cantatas and sonatas, died at the age of thirty-one, after a life of neglect, leaving a wealth of musical compositions behind. He was born at Himmelpfortgrand in 1797. His father was a poor musician, so Franz, at the age of eleven, was placed among the choir boys at the court chapel, where he remained five years, making himself the master of the leading instruments of the orchestra. To compose music was his life, and all outside of music he left unexplored. In his music all his moods found expression, as did all his dreams.

He wrote so much and lived so short a time that fame almost failed to overtake him in life. He left his manuscript scores scattered in confusion about his room, and thus they were found when he died. One of the best known of his dramatic German ballads is the "Erl King."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Animal Peculiarities.

Turtles and tortoises have no teeth.

All animals which chew the cud have cloven feet.

The horse is minus eyebrows.

The stork is partial to kittens as articles of food; but, to make things even, old cats are quite as fond of young storks.

The frog because of its peculiar construction cannot breathe with its mouth open, and if it were forcibly kept open the animal would die of suffocation.

The eyes of the hare are never closed, as they are minus eyelids. Instead, they have thin membranes, which cover the eyes when they sleep.

The owl has no motion in the eye, the globe of which is fixed in its socket by a hard, strong, elastic case in the form of a truncated cone. But to compensate for the absence of motion in the eye it is able to turn its head around in almost a complete circle without moving its body.

Conundrums.

What is the difference between a tunnel and a speaking trumpet? One is hollowed in; the other is hallooed out.

Why is a railroad track a sentimental object? Because it is bound by close ties.

What is society composed of? A mixture of mister-ies and miss-eries.

What is the difference between a mouse and a young lady? One harms the cheese; the other charms the he's.

What is the difference between a butcher and a gay dresser? One kills to dress; the other dresses to kill.

Friends.

He's not affaid, no matter where
We go, because I'm big and strong.
He looks up, and he sees me there
And takes my hand and goes along.
And if it's dark and he can see
Big black things where the shadows fall
He's not afraid when he's with me,
'Cause I'm his friend; that's all.

When he goes berrying with me
He takes his pail and goes so far
To get some big ones he can't see
If I am there, the bushes are
So thick and leafy where he went,
But pretty soon he hears me call
And knows I'm there, and he's content.
'Cause I'm his friend; that's all.

He seems to think that I can do
Most every kind of thing there is,
And he knows I will help him through,
Because I am a friend of his.
And he'll look up at me and say:
"My, but you're awful big and tall!
I hope I'll be like you some day!"
'Cause I'm his friend; that's all.

And wherever he sees me anywhere
That's where he always wants to be.
And if he has a thing to share
He saves the biggest part for me.
He likes to go on trips with me
And does not seem to feel so small.
He gets more courage, don't you see,
'Cause I'm his friend; that's all.

"LEGEND OF WATCHUNG."

There was another stirring battle between Reds and Whites on the mountainside at Watchung on Saturday night. Though the Whites were defeated and captured no scalps were lost. A large and appreciative crowd witnessed the combat and enthusiastically applauded the performers. All the parts were capably filled and the presentation showed every indication of careful rehearsal. The play has so won its way into the graces of the people of Watchung that the Indian legend bids fair to become an annual institution.

A YOUTH HURT.

With evident disregard of the "Safe and Sane" Fourth of July policy, Francis Walsh, twelve years old, of 684 West Third street, shot a blank cartridge into the third finger of his left hand, inflicting a serious and painful injury. The youth was attended by Dr. P. J. Creafer, who found it necessary to administer tetanus antitoxin.

He Is In Charge of Arrangements For Spanish War Veterans' Encampment.

Walker Whiting Vick, who has been in command of the Woodrow Wilson bureau at New York as lieutenant of Hon. William F. McCombs, Governor Wilson's national campaign manager, is a native of North Carolina. Mr. Vick is well known throughout the United States as a live wire hustler, a man accustomed to accomplishing results and a clean cut fighter who commands the wholesome respect and admiration of his antagonists. He was an unselfish and enthusiastic worker for San Francisco in the memorable battle for the selection of the Panama-Pacific exposition site, served in the United States navy during the Spanish-American war and is now one of the most prominent members of the United States Spanish War Veterans. He made the fight which takes the ninth national encampment, United Spanish War Veterans, to Atlantic

Bryan Submits Compromise Names.

HEARST IS ANGERED.

Says That Clark Clearly Deserves Nomination.

CLARK REPUDIATES BRYAN.

Missourian's Supporters Say They Will Fight to Bitter End. Can Prevent Any One Else Landing the Prize.

Baltimore, July 1.—There was little prospect of a nomination when the deadlocked Democratic convention resumed balloting shortly after 11 o'clock today. Governor Wilson, it is expected, will develop more strength, but not enough to give him the nomination. Conferences among leaders have been going on since the convention adjourned Saturday night.

Speaker Champ Clark, before returning to Baltimore, characterizes William J. Bryan's charges that a deal was made for New York's vote as false. The speaker calls for proof or retraction. Mr. Bryan, in reply criticises the speaker for failing to repudiate the vote of "Mr. Murphy's ninety was figures." The Clark men say they will fight to the end.

Mr. Bryan declares that if the Illinois and Indiana delegations swing to Mr. Wilson the Bryan controlled delegates will quit the New Jersey candidate.

Illinois is expected to flop to Wilson after five more ballots, and Indiana is ready to desert Marshall for Wilson and Underwood. The Alabama candidate's managers believe that he holds a strategic position.

Representative Underwood declares he will not accept the nomination for the vice presidency.

The situation has resolved itself to this question: Can Champ Clark hold together enough votes to prevent the nomination of Woodrow Wilson? During a day of conferences the indications were that Wilson had continued to gather strength and that he would enter the convention with a considerable increase over the vote of 407½ which was cast for him on the last and twenty-sixth ballot Saturday night.

The Wilson managers were predicting that the governor of New Jersey's total would go beyond the 600 mark at today's session of the convention. They regard a Wilson victory as sure and contend that it will be only a question of wearing down what remains of the Clark strength. To accomplish this the Wilson delegates are prepared to stay on the ground all summer if necessary.

Clark Men Are Steadfast.

The Clark men, on the other hand, are plainly depressed over the speaker's chances, but they contend that they have at least 440 delegates who will stand by Clark until the heavens fall. It is through their hold on these 440 delegates that the Clark managers expect to be able to prevent the nomination of Governor Wilson and if they cannot turn the tide back to Clark at least prevent the nomination of the New Jersey man. To exercise this veto power Speaker Clark needs only 302 delegates. The Clark men and the Wilson men have been busy in conferences from the hour of adjourning Saturday night.

All these conferences have come to naught, so far as any agreement upon a candidate for the breaking of the deadlock is concerned. After all the polling and hauling and attempts at trading, the lines between the Wilson and Clark forces had tightened, and it seemed there will be considerable more balloting before a definite settlement of the nomination.

Brother Bryan hurled himself into the situation again by issuing a statement attacking Champ Clark. Bryan's fight upon Clark and the New York delegation has resulted in adding an irritating factor to a situation that already was badly confused.

Bryan in his latest statement returns to the attack upon New York state's delegation. He describes the New York delegates as "wax figures." He condemns Clark for his attitude in the fight over the temporary chairmanship and adds that the speaker is good at heart, but has been misled by evil influences around him and has also wasted golden opportunities within the last few days.

All sorts of reports and rumors were flying about Baltimore in regard to the desertion of delegations from the Clark standard and a corresponding increase in strength in the Wilson ranks.

The states of Nebraska, Idaho, Kansas, Massachusetts, Montana and Vermont, all of which are under instructions for Champ Clark, broke from him at Saturday's session of the convention. The Clark people have been working like Trojans in an effort to recruit some of this lost strength. The indications were that the speaker would not have many more than 463½, his last total, when he enters the convention, and many of his friends will be satisfied if he succeeds in holding his own on the first ballot.

Wilson's Strength Diversified.

The hope for Wilson's candidacy, in the opinion of politicians, lies in the fact that his strength is diversified and that he is second choice in many of the delegations. The Wilson men were contending that Kansas, which flopped from Clark with its twenty delegates, will be found in the Wilson column again today.

The speculations in regard to the New York, Illinois and Indiana delegations was more intense than at any other time since the Democrats gathered here. It was acknowledged that the 178 votes in these delegations would probably determine the candidate for president. The Illinois delegations met to determine whether they will stand any longer for Clark and, if not, to whom their fifty-eight votes will be thrown. It is predicted that when the break from Clark comes Wilson will get considerably more than a majority of the Illinois delegation.

It is known also that about twenty-three of the thirty Indiana delegates, who up to this time have been voting for Governor Marshall under instructions, now favor Wilson.

In the New York delegation also the Wilson sentiment has been growing. Senator O'Gorman announced publicly for the first time that he is for Wilson. He expressed absolute confidence that the governor of New Jersey would be the choice of the party. From other men in the New York delegation it was learned that strong pressure is being brought to bear upon Murphy to step in eventually behind New Jersey's governor.

Bryan's Latest Statement.

Baltimore, July 1.—Mr. Bryan in a statement to the press late last night said in part:

I see no reason why we should not conclude the convention tomorrow with the nomination of both president and a vice president. There is every reason why the progressives should get together and select a ticket. New York is not necessary to a nomination and under the circumstances should not be permitted to dictate the nomination. When I say "dictate" I mean that no candidate should be nominated unless he has the necessary votes without counting New York's vote. I do not mean to say that the vote of New York would vitiate a nomination if the candidate had enough votes to nominate him without New York, for in that case the party would not be under obligation to Mr. Murphy for the nomination, but if Mr. Murphy furnishes the votes necessary to carry the candidate across the line and give him this position of distinguished honor and importance the candidate who accepts the nomination under these circumstances puts himself under obligations to Mr. Murphy and to the influences which speak through and control him, and I contend that a candidate so obligated would not appeal to the confidence of the public and not, if successful at the election, be free to serve the public with singleness of purpose.

Those who believe that the candidate should welcome Mr. Murphy's support must be prepared to repeal the Bible and overthrow our system of jurisprudence. The Bible says that "no man can serve two masters." A president cannot serve the American people and those who exploit the people. There is not an aspirant for the nomination who has dared to go out before the people of any state and say, "I have the promise of Charles F. Murphy that he will deliver to me ninety votes which under the unit rule are in his control as soon as I have enough more to give me the necessary two-thirds."

The anti-Morgan-Belmont-Ryan resolution adopted by more than a four to one vote pledges the party not to nominate any one who is a representative or obligated to this group of financiers or any others of that class. Why should we object to any one obligated to these men except on the theory that one cannot serve two masters?

But the position which I have taken is also in harmony with the most fundamental principles of jurisprudence. There is not a court in the world in which a judge is permitted to accept favors from litigants. We have impeachment proceedings before congress now in which a judge is accused of soliciting favors from litigants. Is not the office of president as important as the office of a judge? Is it not as necessary that he shall be absolutely free to decide impartially between the people on one side and those on the other side who seek to exploit the people? How can we commend in a president that which is criminal in a judge?

What is the value of Mr. Murphy's support if that support is necessary to a nomination? Is it not the value of the nomination itself? And would not a president be very ungrateful if, after receiving the highest honor in the gift of the people in the world, he should turn a deaf ear to one without whose aid his elevation would have been impossible? If this is a progressive convention and its indorsement of the anti-Morgan-Ryan-Belmont resolution was honest it cannot stultify itself by nominating any man who is willing to accept the nomination under conditions that put him under obligations to Mr. Murphy and Mr. Murphy's masters. I believe, therefore, that all progressives are justified in refusing support to any candidate who desires the New York support and justified in withdrawing support if after giving it New York should seek to add enough votes to give the candidate the nomination.

Says Many Are Available.

Mr. Bryan then goes on to say that there are a number of available men from whom to make the selection.

If either Mr. Clark or Mr. Wilson will announce his willingness to rely entirely upon the progressive vote and his determination not to accept the nomination, if given under conditions which would obligate him to Mr. Murphy, there is no reason why the convention should not agree on one of these. If the feeling that has been aroused between the two leading candidates are such that the progressive forces cannot agree upon either—I contend that there should be no such feeling—it ought to be easy to agree on some third person who, having not been a candidate, is not handicapped by animosities engendered or by an adverse verdict at the Democratic convention and primaries. I will not discuss the relative merits of the candidates now before the convention who can be counted on as progressive, and I take it for granted that there is now no possibility of the nomination of the two candidates, Governor Harmon and Mr. Underwood, who were the choice of the reactionaries.

Mr. Bryan further says that there are several persons taking part in this convention who have not been placed in nomination who are entirely worthy of cosideration. He mentions Senator Kern of Indiana, Congressman James, Senator O'Gorman, Senator Culberson and Senator Rayner, all of whom he speaks of in eulogistic terms and says:

These are but a few of the names that might be suggested. Surely with such a wealth of presidential timber we should have no difficulty in nominating a winning ticket.

Mr. Bryan says that no man is fit to be the vice presidential nominee who is not equally worthy to be the nominee for president.

Only one life stands between the vice president and the White House, and no life is immune to the dangers that threaten the life of the humblest citizen. The vice president should be selected from those available for the presidency, and he should be in harmony with the presidential candidate on all public questions and on the fundamental principles which determine the bias and tendencies of men.

He concludes:

It is a momentous hour, and we shall disappoint those who sent us here if we fail to measure up to the occasion.

Hearst Scores Convention.

I came to this convention in Baltimore to support progressive principles and a progressive candidate and to oppose the political bosses and the privileged interests as I have always done and always will do. I came here to support the Democratic candidate, even though it were William Jennings Bryan, although I and every other friend of Mr. Bryan have come to know that he is never grateful for a service nor loyal to a friend.

Mr. Hearst declares he had no personal or selfish interest in this contest, and his preference for Clark was that he believed he represented the real progressive principles.

The convention of the Republican party in Chicago became odious in the eyes of the people of this country. But Democrats returning to their states will find that this Democratic convention has become more odious in the eyes of the people. The candidate who went before the Republican convention with the indorsement of the people expressed in direct primaries was denied the nomination. The people were defied and their demands disregarded. But into this so-called Democratic convention a candidate has come with the greatest number of delegates elected by the direct primaries which express the people's will. In this convention this Democrat increased his strength until he received the votes of a majority of the delegates. If this is a Democratic convention and if the motto of the Democracy is the rule of the majority, how can this convention refuse to nominate the man who received for eight consecutive ballots a majority of the votes of the convention? If the Democrats fail to nominate Champ Clark they will not only arouse the resentment of the people of the nation, but they will make their pretensions of progressive principles ridiculous.

Leaders Admit They're Puzzled.

Baltimore, July 1.—The situation into which the convention has deadlocked itself was productive of nothing more than a bedlam of opinions. Leaders who are usually to be relied upon for information as to the real situation admitted that they were unable to make even a sensible guess. The complexity of the situation is best illustrated by the interviews secured from the captains of the various forces.

Senator O'Gorman of New York said: "I believe that Woodrow Wilson will be nominated early this week. The trend is toward Governor Wilson. The people seem to want him, and the logic of the situation points toward his nomination."

Senator Kern of Indiana admitted he was puzzled about who would eventually be named, but added: "There will be an agreement within three days."

He was asked if the agreement would be secured by the withdrawal of both Champ Clark and Governor Wilson. He didn't want to admit that, but he said that an agreement was almost in sight.

On the other hand, the principal leaders of the Clark and Wilson and Underwood forces agreed only in one thing—that these candidates would not get out of the race and that the fight would go on.

Senator Stone of Missouri in answer to a question as to whether Speaker Clark would withdraw if Governor Wilson did, said:

"Champ Clark will never quit. We are ready to battle until election day if necessary. Clark had a majority of the delegates and his friends will not let him be robbed of the nomination that is rightfully his. Murphy says he will stand by Clark to the end, and we see no reason to doubt Mr. Murphy's good faith."

Ex-Governor David R. Francis of Missouri, a stout Clark champion, agreed with Senator Stone. "They are trying to sneak the nomination," he said, "away from a man that the majority of Democrats have chosen for a leader. We won't submit to it, and the Wilson people will find that out if they haven't already."

Judge Martin Wade of Iowa, the national committeeman from that state, said: "It is not a question of the nomination of any man, but a question as to whether the convention will sustain the attack Bryan has made on a man risen from a plowboy to the highest position in the United States next to the president. The Clark people have conferred and have agreed to fight it out if it takes all summer. Clark's strength will go up on the first ballot. Kansas will come back to him, and so will delegates from other states."

Taggart Says It'll Be Marshall.

Tom Taggart of Indiana had this to say: "I look for a settlement today. If the candidates and leaders won't get down to business the delegates will take the job out of their hands. I consider that Governor Marshall is in a strong position."

"Will it be Wilson and Marshall?" Taggart was asked.

"It will be Marshall and Wilson," said the Indiana boss.

Governor Gilchrist of Florida, one of the Underwood leaders, was confident that Underwood would eventually be named. The governor had this to say: "The situation has been tangled by Bryan's fight to shut out rich men from this convention. Any state has a right to select whom they please. Now the fight has come down to this: With New York, Ohio and the southern states we would have enough electoral votes to win the presidency, but we cannot win without New York. Why should a man want to antagonize New York and make it so that we could not possibly win? We expect to nominate Underwood with this combination—New York, Illinois, Ohio, some New England states, a large majority of the southern states and a few western states."

"The Wilson following is compact and loyal," said Senator Gore, "and in my judgment Governor Wilson will not be obliged to retire. The candidates are all good men, but some of them could not win, and I know that Governor Wilson could. He would draw much of the support that would go to Colonel Roosevelt."

McCombs Says It'll Be Wilson.

Baltimore, July 1.—The cocksureness of the supporters of Governor Woodrow Wilson that he will be nominated as the Democratic candidate for president was expressed in a few words by Manager William F. McCombs.

"I am certain," he said, "that Woodrow Wilson will be nominated. I would not have made that statement two days ago. Now there is no doubt of it."

The Wilson forces were active rounding up delegates who are instructed for other candidates, but who have shown a disposition to flop to the New Jersey governor. The Wilson men are certain that they will get the thirty votes from Indiana which have been cast all along for Governor Marshall. It is apparent that Taggart is holding the Marshall vote until he believes it will be needed to nominate Wilson. Telegrams have been received here by the delegates who have not so far got into the Wilson column, saying that the constituents believe that Wilson is the man who should be nominated.

William J. Bryan undoubtedly has been responsible for many of the telegrams. When the Champ Clark crowd followed the standard of Alton B. Parker for temporary chairman Bryan got busy at once. He sent telegrams to the southwest, to any section where the so called progressives are supposed to be in the ascendancy, urging them to desert Clark if they had been for him and to give their support through their delegates to Governor Wilson.

One telegram that the Oklahoma delegation has received was signed by 500 Democrats, who said they wanted Wilson or Bryan nominated, and if neither of them was picked by the Democrats they would join the Roosevelt third party movement.

While the Wilson men deny that there have been any overtures with other candidates, there are many politicians here who say that a combination may be formed with Underwood, the Alabaman to have second place on the ticket.

Ridder Goes After Bryan.

Baltimore, July 1.—The story of a lively encounter between W. J. Bryan and Herman Ridder, the treasurer of the national committee, which took place just before Mr Bryan made his furious attack on the New York delegation, came out today.

Mr. Bryan's plan to practically disfranchise New York's delegates was known in advance, and it angered some of the men who were enthusiastic supporters of Mr. Bryan in 1908. Mr. Ridder was particularly wrathy. He went on to the platform before Bryan cut loose, plucked Bryan by the sleeve and said sharply: "You didn't refuse the $47,000 that I gave you four years ago. And $10,000 of that money was from Tammany."

"Why, I thought that $10,000 was a personal contribution from Mr. Murphy," said Mr. Bryan.

"Well, no matter who it was from, you didn't refuse to take it," said Mr. Ridder, who was very angry and whose had risen sharply. Mr. Bryan turned his back and walked to the front of the speakers' stand. Mr. Ridder called out, "I am going to bring the matter up on the floor of the convention."

When the excitement started and Bryan began to be heckled Mr. Ridder forgot to bring up the 1908 contribution. Charles F. Murphy, John B Stanchfield and others with difficulty restrained Perry Belmont from going up to the platform and answering Bryan's attack on rich men.

"I am going up there to defend myself," said Mr. Belmont.

"Better not," said Stanchfield. "The best thing to do is to keep quiet."

Later, on when the New Yorkers were laughing at Bryan's outburst Perry Belmont turned to his brother August and said, "You'd better get some houn' dawgs in your kennels."

"We're going to fill the kennels with houn' dawgs," said brother August.

Clark Parts With Bryan.

Baltimore, July 1.—After a close personal and political association of sixteen years Champ Clark of Missouri has parted company with William J. Bryan of Nebraska. In a letter addressed to Senator W. J. Stone of Missouri, made public early today, Mr Clark denounced the Bryan charge that Mr. Clark had sold out to the interests in the hope of landing the presidential nomination as "false and infamous."

Mr. Clark further gave notice that under no circumstances would he retire from the race. He sent word to his supporters that his candidacy would remain before the convention until the date of adjournment, regardless of results.

Mr. Clark's letter was written in response to one addressed to him by Senator Stone, who outlined the situation in Baltimore and informed Mr Clark that if it was his purpose to stay in the race his supporters would vote for him on every ballot cast in the convention.

Mr. Stone pointed out that the majority of the convention had sided with the speaker on at least one ballot and that the failure to give him the nomination in these circumstances was a violation of the party practice that had been observed for sixty years.

Clark leaders expressed the belief that, despite indications to the contrary, the Clark candidacy is stronger now that the Missourian has broken with Bryan. The Clark people insist that when the lines begin to tighten tomorrow that the Underwood people will be forced to throw their support to the Missourian.

Clark Managers Are Scared.

Baltimore, July 1.—The Clark people are scared. It is said that Clark is disappointed with the whole outfit. Since the big show was put on in Baltimore the Clark lieutenants have been working on cross purposes. In fact, two organizations are affiliated with the Clark candidacy. Former Senators Fred T. Dubois of Idaho and Frank Pettigrew of South Dakota are running along independently of Senator William J. Stone, who is looked upon as the Clark leader. Stone is not consulted by Messrs. Dubois and Pettigrew, and accordingly he is very angry.

Clark has enrolled himself in the army of anti-Bryan men. For sixteen years Clark was a dyed in the wool Bryan man. He stumped the country in behalf of Bryan in the three Bryan campaigns, but the iron entered his soul when Bryan in his speech before the convention placed a curse on the Clark candidacy because of the support it has received from the Tammany crowd.

Following the attack on Bryan issued by the speaker, the Clark managers issued statement after statement. In at least two of them Bryan by inference was charged with having uttered a falsehood when he declared the Clark forces entered a deal with Murphy to make Parker temporary chairman. Hearst also issued a statement. He declared that Clark would stick to the end and that he had enough votes pledged to his candidacy to prolong the deadlock indefinitely.

The Clark leaders feel it in their bones that if the convention sticks to the job in Baltimore the Missourian will lose.

Bitterly Attacks Bryan.

The first statement issued at Clark's headquarters was signed by Dubois. It said in part:

Mr. Bryan's remarkable statement that Clark's managers sought to advance his interests by manipulations with the reactionaries is untrue. Mr. Bryan is engagingly deceptive and beautifully false and misleading in his most charming style when he blames Clark for not accepting Senator James for temporary chairman after Mr. Parker had been selected by the committee. The truth is that the Clark forces asked Mr. Bryan to support Ollie James for temporary chairman two weeks before the convention met, and Mr. Bryan refused. If Mr. Bryan has the temerity to deny this his telegram assigning his hypocritical and sophistical reasons will be published. As the manager for Mr. Clark I have the right to demand of Mr. Bryan that he either cease uttering these falsehoods or bring forward some sort of proof. He should be able to stab his friend Clark to death without resorting to this kind of political trickery, which reflects on the character of men who have been his friends for years.

He Found Pace Too Hot In the Presidential Marathon.

Let Up Hope Not.

"One should be reasonably careful to use the right word in the proper place," observed Senator John W. Kern. "Out in Indiana it is necessary for a man seeking a marriage license to tell in the application if he has been married before and if so what became of his other wife or wives. One politician out there desired to wax a trifle poetical when he came to the question about what became of his first wife, and he wrote:

Insulted the Parrot.

An Irishman of the name of Burke ran a bird and goldfish store in the Bowery, in New York, and was noted for his wit and the funny things he taught his parrots to say. One day a man came in who stuttered very badly and said to Burke:

"CAN HE TUT-TUT-TUT-TALK?"

"I w-w-want t-t-to b-buy a p-p-parr-ot!"

"Ye-ye-yes, bu-bu-but ca-ca-can he tut-tut-tut-talk?" stuttered the man.

"Well, be gorry," retorted Burke, "if he couldn't talk better than ye can I'd cut his dommed head off."

Too Busy to Work.

Edward D. Easton, who claims that he made the largest single fee of any shorthand reporter in the world when he collected $75,000 from the lawyers in the famous star route trials, was sent to report an important hearing in a small southern town. The work was so pressing that he found he needed an assistant who could typewrite. Searching for such a person, he sent out messages, advertised in the country papers and made desperate appeals for somebody to locate the man.

He waited at his hotel all day without a sign of an assistant and went to bed that night extremely worried because his work depended absolutely on his getting some one to help him. Shortly after midnight he was aroused by a knock at the door.

"I am the man you want," said the stranger. "I am the only typewriter in this part of the state, and"—

"Well," exclaimed Easton eagerly, "can you come to work tomorrow morning?"

"I was going to tell you," continued the visitor, "that I read your advertisement saying you wanted a typewriter, and I thought I'd drop in to tell you I can't do the work. Lafe Smith and me have got to go fishing."—Popular Magazine.

SHORE "PALM READER" PROVES RELIABILITY

Asbury Park, July 1.—After some persuasion by two itinerant women "palm readers," Mrs. Louise Jackson, colored, consented Friday to have her fortune told.

"Madame," declared one of the "fortune tellers," who afterward described herself as Mrs. Rose McDonald, of Newark, "you've had a lot of hard work in this world, and it's all due to your liberality with money. You've got some more trouble from that same failing coming to you soon.

"Yas'm," agreed Mrs. Jackson with a sigh, "reckon dat's so. Here's a two-dollar bill, haven't got four bits for your charge. Can yot get change?"

Mrs. McDonald and her companion, Mrs. Kate Rafferty, of New York, her aunt, went after change, but they were "delayed" so long that Mrs. Jackson realized the truth of the prophecy she had paid for, and called upon the police. When the women were arraigned in police court Saturday morning, Mrs. Jackson told her story, with the result that Mrs. McDonald and Mrs. Rafferty were fined $10 each. They paid.

OUSTED VETERAN BEGS REINSTATEMENT DECREE

Mays Landing, July 1.—Declaring through his counsel that he had been unjustly used, Ira Bean, eighty-one years old, the veteran expelled from the Soldiers' Home at Vineland, has appealed to Supreme Court Justise Kalisch for reinstatement. The court took the request under advisement.

In behalf of Bean it was said that trouble started some time ago, when he complained of poor food, and that his drinking of a glass of milk, contrary to the order of a waitress, was seized upon as insubordination.

Assistant Attorney-General Gaskill upheld the action of the manager of the home, on the ground that they must maintain discipline and have full discretionary power.

SHORE 'PHONE SQUABBLE MAY BE CLEARED UP

Ocean Grove, July 1.—In a statement issued Saturday, Rev. Dr Aaron E. Ballard, of the Ocean Grove Campmeeting Association, said that it has become a question with members of the association whether they shall apply to the State Board of Public Utilities to compel the installation of more telephone lines to the Grove. The matter will be decided at the next association meeting.

"At present," said Dr. Ballard, "I understand there are from fifty to seventy-five applications for telephones in the Grove that have been disregarded by the telephone company. It has refused to install any more 'phones at all here."

Denial was made at the contract department that any refusal to take on more business had been made. The trouble, it was stated, lay in the association's refusal to grant the company a fifteen-year franchise to protect the outlay necessary to install a more efficient system.

Dr. Ballard termed the fifteen-year franchise request an unreasonable demand. It is also understood that the telephone company wishes to install underground cables, a proposal that has not been viewed with favor by the association.

RESOLUTIONS OUSTING EXEMPTS, SET ASIDE

Trenton, July 1.—Holding that the act of last year protecting exempt firemen in public positions is constitutional, the Supreme Court has set aside the resolutions passed by the Bayonne Common Council last January ousting three exempts. The men who Council undertook to put out were Thomas J. McGrath, assistant building inspector; John Roth, second assistant collector of revenue, and Amos J. Harker, assistant water purveyor.

The three decisions were all controlled by an opinion in the McGrath case handed down by Justice Minturn. In this the court pointed out that the assistant building inspector holds a public position and not an office. Therefore, the proceedings under which he was ousted were properly brought up for review by certiorari instead of quo warranto, which would have been necessary had the title to an office been involved.

The court also held that the act of 1911 protecting exempt firemen was not defective in title or in several other particulars in which it was attacked by counsel for Bayonne. The act prevents the removal of exempt firemen, except upon charges and a complaint, after which opportunity must be afforded for the hearings. McGrath was arbitrarily ousted without any reason being given and William Dwyer appointed in his place.

JANITOR FOR 33 YEARS.

Morristown, July 1.—Edwin A. Doty closed Saturday his long term of service as janitor of the Maple Avenue Public School. He opened the building Friday night for the meeting of the Board of Education, an office which he has performed for thirty-three years, missing very few meetings except for a period when, after a fall at the school, he was incapacitated. Mr. Doty is very proud of a letter he recently received signed by all the High School teachers expressing their thanks and best wishes for his future. He has been a real friend of the pupils for many years. The retiring janitor is a veteran of the Civil War and worked on the construction of the building where he has been employed so long.

DAVIS' PERSONAL ESTATE.

Jersey City, July 1.—The value of the personal property of the late Robert Davis is fixed at $246,000 in the report of the Surrogate's appraisers, filed Friday. The estate had been reputed to be worth more than a million. The appraisers found Davis had invested in many mining stocks, which they report worthless. The inventory includes cash of more than $31,000 in Jersey City banks, $9,701.81 found in his safe at the City Hall; 100 shares of Colonial Life Insurance Company stock, worth $35,000; stock of the Trust Company of New Jersey, worth $30,000, and sixty-five per cent. of the capital stock of the New Jersey Car Advertising Company, valued at $65,000.

SUNDAY SCHOOL GAMES HOT ONES

Hope Chapel Now Tied With First Baptist in the Percentage Column.

PARK AVENUES JUMP

It Goes Up a Peg and Monroe Avenue Takes a Drop—South Plainfield and Temple Baptist Make No Change.

The week-end games in the Sunday-school League all turned out to be hot contests. As predicted in this paper Friday, the Park Avenue Baptist boys took a fall out of the First Baptist league leaders. The score was 6 to 2. This was the surprise of the day and brought the league to a close contest. The Hope Chapel lads pounded out a 14 to 11 victory over the Monroe Avenue nine, thereby tying First Baptist for first place. Park Avenue rose from third to second place and Monroe Avenue went down to third place. The South Plainfield-Temple Baptist game was called with the score at 2 to 1, in favor of the former.

Results of Saturday's games:
South Plainfield 2, Temple Baptist 1.
Hope Chapel 14, Monroe Ave. 11.
Park Ave. 6, First Baptist 2.

HOPE CHAPEL WINS FROM MONROE AVE.

Tide Turns in Sixth and Chapelites Win by Score of 14 to 11.

In an uphill game on Saturday the Hope Chapel Sunday-school leaguers triumphed over the champion Monroe avenue team by the score of 14 to 11. Up to the sixth inning the Monroe's held an 8 to 1 lead, but the Hopes got to Brown in the sixth and piled up seven runs. Brown was relieved in the box by Hess when the bases were full.

After leaving the pitching box, Brown went to short where he immediately got away with a sensational one-hand stab which he turned into a double play, retiring the side.

The solitary extra base hit of the game was pulled off by Gunzelman, who caught one of Schott's benders on the nose for a healthy two-bagger. Grisley, Beekman and Schott also did good work with the stick.

The game was called three times on account of rain but the full nine innings were finally completed. Hope Chapel got to Brown and Hess for a total of thirteen singles while Schott yielded but eight to Monroe. Hope's fielding was a little ragged but this was probably due to the sloppy condition of the diamond.

WEST END TRIUMPHS OVER NETHERWOOD A. C.

The West End A. C. took a fast and well played game from the Netherwood A. C. on the Oval, Saturday afternoon, by the score of 3 to 2. After the first inning, "Iron Man" Jack Denny held the West Ends runless until the eighth, when Sullivan got a single and came home on Garretson's two bagger. This run won the game, as it was called at the end of the eighth to make way for the big attraction.

Garretson's hitting was a feature of the game. He secured three healthy bingles. Coughlin, Coon and Denny each pounded out a three base hit for the losers.

HARD LUCK FOR TEMPLE BAPTIST

In Five Inning Contest Loses Church Nine Loses to Villagers.

ERRORS PROVE FATAL

The Score Two to One—Steward and J. Terry's Pitching and Terry's Stick Work Applauded by the Fans.

Temple Baptist kept up its streak of hard luck when it dropped a five inning contest to the South Plainfielders by the score of 2 to 1. On a quartet of errors the visitors were able to turn in two runs which in the end proved sufficient to pull the game out of the fire by a small margin.

A feature of the game was the pitching of Steward for Temple Baptist. He made thirteen of the fifteen put-outs through strikeouts. J. Terry was not far behind him with a total of eleven strike-outs for the five innings.

M. Terry was the star performer at the bat, with a two-base hit and a single to his credit out of three times up.

PARK AVE.-1ST BAPTIST GAME ENDS IN PROTEST

The Park Avenue and First Baptist game of Saturday afternoon ended in a protest. The losers claim that the field was too wet and sloppy to play on and that the umpire should have taken action to shorten the contest.

As it now stands the Park Avenue team is credited with a 6 to 2 victory and it will have to stand this way until the protest comes up for decision at the regular meeting of the league.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

Who is this person "Bits?"

Why, he's that gink that put the bite in "Catnip."

Keep it going "Bits." Originality is a quality which few of us possess, and imitation the sincerest form of flattery.

The preliminary contest was a warm appetizer to prepare the fans for the fire-fighters.

The Netherwood A. C., with "Iron Man" Jack Deny on the mound, made a splendid showing against the strong West End A. C. bunch.

They tied the score in the seventh but yielded a victory in the eighth.

Garretson came to bat with his third hit of the game and pounded out a two bagger, tying the score, as Sullivan was already on the bases.

The big show started out to be a hot game but after the initial round Frederickson settled down and the local hirsmiths got their willows working.

The firemen claim it was a case of too much "Freddy."

This is not the first time the local youngster has faced this bunch. He twirled a 4 to 1 verdict over them last year while wearing a McNulty uniform.

Eddie Stallings' throw from deep left in the initial inning had the big league stuff on it.

And then he came to bat and got another calcium by pounding out a three bagger.

Some work for one inning. One put out, one assist and a three base hit.

Harter was on hand with a couple of pretty running catches also.

It was Slocum vs. Kraft at Bound Brook, Saturday.

Slocum, who was at one time a pass expert, has not issued a single free ticket in his last three games.

Saturday's rain held off long enough to get all the games started, at least.

Next week we have Bound Brook on the Oval.

Frederickson vs. Slocum or vice versa.

In order to break up the mid-week monotony, Manager Dorflinger has secured the Scotch Plains team for July 4 at 10:30, and the U. S. S. Michigan team for the afternoon at 3:30.

The afternoon game will bring the champion team of the navy out here and will be a game no loyal fan would want to miss.

Where is all the loyal fandom of Plainfield? Come out to Thursday's games and make us think you are worthy of a team like we have here.

And with Hope's victory over the Champion Monroes, things seem to be a trifle shaken up in this league.

Pretty tough for a pitcher to lose a five inning game after he had struck out thirteen men in that short period.

The Commercials lost again!

Don't get the habit Commercials; come back to your old time form.

Keep up the good work Spicers, you have now started toward the top.

These two amateur leagues are beginning to take on an interesting aspect.

HOLSTEIN AND PERRIN IN GOOD PERFORMANCE

W. Lester Glenney and his brother, Will T. Glenney, scheduled to play the finals for the June cup, Class A, at the Plainfield Country Club, postponed their match on Saturday. They will play later. In the Class B match, G. M. Holstein defeated S. T. Perrin, 1 up, (22 holes). This proved to be one of the best matches of the season, the players being very evenly paired.

While there were not other events on the course Saturday, there was a large field out, playing just for the exercise. In the evening there was the weekly dinner-dance which attracted the usual large number of members. The club has an attractive program for July 4.

BETTER SCORES MADE ON PARK CLUB'S LINKS

An even ten scores were returned in the weekly competition for the President's cup at the Park Golf Club, Saturday afternoon. The course is in especially fine condition at present and in consequence there is a marked improvement in the scores of the contestants. Among those who have perhaps showed greatest improvement of late are H. H. Woodland and W. P. Taylor. The latter has equalled "bogey" which is forty, while the former has come near those figures. Arrangements are being made for team matches with the Middlebrook and Colonia clubs in the near future.

These scores were returned for the President's cup:

H. H. Woodland, 96, 26-71; J. V. Beekman, 110, 29-81; Charles B. Morse, 99, 15-84; Peter C. Sweeny, 94, 9-85; Rev. C. L. Goodrich, 102, 16-86; R. V. Carpenter, 100, 12-88; H. L. Moodey, 104, 16-88; Dr. H. K. Carroll, 93, 4-89; A. M. Morrell, 100, 11-89; J. H. Greene, Jr., 103, 14-89.

In the "goats" competition, U. G. Tingley and R. V. Carpenter, challengers, defeated Dr. H. K. Carroll and A. M. Morrell, 1 up (19 holes). J. H. Greene, Jr., and Peter C. Sweeny have challenged the winners for a match next Saturday.

NEW MOTORCYCLE RECORD.

John Constant, holder of the ten-mile amateur motorcycle record, accomplished another great feat at the Brighton Beach Motordrome by making a new world's amateur record for one mile by covering the distance in 52 1-5 seconds. Constant clipped two and two-fifth seconds from the previous record made by him on the old Guttenburg race track three years ago. The new record was made at the annual field day of the Brooklyn Lodge, No. 22, Order of Elks. A crowd estimated at 15,000 watched the dare-devil motorist shoot around the track at more than sixty miles an hour.

Exchange Positions With Commercials as Result of Saturday's Games.

SPICERS MOVE UP ONE

Saurer Now in Last Place—R. G. E. 800 Per Cent., With Four Contests Won and One Lost—Commercials 5 Won and 2 Lost.

The two games played in the Manufacturers' Baseball League Saturday afternoon caused a general shakeup in the official league standing. The Spicer nine sprung a surprise on the Commercials when it turned in a 9 to 6 victory, thereby exchanging places with the Saurer bunch, which was idle. By virtue of its draw with the Public Service ball tossers the R. G. E. combination kept its 800 point average and nosed the Commercials out of first place. Public Service still retained its hold on third place as its game with the R. G. E. was called on account of rain when the score stood a 4 to 4 tie. The Saurer and Banks game was called off.

The Saurer team, minus its regular battery, played a six inning practise game with the Shamrock A. C. Saturday afternoon and lost by the score of 9 to 4. Young's twirling was a feature of the Shamrock's victory. He allowed but three hits and fanned nine batters. Bender was the star at the bat and was closely followed by Doyle, Walsh, and Laskote.

SPICERS SPRING SOME SURPRISE

SCORE WAS 9 TO 6

Dolan's Great Work in the Box and Support Given Him Features of a Truly Exciting Contest—Some Good Batting.

The Spicer team sprung a surprise in the Manufacturers' League, when it defeated the Commercial team, which occupied the top rung, by the score of 9 to 6. Dolan's pitching was a conspicuous factor in the victory. He allowed but five scattered bingles and was ably assisted in the fielding department by the classy fielding of his backers. VanZandt and Conshay were given poor support and were hit when hits meant runs.

The victors began their run harvest in the first round by chalking up two tallies and put the game on ice in the sixth when they piled up a quartet of counts.

O'Loughlin and A. Jaeger were the leading hitsmiths for the winners, while VanZandt pounded out a trio of healthy swats for the Commercials.

Scott and Conover did some fine work in the field for their respective teams.

THEY WALLOPED GOTHAM FIREMEN

SCORE, SEVEN TO ONE

Lonely Run of New York Nine Made in Opening Inning—Their Fielding Was Punky—Frederickson Finds Batters Easy—The Score.

With Frederickson at his best, and the Plainfield lads playing errorless ball behind him, the local team ran up an 7 to 1 count against the New York Fire Department team on the Oval, Saturday afternoon. Freddy allowed but four hits and three of these were made in the first four innings. He also struck out seven men. Gill, on the other hand, pitched a steady game, but received ragged support from his backers, who piled up eight misplays behind him. The Plainfield hitsmiths were strong with the willow and six singles, two three-baggers and a pair of two-base hits were pounded out. Not one of the local boys took the three-strike route.

The visitors got their lone tally in the initial round when Freddy passed Powers, the first man to face him, and Southwick laced out a three-bagger, scoring Powers. Eddie Stallings' lightning return of McAvoy's long fly prevented Southwick from annexing another tally on the throw-in. This was one of the prettiest throws ever seen on the Oval and had the big league stuff behind it. Stallings took the long fly, and without a moment's hesitation, let it ride. It came on a straight line to Nelson and caught the runner fully five feet from the plate.

The locals, with the aid of a three-bagger by Eddie Stallings, also managed to begin their scoring in the first round and from then on they annexed tallies at will.

Freddy brought the crowd, that had braved the rain up to the seventh inning, to their feet when he struck the three men to face him in this stanza out in order.

Rain threatened to hold up the game several times and in one instance the dust clouded the diamond and one could not distinguish the players for a while. The downpour held off until after the locals had scored a run in their half of the eighth and the umpire called the game at this juncture.

ROYAL GIANTS BEATEN BY KENILWORTH'S NINE

The Royal Giants went to Kenilworth yesterday afternoon and yielded a 9 to 6 victory to the team of that place. The game was close and well played and the outcome was ever in doubt. Nelson, who twirled for the losers, was hit hard at times and yielded ten bases on balls. Dudash, who did the mound work for the Kenilworth nine, was only a trifle steadier and gave seven passes. He allowed twelve hits and struck out nine.

Somerset and Gardner did the best hitting for the visitors while every members of the home nine was able to get away with one bingle.

NEW MOUNT ST. MARY COLLEGE IS NOW NEARING COMPLETION

The College of Mount St. Mary, on the southern slope of the Watchung mountains, in North Plainfield Township, was burned in March, 1911, and ten days after the fire the pupils, housed in other buildings, were again pursuing their studies as though nothing had happened to drive them from their home. With but little more delay the work of restoration was started. In sixteen months the building has been restored and a new wing nearly as large as the main structure added. On the sixteenth of next September the college will open its doors and the students will take up the work of the fall term.

In rebuilding the architecture of the old building has been closely followed, and, with the exception of the large addition on the east side, the building presents the same appearance as before the fire. The main building, an impressive - looking structure of Washington Valley sandstone trimmed with Indiana limestone, has a facade of 200 feet, is eighty-two feet deep and three stories in height. At the east end, connecting the main building with the new wing, is a single story addition in which is situated the kitchen, heating plant, laundry and supply rooms.

While the general architectural features of the old buildings have been restored, a number of changes have been made in the materials used in the construction. Lath and plaster partitions have been replaced by terro-cotta tile, steel beams support the floors where before only timber was used. Concrete reinforcement has been used wherever necessary, and, in the place of steps and stairways of wood, steel and concrete have been substituted. The roof is of concrete supported by steel rafters. The clock tower is of steel, with a covering of sheet copper. The big clock in the tower will be electric lighted, so that it may be seen for a great distance at night, and the whole countryside will become familiar with the sound of the great thousand-pound bell as it tolls out its warning that another hour has passed.

In general the style of architecture of the main building has been followed in the new addition, though it is but two stories high and lacks the tower and the imposing Doric columns at its entrance.

The new college will accommodate over 180 students and teachers, and gives ample space for large, airy, well-lighted class-rooms, dormitories, laboratories and living and dining rooms. The dormitories will be situated on the upper floors of the main building and the addition, and both buildings will be used for academic purposes.

While the interior decorations for the most part will be simple, the best of materials are being used, and good taste shown throughout. The main entrance will be done in marble, and the corridors in small pieces of Italian marble set in cement generally known as Terrazza.

The College of Mount St. Mary opened its doors for the first time in September, 1908. It was founded by the Sisters of Mercy with the approval of the Rt. Rev. James A. McFaul, bishop of Trenton, for the academic and collegiate education of young women. In addition to the college course, which is four years, an elementary and high school department have been added. In the former boys between 6 and 12 are admitted. The collegiate department gives on graduation the degrees of A. B. and B. S., and with the exception of St. Elizabeth's in Madison, is the only Catholic girls' college in the State of New Jersey that has the approval of the State. Graduates of Mount St. Mary's leave the institution fully equipped and approved to take positions as teachers in the public schools of the State.

The professors and instructors of the college are required to have university training and must be specialists in the subjects they direct, and must also have had previous experience in teaching.

Aside from the usual Normal School education Mount St. Mary's offers special courses in all branches of domestic economy and efficient instruction is given in music, painting and other arts.

Though the college is under the direction of those of the Roman Catholic faith, differences in religion are not regarded in the admission of pupils who are willing to conform to the general regulations of the school. For Catholic students, however, there are offered excellent courses in the basic truths of the religion and in the history of the growth and development of the Catholic Church.

The college, situated as it is, not only commands a wonderful view of the surrounding country, but may be seen for miles about, and with its imposing architecture stands out in strong relief against the wooded background of the mountain. The beautiful site was the gift of David F. Kenney, a local public spirited citizen. Mr. Kenney was created a Knight of the Cape and Sword by Pope Pius the Tenth, and ranks as a Chamberlain of the Papal Household.

OLD LAW HELPS AN INJURED TOILER

Because the accident that cost him an eye occurred prior to the operation of the present employer's liability law, James T. Black, of Jersey City, is ahead $1,000. Under the prevailing law he would have received $1,000. His case against the Hay Foundry and Iron Works, of Newark, has been settled out of court by his counsel, Kalisch & Kalisch, for $2,000.

The petitioner was employed as a structural iron worker on the Lorillard building in Jersey City, in September, 1910, when he was struck by a piece of metal that destroyed the sight of his right eye. He was receiving $20 a week. Had the present law applied he would have been entitled to fifty per cent. of that sum for a period of 100 weeks, or $1,000. Suit was pending before Judge Martin in the Common Pleas Court when the settlement was made.

A settlement also has been made in the case of Mrs. Kate Scanlon, who sought to recover compensation for the death of her husband, Thomas Scanlon, who was run down and killed by an auto truck owned by the Pennsylvania Railroad. The accident happened September 26, last. Since that time the widow had accepted $250 from the railroad company's relief fund. This involved a legal question as to her right to further claim.

Scanlon earned $15 a week and through Kalisch & Kalisch, his widow, on behalf of herself and three children, sought to recover fifty per cent. of that sum for a period of 200 weeks. This was computed at $2,250. Settlement was made in the sum of $1,000 in addition to the $250 paid her out of the relief fund.

EFFICIENCY-ECONOMY BOARD.

Trenton, July 1.—The secretary of State received a letter from President Prince, of the Senate, Saturday advising him formally of the appointment of Senator Walter E. Edge and Senator Isaac T. Nichols as members of the Efficiency and Economy Commission. President Prince stated in the letter that he did not regard the notification as necessary and gave it purely as a matter of form. The other members of the commission are Assemblymen De Unger and Stevens who were named by Speaker McCran and William J. Kraft, of Camden; James F. O'Melia, of Jersey City, and R. Stephen Ludlow, Jr., of Montclair, named by Governor Wilson.

Because of the vacation season, many are exposed to an unusual hazard of accident. Travel, during the summer months, is heavier than at any other time of the year and is therefore more prolific of accidents; mountain-climbing is attended with numerous dangers; bathing frequently results in drowning; and the innumerable other pastimes associated with summer outings are more or less productive of accidents. Consequently there is a greater need, during this period, for Accident Insurance. Renting of all descriptions a specialty.

PLANT PERMIT FOR S. O. VETOED

Referring to the action of the Common Council in granting permission to the Standard Oil Company to build a large plant at Rock avenue and West Front street, or in fact anywhere within the city limits, Mayor G. W. V. Moy sent his veto of its action to that body at its July meeting last night. The veto was filed later Councilman Duncan W. Clifford presented an opinion from Corporation Counsel W. M. Stillman to the effect that it was not necessary to have the Mayor's signature on the resolution, granting the Standard Oil Company permission to build the plant.

The Mayor's veto is as follows:

"I return without my approval the fixed resolution, passed by your honorable Body, granting to the Standard Oil Company the privilege of installing tanks for the storage of large quantities of gasoline in the Fourth Ward of this city. This is the second time I have felt called upon to veto this proposition. The objections are several.

"In the first place—There can be no question of the danger arising from the concentration of so large an amount of inflammable liquid at one place. I have listened to the plausible statements of the representatives of the corporation, from which it would appear that the placing of these tanks would be of inestimable benefit to the city, that there is no danger, that they are altogether desirable; but my opinion has not been changed, I say they are dangerous and therefore undesirable.

"In the second place—It is the wishes of your Honorable Body to represent the taxpayers of the city, and not the Standard Oil Company. Petitions bearing a large number of signatures of the taxpayers of the city have been filed and read before your Honorable Body protesting against the placing of these tanks, and these protests should have a much greater weight with you than any argument this corporation could possibly offer.

"The right of the people to be not only heard, but their right to be heard is paramount to any question of personal opinion on the part of individual members of your Honorable Body on a question of this character; and the fact that these protests have not only been filed, but that the petitioners in considerable numbers have appeared before you in person, clearly indicates to my mind that the public sentiment prevails in opposition to the granting of the petition of the Standard Oil Company.

"I am of the very decided opinion that I would not, and that no member of the Common Council would be willing to have a plant for the storage of gasoline placed next to his property, and as I am a believer in the square deal, I certainly would be remiss in my duty to my neighbors if I failed to use every effort to prevent the placing of a nuisance at their doors, which I would object to being placed at my own, and in this particular it is interesting to note that this resolution was carried over the objection of the Councilmen of the Fourth Ward.

"We have now in the heart of the city a gas tank, embodying a menace of potential danger to satisfy the most radical partisan of corporate aggrandisement, and I suggest that the time is now good to call a halt. I veto this resolution.

"Your obedient servant,

"G. W. V. MOY,

"Mayor."

AIR HOME TO BE OPENED ON FRIDAY

The Netherwood Fresh Air Home opens for the season on Friday, when Miss Sara Curry, the matron, will bring about 200 mothers and children from the lower East Side of New York to the Home for a ten days' outing. As has been the custom for the past few seasons services of a religious nature will be held each evening with the exception of Wednesday and Saturday, when the mothers of the children will furnish the entertainment.

Miss Curry will be glad to receive donations of vegetables, clothing, etc., and will be pleased to have the public visit the Home and become acquainted with the work. Any contributions of money may be sent to David M. Runyon, cashier of the First National Bank. The opening meeting will be held Sunday afternoon at 3:45 o'clock. Charles W. Gardner will preside and Rev. Dr. Miles M. Anderson, of the First M. E. church, will speak.

AUTO LICENSE NUMBER IS FOUND

A startling sequel to the sad fatality at Dunellen on Sunday night, whereby Ida May Olsen, of 420 West Second street, lost her life from the shock received, was the arrest late last night of her companion, John Gill. He was released today by County Detective Pelleter, of Middlesex county, who is working on the case, and who hopes with the aid of Gill to locate and identify the chauffeur.

The finding of a plate number near the scene of the accident by a girl this morning was thought might disclose a clue. But there was no such number as "24121 N. J." to be found in the State automobile register.

Although it was considered probable that an autopsy might be held, yet County Physician Edgar Carroll did not deem it necessary when he viewed the body.

Yesterday morning Chief Kiely notified County Prosecutor George J. Silzer, of New Brunswick, of the incident, as the fatality had occurred in Middlesex county and of course outside the local police jurisdiction. County Detective Pelleter was also notified, and together with the County physician, Edgar Carroll, they came to Plainfield.

As Gill refused to tell anything to the county detective about the incident, and he seemed to be much upset, he was held as a material witness.

The body of the girl was taken to vices will be conducted tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock in Grace church by Rev. John J. Currier and the interment will be made in Hillside cemetery.

MIGHT HAVE CAUSED RAILROAD DISASTER

Two Young Thieves Tore out Signal Apparatus on the Railroad Tracks.

The thieving propensities of two colored boys, John Sweeney, aged fourteen years, and his brother, Foruno Sweeney, aged nine years, of 544 West Third street, might have resulted in a terrible railway accident on Saturday night. At Grant avenue they broke open the signal battery with a hammer and tore out the apparatus. No one detected them in the act, but several saw the boys on the track. The result of the youth's work was to put all the signals out of commission. Consequently there was no means of signalling several express trains at that point and the line had to be kept clear.

Investigation by several of the railway officials fastened the blame on these boys. The police were informed and Detective Sergeant Flynn and a Jersey Central man armed with a search warrant proceeded to the house. In one of the rooms they found a miscellaneous collection of stolen goods chiefly mechanical. There were also a number of electric meters and automobile lamps belonging to the Public Service Railway. The elder boy appeared in court this morning before City Judge William G. DeMeza and confessed to the theft of the articles, and named two other boys concerned, whom the police will put under arrest. The mother of the boys denied having any knowledge of the thefts.

The case was adjourned until Saturday morning.

M'CARDELL APPOINTED ON ELECTION BOARD

Trenton, July 2.—The Republican members of the various county boards of election in the state were named today by State Chairman Briggs on the recommendations of the County Chairmen and the appointment were confirmed by Governor Wilson. All those named were renominations except in Cumberland, Sussex, Union and Warren counties where new appointments were made. Democratic State Chairman Grosscup has not yet filed his nomination with the Governor.

In Union county, Andrew McCardell, of Plainfield, was appointed in place of Ralph L. Morrow. McCardell was formerly a state factory inspector. In Somerset county, Theodore J. Hoffman, of Somerville, was reappointed.

AUTO STRUCK CYCLIST.

When returning home last evening in his automobile, William Stites, of 1539 West Third street, reported to police headquarters that a boy named Lowrie, of Linden avenue, North Plainfield, riding a bicycle, had got in front of his car, and had been knocked down. The wheel was smashed but the boy was not injured. He took the youth to his home, and the bicycle to a repair shop.

L. E. BARKALEW DIED LAST NIGHT

Lewis E. Barkalew, a life-long resident of North Plainfield, died at his home on Lincoln place last night at 9 o'clock. His death was caused by a severe cold. He was in his eighty-fourth year. Surviving him is his wife; a son, Milton C. Barkalew, of Duer street, and a daughter, Mrs. Lora M. Dunn, of Front street. Mr. and Mrs. Barkalew celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary in 1904.

Lewis E. Barkalew was a member of the Somerset County Board of Freeholders for many years and a member of the Plainfield Exempt Firemen's Association, having been one of the organizers of the old Gazelle Engine Company. He acted as census recorder in 1900 and 1905 and was president of the Plainfield Building and Loan Association. He was an active member of the First Baptist church, of Plainfield, from the day of its organization to the time of his death.

The funeral services will be held at the Barkalew home next Friday at 3 o'clock. Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, pastor of the First Baptist church, will officiate. Interment will be made at Hillside cemetery.

NO FREE LIGHTS FOR PLAINFIELD

The Public Service Corporation, through its representative, H. B. Chandler, of Elizabeth, informed the Common Council, at its July meeting, last night, that if the city entered into a new electric lighting contract with the company in accordance with the reduced rates it would have to pay for all lighting, including that which under the terms of the original franchise has been furnished free, and in case the city refused to pay for the free lighting, the company would not pay the annual franchise tax which amounts to $1,833.22.

This declaration on the part of the company came as a great surprise to the Council on the eve of making a new contract for lighting the city, and Mr. Chandler was requested to present the matter in writing and send a copy to each member of the Council. This he agreed to do within a few days.

By way of explanation, Mr. Chandler said that the free lighting in Plainfield, last year, which includes police headquarters, the fire houses and city offices, amounted to $3,214.40. He declared that much of that light is wasted, in some instances lights being allowed to burn all night when it was not necessary. He cited that in some instances the lighting at the fire houses amounted to between $60 and $80 a month, which in his opinion was ridiculous and beyond all reason.

The city's present rate for 25 candle power lamps is $15.50, and with a total of 1,034 incandescents and three arc lights the total cost per year is $16,327. The same lighting under the terms of the new contract would cost $14,746.39 and with the cost of the free lighting added would total $17,960.89. Mr. Chandler believed that the cost of the lighting of the fire houses, police headquarters and city offices could be materially reduced by exercising care in the burning of these lamps. He estimated that there could be a saving of at least several hundred dollars. Mr. Chandler declared, however, that the company cannot continue to furnish any free light under the terms of a new contract, and if the old contract was continued the company would not pay the franchise tax.

It is a question whether the company would be exempt from this franchise tax under the old contract, for it is said that the "free lighting" clause is a part of the terms under which the company was given a franchise to do business here.

"INSANE" FOURTH AS PHYSICIAN FINDS IT

The juveniles of the city have started to celebrate the Fourth in the customary manner by exploding cartridges and fire crackers with the usual result that injuries of a minor nature have been sustained. Dr. Peter B. Cregar was kept busy yesterday ministering to the wounded soldiers of the mimic warfare.

The following were treated: Thomas Moore, West Fourth street, hand injured by explosion of blank cartridge; Tony Sunday, of Second street, injuries to neck and face by explosion of powder; John Spencer, of Spooner avenue and Third street, little finger of left hand shattered by explosives.

5 PLUNGE TO DEATH

Atlantic City, July 2.—Melvin Vaniman, Calvin Vaniman, his younger brother; Fred Elmer, Walter Guest, and George Bourtillon, his crew, were killed this morning when the giant dirigible balloon Akron, built to cross the ocean, was shattered by the explosion of the gas bag a half mile off shore, over Absecon Inlet.

The dirigible was sailing at a height of 2,500 feet and had been in the air since 6:15 o'clock when the accident occurred. She was a quarter of a mile south of Brigantine Beach, which is across the inlet from this city. The huge envelope, containing thousands of cubic feet of gas, was rent by the terrific force of the explosion, probably caused by expansion from the sun's rays.

A mass of flames hid the ship from view. For a space of possibly ten seconds the half million dollar dirigible was invisible, while the air about the spot where she had been hovering seemed to be all flames. The fire dissipated and then the ship, outlined against the sunrise, was seen to fall like a plummet. First the understructure, or car, in which were penned the unfortunate men, held in by a meshwork put on after the second trip of the balloon three weeks ago, unable to escape, broke away from the envelope. It upended, the bow turning first in a slow arc. Then it reversed sudenly and plunged downward.

Directly above, twisting in a long spiral, was the gas bag, a smoking mass of rubber and silk, with flames shooting out from a dozen sections as it collapsed. It fluttered a moment and then streaked down after the car.

In the descent, something which appeared to be the body of a man shot out to the left of the wreckage and hit the water before the rest of the rescending mass. It was reported that this was the headless body of Calvin Vaniman. At 8:20 a. m. a message was relayed ashore from rescuers that this body has been recovered. With it came the statement from Capt. Lambert Parker, of the Absecon federal life-saving crew, that this was true, and that other members of the crew were entangled in the wreckage, beyond reach for the present, in eighteen feet of water. Efforts are to be made to drag them to the surface.

Thousands of persons from every part of the resort are gathered along the inlet, boardwalk and about the Vaniman cottage, just across from the hangar, at the inlet, where Mrs. Vaniman had collapsed and was unconscious from the shock.

Caspar Fuchs, aged 73 years, one of the oldest residents of Stony Hill, died at his home on the Berkeley Heights road, yesterday from complications, following a long illness. He had lived at Stony Hill for forty-five years and was a carpenter by trade. As a communicant of St. Mary's R. C. church, Stony Hill, he was a loyal supporter of the parish.

Beside a wife, Mr. Fuchs is survived by seven children, Mrs. Nicholas Herres, of Dunellen; Mrs. Peter Helrigel, of Summit; Miss Emma Fuchs, of Stony Hill; Mrs. Nicholas Helrigel, of this city, and three sons, John Fuchs, of Dunellen; Charles Fuchs, of Scotch Plains, and George Fuchs, of Stony Hill.

The funeral service will be held at St. Mary's church, Stony Hill, Thursday morning at 9:30 o'clock. The burial will be in St. Mary's cemetery, Stony Hill.

SAY DOG POUND IS A DISGRACE

Rev. Dr. W. H. Neilson, president, and Mrs. Elizabeth Tiffany and Mrs. W. A. Woodruff, a committee of the Plainfield Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, in a petition to the Common Council last night, made a protest against the general condition at the city dog pound, requesting that an investigation be made and that better accommodations be provided immediately. The matter was referred to the Police Committee. The protest which was signed by the above-named persons, is as follows:

"The undersigned, a committee of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, to investigate the conditions of the dog pound maintained by the city, find the complaints made concerning it to be well founded. On personal inspection we have discovered the arrangements to be extremely unfavorable to the comfort and sanitary condition of the animals confined there. The small shed in which they are kept is a poorly lighted and not sufficiently ventilated structure, containing several pens about two feet deep, and not over eighteen inches wide, in which the dogs are fastened with short chains not more than two feet long. The partitions between these pens are not high enough to keep them well apart, so that a savage dog would have those on either side of him at his mercy and one affected with rabies would communicate the disease. These unfavorable circumstances will be much aggravated by the heat of the next few weeks, especially when the animals are confined as long as four days—which was the case with two of them at the time of the committee's visit. There were no signs of food in the shed at the time, although the committee were informed that they were sufficiently supplied with bread and fresh water. The untidy and neglected appearance of the surroundings argued poorly for the care of the dogs!

"Now we submit that such a neglect of the animals which have accidently fallen into the hands of the authorities, and many of which are the cherished pets of respected citizens of Plainfield, is a disgrace to a city of its wealth and culture, and a poor lesson to the young who are growing up in its homes—and we respectfully urge that better accommodation be provided for the dumb beasts who cannot plead for themselves, and that this be done immediately that their sufferings during this heated term be mitigated. The cost of the necessary improvement would be small, and the moral benefit accruing therefrom would be great."

SHOCKING CONDITIONS IN COTTAGE PLACE HOMES

The Charity Organization Society, following an investigation, presented a lengthy report to Mayor G. W. V. Moy regarding the alleged deplorable conditions found in homes on Cottage place, and the latter sent the communication to the Common Council, last night. The investigation showed that there are 280 tenants residing in forty houses on Cottage place, there being a total of 221 rooms and 33 beds.

Complaint was made concerning the general toilet conditions and the fact that many of the tenants throw garbage and rubbish into the yards, and altogether the conditions are reported to be such as requiring immediate attention on the part of the authorities. The society also called attention to the fact that there are no cellars under some of the houses. It is recommended that the toilet conditions be improved, that the street be asphalted and curbed and other improvements made looking to a general betterment of health conditions. The matter was referred to the committee on public affairs, it being understood that it will confer with the Board of Health.

WILSON IS NOMINATED ON THE 46TH BALLOT

WOODROW WILSON.

Baltimore, July 2.—Woodrow Wilson, Governor of New Jersey, was chosen by an almost unanimous vote at the Democratic National convention this afternoon to be the party's standard bearer for the Presidency.

The choice came on the forty-sixth ballot when all other candidates withdrew except Clark.

Mr. Underwood, of Alabama, who had polled 98 votes on the 45th ballot, was the first of the candidates to take his name out of the race.

Mr. Wilson made steady gains on every ballot today.

When the convention met shortly after noon, he had 494 votes, and it had been announced that Illinois would swing to the New Jersey candidate, but on the forty-third ballot he gained 108 votes, Illinois, Virginia and West Virginia throwing their strength to Wilson, giving him a total of 602.

On the forty-fourth, Mr. Wilson gained twenty-seven more, and on the forty-fifth he added four more making his vote 633.

There was the greatest excitement on the convention floor as the forty-sixth ballot was commenced. The Wilson rooters were standing on chairs, yelling and shouting, and from all directions came yells to make it unanimous. Then Underwood's supporters announced his withdrawal.

Congressman Fitzgerald, of Brooklyn, gained the floor, and moved that the roll call be dispensed with, and the nomination be made by acclamation. There was objection, and the roll was called, but it demonstrated that Mr. Wilson had the votes and he easily carried the forty-sixth ballot.

The failure to make the nomination unanimous came from the Missouri delegation, who insisted on sticking to Clark to the end. On the forty-sixth ballot Clark only received a few votes, among them being seven from Florida, one from Louisiana, four from New Jersey and thirty-six from Missouri.

There were a few other scattering votes for Clark, but New York and the large majority voted for Wilson.

The nomination of the vice president and the adoption of the platform will be the next order of business, and will probably be completed and the convention adjourned some time tomorrow.

Baltimore, July 2.—The Illinois delegates met at a midnight conference and decided that in certain contingencies they would swing to the New Jersey Governor. The fifty-eight votes of Illinois went to Wilson on the forty-third ballot, the first ballot taken this afternoon.

The Candidate's Equipment.

Most of the sketches of Mr. Wilson that have appeared since he became a candidate have done scant justice, it must be confessed, to his preparation for a public career. The study of government and its workings had had a fascination for him through all his mature life. Before he left college (Princeton, 1879) he had become a resourceful debater of political questions. His law studies served to intensify his interest in problems of administration, and later when he came to the Johns Hopkins university at Baltimore in the first decade of that institution's life it was to join a little company of scholars who, like himself, were entering with zest into fruitful studies of politics in the broadest sense of the word.

At Johns Hopkins, as at Princeton, Wilson, a Virginian by birth, rubbed elbows with men from New England and the middle west and thus became familiar to a certain extent with northern traditionalism, just as men from the north were continually coming to Baltimore and through contact with southern students becoming more appreciative of the south's traditions. If sectionalism was ever a marked trait in the Wilson makeup it long ago dis-

BEGIN A TOUR OF THE MORRIS CANAL

High tide on the Morris Canal yesterday marked the casting loose of a scow on which the members of the special legislative investigating committee embarked on a trip over that waterway.

The start began at the Jersey City end of the canal. The members of the committee, consisting of Chairman Carlton Godfrey, of Atlantic City; former Mayor Henry M. Doremus, of Newark; John I. Blair Reiley, of Phillipsburg; John W. Westcott, of Camden; Charles H. Ingersoll, of South Orange; Professor Albert F. Gans, of Hoboken; Foster F. Birch, of Dover; C. Howard Slater, of Jersey City; Mangold H. Ellenbogen, of Paterson, and Assemblyman Fred G. Stickel, Jr., of Newark, gathered in front of the Pennsylvania Railroad terminal at 8 o'clock.

It was impossible to delay the start to a later hour, for the flood tide began at 9:25 a. m., and if the committee didn't catch it, that body would not be led on to the fortune of getting through the canal from the Hackensack to the Passaic Rivers. Along that stretch the canal is a tidewater ditch, being a mud flat when the water goes out.

Before taking to the scow—no other kind of marine vehicle could force its way through the canal to the eastward of Newark—the committee made an inspection of the canal basins, so that the members could see for themselves the use to which this property is being put by the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company, the lessee of the canal. They also toured over the towpath, where the railroad has its tracks, and made a note of the obstructions in the bed of the "stream."

At the Passaic River the party was transshipped from the flat-bottom craft to a small power boat, and the feat of navigating the canal through Newark westward was begun. The distinguished party arrived at the Broad street bridge, after emerging from Broad under Market, Newark, early yesterday afternoon and then continued on its way without a stop.

It is anticipated that the tour will take three days, and perhaps it will last into the Fourth of July. There will be a stop at Lake Hopatcong and some other points. Upon reaching Phillipsburg the members of the committee will return by train.

HOLIDAY HOURS AT LIBRARY.

The circulating department of the Plainfield Public Library will be closed on Thursday, July 4. The reading room will be open in the afternoon from 2 to 6 o'clock with an assistant in charge.

Plains & Fanwood.

Mrs. George H. Johnson and children left yesterday for Ocean Grove, where they will spend the summer. Mr. Johnson will spend the week-ends with his family.

The regular monthly meeting of B. & E. Co. was held last night in the company rooms. On account of the warm weather only the regular business was transacted.

Miss Mary Ann Evans, who has been confined to her home for some time past, had a paralytic stroke last Friday and her condition is serious.

The annual union excursion of the Sunday-schools from here and Westfield to Asbury Park and Ocean Grove will be held Tuesday, July 16.

Mrs. James Wright and daughter have returned to their home in Jersey City after visiting Mrs. August Sheelen, of the borough.

The old barn on the Bellany property on Martine avenue, has been torn down, the change making a decided improvement.

The weekly rehearsal and social of the Baptist Young People's Choral Union have been discontinued until early in the fall.

The Misses Bessie Babcock and Dorothy Bellsin have gone to attend a Sunday-school convention at Northfield, Mass.

Miss Anna Littell, who has been visiting her sister in New Market, has returned to her home at Dog Corners.

Thomas Walsh, who has been enjoying a two week's vacation, returned yesterday to his position in New York.

Frank Carrona, who has been severely ill with pneumonia for the past two weeks, is convalescent.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Dean, who have resided here for the past three years, have removed to Newark.

Peter Walsh, of Martine avenue, has returned home from boarding school for the summer.

A force of men has been busy for the past week repairing the dam at Seeley's paper mills.

Misses Claire Britton and Lorraine Dunn, of Plainfield, are visiting Mrs. R. G. Meggy.

Mrs. Charles Vincent has returned from a stay of several weeks at Lake Hopatcong.

Dunellen & Vicinity

The safe and sane Fourth of July celebration in Dunellen will start on the evening of July third and continue to the fifth. No effort will be spared in making this celebration a big success. Merry-go-rounds, moving pictures, airships and bands will amuse the public at the old trolley loop, North avenue and Chestnut street. There will be a large pyrotechnical display on the evening of the fourth. The committee in charge are Charles E. Tinsman, C. H. Dodwell H. E. Giddis, chairman; Adam Herlick, W. W. Giddes, T. F. Voorhees, C. T. Voorhees, Percy Clark, William Shively.

The Ambitious Club will present the play "A Count of No Account" at the Baptist church of New Market next Tuesday, for the benefit of the Ladies' Aid Society of that church. The play was such a splendid success when presented in Dunellen that the cast have decided to repeat it at New Market and Bound Brook.

Owen Mohan, president of the Holy Name Society, and James Logan, Jr., president of the Y. M. L. S. Society, will attend the American Federation of Catholic Societies on July 14 at Trenton, when delegates will be chosen for the national convention to be held at Lousville, Kentucky, in August.

Over thirty citizens journeyed to New Brunswick Sunday evening to hear an address by ex-Governor Stokes.

The bands of marriage of James Hannon and Ibel Hawk have been published in the church.

James Ryan, of Atlanta, Ga., is spending his vacation at his home.

THE DIRECT PRIMARY.

Machine politicians do not like the direct primary, and they are constantly offering new arguments against the people picking their own candidates for office, as compared with the old method, when a lot of bosses gathered together and decided whom they would present for the suffrage of the voters. One of the arguments used as an excuse for the fraud which was practiced at Chicago for overriding the will of the people as expressed by the primaries in several States, was that the direct vote had been an insignificant part of the total Republican vote cast in the several States at the last election. The fallacy of this argument is shown by a little study of figures in the Republican states which have a direct primary.

In twelve of the great Republican states, which have for years been depended upon to give a majority to that party under normal conditions, honest direct primaries are in force. Those states are California, Illinois, Maryland, Massachusetts, Nebraska, New Jersey, North Dakota, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Dakota and Wisconsin. In these States, Mr. Roosevelt won a decisive victory, with the exception of Massachusetts and Wisconsin, and in the latter, Mr. LaFollette defeated President Taft. Mr. Taft carried Massachusetts by about 3,500, and secured half of the delegates to the National convention. The total Roosevelt vote in the twelve states was 1,179,405; that of Mr. Taft, 758,117, and that of LaFollette, 334,234, over one-third of which was given him in Wisconsin. In other words, where the Republican voters had a chance to express their opinion, there was a total anti-Taft vote of 1,513,639, and Mr. Roosevelt had a majority of over 400,000 over the President. The total primary vote for all three candidates was 2,271,756.

In these same twelve states, according to the World Almanac, in the last election for Governor, there was a total Republican vote cast of 2,340,858, or only about 70,000 more than the vote cast in those same states in the Presidential primaries. If these figures do not carry conviction that the Republican voters, when given a chance to express their wishes, did not take advantage of the opportunity, we do not know how the people can make known their choice. They are certainly more representative than would be the decision of a few hand picked delegates, assembled in an old fashioned convention.

Some doubting Thomases will say that it is not fair to take the Gubernatorial results, but only to take the results of the last Republican vote for President, that cast in 1908. Then the total Republican vote in the States mentioned was 3,372,713. This year's figures of 2,271,756 are about 66 per cent. of the total vote cast by Republicans in 1908, so that substantially more than 50 per cent. of the voters expressed their wishes in these great Republican states.

The Daily Press, as an independent newspaper, presents these facts for the consideration of the men who are opposed to the direct primary, and not in the interest of any one candidate, merely endeavoring to show that the direct primary does truly represent the wishes of the party voters, and that there is no better method to find out the true sentiment. Such figures as those quoted in this article carry with them the conviction that by the time another Presidential candidate is chosen there will be a national direct primary, so that the people can select their own candidates, and there will be no more overriding of the people's wishes as has been the case at Chicago and Baltimore during the past few weeks.

The expose of the condition of affairs at the houses on Cottage place as revealed to the Common Council last night by the Charity Organization Society will prompt many right-minded citizens to ask why the Board of Health has not abolished a state of affairs menacing the lives of the inmates of those homes. It is a sad reflection on the health department when a private organization is compelled to draw the attention of the city fathers to a situation which should not exist if the department's employes did their full duty.

The Saturday contributed editorials which have been a regular weekly feature of this paper since the first of the year has attracted such widespread comment in the community that they will be continued indefinitely. The editor for next Saturday's issue will be one of our most distinguished residents, a man whose good deeds are known to all of us. Do not fail to read what he will have to say.

To make the Sane and Safe Fourth of July celebration at Parker Field a pronounced success and to ensure its repetition annually it is essential that the necessary funds be subscribed. Less than half the amount asked by the Plainfield Commission has been contributed. Approximately $122 is still wanted. Have you given your share yet?

In 1906 the Democrats in convention assembled disgraced itself by hissing at the mention of the name of the late Grover Cleveland, one of the greatest men that party ever gave the people for the Presidency. William Jennings Bryan, whose friends were responsible for that disgusting scene, has lived to be jeered by many of those same men.

THE TEMPERATURE.

JOINT SEWER PLANS ARE NEARLY READY

Engineer G. W. Fuller has Completed a Survey for His Report.

The work of preparing the plans for the proposed joint trunk sewer to be built by Plainfield, North Plainfield and Dunellen, are progressing and it is believed that they will be ready to present to the State Board of Health within the next two weeks. George W. Fuller, the engineer engaged by the three municipalities to make the survey, estimate of cost, etc., has completed his survey of the land proposed to be used for the sewer and is now rapidly completing other details.

In the meantime the residents of Piscataway Township are preparing to oppose the invasion of the three municipalities into their territory. It is reported that many thousands of dollars have been subscribed for that purpose and a petition in protest has been prepared to be sent to the State Board of Health. As soon as the plans for the sewer are presented to the State Board of Health, the local municipalities expect an early decision as to whether they will be allowed to go ahead with their work.

RESIDENTS' ASSOCIATION WANTS SCHOOL HOUSE

The Education Committee of the Netherwood Residents' Association, consisting of Stanley E. Gunnison, W. D. Banks and H. R. Marten, appeared before the City Board of Education last night and asked to have provision made for school accommodations in the Netherwood section for younger children. After a discussion they were assured by the board that the matter would receive every consideration. A petition on the same matter signed by fifty of the residents of that section, was placed on file.

The financial accounts for the year ending June 30, 1912, were presented. Collector's report for month showed $1,372.41 and the custodian account for the same period showed a balance of $3,100.50.

WILSON NOMINATED

appeared. For the past twenty-five years Mr. Wilson has lived north of Mason and Dixon's line, three years in Pennsylvania as a professor at Bryn Mawr college, two years at Wesleyan university, Middletown, Conn., and twenty years at Princeton, N. J.

During that period Mr. Wilson's historical studies have chiefly had to do with our national development, and his point of view has not been that of any single section or group of states. His lectures on administration at Johns Hopkins attracted and held the interest of graduate students from every part of the country and through them exerted a widespread influence. Later he met with unusual success in giving "university extension" lectures. His books, "The State," "Division and Reunion," "History of the American People," "George Washington" and several volumes of essays, have been widely read.

For eight years Mr. Wilson was president of Princeton university. They were fruitful years in many ways, but the public is interested just now in measuring the part that this university presidency has had in preparing Governor Wilson for the duties of the presidency. We do not commonly choose our governors or legislators or presidents from academic circles, and yet an executive post in a modern university administration, requiring as it does the ability to deal effectively with a wide range of interests, to put through big business undertakings, to bring together and to work harmoniously with men of varied temperaments and tastes, ought to give a highly suitable training for the more public duties of a state or federal executive.

Such, at any rate, was the view taken by many New Jersey Democrats, and this view, coupled with the belief that a man of President Wilson's eminence in the state would attract many Republican votes, prevailed in the convention at Trenton and brought about his nomination for governor of New Jersey on the first ballot. So far from detracting from his availability as a candidate, it is the belief of Governor Wilson's friends that his academic career of a quarter of a century gives positive assurance of his fitness for any administrative office in which he may be placed.

The Issues in New Jersey.

The platform on which Mr. Wilson was nominated declared for the abolition of unnecessary offices and boards and a thorough reorganization of the state's administrative system, with reduction of expenditures, for the equalization of taxation, for the establishment of a public service commission with power to regulate rates, for new laws for the control of corporations, for the limitation of candidates' expenditures at elections, for a new direct primary law and for a constitutional amendment permitting the selection of United States senators by popular vote. In his speech before the convention accepting the nomination the candidate characterized the platform as sound, explicit and business-like, but warned the delegates that the platform promises must be kept by achievement and proved capacity.

As the three dominating questions before the people he singled out reorganization and economy in administration, equalization of taxation and control of corporations. In his campaign speeches Mr. Wilson continued to emphasize the importance of these questions, but he also devoted much time to electoral reform, particularly the amendment of the registration laws, the limitation of campaign expenditures and the establishment of a direct primary system at once "primary and direct."

Dealing With the Corporations.

Such issues as these, chiefly economic and matter of fact, do not offer scope for impassioned political oratory of the old fashioned sort. It happened that in New Jersey the public was in dire need of education on the subject of corporation control. That state has served so long as the haven and refuge of all kinds of corporations and has found it so profitable to serve in that capacity that the real nature of the state's relation to its corporate creations has become hazy in the average Jersey mind. Mr. Wilson offered no Bryan or La Follette program of trust regulation, but on certain things he insists. For instance:

"It is not necessary for the maintenance of our modern industrial enterprise that corporations should be indulged or favored in the matter of taxation, and it is extremely demoralizing that they should be. Laws based upon dispassionate study, not upon hostility, are required."

Again, in speaking of the regulation of corporations by the states rather than by the federal authorities, he says:

"It is my strong hope that New Jersey may lead the way in reform by scrutinizing very carefully the enterprises she consents to incorporate, their makeup, their objects, the basis and method of their capitalization, their organization with respect to liability to control by the state, their conformity to state and federal statute. This can be done, and done effectually. I covet for New Jersey the honor of doing it."

"The whole principle of corporation regulation is summed up in this simple statement:

"'A corporation is merely a convenient instrument of business, and we may regulate its use as we please and those who use it.'"

A College President on the Stump.

Speaking of Wilson as a campaigner during his Jersey gubernatorial fight, the Review of Reviews says:

"In the average Wilson meeting about every element of the community is represented. There are Jersey men and Jersey women of nearly every rank and calling in life, and sometimes they bring the children. Most Jersey communities, it should be remembered, are Republican by past affiliations—only three of the twenty-one counties went for Bryan in 1908—and the Wilson meetings in strongly Republican districts are as well attended as those in doubtful or Democratic districts. There is nothing in the candidate's speeches to repel Republican voters, and there is much to attract them."

WHAT NOMINEE SAID WHEN HE HEARD NEWS

(Special from Staff Correspondent.)

Sea Girt, July 2 (Special).—Gov. Wilson, when told that the Democratic convention had nominated him this afternoon, made this statement:

"You must sometimes have wondered why I did not show more emotion as the news came in from the convention and I have been afraid that you might get the impression that I was so self confident and sure of the result, that I took the steady increase in the vote for me in Baltimore complacently and as a matter of course.

"The fact is that the emotion has been too deep to come to the surface, as the vote has grown, and as it has seemed more and more likely that I might be nominated, I have grown more and more solemn.

"I have not felt any of this as if it were a thing that centered on myself as a person.

"The fine men who have been fighting for me in Baltimore, I have not regarded as my representatives. It has been the other way around.

"I have felt all the while that they were honoring me by regarding me as their representative and that they were fighting for me because they thought I could stand for and fight for the things that they believed in and desired for the country. I do not see how any man could feel elation as such responsibility loomed nearer and nearer to him, nor how he could feel any shallow personal pride.

"The honor is as great as can come to any man by the nomination of a party, especially in circumstances, and I hope I appreciate it at its true value but just at this moment, I feel the tremendous responsibility it involves, even more than I feel the honor. I hope with all my heart that the party will never have reason to regret it."

Y. M. C. A. BOYS OFF FOR CAMP WAWAYANDA

Seventeen Y. M. C. A. boys left this morning for the state camp at Lake Wawayanda where they will spend their vacations amid the hills of northern New Jersey. A number of parents and friends of the campers were at the station to see them off on the 6.27 train for New York, where they will be met by over a hundred other campers from all parts of the state. The group leaving Plainfield was in charge of four leaders, Chauncey Murphy, of Stevens Institute; John B. Schofield, of Stevens Institute; Wendell C. Glover, Scout Master of the First Presbyterian Patrol, and Roy Whithall, of Stevens Institute.

Murphy was in charge of the delegation from this city to the Boy Scouts camp on Lake George in 1910 and is a thoroughly seasoned camper and woodsman. His three assistants have all had more or less experience along this line and are well able to look after a group of boys of this kind.

The lads will reach camp this afternoon about 2 o'clock after a two hour trip on the Erie Railroad, a trip across Greenwood Lake in motor launches, a nine mile jaunt in wagons and lastly, a two mile hike over the mountain roads.

Upon arriving at the camping site they will be met by C. Win. Bingeman, James Herrman and Raymond Manley, of the local association, who have been at Wawayanda for the past week getting things in condition for the opening today. The Plainfield lads will be assigned to tents immediately upon their arrival so that they may become acquainted with their tentmates before nightfall. The fellows are divided up so that no two fellows from the same town will occupy the same tent. This is done in order to give them a broader view of the camp life and also to get them acquainted with boys from different delegations.

The following lads will remain in camp for four weeks: Robert McDowell, Harold Tomlinson, Russel Tomlinson, Martin Snyder, Evan Stevens and Bonsel Stover.

Arthur Stout, Edward Crone, Donald Hylan, Jack Zelie and Irving Wiltzie will stay six weeks or three sections. Addision Newkirk expects to remain there for four sections of two weeks each.

Hayward Erickson, of Hillside avenue, was scheduled to go this morning but because of illness he will not leave until Friday morning.

Up-p-p-p-p! Out Come Thousands of Dress Shields!

Hereafter, Madame, You Are Going to Feel More "Comfy" Under the Arms.

No More Ruined Gowns, No More Dress Shields, If You Use PERSPI-NO.

PERSPI-NO keeps the arm-pits just as fresh and dry as any other part of the body. You can wear any weight of clothing, be in hot stuffy rooms, in a warm theatre or dance-hall and never over-perspire in the arm-pits. The colors in a colored gown will never run. The cloth will never fade, get stiff from perspiration and then rot and tear and ruin your gown at the arm-pits. Nevermore!

No more rolling up of dress shields like ropes under the arms. PERSPI-NO is a delightful powder, absolutely safe for everybody, and never harms any fabric. It's a wonder. Try it once, and be convinced. You apply it with a pad, which is packed with every box.

Satisfaction or money back.

PERSPI-NO is for sale at your druggist's at 25c a box, or sent direct, on receipt of price, by the Perspo Co., 2715 Lincoln Ave., Chicago.

Paint that Stays Painted

That has been my slogan for years. I aim to do the best possible painting—using only the best materials that the manufacturers can furnish and employing the most skilled mechanics that can be procured. I stand back of every job I do, and when I am allowed to use my own judgment in regard to the best method of doing it, I will gladly make good any work that by any chance proves defective.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

THE GARDEN PLUM.

PLUMS are one of the most delicious foods and in the form of prunes one of the most wholesome.

Plums make an excellent preserve. Pickled green plums are sometimes put up in imitation of olives.

Wild plums make a palatable marmalade. Crab apples combine well with plums in making marmalade.

Damson plums make good jam.

Plums may be dried whole by spreading on earthen dishes and setting them out in the sun eight or ten hours a day.

A Lucious Pie.

Plum Pie.—To three cupfuls of stoned plums add one and one-half cupfuls of sugar and a little water and simmer until tender. Line the pie pan with puff paste, put in fruit and cover with an upper crust, wetting the edges to keep the juices from running out. Bake in a moderate oven.

A Fruit Novelty.

Plum Custard.—Take a pint of plums, stew them and put into a baking dish. Sprinkle with sugar, and pour over them a cream made by cooking together until smooth and thick two cupfuls of milk and two tablespoonfuls of flour. Add to this on removing from the fire a tablespoonful of butter and the yolks of three eggs, beaten light. Bake the plums ten minutes. Make a meringue with the whites of the eggs and three tablespoonfuls powdered sugar. Cover the pudding and place in the oven to brown slightly. Serve cold with cream.

An Attractive Dessert.

Plums In Rice.—Cook rice and milk until tender and dry. Add a pinch of salt when it is half done and sweeten. Pour into a border mold to set. When ready to serve turn it out carefully and fill the center with plums. The fruit must be stewed. Pour a little of the sirup over the rice and whipped cream over the plums. The kernels of the stones should simmer ten minutes in a thin sirup and then be mixed with the fruit.

A Combination Preserve.

Plum Preserve.—Take four pounds of plums, two pounds of sugar, two oranges, one pound of English walnut meats and one pound seeded raisins. The stones should be taken from the plums either before or after cooking. Put nuts and raisins through the chopper, add the juice and grated peel of the oranges, then cook all about three hours, or until as thick as jam.

Milady's Mirror

Menaces to Beauty.

First among the menaces to beauty stands the tight clothes habit. Health, too, is sacrificed to this false notion of form that seems to obsess so many young girls as well as women.

The principle of tight lacing as a health and eventually a beauty enemy is so simple the wonder is it has not presented itself to its followers long before. "Pulled in" clothes crowd the flesh, press upon the arteries until they are half closed and thus retard circulation. Poor circulation means a blotched skin, a pasty complexion and serious affection of individual parts of the body.

You have heard the girl of wasp waist and narrowed hips complain of racking headaches. Perhaps you know a girl whose hands are always cold and red and who can't take off her shoes for fear her feet will swell so she can't put them on again. If her waist is out of proportion to the rest of her figure you may be sure the trouble is tight stays.

Another and more evident evil is the red nose, which mars the most perfect face. This is an invariable cause and effect—the squeezed in waist and the red nose. The girl who deliberately chooses clammy hands, cold feet and a red nose rather than a natural waist line has a poor idea of the requirements for a beauty en semble.

Among the injuries to health caused by lacing are backache, weak spine and indigestion. Constant pressure in the hollow or small of the back irritates the delicate nerves centered in the spinal column. These nerve wires are impeded in transferring messages to the brain, and the entire nervous system is thrown into disorder. Depression, sick headaches and hysteria often originate in the tight waist.

Proper Use of Complexion Brush.

Purchase a complexion brush at some reliable druggist's. One costing less than 50 cents is not to be considered, as it is likely to be harsh and not well made. The bristles in these brushes should be soft. They are generally the same as those used in the construction of infants' hairbrushes. If they are the least bit harsh they irritate the skin and do more harm than good.

Always wet the brush and also the face before applying soap, which, by the way, should be liquid, because there remains no stickiness, and the rinsing is more nearly perfect than with hard soap. Have a small amount of the soap liquid in a dish and dip the brush into it and start to scrub the face. Very warm water should always be used for cleansing. When every part of the face has been thoroughly scrubbed rinse it well with water several times.

When large pores are being treated as little as possible of cold water should be used, as cold water closes the pores. After being scrubbed they must remain warm in order to drink in all the food that can possibly be absorbed.

After the face has been scrubbed and rinsed, pat almost dry, and then with flesh food on the tips of the fingers of both hands work into the skin all it will absorb. This process must be gone through with every night, and once a week liquid green soap should be used.

Toilet Hints.

Washing combs in water soon causes them to warp and break. A stiff, dry nailbrush is a good cleansing agent.

While the effect of the constant use of liquid powder is often extremely unpleasant, it may be used at intervals without fear of injury to the skin. One of the best pearl white liquids is made by combining one and a half ounces of bismuth subcarbonate with enough water to make six ounces in all. Rainwater should be used if possible. The bottle must always be shaken well before applying the powder. Be careful not to apply it too generously or it will give the effect of facial enamel.

Good Hair Tonic.

Coal oil is a splendid agent for promoting the general health of the hair. Rub a few drops into the scalp twice a week. Keep the scalp loose by massaging it deeply with the tips of the fingers. Little if any odor will result provided the oil is confined to the scalp and is not distributed through the hair. Be careful not to hold the head near a flame after using the oil.

A Good Astringent.

For oily skin no astringent brings about more satisfactory results than camphor water. It has a delightful healing effect, but should not be applied too often, as it has drying properties likely to prove disastrous to an extremely delicate skin. Apply the camphor water with a piece of absorbent cotton and just before it dries wipe it away gently with a soft cloth.

To Brighten Tortoise Shell.

Tortoise shell combs, pins and barrettes can be brightened by rubbing them with sweet oil, wiping them dry and covering them with whiting or a reliable silver powder. After the powder is applied the shell should be polished with a chamois. To keep the shell bright bathe it frequently in tepid water and rub it with olive oil on a piece of flannel or a chamois.

HOW TO PACK THE VACATION TRUNK

Art Coupled With Perseverance Wins the Battle In This as In Most Other Lines of Human Endeavor.

THE happiness of many a summer vacation has been wrecked over the packing. Knowing just what to take with one and where to stow it in the limited quarters afforded by the average trunk or trunks is an accomplishment with which, unhappily, few of us are gifted. In the exhausting effort to solve the problem of two into one, strength, temper and time are sometimes sorely taxed.

The secret of successful packing is tight packing. The novice fears to crush things, so gives them room to slide and slip. A moderate sized trunk firmly filled is a wiser choice than a big trunk. Not only do clothes come out of it in better condition, but when visiting you are a far more welcome guest. It is inconsiderate to take a huge trunk into a friend's home.

If you cannot afford modern compartment trunks get paper boxes that fit firmly into your tray. Label the lids and fill with small belongings. This keeps ribbons, laces, collars and neckware neat and convenient. An elastic on each box prevents the lids from falling off when the trunk is turned upside down.

When one has to depend on a trunk for weeks, as often happens in touring, pack so that the things you most need are near the top. Heavy clothes for cold weather emergencies if placed smoothly in the bottom of a trunk with a tray cover or piece of heavy muslin tucked in around them and firmly pinned will act like a false bottom to the trunk and save time and annoyance in repacking.

Do not neglect to have extra tapes sewed to your trunk trays, especially in your hatbox. They keep the contents from slipping and take up little room. Pin your hats firmly even though you think they are well protected. Well pinned and stuffed with tissue paper the most fragile hat carries well.

The careful woman makes trunk sets. These consist of covers for each tray and compartment. Shoe covers, a corset bag and a solid clothes bag are included. These may be of colored linen bound with white tape and embroidered with a monogram. They keep out much dust, and, if big enough to tuck in the edges, they prevent sliding.

Where there is plenty of space in a trunk put coats on hangers and stuff out the sleeves and front. The best method of coat packing is to fold the garment inside out, sleeve to sleeve and front to front, then fold once lengthwise with tissue paper between. The sleeves may be slightly stuffed before folding.

Soft gowns that are difficult to pack smoothly may be rolled over heavy rolls of newspaper that have been covered with sheets of tissue paper.

Every plaited skirt should have the plaits carefully caught in place at the hem before packing. This done and the skirt carefully folded with tissue paper in the fold, it should come out of the trunk as smooth as when it went in.

Put crushed tissue paper in every fold, stuff sleeves, bows and loops with it; fold it around flowers and under feathers and also fill odd corners. It prevents slipping and does not add to the weight—an important item when overweight baggage is to be dreaded.

Should you be so highly blessed as to be able to take a trip to Europe, remember that the less luggage you have the greater will be your comfort in traveling. You will need a warm steamer rug, a close fitting, soft hat for comfort when sitting in a deck chair, a wrap that will be useful to slip on during a night journey in a railway carriage, a hat trimmed to withstand wind, weather and hard wear, two pairs of sensible walking shoes, a traveling blouse of the color of the suit, but which can be brightened by lingerie collars and cuffs; one pretty costume for dinner and dressy occasions, a kimono, rubbers and umbrella and a fancy blouse for afternoon wear. Nearly all the above mentioned articles may be packed in one large suit case if it is not desirable to take a trunk along.

NEEDLEWORK NOTES.

Before piercing an eyelet in linen or any stiff material place a small cake of white soap under the fabric and run the stiletto through both the material and the soap. The result will be a clear, even perforation.

Collars which have their buttonholes torn may be mended with tape, which should be joined on the collar in the double, then cut and worked in the necessary buttonholes.

When sewing hooks and eyes on the hem or plait of a waist to prevent stitching through goods to the right side slip a piece of pasteboard between the plait and as you sew on each hook or eye push the pasteboard along.

PRACTICALLY NO LIMIT TO ELECTRICAL POWER.

If you have Central Station Electric Drive in your factory, you do not have to worry about overloading your power plant.

Neither do you have to keep a 200 H. P. engine running, with its necessary boiler consumption of fuel and water, in order to supply a fraction of your maximum load on occasions when only a little power is needed.

Central Station Electric Power is flexible. You can have much or little. And you pay only for your actual demands.

If your business increases all you have to do is to install another motor or so. If power demands temporarily fall off, even if only for an hour, you can shut down such motors as are not in use and you do not have to pay for power wasted.

Central Station Electric Power is not only for small installations. Some of the largest power users have demonstrated its efficiency and economy over steam drive.

Public Service Electric Company is supplying many consumers who use more than 100 horsepower each. A number of these have demands exceeding 500 horsepower, and one large plant is using more than 1,200 horsepower.

These concerns knew what they were doing when they ordered Central Station Electric Power. They know what Central Station Electric Power is doing for them.

If Central Station Electric Power will give satisfaction and save money for others, it will do the same thing for you.

Let our representative confer with you on your power problems. A card or telephone call will bring him.

BOROUGH PUPILS EXCEL NEWARK SCHOOL PUPILS

A report was read at last night's meeting of the Borough Board of Education from H. C. Krebs, the late supervising principal of the North Plainfield High School, on the result of the recent State examinations in the eighth grade. It showed the percentage of pupils who received 90 points or more as compared with Newark in the following subjects:

Newark—Spelling, 83; history, 63; arithmetic, 62; writing, 60; grammar, 39.

North Plainfield—Spelling, 90; history, 80; arithmetic, 65; writing, 70; grammar, 73.

The report was warmly received by the members of the Board.

CITY TO SEND POLICE CHIEF TO CONVENTION

Chief of Police P. S. Kiely, at the July meeting of the Common Council, last night, was granted a vacation from July 7-15, together with an appropriation of $75, for the purpose of attending the annual convention of the International Police Chiefs' Association to be held at Toronto, Canada. The resolution carried with it the provision that Chief Kiely shall render to the Common Council an itemized bill of all expenses and also a report of the convention.

The resolution allowing the chief to go to Toronto and appropriating $75 for the trip was offered by Councilman C. C. Randolph, chairman of the police committee, and all the members present, except Councilmen Fred Endress and P. J. Reville, voted in favor of the resolution.

NO CLUE TO ASSAILANT.

Patsey Hawley, who was present at the cutting of Louis Pelligren by an unknown man during a game of poker on Sunday and who was held as a material witness, was released this morning on his own recognizance. Pasquale Leucurillo, in whose house the affray took place, has left the town. The condition of the injured man, who is detained at Muhlenberg Hospital, is improving. The police are still investigating the matter but up to the present have obtained no clue to Pelligren's assailant.

—Ask some peope to take your part and they will take all you have.

PLAN HEARING ON STREET WIDENING

Council Sets Date to Listen to Property Owners on Proposed Improvement.

MANY MINOR MATTERS

Petitions Are Presented and Reports Are Filed at July Meeting—Adjourned Session to Be Held on Monday, July 22.

Acting upon the petition of Dr. Marcus L. Clawson and others, which was returned, Councilman W. L. Gloak, at the July meeting of the Common Council, last night, offered a resolution fixing Tuesday night, September 3, as the time when it will meet and listen to property owners regarding the proposed widening of Madison avenue, between Front street and the railroad bridge. The date named was fixed to allow certain property owners, now away, to reach home for the hearing.

Residents of West Fourth street, west of Clinton avenue, petitioned to have that thoroughfare macadamized. This was referred. The petition of the Shiloh Baptist church requesting that a tax of $36.75 levied on the property be cancelled for the reason that the church is used only for religious worship, was referred to the finance committee and later was granted. The Woman's Exchange asked for permission to erect an iron pole in front of the exchange on Park avenue, upon which it desires to place an attractive sign. This was referred to the street committee.

Horace G. Adams, clerk of the District Court, reported receipts for the past month of $19.27, disbursements amounting to $69, with a balance of $130.27, which has been turned over to the city treasurer. Building Inspector T. O. Doane reported the granting of 28 permits last month and Street Commissioner A. J. Gavett reported the granting of 14 sewer permits during the same period.

Councilman George S. Clay, acting for the finance committee in the absence of the chairman, Mr. Mygatt, offered several resolutions which were adopted. One authorized the transfer of $2,000 to the poor fund and $3,000 to the fire fund. Another one authorized the borrowing of $3,000 for sewer extension work, and still another provided for setting aside $15,000 for a contingent fund for the coming year, that amount not being in excess of 10 per cent. of the whole amount raised in the city by taxation, as provided by law.

The city clerk was instructed through a resolution offered by Mr. Clay to furnish the Union County Board of Taxation with a certificate of the amount of money to be raised in Plainfield for the coming year.

In accordance with a resolution offered by Mr. Taylor and adopted, the New York Telephone Company was instructed to install four telephone extensions in the fire-houses at an annual cost of $6 each. Another resolution offered by Mr. Taylor and adopted, authorized the fire and building committee to sell to the highest bidder, four horses, which will not be needed when the new chemical engine arrives. The sum of $34.95 was appropriated to the use of the fire and building committee to cover bill of expense for repairs to Chief Doane's automobile, in accordance with resolution by Mr. Taylor.

A resolution offered by Mr. Holt, which was adopted, formally adopted the new book of city ordinances, making them the official ordinances. On motion of Mr. Clay the school tax ordinance calling for $68,000 for the coming year was adopted on third reading. The Council then adjourned to Monday night, July 22, on motion of Councilman F. L. Holt.

NEW BUILDING PERMITS ISSUED BY T. O. DOANE

To Albert Pittis, of E. Front street, for a brick garage on the rear of his property at 178 E. Front street.

To Alma B. Bowman, of West Second street, for three frame dwellings on East Second street.

To St. Mary's church for an extension to the church edifice to be used as an entrance.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

The rain of Saturday caused an awful mixup in the standing of the two local amateur leagues.

A number of games were called when the rain began, others took chances on a letup and still others were forced to accept a tie.

At one time on the Oval Saturday the wind blew up so much dust that the players could not be distinguished.

Eddie Stallings is getting so used to making sensational stabs and clouting out extra base hits that he would feel very much peeved if he did not chalk up at least one of each kind in every game.

Thursday will be a big day in the local sporting circles.

Parker Field will be the scene of the biggest field and track meet ever held in this vicinity and will without doubt bring out the cream of the athletic talent.

Then across the board fence on the oval, the Scotch Plains team will be trying conclusions with the Plainfield nine.

In the morning on the Oval, Dorflinger's charges will have the U. S. S. Michigan team to contend with.

This nine recently defeated the U. S. S. Nebraska team for the championship of the Navy and has a 9 to 4 victory over the New York Fire Department team to its credit.

The fight fans will find plenty of things along this line also.

The Johnson-Flynn fight for the heavyweight championship of the world is beginning to arouse a great deal of enthusiasm.

Johnson at present rules a 2 to 1 favorite.

New York still keeps up its winning streak and has a record that will very soon rival Marquard's.

The peerless one has now safely passed his eighteenth and is on the road to twenty and then some.

Following in the footsteps of the great Commoner John McGraw has inserted a plank in the platform of the national pastime insuring us that the game is not dominated by predatory interests. With the Giants so far out in the lead that they now threaten to clinch the pennant in midseason and rob the race of most of its interest, McGraw is shoving his club along winning games with the same regularity as ever.

There has been talk that McGraw would soon engineer a slump which would give the National League race the appearance of being closer than heretofore. This slump would be accounted for by the fact that the Giants had gone stale. But our opinion of McGraw is that he will send the Giants along and win games honestly just as though he had a hard struggle on his hands. At least he will never purposely lose a game.

Despite the many times that Manager Wolverton has denied any intention of trading Hal Chase, the star of the once peerless Hal seems to be waning. Chase may have good reasons for his slump in playing and batting, but that will act as no rebuttal if some youngster gets in and shows a right to get Hal's place. Sterrett, the college player, seems to fit in anywhere they place him. He is a catcher or infielder as the occasion requires, and in addition he can bat. He is young, enthusiastic and ambitious, and is not hampered by any notion that he is the greatest ball player alive and can live on his reputation.

Frank Schulte has apparently regained his batting eye. Up to recently last year's home run champion was of little service to the Cubs as a hitter. But no doubt the sight of Heinie Zimmerman edging in on his preserves put Frank into action. He is now hitting with some of his old vigor and that is some vigor as we remember.

Joe Benz while only a recruit of this season, has been one of the most substantial props in the White Sox. Callahan is enthusiastic over the work of the youngster and believes Benz will emerge from the season one of the leading hurlers in the American League.

A good deal of interest is being directed towards the next meeting of the White and Red Sox. Chicago made quite a successful jaunt through Boston last time but indications are that it will meet a different reception at the Hub this time. Stahl's club is just now going at its best, and made confident by its lead while the White Sox dropped back since in the East last, Boston figures to take the series.

Despite all the claimants to the pennant in the Johnson League, but two clubs rise up for serious attention. Washington made a great run and will likely put up a good fight. The same can be said of the White Sox. But it looks as though the Red Sox and the Athletics would fight it out between them. The Mack men are so far from being out of it that they are really very much in it.

Cubs and Pirates are balloting hard for second place. It has been a sort of an in-and-out race with both of them. Yet on the figures and dope it should ultimately fall to one of them as these two clubs have something on the rest of the field barring of course the Giants.

Marquard swings into July with the chip still on his shoulder. That is a record that may never be equalled. Also he has won something like forty-two of his forty-five starts in the National League since last August.

Having called on all the clubs twice and some of them three times, Mr. Marquard is starting on his fourth round. Philadelphia and Boston lead in games contributed to the nable southpaw.

PLAINFIELD TEAM HAS 2 GAMES FOR FOURTH

The Plainfield baseball team has a strong bill on hand for the Fourth of July and will occupy the oval both in the morning and afternoon. Manager Dorflinger has been fortunate in securing the team of the U. S. S. Michigan for the morning attraction and one of the greatest games of the season is expected when this nine comes to Plainfield. They recently defeated the U. S. S. Nebraska for the championship of the navy and have been playing all the fast semi-professional teams on their circuit.

The afternoon attraction will be taken care of by the Scotch Plains nine and as the locals put it over them in the first game this season they are out for blood and a fast game is expected. A game between teams representing the Plains and Plainfield always brings out a large amount of good natured rivalry and is one of the contests local fans rarely miss.

The Fourth of July games on the Oval will in no way interfere with the field and track meet on Parker Field, because this event starts at 2 o'clock. Those so desirous can go over to the playground at 2 o'clock and take in part of the meet, and at 3:30 they can change their camping ground to the Oval, where they will be highly repaid for their trouble.

WANTS A GAME.

The Royal Giants, a fast colored team, would like to arrange a game with some fast nine of this section for the Fourth of July. Manager Simmon says he will guarantee a first class attraction and any team wishing to take advantage of his offer may do so by addressing him at 121 Madison avenue, or 'phone 1988-W.

SCHOOL BOARD'S PLANS ARE UPSET

The State School Commission through its inspector has caused another set back in the plans of the North Plainfield Board of Education for the installation of an $18,000 heating and ventilating apparatus in the older portion of the High School building. The board being compelled as a result to return unopened last night the bids for the proposed improvement.

A month ago the necessary appropriation was voted and bids authorized. Then a state inspector visited the school and as a result of his report the Commissioners of Education demanded further improvements, such as a new ventilating system, more floor space, new stairways and better fire appliances. These recommendations, necessary under the new state law which goes into effect on August 1, placed the local board in a quandary. The board requested that the chief inspector on buildings be sent for and go over and investigate the matter himself.

In accordance with this request H. N. Morse visited the school building and in company with Dr. Justus H. Cooley, president of the board, submitted the old part of the building to a vigorous inspection. His advice to Dr. Cooley was that nothing should be done until the matter of the rebuilding of the old part of the school was taken up as it fell far short of the present regulations and requirements. One of the new requirements is that the stairways must be at least four feet wide and the rooms must open on them, according to their architect A. L. C. Marsh, the greatest width that they could make them was 3 feet 4 inches. There were twelve class rooms in the older building and to increase the floor area required and yet accommodate the same number of pupils a considerable enlargement would have to be made and of course if the school building were enlarged the size of the heating apparatus would also have to be increased. The chief inspector seemed to think that it was only a question of a short space of time until the board would have to rebuild the whole building. When asked by Dr. Cooley if the board could be compelled to rebuild this portion of the school, he said, "No, but we can prevent you from using it." Francis L. Sill thought it would be very unwise in the face of this statement to proceed with the heating and moved that the bids be returned unopened which was adopted, Allan B. Laing withdrawing a previous contramotion.

Edwin S. Boyer was of opinion that under the new law all the old buildings that did not conform to its regulations would have to be closed down and new ones be built or else suffer the loss of the state grant. In fact that was what the board was at present threatened with. Mr. Laing said that some of the Elizabeth schools were just as bad, but on account of political pull nothing was done there. He did not think that the State Board could enforce such a law and consequently he would be in favor of having the Attorney-General's advice on the matter. Francis L. Sill objected on the ground that the State School Commission would be incensed at such procedure and would be more stringent and insistent on the due observance of the law. Edwin S. Boyer said the board must do something; that their boilers were in bad condition and would not last another winter; that it had cost $800 to keep them in repair last year.

It was suggested by Allan B. Laing the erection of a new school in another part of the town to relieve the congestion, but it was pointed out that such a project would involve a sum of $50,000 and it was questionable if the taxpayers would stand for it. He however contended that some of the school buildings in Plainfield were in a worse condition than their's and that it was not fair to saddle them with burden while others escaped it.

To this F. L. Sill replied that Plainfield's turn would come in good time, and that all the schools in the state as well as in Somerset county would have to be up and doing.

Eventually after further discussion it was moved and seconded that action on the matter be deferred for the present and that the architect, A. L. C. Marsh, be empowered to draw up plans and specifications and approximate cost showing the improvements that would conform to the state regulations.

Councilman Alexander Milne, who is acting as temporary clerk of the North Plainfield Council, during C. M. Dolliver's absence on vacation, also acted as temporary clerk of the meeting for which he was accorded a vote of thanks.

Dr. A. H. Dundon was reappointed school physician for the ensuing year at a salary of $200, Dr. F. E. DuBois' name having been withdrawn.

L. T. Koons, of Belvidere avenue, has gone to Little Silver for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. William S. Tyler and children, of West Eighth street, have gone to Sunapee, N. H., for the summer.

NOT EASILY STUMPED.

When the Rev John McNeil was holding revival services at Cardiff a young man one night, thinking to perplex the preacher, sent up a note to the platform with the request that the following question be publicly answered:

"Dear Mr. McNeil—If you are seeking to enlighten young men, kindly tell me who was Cain's wife."

Mr. McNeil read the note, and then, amid breathless silence, said:

"I love young men—inquirers for truth especially—and should like to give this young man a word of advice. It is this: Don't lose your soul's salvation looing after other people's wives."

THE LIBERAL EDUCATION.

Sir Horace Plunkett once delivered a lecture in Dublin, Ireland, on the best way to improve conditions among the poor. At that time Sir Horace was not exactly a finished speaker. His tongue could not do justice to the richest of his mind.

The day following his address he received from a lady a note containing this statement:

What you need is two things: (1) a wife and (2) lessons in elocution.

To this Plunkett sent this reply:

I have received your letter saying that I need two things: (1) a wife and (2) lessons in elocution. Those are only one.—Popular Magazine.

HOW GOV. WILSON GAINED VOTES

BRYAN STORM CENTER

"Peerless One" Severely Scored by John B. Stanchfield, of New York, For His Action Since Convention Opened.

Baltimore, July 2.—There were all sorts of rumors of dark horses and freaks from the Wilson and Clark camps when the delegates of the Democratic national convention met shortly after noon today. Clark's managers were freely predicting that the reaction had set in and that Wilson had seen his highest vote on the thirty-ninth and fortieth ballots just before adjournment early this morning when he polled 501½ votes. The following was the lineup on the forty-second ballot taken just before the convention adjourned at 12:41 this morning: Clark, 430; Wilson, 494; Underwood, 104; Harmon, 27; Foss, 28; Kern, 1; Gaynor, 1; Bryan, ½; James, 1; Lewis, 1; absent, ½.

The indications are that the struggle between Wilson and Clark will go on until both sides are worn down with disgust and fatigue and one of them surrenders.

The break in the Indiana delegation to Wilson was the biggest single gain that he made in the course of the day's balloting.

The Clark men still declare they have absolute pledges from a sufficient number of men to block Wilson's nomination, even if he continues to gather strength.

The Illinois delegation, which was expected to swing to Wilson, held a caucus on the floor of the convention and decided to stand by Clark. It was said that Charles F. Murphy has made up his mind that New York's ninety delegates will not be thrown to Wilson unless the Wilson managers can convince him that the governor can be nominated. The outcome depends entirely upon this question: Can Champ Clark control a sufficient number of delegates—365—to block Wilson's nomination?

The feeling between the factions on the floor of the convention became tense. Many of the delegates were angry over being held in Baltimore. The Missouri crowd was particularly ill tempered, and they threatened Bryan with violence and almost mobbed him on the floor of the convention because of his attacks on Champ Clark.

Story of the Night Session.

Baltimore, July 2.—Ollie James slammed down his gavel at 8:20 p. m. and made a little speech. He said:

"I do not intend that there shall be such disorder tonight as marked the proceedings this afternoon. I want twenty-five policemen placed in this central aisle near the platform. I want an additional force of policemen stationed in all of the galleries. If I see or hear any disorder I will order the disturbers arrested. I want these policemen to look to me and to nobody else for orders."

The chairman was roundly cheered by a majority of the delegates and by nearly all the visitors. You could feel the bitterness that had developed since Mr. Bryan's performances of the afternoon. The Missourians, who had called Mr. Bryan names that are not printable and who had actually tried to strike him with their fists, sat sore and sullen. The Nebraska delegation, the storm center of the convention, was defiant and ready for a fight. Over the floor of the convention Clark managers were working in a half hearted sort of way. Their confidence had evaporated and they seemed to be struggling desperately to hold what strength they had. The Wilson managers were fairly singing with joy. They hustled about clapping each other on the back and predicting Wilson's nomination before the session ended.

The crowd was much larger than at the afternoon session. There was some expectation that the conference during recess had resulted in a better understanding among the managers at least and that a nomination could be had before morning. But when the roll call on the thirty-fifth ballot was fairly under way it was seen there was no immediate prospects of its being realized. There were no other changes from the previous ballot except that Wilson gained a vote in Wisconsin and another vote in Alaska.

As the thirty-sixth ballot was begun the leaders were in conference on the floor, but they were making no progress that was apparent. The Missourians had lost a lot of their pepper. They had been shouting in chorus whenever their time came to record their vote, and usually they tailed a cheer after the announcement. But now they were merely grunting out the vote and wasting no energy in cheers.

Wilson had gained 2 in North Carolina from Underwood, but in Ohio there was no change, that state still throwing 29 votes to Harmon and 19 to Wilson. Ollie James, having some business on the floor, turned over the gavel to Senator O'Gorman of New York. Senator O'Gorman was roundly cheered when he came on the platform.

The thirty-sixth ballot was without interest or any change until Clark took two votes away from Underwood in Tennessee.

Clark Picks Up Four.

Connecticut shifted 4 votes from Clark to Underwood on the thirty-eighth ballot. Then the Florida delegation, which has been giving 10 votes for Underwood and 2 for Wilson, was polled. There was no change in the result, although there was a great fuss. The delegates were instructed for Underwood, and it is the fist state instructed for him which has got away from the Alabaman.

Senator O'Gorman, acting chairman, ruled that the delegates could vote as their conscience directed.

"How about the fellows here," some one asked, "who haven't got a conscience?" and there was a laugh.

Clark lost 5½ votes to Underwood and immediately, or at 10:10 o'clock, the Illinois delegation held a caucus. The interest in the proceedings which had been dull became lively. The general impression was that Illinois intended to bolt to Wilson. It was also said that the Wilson men were planning a stampede on the thirty-ninth ballot.

When the thirty-ninth ballot started there was a rumor that Illinois would soon switch to Wilson. There was much excitement in the hall. For the first time there was a break in Colorado's 12 for Clark. The vote was announced 11 for Clark and 1 for Wilson. And the chairman of the delegation, a Clark man, made a speech from the floor, explaining that there was no unit rule in his state.

Chairman James read the resolutions of instruction and these held the delegates to Clark. The chairman upheld the instructions, but left it to the conscience of the individual delegates. That permitted the Wilson men to swing into the Wilson column.

There was loud cheering when Wilson grabbed two more delegates in Iowa. Rumors of a general break were flying about the hall.

Situation Apparently Hopeless.

The fortieth ballot and the fourteenth of the day was begun at 10:55 o'clock with the same hopeless situation confronting the delegates. Nothing was happening but the hardly varying announcement of the ballot.

Ohio changed its vote slightly on this ballot, subtracting a vote from the Harmon column and putting it in the Wilson column. At 11:20 o'clock a motion for adjournment was made by the Clark people, but A. Mitchell Palmer, the Wilson leader, called for a yea and nay vote, so the Clark men quickly withdrew their motion.

Ohio varied the proceedings again by introducing the name of Mayor Gaynor. It took away another of Harmon's spare following and gave the vote to Gaynor. From Virginia one of Wilson's votes went to Bryan and there was a shout from the commoner's friends. A delegate from Georgia moved that an adjournment be taken until tomorrow, but it was subsequently withdrawn. The roll call was then ordered on the forty-second ballot.

The forty-second ballot proceeded with little change, and then the joker from Iowa exploded the biggest laugh and cast for none other than the Hon. J. Hamilton Lewis. There was as much applause as had been turned loose for either Wilson or Clark, and J. Ham. lowered his head modestly until the hurrah died out. All eyes twinkled as he announced the vote. Shortly after the forty-second ballot was taken Mr. Wallace of Washington moved to adjourn, and Senator Stone seconded it. There was a rumpus at once. Mr. Palmer of Pennsylvania demanded a roll call. The delegates began to walk out as the states were called. The leaders were voting "Yea" as they put on their coats and hats. The convention adjourned at 12:43 a. m. until noon today.

Watterson Flays Bryan.

Louisville, Ky., July 2.—Under the caption "The Destructionist" Mr. Watterson will say in today's Courier-Journal:

"One need not ascribe to the sinister part played by Mr. Bryan at Baltimore any purpose or even conscious disloyalty; but, assuming it the native and honest emanation of his character and intellect, the conclusion cannot be escaped that he is a man of malevolent disposition and of judgments radically infirm."

Mr. Watterson declares there are some who believe that Mr. Bryan is playing an artful but perfidious game to secure the nomination for himself.

"The Courier-Journal," he continues, "is not a searcher of hearts. It would blacken no man's motives. It can in fancy realize a person wholly upright, but selfish and perverse; much spoiled by adulation, yet of mediocre talents, confusing his resentment and his conviction in an effort to keep himself in the front of the scene and to retain the appearance of leadership at whatever cost, regardless of consequences. Such a person is Theodore Roosevelt. Such a person seems William Jennings Bryan. Already he has made a harvest of what appeared a harvest. He may imagine himself a hero, but a hero he is only to the unworthy and the unreflecting."

Missourians Threaten Bryan.

Baltimore, July 2.—William J. Bryan was threatened with personal violence and almost mobbed on the floor of the convention by the Missouri delegation. Fists flew through the air and it was the most disorderly scene thus far. Bryan, white with anger, finally sought safety on the speakers' platform. The Missouri delegation, incensed because of Bryan's public denunciation of Champ Clark and angry because the Wilson forces had taken the lead in the voting away from Clark, made a demonstration against Bryan, using a banner with an inscription which quoted Bryan as saying that Clark was a corruptible man with a life above reproach. They flaunted the banner in the face of Bryan, carrying it right to the Nebraskan's delegation and Mr. Bryan went over to complain to the chairman of the Missouri delegation. The Missourians shook their fists in Bryan's face, took a fan away from him, which he subsequently recovered, talked of lynching him and said bitter words to him. Fist fights followed, and the police after difficulty separated the combatants.

When calm had been restored Chairman Ollie James announced that hereafter any person who carried a banner on the floor of the convention would be arrested, as the banners of the candidates have been productive of wild scenes. It was some time before the uproar entirely subsided. When it did Bryan raised his hand.

"Go on!" they shouted to Bryan.

"I was seated" — Mr. Bryan did not get beyond this. Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston was standing on a chair in the Massachusetts delegation and demanding in loud tones that he asked for unanimous consent to rise to a point of order. Finally Chairman Jones soothed Fitzgerald and he sat down.

Mr. Bryan faced the audience. There was not a tremor in his voice, nothing to indicate the fact, except perhaps a slight paleness, that he had been in a fighting crowd a few moments before and had words of lynching thrown at him.

"I was seated in my delegation," he said, "when there was placed in front of us a banner. I went to the Missouri delegation and inquired from the chairman to see whether it was taken there at his request. If it was the unauthorized act of those who brought it I have nothing to say, but if the Missouri delegation is responsible for it I claim the right to answer the question which they present." Mr. Bryan turned to Chairman James, who said, "The chair will have to rule that the gentleman from Nebraska does not state a question of personal privilege."

The storm was over. Mr. Bryan returned to his seat in the Nebraska delegation with police in front of him and back of him, and not a word was said to him as he passed the irate Missourians.

Bryan Makes Another Statement.

Baltimore, July 2.—Mr. Bryan issued another statement. He said:

It is true that I shook hands with Charles F. Murphy. I saw a picture by one of the Hearst newspapers which portrayed me in the act of shaking hands with Mr. Murphy. In politics a man has to shake hands with nearly everybody. I have even shaken hands with Mr. Hearst. I do not require a certificate from any man before shaking hands with him. As to John B. Stanchfield's attack on me in the convention, I assume that this convention has the leisure for a joint discussion between Stanchfield and me about my qualities. I am not concerned about Mr. Stanchfield's opinion of me. I am trying to draw a clear cut line between Wall street and the people. Mr. Stanchfield admits that he is on the side of Wall street, which saves me the trouble of proving it.

Asked if he would refuse to continue voting as a delegate for Woodrow Wilson if the New York delegation voted for Wilson, Mr. Bryan inquired:

"Did I say that in my statement? I have nothing to add to it. I am not prepared to say what will happen as the result of the balloting."

Mr. Bryan referred to a quotation from a speech which he is alleged to have delivered, which quotation, when displayed in the convention by the Missouri delegation led to a near riot.

I take it that the quotation is accurate, for I have said things fully as complimentary as that quoted, and I am not withdrawing anything I have ever said complimentary to Mr. Clark in the past. I have made no charges against him except such as are based on his own confessions. There is no issue of fact between us. He says that he took no part in the chairmanship fight. I say he should have taken a part. If there is no difference between Judge Parker's brand of Democracy and mine, then for sixteen years we have been disputing in our party about nothing. If there is a difference, Speaker Clark ought to have taken the progressive side. Not having taken that side, he can not complain of criticism from those who believe we should have had a progressive candidate. In his statement Speaker Clark says that he knows of no reason why he should insult the ninety delegates from New York by refusing to accept their vote. In that statement he puts Murphy delegation on the same footing with all other delegates and must stand or fall by the correctness of his judgment. I believe we cannot afford to nominate a candidate with the aid of Mr. Murphy's delegates. Under the unit rule he controls the delegation, and the predatory interests control him. Mr. Clark must take the responsibility for his attitude. I take the responsibility for mine.

Story of Day Session.

Baltimore, July 2.—If the galleries had not been thrown open to the public there would have been many vacant seats in the convention hall when the session opened at 11 o'clock. Even with the free admission there was no rush. The delegates assembled looking more chipper. A day's rest, with plenty of sleep, had helped a lot. The New York delegation was late in getting its seats, Charles F. Murphy and other leaders coming in at the last moment. The section reserved for the Illinois delegation was unoccupied. The men from Illinois were in caucus, and it was known that a great majority of them were favoring Wilson and that Roger Sullivan, the boss of the delegation, was ready, when he believed the proper time had come, to throw the solid block of 58 votes from his state to Governor Wilson.

Chairman Ollie James, who believes in doing things promptly, called the convention to order at 11:03. After the Rev. J. Carroll Coale, assistant pastor of the First M. E. church of Baltimore, had said prayers, the twenty-seventh ballot began. At the first sign of a demonstration om the galleries Chairman James lifted his great bulk out of his chair and made a speech to the effect that the convention had been thrown open to the public, whereupon the galleries gave Chairman James a cheer, and he sat down.

There was practically no incident to enliven the proceedings until Illinois was called, and there being no representative of that state present or in his seat the delegation was passed. Everybody was waiting to see what would happen in the New York delegation. Charles F. Murphy got up and shouted, "New York's 90 votes for Clark." In the middle of the delegation Walter H. Edson of Falconer jumped up and waved his hand.

"I demand a poll of the vote," he said.

Governor John A. Dix was called first. He voted for Clark. Senator James O'Gorman, known to be a Wilson man, was not in his seat. The other two men of the big four, Judge Alton B. Parker and Charles F. Murphy, voted for Clark. They were all Clark men down to the Eleventh district, when Abraham I. Elkus cast his vote for Wilson. He got a cheer.

William G. McAdoo said, "I vote for Woodrow Wilson." Lawrence Godkin put over a vote for Wilson. The first vote for Oscar W. Underwood came from William Temple Emmett.

Cram Votes For Clark.

J. Sargent Cram, who has been doing missionary work for Wilson, voted for Clark. Joseph A. Kellogg cast a second vote for Underwood. The up state men who voted for Wilson were Thomas W. Meachan, Benedict Brooks and Mr. Edison, who made the motion to have the vote polled.

John B. Stanchfield broke up the roll call by asking consent to explain his vote, in the course of which he roundly denounced Bryan for his attacks on the New York delegation. He referred to Bryan as "that money grabbing, selfish, favor hunting, publicity seeking marplot from Nebraska," and further declared that Bryan never intended to support the candidate of the convention, but to nominate himself or cause a deadlock. He also accused Bryan of double dealing and declared he was the ally of Roosevelt and should be expelled from the convention.

Before the vote was counted the Illinois delegation marched to their seats and Roger Sullivan cast 58 votes for Clark. It was believed, however, that he would go to Wilson on the twenty-eighth ballot. John B. Knox, chairman of the Alabama delegation, asked unanimous consent to introduce a resolution. There was objection, and it was referred to the committee on resolutions.

Mr. Knox's resolution was not in favor of any of the candidates. He desired to have it put before the convention that it was not a convention of progressives or reactionaries, but a Democratic convention. Mr. Knox's resolution was in the nature of an effort to bring about harmony. The delegates heard nothing of it.

When the twenty-eighth ballot was begun there was an instant and thrilling demonstration when Indiana, after voting for Governor Marshall on the twenty-seventh ballot, turned from him and gave 29 votes to Wilson and one to Senator Kern. The break to Wilson had been expected, but there was a roar of delight from the Wilson men when Senator Shively announced the vote.

Wilson also picked up half a vote in Maryland. Governor Brewer of Mississippi bobbed up to announce the vote of his state, and it sounded as if he was going to shift from Underwood, but he fooled the crowd and cast the votes as usual for Underwood.

Wilson gained a vote in Montana, and then there was a row in the New Mexico delegation, which had been casting 8 votes for Clark. The delegation was polled and the result was 5 for Clark and 3 for Wilson.

Oklahoma continued to vote 10 for Clark and 10 for Wilson. Pennsylvania, which had been giving Clark 5 and Wilson 71, took one from the Clark column and gave it to Wilson.

The twenty-ninth ballot droned on without change until Indiana was called for. Here there was a slight change, Wilson getting 20 votes and Kern 4. Some people thought that the Hoosier state was gently edging Senator Kern into the convention, with the hope that many states would fall behind them. Roger Sullivan again gave the Illinois vote of 58 to Clark.

The Illinois crowd was slow in breaking. There was a rumpus over the Iowa vote which had been going 26 to Clark under the unit rule, and the delegation was polled. The result was Clark 14½ and Wilson 11½. So Chairman James ruled that the 26 must continue to vote for Clark. But it seemed only a question of time when Iowa would slip up. The Clark leaders were worried, but alert.

MISS QUIMBY KILLED.

Woman Aviator and Passenger In Her Car Dashed to Death.

MISS QUIMBY KILLED WHEN AIRSHIP FALLS

Passenger Also Victim In Plunge Into Bay.

Boston, July 2.—The martyr roll of the science of aviation was increased by two souls when Harriet Quimby of New York, premiere aviatrice of this continent, and William A. B. Willard of this city, manager of the third meet on the Harvard field and father of Charles Foster Willard, the Curtiss flier, were hurled a thousand feet into Dorchester bay from Miss Quimby's Bleriot of the most recent war type and instantly killed.

The staff of field surgeons were rushed toward the scene in automobiles, for at that time it was thought there might yet be an opportunity to do something for the unfortunate pair. They arrived to find their services useless, for on first reaching the edge of the field there was no trace of the bodies.

From the Savin Hill Yacht club a fleet of motorboats pushed out and rushed to the scene with the motors chugging at racing speed. They came to the spot where the bodies had seemed to vanish and instantly those within them leaped overboard and dived into the four feet of water to search. A second later the two floated to the surface and were gently borne to the shore and laid out.

There is probably no person who will ever be able to tell what caused the accident, but some are inclined to the belief that the machine suddenly ran into a gust of wind that caused the nose to point downward too rapidly and that suction pulled Willard out of his seat to the rear of the operator and threw him head foremost down through space. The action of his weight forced Miss Quimby to follow. Others say the indications are that the tail control broke, for it suddenly pointed upward into the air, and then Willard shot out. The latter theory is advanced by a number of aviators.

ANNUAL PROGRAM OF SCHOOL OF METHODS

The program has been issued for the nineteenth annual session of the School of Methods, conducting by the New Jersey Sunday-school Association. The session will begin Friday afternoon, July 5, and will close Friday, July 12, at noon in the High School building, Asbury Park.

Students from New York, Pennsylvania, Alabama, Maryland, Delaware, District of Columbia, as well as many from New Jersey, have already been enrolled. Mrs. J. Woodbridge Barnes, of Newark, is dean of the school, and Arthur N. Clark, also of Newark, is leader of the senior section.

Friday morning, July 5, will be open for the registration of students. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon there will be a meeting of instructors and section leaders for conference and prayer. At 2:45 the opening of the school will take place; and the senior, intermediate, junior, primary and beginners' classes will be organized.

On Saturday morning, following the class work in the various sections, there will be a lecture on "Israel's Neighbors—The Edomites," by Rev. Dr. Robert W. Rogers. In the afternoon there will be a meeting of the State executive committee, followed by a devotional period conducted by Rev. T. A. Conover, and an open parliament, in charge of Rev. E. Morris Ferguson.

There will be no session on Sunday, July 7, but on Monday morning following the class work, Dr. Rogers will speak on "Israel's Neighbors—the Phoenicians." In the afternoon the devotional period will be conducted by Mr. Conover, and an open parliament on "Co-education in Sunday-school Work" will be in charge of Rev. R. E. Diffendorfer. In the evening the board of directors will meet.

Tuesday morning Dr. Rogers will again be the lecturer, his subject being "A Bundle of Letters Thirty Centuries Old." The devotional exercises will again be in charge of Mr. Conover, and the open parliament "Missionary Education in the Sunday-school" in charge of Mr. Diffendorfer.

Dr. Rogers will deliver the fourth of his lectures on "Israel's Neighbors—Light Upon Palestine from Egypt" Wednesday morning, and in the afternoon Mr. Conover will again be in charge of the devotional exercises. The open parliament, "Religious Education Through Service" will be conducted by Mr. Diffendorfer and in the evening the alumni social will be held.

The fifth lecture in the Rogers course, "The Story of the Hitties," will be delivered on Thursday morning. The open parliament, "What Is the Sunday-school For?" will be in charge of Mr. Ferguson.

The session will terminate on Friday at noon. Dr. Rogers will have as the subject of his final lecture "Reading an Unknown Tongue." The report of the registrar will be read, after which the certificates of the school will be presented to those who have completed the course.

MISSING YEAR AND HALF; REAPPEARS, GONE AGAIN

Keyport, July 2.—After having been strangely missing for a year and a half, William H. Baker, about fifty years old, suddenly reappeared Sunday in Keyport and visited his wife and four grown sons, not one of whom had been able to ascertain his whereabouts until last week. All the time he had been no further than seventy-five miles away from them.

Baker was a butcher here, but got into financial straits, and suddenly, without the slightest warning, disappeared. His family at first said they believed him the victim of foul play, but spent time and money in a vain effort to locate him.

A Philadelphia man who has relatives here happened to be talking one day about Keyport when Baker, now a butcher in the Quaker City, joined in the conversation, and evinced an intimate knowledge of the place. But when the Philadelphian, who had visited in Keyport, started to question him as to his antecedents, Baker became unusually uncommunicative. That was enough to stir the Philadelphian's curiosity. He wrote to his relatives, described the man who knew all about Keyport, and as a consequence they communicated with Samuel Baker, one of his sons.

Young Mr. Baker lost no time in hurrying to Philadelphia, and there he met his father. He persuaded him to come on to Keyport over Sunday. There was a general family reconciliation, and then Sunday Baker went to the Pennsylvania city. He has made his peace with his family, but has decided to go it alone in Philadelphia.

No explanation has been given by Baker or by the members of the family for the continuance of the separation.

SCHEDULE MANY HOLIDAY EVENTS

AND FIREWORKS, TOO

Program of Out-door Attractions For Tomorrow—All Business to Be Suspended—No Papers Will Be Issued.

In addition to the many athletic events that are scheduled for tomorrow in Plainfield and vicinity, attractive programs have been announced at the local golf clubs. At the Plainfield Country Club there will be a four-ball, 18 holes, medal play handicap, in the morning. This will be for both class A and B. Teams to consist of two players, both of whom must be in the same class. In the afternoon there will be a driving contest; also an approaching and putting competition.

During the afternoon there will be a reception at the clubhouse, as usual, and a dinner-dance in the evening. The clubhouse will be a point of vantage to witness the display of fireworks at the Parker Field.

The Independence Day events at the Park Golf Club will include play for the Holiday cup, a members' bogey handicap competition, 18 holes, match play; to be competed for morning and afternoon. Competitors who turn in their scores for 18 holes before 2 o'clock will be allowed to play again for the trophy in the afternoon. There will be an approaching and putting competition at 5 o'clock in the afternoon, for mixed couples, open to members and their guests. There will also be an informal reception at the clubhouse during the afternoon. The members of the club are invited to be the guests of the Park Club in the evening at the clubhouse on Washington avenue. There will be an exhibition of fireworks at 9 o'clock, to be followed by dancing.

The men's singles handicap tennis tournament will be continued at the Park Club tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

The local postoffice will close at 10 o'clock in the morning and there will be but one delivery. The usual holiday rules will be observed at the Plainfield Public Library and Reading Room.

Eugene W. Chafin, of Chicago, will deliver a temperance lecture at Trinity Reformed church tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock, to which the public is invited.

Proctor's theatre will offer a fine bill of vaudeville. The show will run continuously from 1 o'clock in the afternoon until 11 o'clock in the evening.

There will also be numerous outdoor affairs, including picnics and private celebrations. The annual free picnic will be held at Wayside Park, Dunellen, under the auspices of the Salvation Army, provisions having been made for about 500 poor people of the city and vicinity.

Tomorrow promises to be a banner day in the local sporting circles and the eyes of the sport-loving public are centered on the big field and track meet to be held on Parker Field in the afternoon. The prizes include gold, silver and bronze medals for first, second and third places in each event and also an extra prize to be awarded the first local contestant to finish. These local prizes have been offered by the city's leading merchants and were obtained through the efforts of E. C. Ostlin and Jack Fritts.

The officials are thoroughly competent men along the athletic line and are nearly all local residents. George L. Listman, formerly physical director of the local Y. M. C. A., will act as starter and as he gave entire satisfaction when he acted in that capacity in the Charter Day meet in 1906 this important position will be well taken care of. Charles R. Bostwick, director of Parker iFeld, will act as referee and a man better fitted for this job would be hard to find. The finish judges will be A. W. Stone, Harry Runyon and C. W. Spicer. The field judges will be C. C. Thompson, A. R. Guinee and S. Frederick Smith. The timers will be men who served in the Charter Day meet or the five mile dual run with Elizabeth on March 30; John H. Doane, William Pratt and Walter Sampson. E. J. Beers, of the Plainfield High School faculty, will act as clerk of the course. Here are other officials: Announcer, Elmer Cutting; ticket sellers, J. E. Kimbal, John H. McLaughlin, F. O. Dunning, Sr., and Walter Sampson. Field scorer, Stanley Robbins; scorer, James J. McNamee. Each of the officials will receive gold medals similar to those awarded for first place in each event.

There are fifteen different organizations represented on the program and among them are some of the best known clubs in this part of the country such as the New York A. C., Irish-American A. C., Mohawk A. C.,

SAFE AND SANE FOURTH DISPLAY IS ASSURED

Response to Appeal For Funds Warrants Carrying Out Promised Program.

The success of the fireworks display on Parker Field tomorrow evening is assured. Nearly enough money to provide a first class exhibition has already been contributed and the committee believing that enough will be forthcoming to make up the balance needed has completed preparations for the event.

Very satisfactory arrangements have been made with a contractor who will furnish several similar displays. He will receive $150 for which a display beginning at 8:30 and lasting two hours will be provided. Bombs, rockets, beautiful set pieces and all the pieces incidental to a first-class exhibition will be included. The same band which is to play in the afternoon will play throughout the evening.

The people of Plainfield and North Plainfield are cordially invited to attend this first municipal fireworks display. No admission will be charged to the field.

Additional contributions to the fireworks fund were received yesterday from the following citizens:

MEEKER TELLS OF STATE ROAD WORK

Supervisor Explains What Is Being Done to Improve New Jersey's Highways.

MUCH WORK AHEAD

Somerset and Union County Thoroughfares to Be Built and Others to Be Repaired, Says Efficient Engineer.

"Work on the North Jersey roads is well under way for the summer," remarked State Supervisor of Roads Robert A. Meeker, of this city, as he picked up the report of Assistant E. M. Vail, another engineer, and looked over it yesterday.

"Like the work in South Jersey, the policy of Colonel Edwin A. Stevens, state commissioner of roads, has been strictly adhered to. The roads mean something not only to the immediate beneficiaries, but to the travelers in the state at large.

"A number of roads are under construction and many of them rapidly approaching completion, while all of them will be done before the snow flies. Feels good to speak about the snow, does it not?" commented the state supervisor, as he wiped his sunburned neck, the day being oppressively warm.

"In Sussex county," continued Mr. Meeker, "the real northern end of New Jersey, we are building the Hamburg road, connecting the old municipality of Deckertown with the improved road south by way of this new road over the Hamburg mountain, known as Franklin Furnace. When completed, and the report of Mr. Vail shows me that it has been finished all but two bridges and the approaches, and we will see it soon for acceptance, this stretch of road will give passage from Newton to Stanhope, from Franklin Furnace to Stockholm and from Hamburg to Sussex. Any one need not go to Italy or to Switzerland to see scenery. They will have it in that part of New Jersey.

"In Bergen county the two sections of the Franklin turnpike now well under way will, when completed give an improved road to the New York state line. The road along Sylvan avenue in Tenafly and Alpine, in this same county, is a further extension of the drive over the Palisades. This road is also well along.

"In Essex county the following roads are under construction: Normal avenue, .755 of a mile; Cedar street, 1.600 miles; Old Short Hills road, 2.600 miles; Union avenue, 1.161 miles; Gregory avenue, 1.68 miles; Pleasant Valley way, 3.654 miles, Lindsay road 1.489 miles, and Clinton avenue, 1.300 miles, and they represent a year's work of importance to the road system in Essex county.

"In Middlesex county there are under construction the South River and New Brunswick road, .757 of a mile; Highland Park and Bonhampton road, 3.901 miles; Main street, Bound Brook, .913 of a mile, and the Franklin Park and Kingston road, 3.363 miles. This last road completes the gap in good roads between New Brunswick and Trenton by the way of Princeton and therefore is an important through state road.

"In Somerset county there are being built the Plainville road, completing the line between Trenton and Somerville by way of Pennington and Hopewell; the Centreville road from Neshanic to the Hunterdon county line, and the last section of the Liberty Corner road, 2.01 miles.

"In Hunterdon county there are being built the Ringoes Station road, the Clinton-Hampton road, part of the line to Easton, Pa., the Clinton-High Bridge road, and the Lebanon-Clinton road is built and paid for. There are important links in Hunterdon county roads and go through beautiful country.

"In Passaic county the Midvale and Greenwood Lake road 2.321 miles, is well under way, and there is being built the Lafayette avenue and the Weasel road. The latter road has, unfortunately, been held up for a year or more on account of sewer work.

"Hudson county is building only one road this season, the Belleville turnpike, of which maybe many persons have heard, and of which there is nothing to say now excepting that it is progressing nicely to a finished job.

"Union county is building but one road, the Shunpike road, three small sections, 1.54 miles in all.

"Warren county is building only the Asbury-Washington road, a beautiful route 6.091 miles long.

"Of course many other roads will be contracted for within the next sixty days, but I have given you the condition and the direction, and the general outlook for the roads now under construction. The total mileage of these roads actually under construction is 83 miles, and the contract cost is $983,000, of which the State's share in payment is $327,000, or one-third of the total, the counties paying two-thirds of such cost.

CRUSADE AGAINST ILLEGAL SELLING

Asst. Prosecutor to Aid Mayor In Stopping Violations of Liquor Laws Here.

TO PROTECT LICENSES

New York Department Stores and North Plainfield Wholesalers Are the Alleged Offenders—Conference Arranged.

Assistant Prosecutor Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., appeared before the Councilmanic Police Board last night and offered to act as prosecutor in the action to be brought against outside liquor dealers who deliver or sell liquor in Plainfield. Mr. Hetfield will have a conference on the matter with Mayor G. W. V. Moy on Friday.

For some time, New York department stores, as well as wholesale dealers out of the city, have been selling and delivering liquor in Plainfield, and from time to time efforts have been made to stop the practice. It is understood that a decision was recently given in the Supreme court supporting municipalities in the contention that outside liquor dealers have no right to deliver liquor in other municipalities without a license for that purpose, other than a Government license.

North Plainfield liquor dealers, as well as the New York department stores have continued to deliver liquor in this city, although they were temporarily stopped from doing so while their cases were being heard in the courts.

ADVENTISTS SELECTED OFFICERS FOR YEAR

Pastor A. R. Sanborn, of Trenton, Chosen President of New Jersey Conference.

The services at the Adventists' camp are well attended and the number of the campers is still increasing. At the morning session of the conference yesterday these officers and department secretaries were chosen for the coming year:

President, Pastor A. R. Sandborn, of Trenton; secretary and treasurer, W. B. Walters, of Trenton; educational secretary, Mrs. A. E. Rambo, of Fairton; Young Peoples' and Sabbath school departments, Howard A. May, of Trenton; religious liberty secretary, Pastor A. R. Sandborn; field missionary secretary, Chas. E. Ghey, of Trenton.

All the members of the Conference Executive Committee were re-elected as follows: A. R. Sandborn, of Trenton; J. G. Hanhardt, of Hasbrouck Heights; W. H. Smith, of Newark; H. J. Adams, of Edgewater Park, and J. M. Gaff, of Elizabeth.

The Executive Board of the Conference Association, the legal organization of the conference, is composed of the following persons: President, A. R. Sandborn; vice president, H. J. Adams; J. G. Hanhardt, W. H. Smith, J. M. Goff, B. J. Blimm, of Trenton; W. B. Bryan, of Newark; G. A. Rhode, of Jersey City, and Ferdinand Johnson, of Hackensack.

Pastor N. S. Ashton, of Pittsburg, Pa., who represents the educational department of the Columbia Union Conference, spoke last night in the large pavilion from the text, "What Think Ye of Christ?" The speaker showed Christ to be both human and divine, and hence a perfect Saviour for fallen man.

Pastor R. A. Underwood, of Ohio, will speak tonight upon the theme "Spiritualism. By Whom Was the Foundation for the Doctrine Laid?"

A special feature for tomorrow will be a study of liberty under human and divine law. At 3 p. m., Pastor N. S. Ashton, of Pittsburg, Pa., will speak upon "Liberty, What Does the Fourth of July Mean to Us?"

At 7:45 in the evening, Pastor R A. Underwood, of Ohio, will speak upon the theme, "The Law of God. Were the Commandments of God Abolished by Christ?" The public is cordially invited to attend the services.

ARRESTED FOR MANSLAUGHTER

Stites Drove Car Which Crashed Into Carriage, Fatally Injuring Miss Olsen.

PRISONER'S VERSION

Accused Taken Before Judge Daly and Held In $300 Bail—Was On a Joy Ride With Woman Not His Wife.

William Stites, of 1539 West Third street, this city, was arrested last evening by Detective-Sergeant Flynn and Detective Pelleteer, of Middlesex county, charged with manslaughter. Stites was the owner and driver of the car which crashed into the carriage in which was seated Miss Ida May Olsen, near the Dunellen car barns on Sunday night. He was taken to New Brunswick by the county detective today and will be arraigned before Judge Daly. S. S. Swackhamer is counsel for the accused.

A number plate found by a girl in the vicinity of the accident seems to have given the necessary clue to the detectives. Looking it up in the automobile register they discovered that the number corresponded with that of Stites' auto, which was missing. On examination of the car it was found to be scratched and the fender bent as if it had been in a collision of some kind, though there were evidences of attempts having been made to obliterate all signs of the damage sustained.

According to the police, Stites admitted that he had passed out in the direction of Bound Brook at the hour the accident happened, but denied having a collision or accident of any kind. There was a woman in the car with him, but he claimed he did not know her name, or, as the police surmise, refused to give it. She nodded to him on Front street, he declared, and he pulled up his car and asked her would she go for a ride. She assented, and they drove as far as Riverside, where she got out.

By a curious coincidence on the following evening Stites ran into a boy named Lowrie, on Watchung avenue, and smashed his wheel, though the boy escaped with but a few bruises. Stites contended that the boy had got in front of his car and the accident was unavoidable. He took the boy to his home, on Linden avenue, and reported the matter to the police.

This afternoon Judge Daly released Stites from custody, W. D. Bird, carpenter, 311 East Front street, going his bond for $300.

The funeral of Miss Olsen, of 420 West Second street, was held at 11 o'clock this morning at the Grace church on East Seventh street. Rev. John J. Currier, a curate at the Grace church, officiated. Interment was made at Hillside cemetery.

PLAN NEW BUILDING FOR DUNELLEN SCHOOLS

At a regular meeting of the Dunellen Board of Education, the committee was authorized to engage an attorney to prepare the necessary preluminary resolutions for an issue of bonds for a new school building. The proposed building will be called Lincoln School and will take the place of the present structure on Lincoln and Dunellen avenues. As soon as arrangements can be made an architect will be engaged to draw plans for the proposed school building which will provide for the increasing enrollment of the pupils.

The committee on additional school facilities reported that it had obtained use of the Borough Hall for the next school year as a class room. The teachers committee has filled the ranks for the coming year.

Repairs to the present buildings are now under way and the class rooms are being thoroughly cleaned and disinfected in order to be in the best condition for the pupils next year.

ACTING SUPERINTENDENT.

Mrs. Worrall, former superintendent of nurses at Muhlenberg Hospital, who recently resigned, has left the institution and has returned to her home at Camden. Miss Mary E. Cardwell, of Camden, who for a time was the assistant under Mrs. Worrall, and who resigned a few months ago, is filling the position of superintendent for the month of July. It is expected that the position will be permanently filled within a short time.

NO PAPER TOMORROW.

As tomorrow, Independence Day, will be a public holiday, the Daily Press will not be issued.

Elmer Hummer, of Sherman avenue, is suffering from an attack of rheumatism.

NEW POST SYSTEM FOR POLICE DEP'T

Plan Discussed at Meeting of the Councilmanic Board —May Be Tried.

The question of the adoption of the new post system by the police department was discussed at the Councilmanic Police Board meeting last night. By this proposed system the board hopes to secure more efficient police protection for all parts of the city. H. C. VanEmburgh, civil engineer, was engaged to make a map covering the proposed changes and this has been considered by the board.

The new system will necessitate the changing of a number of call-boxes, entailing an expense of about $500, and before that is done, the board is anxious to give the system a "try-out" to see whether it will work satisfactorily. Probably this will be done within a short time.

There was also a discussion of filling some of the vacancies in the department and the plan to appoint two additional roundsmen seemed to meet with favor. This would give the department three roundsmen, one of whom could be used as a desk sergeant. It would also provide one roundsman for each eight hour shift. The new men will be appointed just as soon as some additional men are secured for the department. The board does not feel that it would be right to appoint any of the present patrolmen while all of them are needed just now for patrol duty.

Patrolman Daniel McDonald, who has been off on a month's leave of absence, has returned to duty again.

LISCOMB WILL CASE ADJOURNED AGAIN

Elizabeth, July 3.—The Mrs. Sarah E. Liscomb will case which was adjourned a week ago in the County Court pending the application for the removal of James L. Arrowsmith as executor, came up in the court this morning and was again adjourned for one week, because the order for the removal of Mr. Arrowsmith had not been entered.

Mr. Arrowsmith, who was recently held a prisoner in the county jail in default of $15,000, has since secured his release, an amicable arrangement having been made. It is now believed that a satisfactory settlement will be made concerning the affairs of the Liscomb estate, and that it will not be necessary to appoint another executor.

BOUND BROOK PLANS A BIG CELEBRATION

Bound Brook, July 3.—Cresswell MacLoughlin, of New York, will deliver an oration on "The American Flag," at the Fourth of July celebration to be held under the auspices of the Washington Camp Ground Association, tomorrow. Congressman Ira W. Wood has been invited to be present. Music will be furnished by the 71st Regiment Band, of New York, under the personal direction of Bandmaster Lambert L. Eben.

The band will join in the automobile parade, riding in a large auto truck furnished by the Standard Paint Company. A national salute to the flag of seventeen guns will be fired at 9 o'clock in the morning, as a signal for the assembly of the automobiles on the main street, with the right resting on Hamilton street.

The ceremonies will begin at 10 o'clock on the mountainside and will be preceded by the automobile parade. The whole town will take on a gala appearance and all citizens generally will join in the festivities of the day.

Senator and Mrs. W. W. Smalley will leave today on the Ivernia, of the Cunard Line for Europe. They will spend July and August abroad.

ALL LOCAL PLAYGROUNDS TO BE OPENED FRIDAY

The five public playgrounds in this city will be officially opened for the season Friday morning. Four of these juvenile recreation centers are situated in the yards of local public schools and the fifth is at Parker Field and is supervised by Charles R. Bostwick, the chief, and an able corp of assistants. WILSON PLEASED WITH MARSHALL

PARTY IS NOW UNITED

Sea Girt, July 3.—Governor Wilson slept late this morning. Visitors began gathering on the lawn in front of the "Little White House" before 8 o'clock, and nearly a dozen

Besides the usual run of enthusiasts, many delegates returning from Baltimore were expected at the Wilson cottage today. Texas delegates, forty strong, notified the governor that they would stop over at Sea Girt on their way home. Practically the entire New Jersey delegation is expected and many delegates from Pennsylvania and Tennessee.

Gov. Wilson had retired before the nomination of Gocv. Marshall for the vice-presidency last night. Earlier, however, a premature report of Marshall's nomination had reached Sea Girt. At that time Governor Wilson said:

"An excellent man, one who is entirely satisfactory as far as I am concerned. I know Governor Marshall and have been his guest on one occasion for thirty-six hours, and I am sure that his selection is another progressive triumph. It couldn't be anything else."

So many persons crowded on the lawn yesterday that the grass suffered greatly and today the State authorities stretched ropes about the yard.

Photographers are here by the score and several moving picture concerns have ben on hand. One set of moving pictures was taken last night while the governor was moving about the lawn with the newspaper men.

Baltimore, July 3.—Charles F. Murphy, leader of Hammany, said last night:

"The New York delegation came to Baltimore uninstructed and with no preference for any man. They desired only to ascertain the sentiment of the party and to act accordingly. All it hoped for was the nomination of a candidate who would lead the Democratic party to victory.

"Governor Wilson demonstrated his great strength in the convention. He was entitled to the nomination in such a manner as would remove all doubt of his success. He is an able man and a great Democrat. He will have the enthusiastic and loyal support of the Democracy of New York. I am confident he will be elected President."

Among the messages received by Wilson were these:

Champ Clark—"I congratulate you on your hard-earned victory and will do all that I can to elect you."

Oscar Underwood—"Accept my congratulations upon your nomination. It gives me pleasure to support your cause with my utmost strength."

Thomas Marshall, Governor of Indiana—"I hope you will accept my hearty congratulations and my promise to do all that my ability and station in life will permit."

Gertrude B. Atherton, San Francisco—"I am so glad I can vote for you."

Bishop James A. McFaul, of Trenton—"Hearty congratulations and best wishes for success."

Former Governor Stokes—"Heartiest congratulations. Cheers for the great honor you bring our State."

Governor William A. Mann, Virginia—"Virginia congratulates itself on being the mother of another President, and the country because it

PLAINFIELD'S NEIGHBORS

Whitehouse.

The members of the Lutheran church at New Germantown are considering the erection of a new chapel. Already subscriptions are being taken and if enough money can be obtained the structure will be put up. One of the largest contributions so far is from Mrs. Samuel Patten, of Albany, N. Y. She has given $100. It is also proposed to install a steam heating plant in the church before cold weather sets in.

The eighth annual carnival of the Peapack Valley Fire Company will be opened at Peapack this afternoon and will be continued until tomorrow evening, when there will be a display of fireworks. Besides the usual attractions there will be dancing both nights. Supper will be served by the Ladies' Aid Society of the Reformed church in the hall.

Professor H. S. Miller, formerly principal of the public schools at Peapack, has been the guest of Constable and Mrs. John R. Stevens there. He has been made principal of the public schools at Oxford Township, Warren county.

Former Assemblyman and Mrs Samuel S. Swackhamer and daughter, Miss Constance Swackhamer, of North Plainfield, were the guests over Sunday of Mr. Swackhamer's mother, Mrs. Rulif S. Swackhamer, in East Whitehouse.

FINED FOR INSTIGATING "SKIMMERTON" TROUBLE

Washington, N. J., July 2.—Another chapter was added to the "skimmerton" case Monday night, when William Willever, Jr., and his brother, Walter, were convicted of having set the small boys up to mischief at the home of Mrs. Anna M. Dawes and Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Fitts, on the night of June 11.

Borough Marshal C. N. Schrope succeeded in convicting them before Recorder J. R. Lindaberry of having been on the opposite side of the street and urged the boys to greater deeds. The recorder imposed a fine of $5 and costs, and the brothers paid.

NOT READY TO ACCEPT SUSSEX COUNTY ROAD

Newton, July 3.—The Franklin-Stockholm macadam road, over which there has been a great deal of agitation, will remain closed until the Erie Railroad has completed the overhead bridges at Beaver Lake, and the contractors, J. F. Shanley Sons, of Newark, construct the approaches to the bridges.

This was decided upon Monday when State Road Commissioner E. A. Stevens, on a visit here, declared that the attorney-general has rendered an opinion that he had no jurisdiction until all the road was completed.

The commissioner had been asked to accept the completed portion of the road, which has been closed to the traveling public for over a year, except when an enterprising watchman in the employ of the contractors exacted a fee of $1 for right to travel over it.

Colonel Stevens stated that had the Board of Freeholders done as he suggested and had let the contract for the building of the road in two sections, the disputed road would be open today.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The mid-week service of the Congregational church will be held Friday night, instead of tonight, and it will be a preparatory service for the communion on Sunday.

During July and August there will be but one service at Holy Cross church, that will be at 9:30 o'clock in the morning, when there will be morning prayer and sermon.

The Junior Philathea and Junior Baraca Bible Classes of the Temple Baptist church will give a lawn social on the church lawn Thursday afternoon and evening, July 11, for the benefit of the baseball team. Committees of young people are being formed to make the affair attractive and profitable.

LONG RBANCH SLAYER IS TAKEN TO ASYLUM

Freehold, July 3.—Convinced that Joseph Ponessa, the Trenton barber, who shot and killed his wife while on a visit to Long Branch last Tuesday, is insane, Jail Physician John C. Clayton and Deputy Sheriff C. B. Barkalow took Ponessa to the State Asylum at Trenton on Monday.

After shooting his wife Ponessa shot himself in the right ear, the bullet lodging in the roof of his mouth.

JUBILATION IN AUTO COSTS HEAVY PENALTY

Atlantic City, July 3.—Record fines were imposed upon Nathan Tyson, seventy-eight years old; his two sons, George and John R. Tyson, and Joseph R. Kane, all living at Seventeenth and Girard avenue, Philadelphia, and John Baker, of 325 North Indiana avenue, this city, Monday, by Recorder Keffer, on various charges growing out of a "joy ride" at a terrific clip about town in the elder Tyson's automobile Monday afternoon, which finally ended when it crashed into two other machines and the party was taken in charge by two policemen.

The Tyson "boys" were each fined $100 on the charge of driving a car while intoxicated, and the rest $25 each for "joy riding." They paid the fines out of bail put up by the owner of the automobile.

FOUR CHILDREN ARE DROWNED IN A CLAY PIT

South Amboy, July 3.—Four pairs of shoes and stockings on the edge of a water-filled clay pit at Sayreville, and beside them four berry pails, led to the finding late Monday afternoon of the bodies of four girls who had been missing since Sunday.

The little victims, who had evidently lost their lives while wading in the treacherous pool, were Frances Stanswicz and Susan Pazenskill, both twelve years old, and Helen and Martha Paeson, aged eight and ten years respectively. The discovery of their fate was made by a party of all-night searchers.

The children left their homes Sunday morning, each carrying a pail, to go out and pick huckleberries. Their wandering led them to the clay pit, and after removing their shoes and stockings and placing them on the bank with the pails, they began wading. The water was a great deal deeper than the children imagined, and they all went down to death together. So far as is known there were no witnesses to the accident.

When the children did not return home at night, their parents became worried and all-night parties searched in the vicinity for the little ones, but without success. Monday afternoon some of the searchers found the shoes and stockings of the children near the pit. They then dragged the pool and found the bodies.

Coroner Elias Mason visited the scene of the drowning and then gave a burial permit.

UNLICENSED DENTISTS ARE AGAIN INDICTED

New Brunswick, July 3.—Indictments have been found within the last few days against Bertram B. Smith and Morris Spiro for practicing dentistry without a State license.

It was only a few months ago that they pleaded guilty to a similar charge, and were each fined $50.

The testimony on which the recent indictments were found was given to the grand jury last Thursday by Dr. Ella M. Hind, of Newark, who after visiting their offices, went at once before the grand jury.

ISSUE $2,000 BONDS FOR TWP. LINE PROBE

The voters of Warren township at a special meeting held at Fairview Hall, Mt. Bethel, Monday, decided to issue bonds to the amount of $2,000 to cover the expense for the recent survey of the township line between that district and North Plainfield township. While it was expected that there would be considerable opposition to the plan of raising that amount of money through a bond issue, not much developed at the meeting.

The survey was made for the purpose of settling the question in dispute as to the exact location of the township line. North Plainfield township also had a survey made and the matter has already been before the Somerset County Board of Freeholders.

BROONLYN PASTOR ON DECADENCE OF HOME

Ocean Grove, July 3.—Present industrial conditions whereby women are compelled to go out from their homes and work in factories was declared Monday night by Rev. Dr. F. W. Hannan, of Brooklyn, who lectured in the auditorium, to be one of the chief fundamental causes of the transformation of the American home to a lodging-house.

"We are rapidly becoming a nation of lodgers," said Dr. Hannan, "and the decadence of the American home is a menace to the national virtue. The college of the multitude of the city's youth is the street corner, a technical school of vice and crime."

Other causes assigned by Dr. Hannan in relation to the home's decadence were card parties, which, the speaker declared, took men and women away from the home and their rightful duties there, and lastly, the saloons. "Every year," said Dr. Hannan, "there was spent as a nation five times as much for drink as for bread, and ten times as much for education."

HURT IN AUTO CRASH.

Monmouth Beach, July 3.—Count Alfred Seidenberg, a German nobleman connected with the North German Lloyd Steamship Company, and Howard Slade, a Wall street broker, were seriously injured in an automobile accident here yesterday. The two were riding home in a carriage, which was struck at a street crossing by a heavy touring car owned by Bayard Dominick, of the New York Stock Exchange. The machine was not going at a very fast rate, but the impact was sufficient to demolish the buggy and to throw its occupants into the street. The automobile stopped at once and members of the party carried the injured men to a hospital.

PASSAIC MAN ASPHYXIATED.

Passaic, July 3.—The body of Joseph McElwee, a contracting painter of 16 Pearl street, was found in his home Monday. The man was a victim of asphyxiation. Gas was escaping from a broken slot meter in the cellar. The belief at first was that the meter had been robbed. McElwee had only four cents in his pockets when he was found by a neighbor, Mrs. Warren Landon. Mrs. McElwee had gone to Riverdale, Long Island, and her husband was to have joined her yesterday. McElwee had several bruises on his face. The police concluded that the injuries had been sustained by a fall.

OLEO CONTEMPT CASE DROPPED

Trenton, July 3.—Contempt proceedings against David Scheuer, of Scheuer Brothers, of Passaic and Paterson, were dismissed Monday by Judge Cross in the United States Court. The company was charged with a violation of the oleomargarin law, and it is claimed that David Scheuer had informed witnesses that the case had been settled. Because of this information the persons in question did not appear in court. The case has been settled to the satisfaction of the government, in consequence of which Scheuer was discharged.

CONTROLS BERGEN DEMOCRAT.

Hackensack, July 3.—Freeholder Melvin J. Ford, of River Vale Township, Monday purchased the stock held by Mayor Charles W. Bell, president of the Democrat Publishing Company, and at a meeting of the stockholders was chosen to succeed Mr. Bell as head of the company. James Norton will remain in the company as secretary and treasurer, having joined with Mr. Ford in the purchase of Mayor Bell's stock.

BALTIMORE'S VERDICT.

Woodrow Wilson, lawyer, scholar, historian, Executive, has been nominated by the Democracy for the Presidency. This is a day of new tasks and new leaders. The record of Governor Wilson in the Executive chair at Trenton has been a just source of pride to every Democrat. He has been firm on issues of principle and wise in matters of policy. His achievements belong to us all. He is a man of outstanding intellect and of spotless character.

These are the expressions of the St. Louis, Missouri, Republic, a courageous and enterprising newspaper, which pinned its faith to the distinguished Speaker of the House of Representatives, Champ Clark, and helped his cause by raising a fund of $20,000 to aid his campaign for the nomination.

Regardless of their beliefs in matters of political principles and expediency, and their opinions on the vital questions of national and international importance confronting this Nation, it is not diverging from the truth one iota to assert that all fair-minded and upright men of New Jersey, bearing witness to the administration of their State's affairs with Woodrow Wilson as Governor, will subscribe to the enunciation of the State from hence his chief rival, Champ Clark, hailed. Yes, the people of New Jersey, that vast majority of them who in both parties have cast off the yokes of the bosses will go even further than this in giving vent to their opinions of that untarnished and valiant young statesman and contender for the people's rights. They will say that not alone the Democrats, but the progressive Republicans equally as well, are proud of his record as the chief executive of New Jersey.

In the words of that most brilliant of all America's newspapers, the New York Sun:

No candidate of any party since politics began ever won in convention his nomination more fairly and honorably than Governor Woodrow Wilson He is nominated, if ever a candidate for President was, for the sole reason that he is the choice of a majority of the Democrats of the United States. The Sun says this the more freely because it had hoped that the final expression of the Democracy's will might be something not exactly that which Dr. Wilson's victory signifies and which the platform indicates.

Probably one of the most satisfying and happy features of the Baltimore verdict is the undeniable fact that the choice of the Democratic party becomes the standard bearer of the followers of Thomas Jefferson owing allegiance to none save the honest plain folks, that great body fighting for a restoration of a government by and for the people, who have risen up in this year of grace to cast off the shackles of Special Interest and a government for the favor of the few.

If we may be pardoned for once more quoting from an enlightened newspaper, in this case one which has always championed the people's rights and can justly lay claim to being in some measure responsible for the proclamations of Baltimore, we commend for consideration this extract from an editorial in this morning's New York World:

No political boss brought about his nomination. No political machine carried his candidacy to victory. No coterie of Wall Street financiers provided the money to finance his campaign. He has no debt to pay to corrupt politics or to corrupt business. He was nominated by the irresistible force of public opinion, and by that alone. He stands before the country a free man.

What the Chicago convention failed to accomplish the Baltimore convention achieved. The latter presents to the voters of this Republic, that it may not "perish from the earth" a candidate and a platform that are truly progressive and genuinely in keeping with the trend of public opinion and for the common weal.

We are not venturing any prediction as to the final result in November but this we do say—that should the battle be between the forces supporting Taft and Wilson, respectively, with Roosevelt eliminated, New Jersey's statesman, with the principles he espouses, offered by the Democratic party, will be a mighty candidate and it will surprise none who is well informed as to the current of public thought and action to witness his election. Should Roosevelt enter the lists, what the outcome will be is problematical. As yet, the former President has not announced his final decision and before a real survey of the political field may be had it will be necessary to hear from him.

As an independent newspaper, owing fealty to no man or set of men, to no faction or to no party, but with the avowed purpose as oft stated at all times to represent the real interests and be of honest purpose, we congratulate the Democratic party upon nominating the best man within its ranks.

Considerable satisfaction is expressed in cities where the Commission Government plan is in force regarding the spread of the movement for an ideal business-like rule for municipalities. The Trenton True American in commenting on this fact expresses this opinion:

"The Commission Government idea continues to spread with that persistency that betokens a profound popular belief in its soundness . A strong campaign is now under way to secure its adoption in Pennsylvania, and the indications are that that State, which has suddenly and unquestionably become progressive in its public opinion, will soon pass a law permitting all cities to vote on the adoption or rejection of the new system.

"A convention of the League of Third Class Cities in Pennsylvania will be held in Wilkes-Barre soon and plans will then be formulated for making the question of Commission Government a vital issue in the coming fall campaign. The arguments that are being advanced in favor of the change in Pensylvania are the same that have been heard wherever the people have sought to escape from the old form of municipal government. In short, the citizens of our neighboring State are tired of a system under which everybody wants to say something, but few want to do anything.

"From Pennsylvania to Los Angeles is a long call in miles, but a short cry in Americanism, and Los Angeles is talking the same logic that is being heard in Pennsylvania and that was heard in Trenton some months ago when the people here threw over the archaic system for the new.

"The National Municipal League is to meet in Los Angeles on July 8, and the meeting will signalize the opening of a campaign for better government in that wonderfully progressive and energetic western town. A new charter providing for the commission form of government is to be submitted to a vote at the next election, and the friends of the movement profess every confidence that the change for the better will be made.

"The population of Los Angeles, when the census was taken two years ago, was 319,000. It is considerably larger than that now. Should the new charter be adopted by the people, Los Angeles will be the first of what may properly be called the great cities of the country to adopt the commission form.

"It may be gratifying to Trenton citizens to know that Los Angeles has been watching the result of the experiment in Trenton and has been encouraged by this city's example to throw off the cumbersome and expensive system under which it has been chafing for many years.

In justice to the Board of Health it should be said that the department co-operated with the Charity Organization Society in making an investigation of the tenement conditions on Cottage place. As the report was presented to the Common Council on Monday night no one would have suspected that the Board was connected with this probe and naturally many wondered why its employes had not been on the job. Be as it may, the service rendered by that department has not been as efficient recently as desired but from what can be learned the Board is assured of a decided improvement at an early date.

It is with much pleasure that we learn of Assistant Prosecutor Hetfield's desire to co-operate with the Mayor and other city authorities in putting a stop to the illegal selling of liquor in Plainfield. This abuse, for which New York department stores and wholesalers not paying a license fee in Plainfield, are responsible, works a gross injustice to the duly authorized dealers in the city. It will be an easy matter to get the necessary evidence and we have confidence in Mr. Hetfield's ability to render a good public service.

It is sheer nonsense for some residents of the Netherwood section to expect school accommodations in that district when there is so much to be done at once in the more thickly populated parts of the city. When conditions warrant it, we feel confident that the Board of Education will provide any necessary facilities there.

Each day, additional contributions are made to the Daily Press fund for the King's Daughters Baby Camp support. Today we received a check for $10 given in the name of Julian and Allison VanBuren. At least $600 is still needed.

The contributing editor for next Saturday's issue will be a former acting Governor of New Jersey who resides among us.

As tomorrow, Independence Day, will be a public holiday, the Daily Press will not be published.

THE FORUM.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

At this season of the year many of our citizens, old and young, will be making visits long or short to Asbury Park. I would ask them to notice that Asbury Park has erected a very creditable monument in memory of the soldiers of the war of the rebellion. And yet Asbury Park's existence as a municipality hardly covers the fifty years that has since elapsed and could not have furnished many defenders of the flag. Has Plainfield no pride in the memory of the valor and patriotism of the boys who represented her in the field from 1861 to 1865? Why has not Plainfield her Soldiers' Monument?

Plainfield, July 3, 1912.

S. R. STRUTHERS.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

Lest we forget! Lest we forget—I beg for a few lines. You cannot forget what you never experienced. Unfortunately, you were held back too long. I must sympathize with you that it was so. We glory that we were born in the fullness of time for the great conflict.

The sun of July 1, 1863, set upon a gory field. From Harrisburg to Philadelphia in the east and Baltimore in the southeast, prayers of fear and faith united in the cry of "What of the morrow?" What will be the result when the two armies are locked in battle for the second trial of strength. Fear had seized hold of the bravest. Strong men and brave women joined in the poet's cry, "Watchman what of the night!" Early disposition was made of the troops and the battle was joined.

The sun of July 2 set upon a wounded, weary but undismayed, undaunted army. Friends all over the north weer watching at the telegraph offices for the news of victory that did not come. Then the day ended to be followed by the rising of the glorious sun of July 3. At 1 o'clock the quiet of that calm summer day broken by a cannonade seldom experienced—over 250 guns belched forth their deadly fire. An hour and a half and stillness reigned again. Soon the famed assault of Pickett's division was commanded and the heroes of that charge advanced and died as only armies can.

Young men if they were our enemy the same red blood runs in their veins as in ours. The joyous tidings were carried by lightning over the north that the victory was ours. Hardly had the night fallen when the joyous news of the capture of Fredericksburg by Grant made our cup of joy full to overflowing. Treasure their memories, young people. Take off your hats in honor of the brave men of that time who wore the blue and the gray. Be thankful that you have a Fourth of July—a happy united country.

ADDITIONAL CHURCH FACILITY
A new doorway on the left side of the main entrance of St. Mary's R. C. church is in course of construction. It is intended as an additional entrance and exit. Father Bogan perceived that it took too long to vacate the church of its large congregations at the conclusion of the services, and ordered this extra door to be put in.

—The deeds we do, the words we say,
Into still air they seem to fleet,
We count them ever past;
But they shall last—
In the dread judgment they
And we shall meet.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

CARAMEL DAINTIES.

STRICTLY speaking, a caramel is a sirup made by cooking sugar to what is known to confectioners as the seventh degree.

Sweets which are made in different ways, but which have various flavors, are also known as caramels. They are generally of chocolate, sugar and butter and dark colored. They are among the most delicious of desserts.

Here are ways of preparing them:

A Rich Layer Cake.

Caramel Cake.—Take one cupful of sugar, two tablespoonfuls of butter, two eggs, one-half cupful of milk, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder and one and one-half cupfuls of flour. Bake in layers.

For the filling take two cupfuls of brown sugar, two tablespoonfuls of butter, two-thirds of a cupful of milk and vanilla to flavor. Boil until thick enough to spread.

A Cold Pudding.

Caramel Pudding.—Take a pint of milk, one egg, three ounces of breadcrumbs and two ounces of loaf sugar. Place the breadcrumbs in a bowl and pour the boiling milk over. Cover and leave for an hour. Beat well with a fork and add one well beaten egg and any flavoring liked. Pour into a buttered dish and bake very slowly till just set. Turn out and leave till cold. Put sugar into a saucepan with half a gill of cold water, boil it quickly, stirring meanwhile until coffee colored, adding more water if necessary. Pour over the pudding. Serve cold.

A Pink Confection.

Fruit Caramel.—Take a pound of loaf sugar. Put it into a saucepan with half a teacupful of water and let it dissolve. Add two tablespoonfuls of cream, one-half ounce of butter and a heaped tablespoonful of honey. Bring all to the boiling point over a slow fire. Then boil rapidly for twenty minutes. Drop a little of the mixture into cold water. If it becomes hard and brittle it is done. When cool stir in an ounce of raspberry jelly or strained juice of raspberry. When nearly set mark in squares with the back of a knife.

Made With Gelatin.

Caramel Mold.—Put three-quarters cupful of granulated sugar on the fire until melted and a light brown in color, add one-half cupful of water slowly and let boil until the caramel is dissolved. Have ready one-quarter box gelatin softened in one-quarter cupful of cold water and stir it into the hot caramel. Keep on stirring until dissolved, strain into a dish placed over cracked ice, then stir occasionally until the mixture begins to thicken. Fold in one and one-half cupfuls of heavy cream beaten until stiff, turn into a wet mold and let harden on ice.

VOTES FOR WOMEN

THE PROGRESS OF EQUAL SUFFRAGE
by
WM. L. SAUNDERS.

It is well to always bear in mind that what we read about as "Votes for Women," "Woman Suffrage" and such-like is in its inherent principles simply the realization on the part of the public that it is best in the interests of good government to enlarge rather than to restrict the franchise. We hear a great deal about progressiveness, which means keeping up to date and not standing pat on things that were done in the past. To give the franchise to an intelligent body of citizens is as progressive as it is reasonable. So long as we recognize the sovereign right of the people to rule as against the old time right of a monarch we must admit that the problem is more thoroughly solved by letting all the people vote who are old enough to think, making an exception only of criminals, insane people and such-like. The whole history of the world has shown that where a specified class has the right to govern without consulting others who do not belong to that class discontent follows. Sometimes this discontent is unreasonable, but it exists and it is a perpetual cause of disturbance. This will always continue in a Republican form of government until the responsibility has been placed upon all the people. Then the answer to discontent is: "Why do you not go to the polls and vote, thus exercising your sovereign privilege. If you did vote and the majority went against you, you have no right to complain, because it is a recognized principle that an act of the majority of all the people must stand until another majority of all the people reverses it."

It is reported in the morning papers that Jane Addams has succeeded in incorporating a woman's suffrage plank in the Taft Republican platform, and it is an encouraging sign of the times that an ex-President and a leading candidate for the nomination again should recognize this great principle by wishing to embody it in a national platform. If the platform adopted by the Republican party at Chicago is passed with the woman's suffrage plank in it the victory for the cause is of the greatest importance. Nothing can serve to so emphatically draw attention to equal suffrage as an act like this. This adoption by one party probably means its adoption by the other because party conventions are controlled by politicians who are very wise and wary as to ways and means for carrying the votes of the states. There are now six suffrage states in the Union. Suffrage is working well in these states, regardless of statements to the contrary. The majority of the people in those states believe in and accept it. The voters in these states have something to say about who may be President of the United States—in fact they may carry the balance of power in the next election. That the women should thus compel the politicians to recognize them is the strongest kind of an argument for equal suffrage. It completely upsets the statement so often made, that woman's influence is already felt and that she can do no added good by having the vote.

When Van Wyck was Mayor of New York he was annoyed year by year because of the visits paid him by women urging him to appoint some members of their sex as factory inspectors. At first Van Wyck gave them a plausible answer, with perhaps a little encouragement, thinking that in this way he would quiet their efforts. Finding that they were not satisfied, but called again and again, this brusque Mayor, who was trained as a political henchman, gave vent to his true feelings when he dismissed them with the following statement: "Why do you keep on calling on me, asking that you have some women appointed as factory inspectors? You simply take up my valuable time for nothing. There is not a single vote in the whole lot of you."

The influence of the presence of women in politics, as in business, is good. Take business offices, for instance; does any one doubt that the introduction of women into offices has been a benefit from every point of view? There is a large commercial house in New York which held out for a long time in one of its departments against the employment of women. That department contained perhaps one hundred clerks, who in spite of the manager indulged in rough house to such an extent that covering a period of years several clerks were discharged and finally a new manager was installed. This did not result satisfactorily, and as a last resort several women clerks were employed, the number being gradually increased as vacancies occurred, until today that department contains men and women, who work in an orderly manner together. One must go to the very lowest depths in humanity to find men who are not improved by the presence of women.

A municipal election was held in Denver, Col., last May, resulting in the success of the Independent ticket, headed by Mayor Arnold. The Independent ticket was elected by a majority greater than the combined votes of the Republican and Democratic tickets; in fact the election was a complete surprise to the politicians and a clean sweep in every way. In this election about as large a proportion of the registered women voters went to the polls as the registered men voters and an analysis seems to show that the votes of the women were generally for the Independent ticket. Whatever the merits of the case may be the facts are that it was claimed that the city was in the grip of politicians, that the bosses controlled, that graft prevailed, and that one party was as bad as the other. Women who exercise the franchise under such cases are not held by the party collar, but try to vote for the best man and the best government. They may err, but their errors are usually made on the moral side. They are, of course, not very practical, and it is quite true that the candidate whom they favor may not be the wisest man of the lot; but they vote for him because they believe that he is straight and they trust him. Is it not better to err in this way than to vote for a strong man who belongs to a strong political oragnization and who is in league with grafters? Mr. Dooley has said, "I wuddent mind at all havin' a little soap an' water, a broom an' dusther applied to pollyticks." This is exactly what our politics needs and women can apply it better than men. They can at least aid men in so applying it, not by an outside, unresponsible interest, but by taking their share of the load, by studying politics through that education which invariably follows the responsibility of the suffrage.

THE BEACH FROCK.

What the Summer Girl Will Wear at the Shore.

WHITE RATINE COSTUME.

The white ratine frock pictured is just the costume for mornings at the seashore or in the mountains. The model has the low armhole, now so fashionable for all outing costumes, and the new sash, which has two short ends, simply folded or lapped over the belt portion, is very good style. White buckskin boots make the frock very smart.

The Cult of Gathers.

In many of the little lingerie dresses a slight fullness is distributed in gathers about a waist line that has again shifted to about its normal position. These gathers, however, are only possible for slim figures. They are flattened into tucks for more portly forms. An attractive yoke is made by shirring this fullness over cords, but let the one with the least tendency to plumpness beware of this effect if any tidiness of figure is prized. The horizontal lines of these cords about the hips have a directly opposite effect from the long, vertical lines on which everything has been planned for some seasons past, so there is a discount on one's height. Naturally any fabric intended for shirring over cord must be of a decidedly diaphanous nature. Where a second material is used for trimming chiffon cloth is found very successful, because this season it can be used with almost every sheer textile that is used for summer frocks. Then, too, it comes in almost every possible shade in all colors. As another qualification in its favor it has just sufficient resiliency of texture to keep it from getting a flattened out, crushed look after being worn a few times.

STUDIED THE BIRDS

THE FATHER OF AVIATION.

Pathetic Career of the Man Who Originated the Theory of the Conquest of the Air With Machines That Would Imitate the Soaring of Vultures.

The French—themselves masters of the air—call Louis Mouillard the father of aviation, although he never flew. Mouillard was a theorist. It is admitted today that his theories were sound, although he never put them into achieving form. Mouillard wrote two books, "The Empire of the Air" and "Flight With Fixed Wings." Only the first of these works appeared during his lifetime, and that had a small circulation. But he pointed the way to fly, and ten years after his death the Wright brothers, following principles he set down, proved that he had solved the problem.

Mouillard explained that to seek to fly by imitating the beating of a bird's wings was error; that, instead of trying this impossible feat, man should imitate those birds which soar with steady wings and avail themselves of air currents. If Mouillard had possessed money there is little doubt that he would have demonstrated his theory, as it has been successfuly proved. The life of this remarkable man seems, on superficial view, to have been a failure. But his compatriots, recognizing his real worth, set up a monument to his memory at Heliopolis, Egypt. He died in 1897. The story of his life is pathetic.

Mouillard was the son of a dyer of Lyons. From boyhood he was fascinated by the flight of birds. He managed to buy an eagle, which he secreted in the family garret and studied with an avid interest whenever he could escape from his books or work. He watched the bird's movements, measured its wings and studied it with infinite pains. And when he had mastered the secret, with the aid of his admiring sisters, he built an aeroplane with cotton and corset bones and determined himself to fly.

Going to a hill crowned with a church, with a sheer cliff on one side, the young inventor was about to trust himself to his contrivance when the beadle rushed at him, boxed his ears, confiscated his machine and sent him home in disgrace. This was the only attempt Mouillard ever made to fly, but his studies on the subject never ceased.

He showed such aptitude at drawing that it was decided he should make his living by this talent. He won a scholarship and, going to Paris, studied under Ingres. Yet while he drew and painted his mind was always on flight. He would climb the towers of Notre Dame, watch the startled birds take flight and study their movements.

Mouillard's father died, and his artistic career suddenly closed. He went to Algeria as a colonist and made a failure in that, but the birds again were his teachers. He noted that the sea birds rose, turned and flew against the wind without a movement of their wings. He weighed the bodies of the strongest, calculated wing space and advanced in his theories toward the truth.

Casting about for a vocation, for he was poor, Mouillard secured a place to teach drawing at the Polytechnic school of Cairo. Here he had another opportunity. He would study the vultures of the desert, and almost daily he sought them inland. He finally called the vulture "the master of flight," adding: "In the perfection of the result and the simplicity of the movement their flight is so splendid that it overcomes the watcher. Every time you look at it you are amazed that none has tried to reproduce it. It is so simple, so exactly what we want. What could we ask more than that steady flight and those immense circles which carry the bird into the heavens? They are all our desires realized." By degrees he formulated his theories of air currents. He observed that birds rose and hung motionless and moved without beating their wings. He ruminated on the air forces caused by the rising of hot air from the desert and their effect on the flight of the birds. He had solved the mystery.

Stricken with illness, Mouillard could no longer teach drawing. He managed to publish his "Empire of the Air," knowing its scientific value, and to reach Paris, where his theories were well received. The Society For Aerial Navigation made him a member, but no one was ready to advance him money for a practical demonstration of his theories.

Discouraged, Mouillard returned to Cairo, where he acted as cashier in a shop, his wife being employed in another place. They together earned but little. By degrees he finished his work on "Flight With Fixed Wings." Just before his death Chanute, the American, corresponded with Mouillard on the subject of aviation. It is said that from Chanute the knowledge gained from Mouillard passed to the Wrights. But ten years before they had conquered the air Mouillard died.—Leslie's.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

Tomorrow will be a big day in local athletic circles.

In the morning at 10:30 the Plainfield team will hook up with the U. S. S. Michigan team on the Oval.

At 2 o'clock in the afternoon the Y. M. C. A. athletic meet will be run off on Parker Field.

This promises to be a mammoth affair with fifteen different athletic organizations represented.

Among them are the New York A. C., Irish-American A. C., Pastime A. C., Dominican A. C., and a number of other prominent New York clubs.

At 3:30 on the Oval our old rivals, the Scotch Plains baseball team, will try conclusions with the locals; and the visitors are out for blood as the Plainfield team overwhelmed them in their first meeting this season.

There will be fireworks on Parker Field in the evening.

The New York Highlanders won their first game in fifteen yesterday afternoon when they downed the Boston Red Sox.

Jack Martin, the local boy, was a conspicuous factor in the victory.

He pounded out two healthy bingles, scored one of the runs and accepted five chances without an error.

Sterrett, the former Princeton captain and first baseman, played first for the Yankees yesterday and also secured two hits and counted up ten putouts.

Snodgrass was the leading figure in the Giants fourteenth straight win yesterday.

He put the game on ice with a home run with two on.

For Saturday Manager Dorflinger has secured the Bound Brook team for the Oval attraction.

This means Frederickson and Slocum.

GAME IN MORNING.

The Monroe Avenue baseball team, of the Sunday-school League, will play the nine from the Second Reformed church, of Bound Brook, on the Clinton Avenue field tomorrow morning at 10:30.

GAME IN THE MORNING.

The Dunellen baseball team will play the Central Railroad nine at Dunellen tomorrow morning at 10:30, and in the afternoon will journey to Rahway and try conclusions with the team of that place. Warry McLaughlin will probably twirl both games and the old "warhorse" is expected to bring home the bacon in both.

MEET OFFICIALS' SESSION.

A meeting of the officials who have been assigned to take charge of the Y. M. C. A. athletic meet on Parker Field tomorrow afternoon will be held in the Y. M. C. A. parlors tonight at 8:15 o'clock. Important details will be gone over regarding tomorrow's affair and definite duties will be given to each official.

NO RACES TOMORROW.

The trotting and pacing races scheduled for tomorrow at the Plainfield Driving Park have been called off. There will be no local horse races here on the Fourth. The nearest meet will be at Olympic Park, Newark.

SCHEDULE HOLIDAY EVENTS

Pastime A. C., Dominican A. C., Anchor A. C., and Glencoe A. C. Forty-eight of the country's best athletes, those who did not go to Sweden, are entered to compete for the prizes and among them are Frank Joyce, of the Mohawks, who won the mile from scratch by fully ten yards at the Syracuse University meet last week in the good time of 4.26 2-5. At his own club's games the following day Joyce won the 1,000 yards easily in 2.17 2-5, running from scratch. He is hailed by those who have seen him in action as a second Harry Gissing. He will run in both the 880 and one mile runs and has also promised to do his best to bring the Mohawk A. C. relay team to Plainfield to compete tomorrow.

The Irish-American A. C. will be represented by W. J. Fortune, who will enter the 12 lb. shot-put. Oswald Gibbons will run under the colors of the New York A. C. in both the one mile and three mile runs. The Pastime A. C. emblem will be sported by Jack Fritts, a well-known local boy who has been doing some fast cinder path work during the past year. Fritts is entered in the running broad jump, three mile run, base running, 880 yard run, 12 lb. shot-put, 440 yard dash baseball throw, one mile run and running high jump.

George Linke, who has just been graduated from Lehigh University, will once more float the colors of his alma mater in the running broad jump, baseball throw, 100 yard dash, base running, 220 yard dash, and running high jump. Chester Kingsbury, of Stevens' Institute, will run in the 880 yard and a number of his school mates in this city proclaim him as a wonder. Rutgers College will have five of its premier track men out here tomorrow. E. R. Silvers has entered the 440 yard dash; R. P. Dickerson, the 440 yard dash and the running high jump; Neil McDangall, the 440 yard dash; Arthur H. Mershan, the three mile run; and L. E. Lukens, the Rahway boy, who has been waking up the college world by his adeptness in the high jump, will be seen in this event on Parker Field tomorrow. The Anchor A. C. will send Emil Lehman out to contest the 100 yard and 220 yard dashes. The Dominican A. C. has entered Leslie Trevene, one of its best sprinters, in the 880, 440 and 100 yard dashes. The Elizabeth Y. M. C. A. will be represented by Austin Herzog, in the one mile run, and by Austin Hersh in the 880 yard run. The Newark Y. M. C. A. will be the third association in the meet and has W. J. Masters running in both the mile and three mile runs. The Cranford High School completes the list of out-of-town clubs entered in tomorrow's affair and will start Charles Gilmore in the 100 yard dash, base running, one mile relay and 220 yard dash. Fred A. Heins, of the same school, will run in the one mile relay.

Employes of two local concerns are entered, and of these the Spicer Manufacturing Company leads with four entries. The joint makers will be supported by Jim Schott, the former Y. M. C. A. boy, in the 12 lb. shot-put; A. C. Jaeger, in the baseball throw; John McNiece, in the running broad jump, 880 yard dash, one mile run, 100 yard dash (novice), and the running high jump, and William Bischoff, in the 100 yard dash for novices.

The local Y. M. C. A. track team will have Franklin Newell, its sterling high jumper, out for honors in this event, and also in the baseball throw. Alfred Manley, another Y. M. C. A. boy, and former Plainfield High School miler, will run in this event and also in the three mile.

There are twenty-two unattached men in the meet including Ernest Van Zant, entered in the running broad jump and 100 yard novice; Raymond K. Tool, running broad jump, 100 yard dash, and one mile relay; Joseph Garner, running broad jump and three mile run; Elwood Waller, running broad jump, 100 yard dash, 12 lb. shot put, baseball throw, and 220 yard dash; A. L. Van Zant, running broad jump; Thomas E. Ricketts, running broad jump, 100 yard dash, base running, one mile relay, baseball throw and 100 yard novice; Joseph E. Duffy, three mile run; Arthur Post, three mile and one mile runs; Robert Bellows, 100 yard dash, base running, one mile relay, 220 yard dash and 100 yard novice; J. Nelson Ramsey, 100 yard dash, one mile relay, 220 yard dash, and 100 yard novice; Morris Mann, base running, baseball throw, and 100 yard novice; Joseph Gross, 880 yard dash, one mile relay and one mile run; Joseph (Gregory) Carty, one mile relay; Russel Miller, one mile relay; Sherman Ross, one mile relay; Fred Ross, one mile relay; Jack Richmond, one mile relay; Seymore Van Blake, one mile run; Alfred Day, one mile run; Frank May, one mile run; Kenneth Platt, 100 yard novice, and Herman Rosenson, 100 yard novice.

Manager Dorflinger has scheduled two contests for the Oval tomorrow. The morning attraction will be the U. S. S. Michigan nine which recently defeated the U. S. S. Nebraska team for the championship of the Navy. Some idea of the relative strength of the Plainfield and Michigan nines may be obtained by comparing the scores of both teams in their respective games with the New York Fire Department ball-tossers. The visitors defeated the Gothams by the score of 9 to 6, while the locals piled up a score of 7 to 1 against this same team last Saturday.

The sailors will anchor in this city about 8:45 and will have headquarters at the Kensington Hotel. The morning lineup is as follows:

Plainfield — Cosgrove rf, E. Stallings lf, Harter cf, Dalton 3b, W. Stallings 2b, Driscoll 1b, Emery ss, Nelson c, Frederickson or Ortlieb p.

In the afternoon at 3:30, the Scotch Plains team will swoop down on Crescent Oval, and a battle for blood is expected as the local hitsmiths pounded out a victory against these same old rivals in their previous meeting this season. The Plains had the services of Lou Slocum on their last appearance, but as this youngster has now landed a steady job with Bound Brook, he will pitch in the latter place tomorrow. Hand, the Plains star backstop, has fully recovered from his recent injury and will be back in the fray tomorrow holding down either Weiss or Wiltse, who are slated to twirl for the visitors.

Scotch Plains—J. Alberts lf, 2b, Gray 3b, Frentz 2b, H. Alberts lf, Hand c, Baldwin rf, Mullin ss, Miller cf, Weiss p, Wiltse p.

The Plainfield lineup will be the same as in the morning, with either Frederickson or Ortlieb on the mound.

MOTORCYCLE RUN.

At a special meeting of the Motorcycle Club last night it was decided to journey to Asbury Park tomorrow instead of Delaware Water Gap. The club will leave Jack Horner's store, on Somerset street, at 7 o'clock. The Sunday trip will be to South River, where a convention of the Motorcycle Clubs of New Jersey will be held.

SAUNDERS CAMPAIGNER.

William L. Saunders, one of Gov. Wilson's most enthusiastic supporters in his candidacy for the Presidential nomination, announced last night that he would go on the stump for the nominee this fall. Mr. Saunders declared that there was no doubt of the success of the Democratic ticket and that there is now no need of a third ticket to be headed by Roosevelt.

FINED FOR GAMBLING.

In the police court this morning before City Judge William G. DeMeza, Patsy Frisco, of Cottage place, was fined $2 for gambling on Sunday last. He was one of the number in the house of Pasquale Leucurillo, when Louis Pelligreen was slashed with a razor, and who is now in the hospital recovering from his wounds. He did not however, see the row or know anything of its cause.

MARSHALL PLEASES WILSON

will have a chief executive who stands for the highest ideals in government."

William B. Devereux, State Board of Taxation—"We killed the houn' dog and the bull moose at 2:30."

Dr. Harvey Wiley, Washington—"Heartiest congratulations on your deserved nomination. We shall have a real pure-food President."

Carter H. Harrison, Mayor of Chicago—"Permit me to congratulate you on your nomination and send best wishes for your election."

United States Senators Henry F. Ashworth, Hoke Smith, F. M. Simmons, Duncan Fletcher, Mark A. Smith, A. O. Bacon, Benjamin R. Tillman, Joseph F. Johnson, George E. Chamberlain, E. H. Painter, N. P. Bryant and John R. Thornton—"We congratulate you and the country. We are confident of your overwhelming election."

Governor Foss, of Massachusetts—"The nation is to be congratulated under your inspiring leadership. Victory is sure. I pledge my personal efforts for your success."

Former Governor Folk, of Missouri—"I congratulate you on your nomination. My services is at your command and I shall do all I can to aid in your election."

Rudolph Spreckles, Graft Hunter of San Francisco and former La Follette Supporter—"I can assure you you will have my hearty support. All true Progressives throughout the country should express satisfaction in your nomination, making possible, as it does, a victory of progressive principles through your election."

"Big Tim" Sullivan—"With Wilson it's a cinch. Place all the bets you get on him right away at any odds."

Lewis Nixon—"The selection of Woodrow Wilson is an excellent one. He is beyond doubt the leading Progressive of the country today."

Alton B. Parker of New York, Democratic candidate for President in 1904—"Woodrow Wilson will sweep the country. There is no doubt about his carrying New York. He will have my support and that of every Democrat in New York. It was a splendid choice and the convention deserves great credit for its display of wisdom. This will be attested in November. Wilson will bowl over Taft and carry three-fourths of the States."

Here are some expressions:

Senator Martine of New Jersey—"Gov. Wilson is all that could be desired by any American citizen. His nomination is a long step toward cleanliness and uprightness in public affairs. He cleaned the bosses up in New Jersey. He will do it in the nation."

August Belmont—"I came to this convention as a delegate from Nassau county duly elected at the primaries. I came with the purpose to do everything in my power toward the nomination of a good candidate. Whatever my preferences may have been they were to the exclusion of no man. I am a Democrat, I have always been a Democrat, and expect to remain one, because I believe in the fundamental principles and the progressive policies of my party. I shall support the ticket."

John Sharp Williams, United States Senator from Mississippi—"Gov. Wilson is the best equipped man that could be named as Democracy's candidate for the Presidency because the common sense and common conscience of the Democrats of the nation want him as their standard bearer. Democracy never had an opportunity such as his administration will give it since Thomas Jefferson completed his term as President."

Simeon E. Baldwin—"I regard Gov. Wilson as one of the strong men in American politics, and among the best public speakers in the country. If the Democrats of Connecticut stand together, as I think they will, he will carry the state next fall."

Judson Harmon—"I congratulate you upon your nomination."

Eugene N. Foss—"The Nation is to be congratulated. Under your inspiring leadership victory is sure. I pledge my personal efforts to your success."

The installation of the officers of Royal Council, No. 77, O. U. A. M., will be held tonight in the Foresters' Hall, Coward building. Delegates from Rahway will be guests of the local lodge.

Malcolm Krewson, of Summit avenue, and William Hand, of Somerset street, have gone to the shore on a two weeks' vacation.

"The Fourth of July"

In 1776 was the day on which we declared our independence.

Why we should celebrate it above other days I never could understand.

Any man, or body of men, can make a declaration—it's to "get away with it" that counts.

Making a declaration to be free, and fighting to be free was a matter of eight long, weary years, stretched across many a bloody battlefield.

The day we really ought to celebrate is the one when Washington cornered Cornwallis at Yorktown—when the British General on one knee heard the Referee of Justice count the fateful ten seconds over him.

But let it go at that—what's the difference? A holiday, after all, is only an excuse to give vent to our pent up patriotism, or good-will as is the case at Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Years.

So let's all celebrate tomorrow—but remember mere noise doesn't show patriotism.

Celebrate happily, but sanely—and cut out the "tetanus packages."

Wilson's nomination made unanimous.
There were 1,088 delegates present, making 726 the necessary two-thirds for choice.

Baltimore, July 3.—The Democratic ticket is:

For vice president, Governor Thomas R. Marshall of Indiana.

The nomination of Governor Wilson came at 3:33 o'clock yesterday afternoon on the fourth ballot of the day and the forty-sixth of the convention. Wilson on the final vote got 990; Clark, 84, and Harmon, 12. The nomination was then made unanimous.

Governor Marshall was nominated at 1:55 this morning, after two ballots had been taken. The convention adjourned two minutes later. The nomination was made unanimous. Governor Burke of North Dakota was Governor Marshall's principal rival for the honor.

William J. Bryan caused trouble in the closing scenes of the convention by taking the platform and indorsing Governor Burke and United States Senator George F. Chamberlain of Oregon as against Marshall. Charles F. Murphy and other leaders who have been fighting Bryan lined up for Marshall.

On the first ballot Burke got 30½, Marshall, 389; Chamberlain, 157; Elmore Hurst of Illinois, 77; Mayor Preston of Baltimore, 58; Wade of Iowa, 26; William McCombs, Wilson's campaign manager, 18, and others scattering.

On the second ballot Marshall received 645½, as compared with 387½ by Burke and 12½ by Chamberlain. The chairman of the North Dakota delegation thereupon moved that the nomination be made unanimous, after having withdrawn Governor Burke's name.

This was a final defeat and humiliation for Bryan in the convention, and Murphy and others seemed to get considerable comfort out of it.

Serious efforts were made by the Democratic leaders earlier in the evening to persuade Champ Clark to accept the nomination for vice president. Governor Wilson wanted him, but he declined.

Baltimore, July 3.—After Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey had been unanimously nominated for president by the Democratic national convention on the forty-sixth ballot at the afternoon session the convention met at 9 o'clock last night to nominate a candidate for vice president and adopt a platform.

The night session opened with skylarking and serenading. The strain was over, the tension released, and the very men who had been glaring at each other like wild animals and calling each other out of their names only a few hours before were now shaking hands, hugging and mingling their voices in songs and cheers. Even the Missourians, indignant and angry as they were over the defeat of Champ Clark, parted their dismal faces in the middle now and then and managed to display considerable good nature.

The two names most discussed were those of Champ Clark and Governor Marshall of Indiana. Bryan, who had received a smashing cheer when he entered at 9:30 p. m., the cheer that seemed to be a spontaneous tribute to the Nebraskan, was telling his friends that any of several men suggested would be satisfactory to him.

"How about Champ Clark?" Mr. Bryan was asked.

"Oh, I'd be for Champ," replied Bryan.

Clark Will Not Take It.

H. H. Dean of Georgia placed in nomination for vice president Champ Clark and paid a fine tribute to the speaker.

Ex-Governor Alexander M. Dockery of Missouri then went to the platform. He said: "The Hon. Champ Clark has decided he cannot accept the nomination for vice president. But I want to say to you that Champ Clark will be as loyal to the nominee of this convention as any man. He has not reached his conclusion in pique, but for the reason that he would prefer to remain a representative in congress. Champ Clark occupies tonight the same position that every man in the Missouri delegation does—he is for Woodrow Wilson, first, last and all the time."

The storm of cheers, in which the men who were responsible for Wilson's nomination joined heartily as the friends of the speaker, was a plain indication of good feeling that was replacing the soreness and bitterness of the afternoon.

Former Senator Purcell of North Dakota, after a handsome compliment to Champ Clark, nominated Governor John Burke of North Dakota. Idaho seconded the nomination of Burke. They were not so fortunate when Illinois was called.

Samuel Alschuter of Illinois nominated Elmore Hurst, a wealthy business man of Rock Island, Ill.

Major G. V. Menzies of Mount Vernon, Ind., nominated Governor Marshall of Hoosierdom, who, he said, "took his Democracy in his mother's milk."

How Wilson Was Named.

Baltimore, July 3.—The forty-third ballot was started at 12:15 p. m. Changes were coming. You could feel it in the air. The first switch was in the state of Arizona. Clark lost a vote to Bryan there. Wilson picked up two from Clark in Connecticut. The Wilson machine was just getting up speed, and the first real cheering broke when the machine tore into the Connecticut delegation. The Missourians, sore all through with rage against Bryan, whom they regard as the assassin of Clark's chances and ready to punch any man in the jaw who so much as stepped on their toes, fairly glared at the Wilsonites, who cheered the announcement of the Connecticut vote. When Idaho called out there was a vote and a half for Wilson more than he had on the previous vote. And then came the big break of the day.

For forty-two ballots Boss Sullivan of Illinois had raised his plump figure and delivered the fifty-eight delegates of the state to Champ Clark. It was known that Sullivan was a Wilson man at heart and that he was standing with Murphy and other anti-Bryan delegates in their determined efforts to keep the Nebraska colonel from running away with all the honor. But Roger had been having a lot of trouble with his folks. The Wilson strength, growing more confident every day, was putting it up to Sullivan so hard that there was no resisting their claims. They had just voted in caucus 40 for Wilson and 18 for Clark. In spite of Charles F. Murphy's appeals and when the time came on this ballot, Sullivan arose somewhat dramatically, gave the result of the poll and then in the loudest voice he owned shouted, "Illinois casts 58 votes for Woodrow Wilson."

The demonstration that followed this announcement exceeded anything that had gone before. After the big roar died away individual Wilsonites, almost hysterical with joy, shouted praises of Sullivan and hailed him as their saviour.

Mr. Murphy, hearing the comments, turned a cynical glance toward the ceiling. Sullivan looked over at Murphy and grinned.

"God bless Sullivan," yelled a delegate from Texas.

Stone Appeals to Murphy.

The news was all around that New York in caucus had decided to stand by Clark. Murphy and Senator Stone, the latter grim and determined, were conferring. Stone was appealing to the Tammany leader to stand by Clark until the end. Nobody doubted that the Missourians themselves would hold fast. As the roll ended Alaska leaned toward Wilson, giving him an additional vote, and Hawaii did the same. The Maryland delegation, which had been passed because of an argument that had arisen, was now polled. It stood 9 for Clark and 5½ for Wilson. Wilson gained just half a vote.

The result of the forty-third ballot was then announced: Clark, 329, a loss of 101; Wilson, 602, a gain of 108; Underwood, 98½, a loss of 5½; Harmon, 28; Foss, 27; Kern, 1; Bryan, 1, and 1½ absent.

In splendid working order, the Wilson machine steamed up for the forty-fourth ballot. The roll call began at 1 p. m. Alabama still clung to Mr. Underwood, but Arizona handed Wilson a vote. When Colorado gave 9 more than he had from that state on any previous ballot there was a thundering cheer. Curiously enough, he dropped half a vote in Idaho, but he got this back and 3 more besides from Iowa. Wilson picked up 1 more from Louisiana.

Clark was dropping rapidly and was already far below the figure that Wilson had when the first ballot was taken. Then Maryland gave Wilson another vote and a half. It was coming slowly, but the Clark people were weakening in all the divided delegations and even in the states that had been solidly enthusiastic for the speaker.

Underwood Men Restless.

Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston announced the vote of Massachusetts as 9 for Wilson and 27 for Foss. Delegates who were weary of candidates that had no earthly chance shouted to Fitzgerald to withdraw Foss' name, but he shook his head pugnaciously and insisted that the vote be recorded as he had given it. Mississippi asked to be passed. There was trouble in that camp. Some of Mr. Underwood's most loyal friends were realizing that Wilson was a certain winner, and they wanted to climb on the band wagon.

Mr. Murphy had now returned to his chair in the lee of the standard of New York, and when the vote of the Empire State was called for he arose quickly, took two steps up the aisle and shouted the old familiar "New York casts 90 votes for Clark!"

He fairly snapped his teeth as he called it. Tammany was dying hard. The imminency of Bryan's triumph—for a Wilson victory was so regarded by the New Yorkers—was hateful to Murphy and most of the men behind him. The Missourians, the men from California under the leadership of Theodore A. Bell, the crowd from Arkansas and the delegations from the Clark states cheered for Murphy, but their applause was weak and perfunctory. There wasn't a good cheer left in the whole Clark crowd.

Pennsylvania gave the convention a little surprise when its chairman, who had been steadily casting the vote as 74 for Wilson and 2 for Clark, announced the whole 76 for Wilson.

A. Mitchell Palmer, the indefatigable leader of that state, shouted "That's the stuff!" and there was a ripping demonstration from the majority of the delegates. The Tennesseans, who had puzzled everybody with their mixed up voting and who had never been able to agree on anything except that Luke Lea was a fine fellow, now threw another vote for Wilson. For the forty-fourth time Texas plumped its big 40 into the Wilson camp, and the chairman shouted, "The next president of the United States!"

Angry Clark men ordered him to sit down. If looks could have stabbed him he would have been a goner. In Utah Wilson gained a vote and a half. He got four more from Wisconsin, and when the cheering broke out again visitors and delegates went to their feet in a splendid demonstration. The only people who did not join in this were the men of Missouri and of New York. They sat silent and glum through all the cheering. As Clark's strength frittered away vote by vote they looked ugly. The Underwood following was going to pieces, and neither Murphy nor Stone could stem the tide. Mississippi delayed its report.

The poll of the delegation gave Clark 8½ and Wilson 3½, and under the resolution of instructions which was still required under the unit rule to cast its 24 votes for Clark. The result of the forty-fourth ballot was Clark, 306, a loss of 26; Wilson, 629, a gain of 27; Underwood, 99, a gain of ½; Harmon, 27, a loss of 1, and Foss 27. Bryan and Kern had been eliminated.

After Wilson had taken a vote from Underwood in Florida on the forty-fifth ballot the New Jersey governor lost one to Clark in Ohio. The Mississippi delegation could not agree on a vote, and the New Mexico vote was polled, showing 4 for Clark and 4 for Wilson. As the delegation was instructed to vote for Clark until it was shown that he could not be nominated, Chairman James ruled that the 8 votes should be counted for Clark. Wilson corralled Alaska's 6 votes, and the forty-fifth ballot resulted as follows: Wilson, 633; Clark, 306; Underwood, 97; Foss, 27; Harmon, 25. Wilson gained 4 on this ballot, Clark held his own, and Underwood lost 2.

There was some surprise when Alabama cast 24 votes for Underwood at the beginning of the forty-sixth ballot, as it had been whispered around that Underwood had given up the fight, making Wilson's nomination certain.

The Wilson men were disappointed at Alabama's action, but Senator Bankhead, Mr. Underwood's representative in the convention, pushed his way through the excited crowd until the massive Ollie James sheltered him. "Senator Bankhead wishes to have the roll call suspended," shouted Chairman James, and Alabama's vote reconsidered until he has had the opportunity to make a statement for Alabama."

Those who had been informed of the skirmishing and the maneuvering of the leaders on the floor felt it was all over, and the great gathering became as still as death as Senator Bankhead began.

Wilson Men Cut Loose.

The Wilson men waited patiently until they had heard Senator Bankhead release the delegates instructed for Underwood, and then they cut loose. The Wilson forces in the galleries and the delegates who have been voting for him on the floor cheered, threw their hats up and chorused, "Wilson, Wilson, Wilson!"

Chairman James banged the table and pleaded with the crowd, but it was a few minutes before he got any semblance of order.

Before Senator Bankhead had finished speaking Senator Stone of Missouri, Champ Clark's campaign manager, had started for the speakers' stand. Charles F. Murphy, standing in the aisle at the head of the New York delegation, watched the effect of Senator Bankhead's speech and then hustled around and whispered a word here and a word there to the leaders who were fighting to keep at least one-third of the delegates in the Clark column in order that the nomination of Wilson might be blocked. Murphy's face was redder than usual, and he showed some excitement. Senator Bankhead's speech, all the Clark men realized, meant the utter defeat of the speaker. All their predictions that at no time would Wilson get over 600 votes had been swept away even before the Underwood men were released, and now that the supporters of the Alabaman were free to vote for anybody they pleased Murphy and Senator Stone realized that all the hope for Speaker Clark being nominated had vanished.

The Wilson leaders, naturally jubilant, tried to restrain their enthusiasm, but they were shaking hands with one another, while men with the impulse to get on the band wagon as soon as possible were shaking hands with them, congratulating them and saying that they were the ardent supporters of the New Jersey governor. A. Mitchell Palmer of Pennsylvania, who so ably had conducted the Wilson campaign on the floor; Congressman Hughes of New Jersey, whose missionary work among the delegates and as a leader of the Wilson ranks has been most effective, and William G. McAdoo, the tunnel builder, who has devoted all of his time to rounding up stray delegates and urging the members of the New York delegation to come over to Wilson, as he was the man to help them carry their state ticket, were slapping one another on the back and rejoicing that the campaign they had made had been successful. The galleries realized that Wilson's day had come, and as the sympathy of the visitors has been almost entirely with the New Jersey governor, they played their part in singing the Wilson song of jubilation.

From the time that Governor Wilson became a candidate for the presidency one of his most ardent supporters has been William F. Combs, a New York lawyer and Princeton man.

JARRED THE EXPERT.

The Doctor's Fame Was Great, but His Record Was Deadly.

A certain great Chicago physician and A. S. Trude, a lawyer of that city, are close friends, but one time when the famous physician was called as an expert witness in a case Trude was on the opposite side and had to cross examine the physician.

The physician had given his expert testimony. It upheld the contention of his side perfectly.

When it came Trude's turn he squared away, glared at his friend and, after the usual preliminary questions, began the examination:

"Dr. ——, you are frequently called into consultation when prominent men are ill in this community, are you not?"

"I am."

"Were you in attendance on George M. Pullman?"

"I was."

"Where is Mr. Pullman now?"

"He is dead."

"Ah, yes! And were you called in by Mr. Marshall Field?"

"I was."

"Where is Mr. Field now, may I ask?"

"He is dead."

"Indeed! And were you in attendance on Philip D. Armour?"

"I was."

"And where is Mr. Armour now?"

"He is dead."

Trude knew that his friend was called in consultation in almost every big case in Chicago, and there was a malicious gleam in his eye as he named dead man after dead man and asked if the expert had attended them. After he had named about a dozen prominent citizens who had passed away he turned to the jury with a wave of his hand, as if to say, "There's your expert!" and sat down.—Saturday Evening Post.

Where the Blame Belongs.

In my annual message I called attention to the great matters to which I understood both parties to be committed. I did not deem it wise or courageous to avow as the session advanced, by repeated messages, my fear that these matters were to be neglected and that the whole session was to be spent upon measures of another sort and of questionable expediency. If the session has been barren and disappointing, as it has been, the people of the state will know where to bestow the blame.—Governor Wilson.

CANNOT USE CHURCH ON SUNDAY MORNINGS

Passaic, July 3.—The seceders of the Northside Christian Reformed church, through their counsel, George H. Dalrymple, applied Monday to Vice Chancellor Garrison for an order to allow them the use of the church building on Sunday morning, but the request was denied.

Those who broke away from the church several months ago are privileged to use the building on Sunday afternoons, also Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. On the other days of the week the faction that stood by the church has the use of the edifice. This is according to an arrangement made by the court some time ago.

FIVE HAVE THRILLING RIDE IN BLAZING AUTO

Washington, N. J., July 3.—Five persons had a thrilling ride down the long Broad street hill at 7 o'clock Monday night, when the gasoline became ignited and flamed up over W. K. Teel's machine.

The gasoline ignited when the car was opposite the Episcopal church, and it was not until the crossing at Youmans avenue had been passed that Harry Homadieu succeeded in stopping the then blazing machine and the five occupants escaped by jumping.

By this time the flames enveloped the machine. Frank Kirkpatrick, who was on the front seat with Homadieu, and had assisted in stopping the auto, also had a narrow escape from being burned but none of the five was injured.

A garden hose was played upon the flames and sand from the gutter used to extinguish the blaze. The fire attracted a large crowd. The five men were returning from work on the macadam road being built between Washington and Asbury. The auto is the machine formerly owned by Justice of the Peace Harry Christine, and this is the fourth time it has been on fire.

The auto was damaged badly, but not beyond repair.

CALIFON TO CELEBRATE.

Califon, July 3.—For the first time in twenty years this place will celebrate the Fourth with an industrial parade and festival in Flomerfelt's Grove. The event will be under the auspices of the Improved Order of Red Men, Knights of Golden Eagles and Junior Order of American Mechanics. An arrangement committee, made up of members of the fraternities, was appointed last spring. Among the speakers are Rev. Harry J. Iobst, of Cokesbury; Rev. James B. Dare, of Lower Valley; Rev. Harry P. King, of Califon; Frank Shandenback, and Allyn Thompson, of Morristown.

WATER BONDS SOLD.

Newton, July 3.—The water Commission realized $56.25 premium on the sale of $25,000 of water bonds Monday. The proceeds will be used to purchase Morris Lake, the source of water supply of the town. The bonds are payable July 1, 1940, and bear interest at four per cent., payable semi-annually. Among the purchasers were Mrs. S. M. McCoy, $1,012.50; Theodore Simonson, $6,028.75; George A. Smith, $1,007.50; David Ammerman, $1,002.50; Lawrence Corringan, $2,005; David Couse, $4,000.

RECEIVER FOR REALTY CO.

Jersey City, July 3.—Acting as receiver, George R. Beach, of Jersey City, referee in bankruptcy, yesterday took charge of the business of the Columbia Real Estate Company, one of the largest realty corporations in Jersey City. Mr. Beach was appointed by Chancellor Walker and Vice Chancellor Howell, upon application of McDermott & Enright, of Jersey City, counsel for the Industrial Savings and Loan Company and the New York Loan and Mortgage Company. The bond of Mr. Beach is $50,000.

STIRRED OVER SALE TO NEGRO.

Roselle, July 3.—Residents of the Loraine section of Roselle Park are indignant over the report that an Elizabeth real estate man has sold a house in Sherman avenue to a negro. The report was confirmed Monday by a local real estate dealer, who, with other men interested in the Lorraine property, are trying to prevent the colored family locating in the neighborhood, which is one of the best in the borough.

VETERAN CONDUCTOR DIES.

Long Branch, July 3.—Robert C. Anderson for thirty years conductor on the New Jersey Southern Branch of the New Jersey Central, died yesterday at his Liberty street home. He was sixty-six years old, and a native of Allaire. He began firing for the Southern at Port Monmouth when a boy. Mr. Anderson is survived by a widow and three children. He was a veteran Odd Fellow and a member of the Simpson M. E. church.

STOLE HIS "BUNNY."

Clawson Lynn, the six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lynn, of Grant avenue, is today mourning the loss of his pet "bunny." Sometime during Monday night someone effected an entrance to the coop in which the rabbit was kept and made way with it. Efforts have been made all day to get some trace of the rabbit, but without success.

DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM

The Tariff Is Made the Issue.

FOR REVENUE ONLY.

Republican Protection System Is Denounced.

TAX DOES NOT RAISE WAGES.

High Cost of Living Declared to Result From High Tariff—Declaration In Favor of Enforcing the Criminal as Well as Civil Law Against Trusts and Trust Officials—Favors Income Tax and Popular Election of Senators.

We, the representatives of the Democratic party of the United States in national convention assembled, reaffirm our devotion to the principles of Democratic government formulated by Thomas Jefferson and enforced by a long and illustrious line of Democratic presidents.

Tariff Reform.

We declare it to be a fundamental principle of the Democratic party that the federal government under the constitution has no right or power to impose or collect tariff duties except for the purpose of revenue, and we demand that the collection of such taxes shall be limited to the necessities of government honestly and economically administered.

The high Republican tariff is the principal cause of the unequal distribution of wealth; it is a system of taxation which makes the rich richer and the poor poorer. Under its operations the American farmer and laboring man are the chief sufferers; it raises the cost of the necessaries of life to them, but does not protect their product or wages. The farmer sells largely in free markets and buys almost entirely in the protected markets. In the most highly protected industries such as cotton and wool, steel and iron the wages of the laborers are the lowest paid in any of our industries. We denounce the Republican pretense on that subject and assert that American wages are established by competitive conditions and not by the tariff.

We favor the immediate downward revision of the existing high and, in many cases, prohibitive tariff duties, insisting that material reductions be speedily made upon the necessaries of life. Articles entering into competition with trust controlled products and articles of American manufacture which are sold abroad more cheaply than at home should be put upon the free list.

We recognize that our system of tariff taxation is intimately connected with the business of the country, and we favor the ultimate attainment of the principles we advocate by legislation that will not injure or destroy legitimate industry.

We denounce the action of President Taft in vetoing the bills to reduce the tariff in the cotton, woolen, metals and chemical schedules and the farmers' free list bill, all of which were designed to give immediate relief to the masses from the exactions of the trusts.

The Republican party, while promising tariff revision, has shown by its tariff legislation that such revision is not to be in the people's interest, and, having been faithless to its pledges of 1908, it should no longer enjoy the confidence of the nation. We appeal to the American people to support us in our demand for a tariff for revenue only.

High Cost of Living.

The high cost of living is a serious problem in every American home. The Republican party in its platform attempts to escape from responsibility for present conditions by denying that they are due to a protective tariff. We join issue with them on this subject and charge that excessive prices result in a large measure from the high tariff laws enacted and maintained by the Republican party and from trusts and commercial conspiracies fostered and encouraged by such laws, and we assert that no such substantial relief can be secured for the people until import duties on the necessaries of life are materially reduced and these criminal conspiracies broken up.

Anti-trust Law.

A private monopoly is indefensible and intolerable. We therefore favor the vigorous enforcement of the criminal as well as the civil law against trusts and trust officials and demand the enactment of such additional legislation as may be necessary to make it impossible for a private monopoly to exist in the United States.

We favor the declaration by law of the conditions upon which corporations shall be permitted to engage in interstate trade, including among others the prevention of holding companies of interlocking directorates, of stock watering, of discrimination in price and the control by any one corporation of so large a proportion of any industry as to make it a menace to competitive conditions.

We condemn the action of the Republican administration in compromising with the Standard Oil company and the tobacco trust and its failure to invoke the criminal provisions of the anti-trust law against the officers of those corporations after the court had declared that from the undisputed facts in the record they had violated the criminal provisions of the law.

We regret that the Sherman anti-trust law has received a judicial construction depriving it of much of its efficiency, and we favor the enactment of legislation which will restore to the statute the strength of which it has been deprived by such interpretation.

Rights of the State.

We believe in the preservation and maintenance in their full strength and integrity of the three co-ordinate branches of the federal government—the executive, the legislative and the judicial—each keeping within its own bounds and not encroaching upon the just powers of either of the others.

Believing that the most efficient results under our system of government are to be attained by the full exercise by the states of their reserved sovereign powers, we denounce as usurpation the efforts of our opponents to deprive the states of any of the rights reserved to them and to enlarge and magnify by indirection the powers of the federal government.

We insist upon the full exercise of all the powers of government, both state and national, to protect the people from injustice at the hands of those who seek to make the government a private asset in business. There is no twilight zone between the nation and the state in which exploiting interests can take refuge from both. It is as necessary that the federal government shall exercise the powers delegated to it as it is that the states shall exercise the powers reserved to them, but we insist that federal remedies for the regulation of interstate commerce and for the prevention of private monopoly shall be added to and not substituted for state remedies.

Income Tax and Popular Election of Senators.

We congratulate the country upon the triumph of two important reforms demanded in the last national platform—namely, the amendment of the federal constitution authorizing an income tax and the amendment providing for the popular election of senators—and we call upon the people of all the states to rally to the support of the pending propositions and secure their ratification.

We note with gratification the unanimous sentiment in favor of publicity before the election of campaign contributions, a measure demanded in our national platform of 1908 and at that time opposed by the Republican party, and we commend the Democratic house of representatives for extending the doctrine of publicity to recommendations, verbal and written, upon which presidential appointments are made, to the ownership and control of newspapers and to the expenditures made by and in behalf of those who aspire to presidential nominations, and we point for additional justification for this legislation to the enormous expenditures of money in behalf of the president and his predecessor in the recent contest for the Republican nomination for president.

Presidential Primaries.

The movement toward more popular government should be promoted through legislation in each state which will permit the expression of the preference of the electors for national candidates at presidential primaries.

We direct that the national committee incorporate in the call for the next nominating convention a requirement that all expressions of preference for presidential candidates shall be given and the selection of delegates and alternates made through a primary election conducted by the party organization in each state where such expression and election are not provided for by state law. Committeemen who are hereafter to constitute the membership of the Democratic national committee and whose election is not provided for by law shall be chosen in each state at such primary elections, and the service and authority of committeemen, however chosen, shall begin immediately upon the receipt of their credentials respectively.

Campaign Contributions.

We pledge the Democratic party to the enactment of a law prohibiting any corporation from contributing to a campaign fund and any individual from contributing any amount above a reasonable maximum.

Term of President.

We favor a single presidential term and to that end urge the adoption of an amendment to the constitution making the president of the United States ineligible to re-election, and we pledge the candidate of this convention to this principle.

Democratic Congress.

At this time, when the Republican party, after a generation of unlimited power in its control of the federal government, is rent into factions, it is opportune to point to the record of accomplishment of the Democratic house of representatives in the Sixty-second congress. We indorse its action, and we challenge comparison of its record with that of any congress which has been controlled by our opponents. We call the attention of the patriotic citizens of our country to its record of efficiency, economy and constructive legislation.

It has among other achievements revised the rules of the house of representatives so as to give to the representatives of the American people freedom of speech and of action in advocating, proposing and perfecting remedial legislation.

It has passed bills for the relief of the people and the development of our country. It has endeavored to revise the tariff taxes downward in the interest of the consuming masses and thus to reduce the high cost of living.

It has proposed an amendment to the federal constitution providing for the election of United States senators by the direct vote of the people.

It has secured the admission of Arizona and New Mexico as two sovereign states.

It has required the publicity of campaign expenses both before and after election and fixed a limit upon the election expenses of United States senators and representatives.

It has passed a bill to prevent the abuse of the writ of injunction. It has passed a law establishing an eight hour day for workmen on all national public work.

It has passed a resolution which forced the president to take immediate steps to abrogate the Russian treaty.

And it has passed the great supply bills which lessen waste and extravagance and which reduce the annual expenses of the government by many millions of dollars.

We approve the measure reported by the Democratic leaders in the house of representatives for the creation of a council of national defense which will determine a definite naval program with a view to increased efficiency and economy. The party that proclaimed and has always enforced the Monroe doctrine and was sponsor for the new navy will continue faithfully to observe the constitutional requirements to provide and maintain an adequate and well proportioned navy sufficient to defend American policies, protect our citizens and uphold the honor and dignity of the nation.

Republican Extravagance.

We denounce the profligate waste of the money wrung from the people by oppressive taxation through the lavish appropriations of recent Republican congresses, which have kept taxes high and reduced the purchasing power of the people's toil. We demand a return to that simplicity and economy which befit a Democratic government and a reduction in the number of useless offices, the salaries of which drain the substance of the people.

Railroads, Express Companies, Telegraph and Telephone Lines.

We favor the efficient supervision and rate regulation of railroads, express companies, telegraph and telephone lines engaged in interstate commerce. To this end we recommend the valuation of railroads, express companies, telegraph and telephone lines by the interstate commerce commission, such valuation to take into consideration the physical value of the property, the original cost, the cost of the production and any element of value that will render the valuation fair and just.

We favor such legislation as will effectually prohibit the railroads, express, telegraph and telephone companies from engaging in business which brings them into competition with shippers or patrons; also legislation preventing overissue of stocks and bonds by interstate railroads, express companies, telegraph and telephone lines and legislation which will assure such reduction in transportation rates as conditions will permit, care being taken to avoid reductions that would compel a reduction of wages, prevent adequate service or do injustice to legitimate investments.

Banking Legislation.

We oppose the so called Aldrich bill or the establishment of a central bank, and we believe our country will be largely freed from panics and consequent unemployment and business depression by such a systematic revision of our banking laws as will render temporary relief in localities in which such relief is needed, with protection from control or dominion by what is known as the money trust.

Banks exist for the accommodation of the public and not for the control of business. All legislation on the subject of banking and currency should have for its purpose the securing of these accommodations on terms of absolute security to the public and of complete protection from the misuse of the power that wealth gives to those who possess it.

We condemn the present methods of depositing government funds in a few favored banks, largely situated in or controlled by Wall street, in return for political favors, and we pledge our party to provide by law for their deposit by competitive bidding in the banking institutions of the country, national and state, without discrimination as to locality, upon approved securities and subject to call by the government.

Rural Credits.

Of equal importance with the question of currency reform is the question of rural credits or agricultural finance. Therefore we recommend that an investigation of agricultural credit societies in foreign countries be made, so that it may be ascertained whether a system of rural credits may be devised suitable to conditions in the United States, and we also favor legislation permitting national banks to loan a reasonable proportion of their funds on real estate security.

We recognize the value of vocational education and urge federal appropriations for such training and extension teaching in agriculture in co-operation with the several states.

Waterways.

We renew the declaration in our last platform relating to the conservation of our natural resources and the development of our waterways. The present devastation of the lower Mississippi valley accentuates the movement for the regulation of river flow by additional bank and levee protection below and the diversion, storage and control of the flood waters above and their utilization for beneficial purposes in the reclamation of arid and swamp lands and the development of water power instead of permitting the floods to continue, as heretofore, agents of destruction.

We hold that the control of the Mississippi river is a national problem. The preservation of the depth of its water for the purpose of navigation, the building of levees to maintain the integrity of its channel and the prevention of the overflow of the land and its consequent devastation, resulting in the interruption of interstate commerce, the disorganization of the mail service and the enormous loss of life and property, impose an obligation which alone can be discharged by the general government.

To maintain an adequate depth of water the entire year and thereby encourage water transportation is a consummation worthy of legislative attention and presents an issue national in its character. It calls for prompt action on the part of congress, and the Democratic party pledges itself to the enactment of legislation leading to that end.

We favor the co-operation of the United States and the respective states in plans for the comprehensive treatment of all waterways, with a view of co-ordinating plans for channel improvement, with plans for drainage of swamp and overflowed lands, and to this end we favor the appropriation by the federal government of sufficient funds to make surveys of such lands, to develop plans for draining the same and to supervise the work of construction.

We favor the adoption of a liberal and comprehensive plan for the development and improvement of our inland waterways with economy and efficiency so as to permit their navigation by vessels of standard draft.

Post Roads.

We favor national aid to state and local authorities in the construction and maintenance of post roads.

Rights of Labor.

We repeat our declarations of the platform of 1908 as follows:

The courts of justice are the bulwark of our liberties, and we yield to none in our purpose to maintain their dignity. Our party has given to the bench a long line of distinguished justices, who have added to the respect and confidence in which this department must be jealously maintained. We resent the attempt of the Republican party to raise a false issue respecting the judiciary, an unjust reflection upon a great body of our citizens to assume that they lack respect for the courts.

It is the function of the courts to interpret the laws which the people enact, and if the laws appear to work economic, social or political injustice it is our duty to change them. The only basis upon which the integrity of our courts can stand is that of unswerving justice and protection of life, personal liberty and property. As judicial processes may be abused we should guard them against abuse.

Experience has proved the necessity of a modification of the present law relating to injunction, and we reiterate the pledges of our platform of 1896 and 1904 in favor of a measure which passed the United States senate in 1896 relating to contempt in federal courts and providing for trial by jury in cases of indirect contempt.

Questons of judicial practice have arisen, especially in connection with industrial disputes. We believe that the parties to all judicial proceedings should be treated with rigid impartiality and that injunctions should not be issued in any case in which an injunction would not issue if no industrial dispute were involved.

The expanding organization of industry makes it essential that there should be no abridgment of the right of wage earners and producers to organize for the protection of wages and the improvement of labor conditions to the end that such labor organizations and their members should not be regarded as illegal combinations in restraint of trade.

We pledge the Democratic party to the enactment of a law creating a department of labor represented separately in the president's cabinet, in which department shall be included the subject of mines and mining.

We pledge the Democratic party, so far as the federal jurisdiction extends, to an employees' compensation law providing adequate indemnity for injury to body or loss of life.

Conservation.

We believe in the conservation and the development for the use of all the people of the natural resources of the country. Our forests, our sources of water supply, our arable and our mineral lands, our navigable streams and all the other material resources with which our country has been so lavishly endowed constitute the foundation of our national wealth. Such additional legislation as may be necessary to prevent their being wasted or absorbed by special or privileged interests should be enacted, and the policy of their conservation should be rigidly adhered to.

The public domain should be administered and disposed of with due regard to the general welfare. Reservations should be limited to the purposes which they purport to serve and not extended to include land wholly unsuited therefor. The unnecessary withdrawal from sale and settlement of enormous tracts of public land upon which tree growth never existed and cannot be promoted tends only to retard development, create discontent and bring reproach upon the policy of conservation.

The public land laws should be administered in a spirit of the broadest liberality toward the settler exhibiting a bona fide purpose to comply therewith to the end that the invitation of this government to the landless should be as attractive as possible, and the plain provisions of the forest reserve act permitting homestead entries to be made within the national forests should not be nullified by administrative regulations, which amount to a withdrawal of great areas of the same from settlement.

Immediate action should be taken by congress to make available the vast and valuable coal deposits of Alaska under conditions that will be a perfect guaranty against their falling into the hands of monopolizing corporations, associations or interests.

We rejoice in the inheritance of mineral resources unequaled in extent, variety or value and in the development of a mining industry unequaled in its magnitude and importance. We honor the men who in their hazardous toil underground daily risk their lives in extracting and preparing for our use the products of the mine so essential to the industries, the commerce and the comfort of the people of this country. And we pledge ourselves to the extension of the work of the bureau of mines in every way appropriate for national legislation with a view to safeguarding the lives of miners, lessening the waste of essential resources and promoting the economic development of mining, which, along with agriculture, must in the future even more than in the past serve as the very foundation of our national prosperity and welfare and our internal commerce.

Agriculture.

We believe in encouraging the development of a modern system of agriculture and a systematic effort to improve the conditions of trade in farm products so as to benefit both the consumers and producers. And as an efficient means to this end we favor the enactment by congress of legislation that will suppress the pernicious practice of gambling in agricultural products by organized exchanges or others.

Merchant Marine.

We believe in fostering by constitutional regulation of commerce the growth of a merchant marine which shall develop and strengthen the commercial ties which bind us to our sister republics of the south, but without additional burdens upon the people and without imposing bounties or subsidies from the public treasury.

We urge upon congress the speedy enactment of laws for the greater security of life and property at sea, and we favor the repeal of all laws and the abrogation of so much of our treaties with other nations as provide for the arrest and imprisonment of seamen charged with desertion or with violation of their contract of service. Such laws and treaties are un-American and violate the spirit if not the letter of the constitution of the United States.

We favor the exemption from tolls of American ships engaged in coastwise trade passing through the Panama canal.

We also favor legislation forbidding the use of the Panama canal by ships owned or controlled by railroad carriers engaged in transportation competitive with the canal.

Pure Food and Public Health.

We reaffirm our previous declarations advocating the union and strengthening of the various governmental agencies relating to pure foods, quarantine, vital statistics and human health. Thus united and administered without partiality to or discrimination against any school of medicine or system of healing, they would constitute a single health service, not subordinated to any commercial or financial interests, but devoted exclusively to the conservation of human life and efficiency. Moreover, this health service should co-operate with the health agencies of our various states and cities, without interference with their prerogatives or with the freedom of individuals to employ such medical or hygienic aid as they may see fit.

Civil Service Law.

The law pertaining to the civil service should be honestly and rigidly enforced, to the end that merit and ability shall be the standard of appointment and promotion rather than service rendered to a political party, and we favor a reorganization of the civil service, with adequate compensation commensurate with the class of work performed, for all officers and employees; we also favor the extension to all classes of civil service employees the benefits of the provisions of the employers' liability law.

We also recognize the right of direct petition to congress by employees for the redress of grievances.

Law Reform.

We recognize the urgent need of reform in the administration of civil and criminal law in the United States, and we recommend the enactment of such legislation and the promotion of such measures as will rid the present legal system of the delays, expense and uncertainties incident to the system as now administered.

The Philippines.

We reaffirm the position thrice announced by the Democracy in national convention assembled against a policy of imperialism and colonial exploitation in the Philippines or elsewhere. We condemn the experiment in imperialism as an inexcusable blunder which has involved us in enormous expense, brought us weakness instead of strength and laid our nation open to the charge of abandonment of the fundamental doctrine of self government. We favor an immediate declaration of the nation's purpose to recognize the independence of the Philippine islands as soon as a stable government can be established, such independence to be guaranteed by us until the neutralization of the islands can be secured by treaty with other powers. In recognizing the independence of the Philippines our government should retain such land as may be necessary for coaling stations and naval bases.

Arizona and New Mexico.

We welcome Arizona and New Mexico to the sisterhood of states and heartily congratulate them upon their auspicious beginning of great and glorious careers.

Alaska.

We demand for the people of Alaska the full enjoyment of the rights and privileges of a territorial form of government, and we believe that the officials appointed to administer the government of all our territories and the District of Columbia should be qualified by previous bona fide residence.

The Russian Treaty.

We commend the patriotism of the Democratic members of the senate and house of representatives which compelled the termination of the Russian treaty of 1832, and we pledge ourselves anew to preserve the sacred rights of American citizenship at home and abroad. No treaty should receive the sanction of our government which does not recognize the equality of all of our citizens irrespective of race or creed, and which does not expressly guarantee the fundamental right of expatriation.

The constitutional rights of American citizens should protect them on our borders and go with them throughout the world, and every American citizen residing or having property in any foreign country is entitled to and must be given the full protection of the United States government, both for himself and his property.

Parcels Post and Rural Delivery.

We favor the establishment of a parcel post or postal express and also the extension of the rural delivery system as rapidly as practicable.

Panama Canal Exposition.

We hereby express our deep interest in the great Panama Canal exposition to be held in San Francisco in 1915 and favor such encouragement as can be properly given.

Protection of National Uniform.

We commend to the several states the adoption of a law making it an offense for the proprietors of places of public amusement and entertainment to discriminate against the uniform of the United States similar to the law passed by congress applicable to the District of Columbia and the territories in 1911.

Pensions.

We renew the declaration of our last platform relating to a generous pension policy.

Rule of the People.

We call attention to the fact that the Democratic party's demand for a return to the rule of the people expressed in the national platform four years ago has now become the accepted doctrine of a large majority of the electors. We again remind the country that only by a larger exercise of the reserved power of the people can they protect themselves from the misuse of delegated power and the usurpation of governmental instrumentalities by special interests. For this reason the national convention insisted on the overthrow of Cannonism and the inauguration of a system by which United States senators could be elected by direct vote. The Democratic party offers itself to the country as an agency through which the complete overthrow and extirpation of corruption, fraud and machine rule in American politics can be effected.

Conclusion.

Our platform is one of principles which we believe to be essential to our national welfare. Our pledges are made to be kept when in office as well as relied upon during the campaign, and we invite the co-operation of all citizens, regardless of party, who believe in maintaining unimpaired the institutions and traditions of our country.

UGANDA'S ROYAL SUICIDES.

Kings Who Drank Poison When Sickness or Age Threatened.

Some of the curious customs of a pastoral people of Uganda, known as the Banyoro, are told by the Rev. John Roscoe. He said that when once a king was enthroned his person became sacred, and his food was restricted to milk and beef from a sacred herd of cows, which were kept apart from other cows.

The Banyoro monarch never allowed himself to grow old or his faculties to become impaired. When he thought he was going to be seriously ill he called a council, arranged the state affairs with the principal chiefs without giving them any reason for thinking that he was about to die and dismissed them to carry out his instructions.

Then he returned to his private house and summoned his chief wife and ordered her to bring a cup of poison. He drank the contents and in a few minutes was dead. The widow thereupon called one or two of the principal chiefs, who prepared the body for burial. For as long as possible the death was kept secret. Each day the milk and beef were brought to the royal residence, and inquirers were informed that the king was suffering from an indisposition which required him to rest.

In the meantime the chiefs were engaged in making private arrangements to guard the body and protect the sacred herds of cattle during the wars which would follow on the announcement of the death. When the news leaked out the sons of the dead king fought among themselves, brother killing brother. The survivor became king and attended his father's funeral.

At the ceremony several of the widows of the deceased king were clubbed to death, as were the cowmen and the cook. Other widows took poison. All the bodies were placed in the grave the idea being that their ghosts should minister to the ghost of the king in the next world.—London Standard.

BUNCH THEIR WEDDINGS.

Only One Day In the Year For Marriages In Plougastel, Brittany.

In the city of Plougastel, in Brittany, France, all marriages take place on one and the same day. The men are all fishermen, many of them going as far as the Newfoundland banks, and are at home only during a few months in the winter. One day in early February is set apart for the weddings. Little courting is done, but much haggling over the dowry of the girls. They have to bring a certain quantity of linen, chickens, pigs and vegetables. Frequently a match is broken off because the girl's father refuses to add a sack of potatoes to the dowry.

On the day set the inhabitants of the entire region go to Plougastel. The whole population goes to church to hear mass, to take communion and to witness the wedding ceremonies. Often fifty or more couples are united on the same day. Bride and groom do not walk together until the ceremony has been completed. For the rest of this and the whole of the next day every house is open to receive guests and to provide food and drink for them. On the evening of the second day the young men carry the dowries of the brides to the houses of the grooms. There they dance and frolic until early morning, and, after they leave, the couple are for the first time together and alone. During the remainder of the year no marriages are concluded.—Leslie's.

PHILLIPSBURG TO HAVE BIG FILTER INDUSTRY

Phillipsburg, July 3.—George W. Smith, secretary of the Phillipsburg Board of Trade, received announcement Monday from the officers of the United States Filter Company, of New York, that after considering the offers of forty-five cities, Phillipsburg has been selected as the place to locate the industry.

The concern manufactures all kinds of filters. From 800 to 1,200 men will be employed, of whom seventy-five per cent. are skilled workers, it is said.

Because of the vacation season, many are exposed to an unusual hazard of accident. Travel, during the summer months, is heavier than at any other time of the year and is therefore more prolific of accidents; mountain-climbing is attended with numerous dangers; bathing frequently results in drowning; and the innumerable other pastimes associated with summer outings are more or less productive of accidents. Consequently there is a greater need, during this period, for Accident Insurance. Renting of all descriptions a specialty.

COMPLAINT NOT PRESSED.

Mrs. William Ross, who resides with Mrs. Charles Moore, of 642 West Fourth street, reported to police headquarters last Monday that Bonny Peel, of Plainfield avenue and West Fifth street, had snatched her purse containing $4 and then ran away. She did not appear in court Tuesday morning to sustain her complaint and the man was discharged.

DEMOCRATS HOT AFTER OFFICES

Minority Party Nominations in Union County Will Not Go Begging Now.

BOOMS NOW LAUNCHING

Surrogate, Three Assemblymen and Freeholders to Be Named—Tuttle Confident of Re-election to Congress He Says.

With Governor Woodrow Wilson heading the National ticket, the leaders of the Democratic party in Union county say they feel assured that they can elect their entire ticket this fall, particularly so if Roosevelt should head a third party ticket. The officials to be chosen this fall in Union county include a Surrogate, three Assemblymen and seven members of the new small Board of Freeholders.

The present Surrogate, George T. Parrot, has held that office for twenty-five years and there is no doubt but that he will be a candidate for re-nomination. Fred C. Hyer, of Rahway, has been mentioned as a Democratic candidate.

There are a number of candidates for the new small Board of Freeholders. S. P. T. Wilbur and J. Hervey Doane, members of the present board, have already declared themselves as candidates on the Republican ticket, while James J. McCann, of Division street, a member of the Union County Democratic Committee, wants to be a member of that board. It is said that he will have the united support of his party. The Elizabeth Democrats are boosting J. Logan Fay, Dennis F. Hennessy, William Bourden and Thomas J. Pierson, the present Democratic members of the board. They say that if this quartet can be elected they are willing that the other three members should come from other points in the county.

Among the Democrats talked of for the nomination on the Assembly ticket are Ten Eyck R. Beardsley, of Fanwood; Hugh J. McLoughlin, John R. Connolly and James E. Lowden, of Elizabeth. The Democrats will also make a strong effort to re-elect Congressman W. E. Tuttle, Jr., of Westfield. The district is now composed of Union and Morris counties, but Mr. Tuttle is confident he can win without Warren county.

Edward A. Knapp, of Elizabeth, a Roosevelt delegate, has also been mentioned as a candidate for Congress on the Colonel's ticket. It is hardly believed that Charles N. Fowler will seek this nomination for he has Senatorial aspirations which he considers are far more important.

PATRIOTIC SERVICES AT FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Services of a patriotic character were held at the First Baptist church Wednesday night. Mrs. Lucie Rising, who assists Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, the pastor, in his pastoral work, conducted the meeting and gave an excellent talk on "Patriotism." There were vocal selections by a quartet, comprising Messrs. Western, Cubberly, Newman and Perry, while Mattie Douglas, a little tot, sang a hymn. Dr. Strong also made a few remarks.

The Sunday-school rooms were attractively decorated with American flags, and all the exercises were appropriate to Independence Day. During the service several young people signified their desire to unite with the church. A social hour followed the meeting.

HOLD FUNERAL SERVICES FOR LEWIS E. BARKALEW

The funeral service of Lewis E. Barkalew was held at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the late home at Lincoln place and Grove street. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends, including many of the older residents of the city and borough who had known Mr. Barkalew during his long residence here. There were also many floral tributes from relatives and the various organizations to which the departed belonged.

Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, pastor of the First Baptist church, of which Mr. Barkalew was a life-long member, conducted the service. The burial was in Hillside cemetery and the pall-bearers were L. V. F. Randolph, Oliver B. Leonard, William R. Codington, Thomas S. Armstrong, Eugene M. Laing and Halsted C. Compton.

—Neuman Bros. will have for tomorrow's trade a large and choice assortment of fancy Jersey peas, asparagus, cauliflower and a large variety of vegetables.

WILLIAM F. M'COMBS.

Likely to Be Chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

William F. McCombs is the wonder of the Woodrow Wilson campaign. Tireless, he never abandoned hope of landing the nomination for the man he so greatly admired. Now he is talked of as a successor to Norman E. Mack, chairman of the Democratic national committee.

MORNING AFTER 4TH IN THE POLICE COURT

Some "Celebrations" Led to Bar of Justice Where Offenders Were Penitent.

The morning after the "Fourth" is usually a busy one in the police court, and this morning was no exception. A consignment of six men hailing from different parts of the State were arraigned before City Judge William G. DeMeza for giving too much outward evidence of their inner patriotic feelings; in other words for discharging firearms within the city limits, contrary to statute. After a short talk on the danger of such a practice the Judge dismissed them.

Carmon Komoskey, of North avenue, was charged with firing a cannon. He pleaded not guilt, and produced Fred Berknelli and Thomas Brown as witnesses. The evidence of Berkenelli showed that he (Berkenelli) had discharged it and consequently Komoskey was allowed off. Patrolman Myers preferred a similar charge against Brown and Berkenelli. The Judge advised them to go out in the woods and burn as much powder as they wished, but not to do so within the city limits. They were let off.

A plea of guilty of disorderly conduct by fighting in a Park avenue saloon last night was entered by Thomas Muldowney, of 462 West Second street, and Thomas Buckley, of East Third street. As the proprietor of the saloon did not appear to press the charge Judge DeMeza dismissed the case.

For disorderly conduct and the use of obscene language Oscar Green, colored, of West Third street, was fined $8 or in default forty days in jail. Lizzie Brighton, colored, against whom a similar charge was preferred, was advised to eschew Green's company as he had a bad police record, and on suspended sentence she was permitted to go.

John Lea, colored, of Cottage place, was arrested last night for throwing a beer bottle at Joseph Petrosoli, a fourteen-year-oldboy. The bottle broke on the pavement and cut the youth's foot, necessitating medical treatment. A fine of $10 with the option of 40 days was imposed. He paid.

PLAYGROUNDS OPEN.

The four public playgrounds, in the yards of the Franklin, Bryant, Irving and St. Mary's schools, were opened for the season this morning with a total attendance of nearly 400. These recreation centers are under the supervision of trained instructors and are intended principally for the younger class of children. The fifth playground in this city on Parker Field and has been opened for some time. Charles R. Bostwick, and a competent corps of leaders are in daily attendance at Parker Field.

ACTING MANAGER.

During the absence of E. C. Ostlin, who leaves on his vacation tomorrow, C. C. Thompson, of the Spicer Manufacturing Company, will take charge of the Manufacturer's Baseball League. Mr. Thompson has been active in the league work throughout the season and is well qualified to take care of the affairs in this organization.

SEVERAL HUNDRED POOR ON AN OUTING

Salvation Army Provides a Holiday Of Real Enjoyment At Wayside Park.

Several hundred poor people of the city participated in the annual free outing given yesterday at Wayside Park, Dunellen, under the auspices of the Salvation Army. Dr. Frank T. Clawson, J. H. Greene, Jr., Leon M. Livingston, R. W. Barnes, J. H. Vail, George H. Frost, two cars; F. L. C. Martin, E. A. Laing, Vosseler's auto truck and Councilmen Fred Endress joined heartily in giving the free use of their automobiles and the guests of the army enjoyed the ride.

Everything was provided free in the way of lunches, lemonade, ice cream and milk. At 1 o'clock in the afternoon the children gave a program of songs and recitations in the pavilion. Afterward several foot races were held, including a 100 yard dash, 440 yard run and also a one mile run. Suitable prizes were distributed to the winners. Then followed a baseball game, in which Bob Fitzsimmons, Jr., acted as umpire. No one questioned his decisions. It was about 5:30 when the tired, but happy party started for home.

For three weeks Captain and Mrs. A. S. Hewitt with their assistants worked for the success of the outing and their highest hopes were fully realized. The thanks of the mothers and children more than repaid them for their labors.

DISPLAY OF FIREWORKS DREW OVER 5,000 PEOPLE

The display at Parker Field last night drew a crowd variously estimated at from five to seven thousand people that was apparently delighted with the fireworks show. They began to gather long before dark and were entertained while waiting for the fireworks by a concert given by a band organized by Albert Naylor. The musicians also presented a program in the afternoon. When the first bombs were fired at 8:30 every available seat on the bleachers, and the entire south side of the field were lined with people, while out in the road a double line of automobiles, all loaded with holiday crowds, added to the picture disclosd by the brighter pieces of the display.

The fireworks, which were shown under the direction of Salvatore Velard, of Plainfield, were splendid, and brought forth frequent applause. The set pieces were especially good, while the rockets were fully equal to those usually seen in similar displays. The show lasted for over an hour. Mr. Velard also furnished the fireworks at the Park Club.

FIREWORKS DISPLAY FUND ABOUT COVERED THE COST

L. H. Gates	$2.00
L. B. Woolston	$1.00
H. C. Tracy	$1.00
O. T. Waring	$2.00

PROTECTION FOR WHOLESALERS

No Liquor to Be Sold Here Except By Dealers Licensed by the Municipality.

SAYS JUDGE ATWATER

Old Trick of Having Goods Delivered by Common Carrier Won't Work—Prosecutors Receive Instructions From Court and Get Busy.

Elizabeth, N. J., July 5.—Judge Atwater announced in open court Wednesday afternoon that he wished Prosecutor Swift to announce that wholesale liquor dealers could not sell liquor outside of the cities, boroughs, towns or townships for which the licenses have been issued. Such sale will, hereafter, lead to prosecution.

The court's announcement is in line with a decision of the Supreme Court on February 27 in the case of the State vs. Brown. This ruling was also cited by Judge Daly, of Middlesex county, and applies to every county in the State. It merely means that a wholesale dealer in Elizabeth, Plainfield or elsewhere cannot sell his liquors outside of the city, town or borough for which such license is issued. Neither can he employ a common carrier to do so.

As to the liquors sold by wholesale dealers outside of the State the Interstate Commerce laws cover this phase of the matter.

COUNTY'S BUDGET IS MUCH REDUCED

It Will Be $399,600 As $50,400 Remains Unexpended by Freeholders' Board.

BENEFIT TO PLAINFIELD

Bond Issue of $60,000 For Repair of Roads Will Help This City too—Hand Inspector for South Avenue Improvement.

Elizabeth, July 5.—The sum of $450,000, which by resolution passed on May 12 by the Board of Freeholders, was to be the budget of expenses for the county during the coming year and was to be raised by taxation, was reduced Wednesday afternoon by the Board through the transferring of $50,400 from unexpended balance fund to the appropriation fixed on as needed for the fiscal year of 1912-1913. This sum, County Collector Nathan R. Leavitt explained, was part of $195,000 which the Board has saved during the past five years by various retrenchments. Because of this reduction in the amount to be raised by taxes for the running of the county the tax rate in Elizabeth, Plainfield and other places will be lowered to some slight extent. It will mean a benefit of $25,000 or so to Elizabeth and a fairly substantial but smaller sum to Plainfield.

The Board also voted to issue $60,000 worth of county road bonds for the repair of Morris avenue, Springfield; South avenue and Martine avenue, Fanwood, and Morris avenue, Union, these roads extending principally from Westfield to Plainfield. These are State aid roads, but the county must pay its share for the repairs. The bonds will be thirty-four four and one-quarter per cent. interest bonds.

County Sealer of Weights and Measures Augustus W. Schwartz reported to the Board that he had made 1065 inspections in June, and that the inspections in Plainfield and Summit were not yet completed. These will be concluded before the middle of July.

W. H. Hand was appointed an inspector of the South avenue pavement in Plainfield, to serve at $3 per day.

The collector was directed to pay Melvin H. Cleaves, of North Plainfield, the sum of $20.28 for taxes for land located within North Plainfield Township and which was purchased as part of the site for the Bonnie Burn Sanitarium.

ENJOYED DAY ON LAKE.

Under the auspices of the Business Training Institute an excursion to Lake Hopatcong was held yesterday. The students of the institute were chaperoned by Mrs. L. J. Denton. The party took a cruise on the lake in a chartered launch and all had a general good time. The students made good use of the blue penants, the institute color.

TEACHERS' TRAINING.

The Teachers' Training Course, of the National Association for the Study and Education of Exceptional Children, opens on July 8, on Watchung Crest.

DR. J. E. REYNOLDS BONNIE BURN SUP'T

New Hampshire Man to Be In Charge of County Sanitarium—Salary $1,800.

Elizabeth, July 5.—At a meeting of the Board of Governors of the Bonnie Burn Sanatarium at Scotch Plains, in the courthouse Wednesday afternoon, Dr. William H. Murray, of Plainfield, a member, was appointed a committee of one to act with Freeholder J. Hervey Doane as a joint committee to arrange with Watchung Council, Knights of Columbus, of Plainfield, for the flag raising at the Sanatarium. The Council recently offered to present the board with a handsome flag for the institution. The Board of Freeholders recently thanked the Council for its gift.

William J. McCloud, a member of the Board of Governors, announced to the Freeholders at their meeting Wednesday afternoon that the Board of Governors had selected Dr. J. E. Reynolds, now superintendent of the New Hampshire Tuberculosis Hospital, to be superintendent of the Bonnie Burn Sanatarium at a salary of $1,800 per annum, with a house and living. He will begin his duties on August 1.

COLONEL E. C. STAHL SUDDENLY LOST SIGHT

Colonel E. C. Stahl, of Trenton, father of Rose Stahl, the actress, and himself one of the best known German-Americans in the country, was sticken with total blindness while witnessing a theatrical performance in Trenton last night. Physicians who have examined him say there is practically no hope for the restoration of his sight. Apoplexy of the eyes is given as the cause of the trouble.

Col. Stahl was well known in this city, where he visited many times. He was prominent as a Civar War veteran and was a past department commander of the G. A. R. He was also past grand master of the A. O. U. A. M. For many years he published a German newspaper in Trenton and was active in politics.

PROHIBITION SPEAKER EXPLAINS THE COURSE

"The liquor traffic is more strongly and thoroughly entrenched in the national government today than ever before," declared Eugene W. Chafin, State chairman of the Prohibition Party, to an audience in the Trinity Reformed church yesterday afternoon. "There was more liquor consumed last year than any year in our entire history," he added. To combat this great evil, he asserted, numerous remedies had been tried such as pledge signing and prohibition laws. But after fifty years of such methods were found to be a gigantic failure. "It was not the law that destroys the liquor traffic," he added, "but the administration of it." The law was one per cent. in the destruction of the liquor traffic and the interpretation of the law and the administration of the government were 99 per cent.

"What is needed," he continued," is a party elected to power that will deal with the manufacture and sale of liquors from the standpoint that it is a crime and not a business. Under any fair or reasonable interpretation of the common law and the constitutions the liquor traffic was an outlaw, as the decision of Judge Artman, of the Supreme Court, showed."

Then he spoke of what a prohibition administration would mean if elected in power; how it would repeal the internal revenue laws; the granting of licenses; and administer the government from the standpoint that the making and selling of liquor was a crime and not a business.

PARK CLUB CELEBRATES.

The Independence Day celebration at the Park Club, last night, was one of the best in years. The club had the members of the Park Golf Club as its guest. There was a display of fireworks and also a dance in the evening. The program of dances was a popular one. During an intermission ice cream, cake and lemonade were served. The clubhouse was decorated with American flags. The whole affair was under the direction of the entertainment committee of the club.

UNKNOWN MAN KILLED ON CENTRAL'S TRACKS

Found With His Skull Crushed and Arms Broken—Body Awaits Identification.

The body of an unknown man with his skull crushed and his arms and collar bones broken was discovered early yesterday morning on the Jersey Central tracks near Dunellen. The remains were taken to Runyon's mortuary, in Dunellen, where they await identification. The man was poorly clad and the supposition is that he must have fallen off a passing freight train. If he had been crossing the tracks when the accident occurred the trunk of the body, it is believed, would have been mangled.

The description given by the police is that of a man between fifty and sixty years old, with blue eyes, sandy beard and hair streaked with gray. He weighed about 160 pounds and was five feet eight inches tall. There was nothing in the pockets to give any clue as to his identity. On the right forearm two flags in a semi-circle have been tattoed. On the right knee there is a scar three inches long and two smaller ones on the left ankle.

FLETCHER L. CREAGER KICKED BY A HORSE

Fletcher L. Creager, an insurance agent, is laid up at his home on Watchung avenue, with severe injuries to his shoulder and cuts about the face, the result of being kicked by a horse this morning. He was engaged in harnessing the animal, which is known to have some vicious habits, and while his back was turned, the horse planted one of his hind feet in the man's back.

The force of the blow knocked Mr. Creager over against a nearby partition cutting his face. He lay in the stable for several minutes in a semi-conscious condition before he was able to call for assistance. The injured man was removed to the house and Dr. P. B. Creager summoned. An examination showed the imprint of the horse's shoe on the man's back and a deep cut on the face. The wounds were dressed and it is believed that Mr. Creager will be out within a short time.

CHURCH NOTICE.

Rev. D. H. Davis, of Shanghai, China, will preach at the Seventh Day Baptist church at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning. The Sabbath school will meet at 11:45, the subject being "Malignant Unbelief." The Christian Endeavor Society will meet at 4 o'clock, the topic being, "The Christian Virtues, Viii, Honesty." It will be a consecration meeting. There will be the usual meeting this evening at 8 o'clock, but on account of the illness of the pastor, Rev. Edwin Shaw, the covenant meeting and celebration of the Lord's Supper will be postponed for one week.

The Misses Clara Runyon, Dorothy Randall, Edith Schenck, Bessie Conroy, Lucile Ewart and Nettie Steiner, spent "The Fourth" at Asbury Park. They enjoyed the outing immensely.

FEW ACCIDENTS ON THE FOURTH

Blank Cartridge Pistols the Cause of Most of the Mishaps to Youths.

FOUR HOSPITAL CASES

In No Instance Was the Injury Serious—Quiet Day in the Police Department—A List of the Boys Who Were Hurt While Celebrating.

Plainfield's attempt at celebrating the Fourth in a "safe and sane" manner, resulted in reducing the number of mishaps to some extent. No accidents were reported to the police during the day and there were only four cases received at Muhlenberg Hospital, all of a minor nature. A somewhat remarkable fact was that in nearly every accident case the blank cartridge pistol was to blame, causing injuries to hands and fingers.

Elijah Patterson, aged 9 years, of 53 Watchung avenue, while celebrating with a blank cartridge pistol, received an injury in the thigh, and he was removed to the hospital for treatment.

George Bower, aged 13 years, of 143 East Second street, received an injury to his hand with a blank cartridge pistol and was treated at the hospital. He has since gone home.

Harry Pasch, aged 15 years, of 83 Harrison street, North Plainfield, was admitted to the clinic at the hospital for treatment of a hand injury, the result of shooting blank cartridges.

James Traynor, aged 16 years, of 1041 South Second street, while discharging blank cartridges inflicted an injury to the third finger of the right hand. A portion of the flesh was lacerated. The wound was treated by Dr. P. B. Cregar, of Grant avenue. The accident happened about 8:30 o'clock last night.

Harold Aller, aged 7 years, of High Bridge, was brought to the hospital Wednesday night suffering from injuries to the eyes. The lad was shooting off fire-crackers in a glass bottle when the bottle exploded. Pieces of glass inflicted the injuries. It is believed that the sight will be saved.

Edward Ryder, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ryder, of 306 Central avenue, was burned about the face yesterday by the premature explosion of a quantity of gunpowder on the sidewalk through lighting a fire-cracker. The lad had his face close to the powder while lighting the fire-cracker and the powder exploded before he had time to escape. Young Ryder is now under the care of Dr. A. F. VanHorn.

THE FUNERAL SERVICES OF CASPER FUCHS HELD

The funeral service of Casper Fuchs, of Stony Hill, was held yesterday morning at his home on the Berkeley Heights road, and at 10 o'clock at St. Mary's R. C. church, Stony Hill, where a high mass of requiem was sung by Father Schwartz, pastor of the church. After the mass, Father Schwartz spoke of the Christian life of the departed and of his long and useful service to the church. The funeral was very largely attended by relatives and friends, including several people from this city. There were also many beautiful floral tributes.

The burial was in St. Mary's cemetery at Stony Hill and the pallbearers were: Charles Eller, Joseph B. Eller, Frank Keal, Andrew Schaffer and William Woodruff.

DENTISTS' CONVENTION.

The New Jersey Dental Association will hold its annual convention at Hotel Cape May, Cape May, July 17, 18 and 19. For the purpose of convenience to delegates or members attending the Western Union will maintain a registry at its main office in Cape May, Wave building, 512 Washington street; also an office in the Hotel Cape May, and all dentists are requested to register there.

TO DISCUSS SEWER PLANS.

The Councilmanic Sewer Committee will meet Monday night to consider matters pertaining to the proposed plans for a joint sanitary trunk sewer. The "steering" committee is preparing the plans to be presented to the State Board of Health within a short time.

HEALTH BOARD TO MEET.

The July meeting of the Plainfield Board of Health will be held this evening, when it is expected that several matters of importance will be considered, including the question of improving the sanitary conditions on Cottage place.

Walter Apgar, Fred Sandford and A. E. Force were hosts for the "Five Hundred Club" on an automobile trip yesterday. The party got started early traveling along the Jersey coast, stopping at Asbury Park for a dip in the ocean and returning to Plainfield at midnight.

UNLICENSED DENTIST HELD FOR GRAND JURY

Red Bank, July 5.—Charged with practicing dentistry without a State license, Martin Brumberger, of Asbury Park, who has been conducting a dental parlor in the Swift building here at Broad and Monmouth streets, this place, was arrested Tuesday and given a hearing before Recorder Harry C. Badeau, who held him under $500 bail to await the action of the grand jury. Brumberger's brother went his bail and he was released.

The complaint against Brumberger was made by Dr. Ella M. Hind, of Newark, assistant secretary of the State Dental Board of Examiners. At the hearing Brumberger said that although he was not a licensed dentist, he employed men who were. It is though he will use this plea at his trial. In order to trap Brumberger, Dr. Hind caused a young man who was with her, to have one of his teeth filled by Brumberger.

WARDEN FAILS TO SHOW VITROL INJURES FISH

Paterson, July 5.—Failing to show that the use of vitriol in a pond had been sufficient to kill the fish, Deputy Warden Garrabrant Ryerson Tuesday lost his case against Douglas McCauslan, an employe of the Silk Dyeing and Finishing Company at Hawthorne, a concern recently absorbed by the United Piece Dye Works. Justice of the Peace Maurice Shea dismissed the case for want of proof.

The deputy warden said the company used the vitriol to kill fish that clog the service pipes of the plant. Witnesses for the company said its object was solely to remove the scum from the pond, and that not enough vitriol had been used to injure the fish.

The pond is on the property of the company, and by a runway its water is used for dyeing. The presence of scum was said to be injurious to silk.

Benevolent Council, No. 256, Jr. O. U. A. M., will install its officers tonight.

The officers-elect of Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., will be installed tonight by Deputy Edward Bowman and staff.

Five years ago this store began its business career. From a very trying beginning owing to not being fully acquainted with the needs of this community and a change from the policy of our predecessors it has grown to its present position of importance. By supplying the needs of this community with good merchandise and by performing our work carefully and courteously we have achieved a measure of success that is exceedingly gratifying.

And now we enter our sixth year of service with the determination to profit by every success and failure of the past and, if possible, to serve you henceforth even better than heretofore. But, before we proceed to lay larger plans for the future we will rest on our oars for the time being and celebrate. We know of no better way to celebrate this important event and also to show our appreciation of your support which has enabled us to attain this Fifth Birthday, than by holding a big birthday party of bargains in all departments. So we have selected various kinds of good, seasonable goods from all over the store and reduced prices in a manner that will at once FORCIBLY IMPRESS upon you the wisdom and economy of SUPPLYING YOUR NEEDS FOR THE NEXT SIX MONTHS. DURING THIS, OUR FIFTH ANNIVERSARY SALE, WE ARE GOING TO GIVE AWAY 80 VALUABLE GIFTS FREE.

We want to show our appreciation of your generous patronage during the past five years and will give away Free ten gifts each day of the Sale aggregating 80 in all, to the total value of $500.

Here is the way we propose to do it:

A Circular copy of this ad. has been delivered throughout Plainfield and vicinity.

Every circular printed for this Sale is numbered, no two being numbered alike. From the numbers used Mr. Fort, of the Plainfield Daily Press, will pick ten for each day the sale lasts (making 80 in all) and place each ten in an envelope and seal it and mark on the outside a date corresponding to a date the sale is in progress. For instance an envelope will be marked "For July 6th," another July 8th, another July 9th, and so on and these envelopes will be on display in our show window. Each morning of the sale the envelope marked for that day will be opened and the ten numbers placed on the gifts which will then be displayed at different places thruout the store—so that all you have to do is make sure the number of your circular corresponds with the number on the Gift displayed, and then claim the gift. No one outside of Mr. Fort, not even members of the firm will know what the numbers are until the envelopes are opened each day as they are marked.

Gifts displayed one day will be replaced by others the next, so if you don't see your number one day—come the next day. Your number may be one of the gifts displayed for that day.

The Gifts will be most useful articles from our splendid stocks and will include Misses' and Women's Wearing Apparel, Trunks, Suit Cases, Parasols, Gloves, Hosiery (boxed), Curtains, Hammocks, etc., etc.

There is absolutely no cost to you attached to the Gifts in any way shape or form. Bring your circular in every day and see if you have one of the numbers displayed and if the number on your circular corresponds with the number displayed on a Gift that Gift is YOURS ABSOLUTELY FREE.

All circulars must be intact. No numbers accepted if detached.

ILLEGAL SELLING.

Every protection should be given the legally licensed liquor dealer inasmuch as he is duly authorized to conduct his business. As he pays the fee exacted and fulfills all other requirements, his business should not be ruined by those who carry on the traffic in violation of the statutes. One of the greatest injustices done to the wholesaler is that for which New York department stores and dealers not holding a license in the district where he is authorized to do so are responsible. For many years past this has been a serious matter here in Plainfield and more than one attempt has been made to put a stop to it. Under the administration of Mayor Fisk action was taken against some of the New York offenders but the practise still continues.

Now, however, there is every prospect that the abuse will be ended, at least in Union and Middlesex counties. Following the example of Judge Daly, of Middlesex, Judge Atwater, of Union, instructed Prosecutor Swift to see to it that wholesale liquor dealers do not sell liquor outside of the municipalities in which they are licensed. The favorite scheme of these offenders to get their goods into another district will no longer work either, for the Union county judge has ordered that these violators be not permitted to employ a common carrier in order to carry out their invasion of the law. Assistant Prosecutor Hetfield has already gotten busy in this city and there is no question but that he will bring some of the culprits before the bar of justice at an early date.

When Woodrow Wilson laid aside his work as chief executive of New Jersey to make himself known to the Democrats of the far west in his campaign for his party's Presidential nomination, the mantle of his high office fell upon a Plainfielder. As President of the New Jersey State Senate, Ernest R. Ackerman then became Acting Governor. Mr. Ackerman began his political career in 1891, when he consented to serve as a member of the Plainfield Common Council. In 1896, the year of the McKinley campaign, he was chosen a Republican Presidential elector and was secretary of the State's electors. Previously he had been chairman of the Plainfield City Executive Committee and had been a delegate to city, county, State and National conventions of his party. By an unusually large majority he was chosen in 1905 as Union county's representative in the State Senate and he was re-elected to that body three years later. His record there, an excellent one, can be obtained by a reference to the statutes enacted during the years of his incumbency. Suffice it to say that he was a sponsor for many of the most important laws. At the end of his second term he declined a third nomination. It is quite unnecessary to review Mr. Ackerman's career from a local standpoint. He has been identified with many local institutions and has always played a prominent part in every movement that tended for the good and welfare of the community. Mr. Ackerman will be the contributing editor for tomorrow.

To those who have used their influence and position to prevent the enactment of a Safe and Sane Fourth ordinance for this city, we submit a list of accidents due to the celebration of Independence Day in "the old fashioned way" as published in another column of this issue. The "Heathen Chinee" amuses us, yet we imitate his manner of holding a celebration and at the sacrifice of life, limb and property.

After witnessing the fierce fire of invective in the big dailies of the great cities of the country during the Taft-Roosevelt combat, it is astonishing to see how cordially the Baltimore verdict is accepted by these very same journals. Rock-ribbed, dyed-in-the-wool Republican papers, such for instance as the Philadelphia Inquirer, have nothing but the kindest words for Wilson.

Deal Beach is the latest addition to the list of Jersey municipalities adopting the commission form of government. It may not be so very big numerically, but Deal Beach's taxpayers are wise in their generation.

The department of agriculture has issued a list showing that 181 varieties of food and forty-one different kinds of drinks are adulterated. Yes, and some of our political candidates are contaminated, too.

A Story of Joe Manley.

Chief Justice Fuller of the United States supreme court was on a visit to Maine some years ago and while there was entertained by Joe Manley. Mr. Manley was held in great reverence by his fellow citizens all over Maine and especially in Augusta, his home. He took Mr. Fuller for a drive about the place, but was forced by a pressing business engagement to leave his guest before the drive was finished. When Mr. Manley had disappeared the driver turned to the judge, whom he did not know, and, drawing out a cigar, said: "I suppose you don't mind if I smoke. When we are driving Mr. Manley we never light up, because he's rather a distinguished citizen." Fuller repressed a laugh and told the driver to go ahead, which he did. Later the chief justice retailed the joke to Mr. Manley, who at the first opportunity told the driver a few things, winding up, "You miserable three ply idiot, that was the chief justice of the United States."

She Was Lucky.

A man who had just come from a visit to a friend's house, where he had been five ladies engaged in a sociable game of poker, said:

"I looked on awhile. Pretty soon one player asked for three cards. They were given her, and she put them with the five she had been given first. She had eight cards in her hand, but didn't notice it until her turn to bet came. Then she said:

"'Oh, my land! I have eight cards!'

"'You forgot to discard, dearie,' said the dealer. 'Throw three of them away.'

"'Well, let me see which ones I can spare,' replied the other. She studied a moment and then discarded three. 'Now,' she said, 'I'm going to bet a dime. I have three aces.'

"'Gracious me!' came from another woman. 'I only have two kings, but I suppose I must call.'

"She called, and the woman with the three aces took in the money.

"'Isn't it funny how lucky I am?' she said. Then she added: 'Oh, May, how much did that new hat you got last week cost. I think it's just a dear.'

"That was all I waited to see," concluded the man. — New York Telegraph.

New Kind of Steak.

"Once upon a time," says Opie Read, "I was in a sanitarium where it was customary to starve people almost to death in order to make them live. I endured that treatment three days and then sought a restaurant downtown. A waiter came to me, and I said:

"'I want something to eat. Bring me a steak.'

"'Been up there?' inquired the waiter, pointing toward the sanitarium.

"'Yes; three days,' I replied.

"'One sanitarium steak!' yelled the waiter.

"I sunk disconsolately into a chair, for it seemed that the whole town was conspiring to starve me. But I should have known that there were others who had been there before me. The 'sanitarium steak' was nicely served by the waiter, who cheerfully said:

"'Here you are, sir; fine sirloin, top cut and extra large.'"—New York Tribune.

Gen. Homer Lea, Hunchback, Hero of China

HOMER LEA, twenty years ago a hunchback schoolboy, drilling his playmates with a wooden sword on Denver back lots, recently chief military adviser to Yuan Shih Kai, the president of China, has returned to the land of his birth. Part blindness and paralysis have broken the indomitable will of this most romantic character in the recent Chinese rebellion, and if reports are true the brief history of the Denver hunchback, who became one of the strangest figures of modern times, bids fair to close.

As a schoolboy his one ambition was to be like other boys. Realizing his handicap, he set himself to the attainment of an ambition far above that of any of his schoolmates who were more blessed in body.

He would be a great general. He drilled an army of smaller boys as the first step toward the attainment of this desire. He entered Leland Stanford, Jr., university, in California, and gave some time to his classes, but with the strength of a great determination gave his best thought to the careers of the world's greatest warriors.

In 1899 he made his first trip to China, and his purpose then was just as clearly defined as when in Denver years before he announced his intention to become a great military genius.

"I'm going to be a big commander over there," he shouted back to his friends as he leaned against the rail of a Pacific liner. "I'm going to play an important part in overthrowing the present Manchu dynasty and making China a really advanced nation."

He first smelled the smoke of battle when he marched to the relief of Peking at the close of the Boxer uprising. In 1901 he was back in America drilling Chinese cadets in San Francisco and Los Angeles. Even at that time the imperial government of China had set a price on his head.

When the revolution in China began to smoulder six years ago and Kang Yu Wei became the head of the China Empire Reform association, it was Homer Lea, the little American hunchback, who accompanied the Chinese leader to Europe to arouse interest in the movement for an enlightened China.

Just before the revolution broke out Lea met Dr. Sun Yat Sen. Dr. Sun recognized in the young American the military genius which later led to his appointment to the leadership of the military forces of the revolutionists in China with the rank of general.

When Dr. Sun was elected president of the provisional government at Nanking a few months ago Homer Lea was with him. The revolution in China had been accomplished, the hunchback general had proved his genius, his ambition was achieved.

Then the twenty years of struggle against the handicap of physical deformity, the scoffing of friends, the hardships of the revolutionary campaign and the tax made upon a mind not supported by a vigorous body began to tell. With ambition achieved and the reward of success within his grasp, Homer Lea, a world figure at thirty-six, met his first real defeat. He succumbed to his physical weakness.

Now, with the new China behind him, the China in which his military genius played so large a part in bringing enlightenment after centuries of darkness, he is coming home.

At Leland Stanford university Lea was known by two characteristics. One of these was his love for poker and the other his study of military history. His rooms were littered with military maps, while a source of no little amusement to himself and astonishment on the part of the university instructors was his success in "stumping" those learned gentlemen on questions relating to the campaigns of the world's greatest generals.

Lea became a man of mystery after he first went to China. Travelers in that country on various occasions came across him in the interior. Many of his associates in the university were Chinese students, and from them he acquired a knowledge of the language that stood him in good stead.

OLD GLORY FLIES FROM GRACE CHURCH

Celebrated Holy Eucharist and Special Prayers on Independence Day Morning.

Grace Episcopal church has procured a large flag wihch was unfurled yesterday from the window of the tower on the East Seventh street side. Another was flown over the entrance to the parish house on East Sixth street. These flags will be displayed in the future on all national holidays.

At 7:30 o'clock on the morning of the "Fourth" the Rev. John G. Currier celebrated the Holy Eucharist in the church with special intention and prayers for the peace and prosperity of the nation.

Special intercessions were offered for the reconciliation of nations and classes, for the purification of social and political life, for the recognition of Christ's law as applying to all spheres of life, of mutual dependence, of individual rights, of responsibility for cultivating and using all gifts for the common good; for the righteous settlement of all labor disputes; for the guidance of all labor organizations; for faithfulness and courage for all State and municipal authorities; for recognition that all true peace must be established on righteous order; for the negro race and for the immigrant colonies; for the peace of the nations and for the teachers in the public school, Sunday schools, church school, colleges and universities.

These intersessions were summed up in the following prayers:

Almighty God, who in former time didst lead our fathers forth into a wealthy place; give Thy grace, we beseech Thee, to us their children, that we may always approve ourselves a people mindful of Thy favour and glad to do Thy will. Bless our land with honorable industry, sound learning and pure manners. Defend our liberties, preserve our unity. Save us from violence, discord and confusion, from pride and arrogancy, and from every evil way. Fashion into one happy people the multitudes brought hither out of many kindreds and togues. Endue with the spirit of wisdom those whom we entrust in Thy Name with the authority of governance, to the end that there may be peace at home, and that we may keep a place among the nations of the earth. In time of prosperity, fill our hearts with thankfulness and in the day of trouble, suffer not our trust in Thee to fail; all which we ask for Jesus Christ's sake. Amen.

Almighty God, who by The Holy Spirit dost teach Thy faithful people true knowledge; grant unto all who have the care of the young that by the same Spirit working with them, they may diligently instruct those who are committed to their charge to do the works of piety which befit their years, and train them also to make progress in learning, so that in riper age they may glorify Thy Holy Name, and help forward the edification of Thy Church by counsel, example and prayer; through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

PROPOSE SPEEDWAY ON JERSEY MEADOW

Formal announcement of the plans for the construction of the Metropolitan Motor Speedway has been made at the offices of the company, 1784 Broadway, New York. During the past few days it became known that the Metropolitan Motor Speedway Association actually existed, having been incorporated with an authorized capital of $1,500,000, but details and refinite information were not obtainable. F. L. C. Martin, of this city, is one of the directors of this association and is also a member of the committee on plan and scope.

The above-mentioned association has just been formed to take over 300 acres on the Jersey meadows, near Newark, for the purpose of constructing a mortordrome and stadium. Ground will be broken next month and the Speedway is to be completed within a year. On July 4, 1913, the premier event will be staged—an international 500-mile race. Engineering offices have been opened in the Ordway Building, 207 Market street, Newark, and a corps of experts engaged.

It is not merely intended to make the Speedway a stage for automobile speed contests. Long distance motorcycle races and other races will be held on the brick oval, while the infield will be available for aviation meets, baseball, football, field and track athletics, etc. The entire plant will be inclosed by a high fence. The Speedway itself is to be 60 feet wide, excepting on the turns, which are to be 75 feet in width and scientifically banked with saucer curves.

Grand stands, with box and promenade seats, will be erected the entire length of the straightaway stretches, and the proposed capacity of these stands is 200,000. Parking space to accommodate 10,000 cars will be provided in the infield, which will be accessible by means of three double-track funnels, forming the entrance and exit of cars and pedestrians.

ORDERED TO PAY WIFE $2,874 BACK ALIMONY

Trenton, July 5.—Aloyhiuh J. Maguire, a member of the wholesale liquor firm of E. T. Maguire Company, of North Front street, Philadelphia, an owner of large tracts of real estate in Atlantic City and Ventnor, has been adjudged in contempt of the Court of Chancery by Chancellor Walker for his failure to pay alimony to his wife in her suit for maintenance, as ordered by the court. Maguire is reputed to be a millionaire. He was not only adjudged in contempt, but was ordered to pay his wife back alimony and charges amounting to $2,874.

The wife is Mrs. Marie F. Maguire, of 29 South Sovereign avenue, Atlantic City. She brought suit last September, charging cruelty, neglect to provide for her and their six children and with intimacy with another woman.

Maguire presented to the court Tuesday an affidavit alleging that it was impossible for him to pay the arrearages of alimony, that his income is not nearly so large as alleged by his wife and that the only way he could raise the money was by a mortgage upon the property at Ventnor and at Atlantic City or by sale of some of the real estate, and that this would take time.

Chancellor Walker ruled that the evidence in the case showed that Maguire was able to pay and so he made the order.

TWO FIRE OUTBREAKS.

Two small fires occurred yesterday. The first was at Scott's Printing Press Works. Some trestle work had caught fire but the application of a stream of water speedily quenched it. The second alarm came by telephone from the home of Mrs. Otto Arens, of Rahway road. When the company arrived they found a field of grass ablaze. It was speedily subdued and stamped out.

DR. MOLDENKE ENTERTAINS.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles Moldenke entertained the Young People's Society of the German Lutheran church, at their home, Villa Elsinore, Watchung, yesterday afternoon. There were about thirty young people in the party and all enjoyed the informal program and the refreshments provided by the host and hostess.

ADVENTISTS CONTINUE CAMP MEETING SERVICES

Pastor A. J. Haysmer, of Nashville, Tenn., conducted the early morning service yesterday at the Adventist camp on Park avenue and Randolph road. He is a returned missionary from the West Indies and secretary of the African department of the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists. The morning meeting was conducted by L. W. Graham, of New York City, manager of the branch publishing house of the denomination in that city, and C. E. Crey, of Trenton, the local field missionary agent.

In the afternoon the principal speakers were Prof. S. N. Utler, president of the Mt. Vernon, Ohio, College; Prof. N. S. Ashton, educational secretary of the Columbia Union Conference, and Prof. B. G. Wilkinson, president of the Columbia Union Conference. At the evening service, Pastor R. A. Underwood delivered an address upon the origin, nature and tendencies of modern spiritualism.

FIREWORKS DID DAMAGE.

A field of hay on the estate of Mrs. Otto Arens, 1062 Rahway road, was partly destroyed last night. It is alleged that the hay was set on fire by one of aerial bombs shot off at the public Pyrothecnic display on Parker Field. The damage caused has not yet been estimated.

Siegfried Arens, proprietor of Onalake poultry farm, Rahway road, stated that he had an arduous time last night protecting his house and poultry yard from the shower of fire, and that the awnings were burned in several places. He said he never saw such peculiar fire rockets; that after combustion in the air long tails of fire fell to the ground and blazed and smouldered. It is his opinion that greater care should be exercised in the class of bombs fired as a dangerous conflagration might ensue.

MANY NEW LAWS GO INTO EFFECT

At Least Thirty Statutes Enacted by Last Legislature Now In Force.

WHAT THE ACTS ARE

A Brief Summary of the Laws With Chapter References for the Convenience of the Hasty Reader.

Trenton, July 5.—Thirty or more laws passed by the last Legislature became operative yesterday, in accordance with the statutory provision that unless otherwise specified all acts of the Legislature shall take effect July 4, following their passage.

Important among the measures becoming effective at this time are the acts simplifying the judicial practice of the State; providing for the transfer of cases between courts instead of their dismissal for want of jurisdiction; prohibiting the granting of rebates or discrimination by fire insurance companies; compelling adequate ventilation in manufacturing establishments; providing that the duties of sheriffs shall end with their terms; making it an offense for a minor to misrepresent his age for the purpose of obtaining liquor; requiring the branding of bedding and similar articles; compelling physicians to report certain diseases prevalent in some trades, and requiring that milk bottles shall be registered and of specified capacity.

In so far as the acts enumerated are concerned there is little doubt that they are not now in force, but that they will take effect today. There is, however, a decided difference of opinion as to when some of the recent enactments of the Legislature become operative. In probably ninety per cent. of the laws passed there is specific provision that they shall take effect immediately, while in a few instances a particular date is named when the law is to become operative. Regarding such acts there is no question as to when they become effective.

There are also numerous other acts, and particularly amendments to existing statutes, in which no time is set and this has raised a question as to whether such enactments take effect immediately or are controlled by the statute fixing the Fourth of July as the time for them to go into force. This was particularly true at the last session of some of the amendments to the election laws.

One such instance is presented by chapter 401 of the session laws, which provided that candidates for office or for nomination for office from any political division greater than a county should file their statements with the secretary of State, instead of with the county clerk. The same act amended the provisions of the law relative to election expenses and the transportation of voters to the polls. There was no provision that the act should take effect immediately, yet it was held to apply to the recent Presidetnial primaries at which its provisions were carried out.

A somewhat similar situation is presented by several of the joint resolutions of the last session. No provision was made for the immediate taking effect of the resolutions providing for the Efficiency and Economy Commission authorized to expend $5,000; the commission to vestigate tax methods authorized to expend $3,600; the Delaware River Bridge Commission authorized to expend $1,000; the Jury Commission authorized to expend $5,000, or the Morris Canal Commission authorized to expend $5,000. The Morris Canal Commission was somewhat different from the others, inasmuch as the resolution prescribed certain duties which were to be performed within fifteen days after the passage of the resolution, thus by implication, at least, raising the presumption that the enactment was to become effective immediately.

Several of the other commissions enumerated have already been appointed, have organized, and in one or two instances have undertaken the work assigned to them. If it should be held that the resolutions authorizing their existence do not take effect until tomorrow, there is a possibility of a question also being raised as to the legality of their existence. From the instances cited it appears that there is no very definite construction placed by various authorities upon the rule as to when statutes become effective.

A brief summary of the laws taking effect yesterday is appended with chapter references for the convenience of persons who may be affected thereby:

Chapter 5—Amends the factory law by requiring that proper ventilation shall be provided, and prescribes a penalty of $10 a day for failure to comply with a written notice from the department of labor after the expiration of twenty days.

Chapter 28—Amends the act concerning the adoption, custody and maintenance of minors, regulating and prescribing the rights of the adopted child.

Chapter 45—Provides that all the duties of a sheriff shall terminate with the expiration of his term of office, and requires that he shall turn over all unfinished business to his successor.

Chapter 64—Provides a penalty of $50 for impersonating a fish and game warden.

Chapter 66—Makes it a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of $200 to violate the provisions of the act of 1896, regulating fishing with shirred or purse seines and requiring a license for such fishing.

Chapter 139—Amends the act regulating the employment of inmates of penal, correctional and reformatory institutions so as not to prevent the indenture of inmates of the State homes for boys and girls.

Chapter 162—Prohibits rebating or discrimination by fire insurance companies.

Chapter 163—Makes it a misdemeanor to contribute or cause a child to become delinquent.

Requires the branding, as new or second-hand, of all mattresses, bed springs, cots, lounges or sofas, and prohibits the use of materials from private or public hospitals, or which have been about any person afflicted with infectious or contagious disease.

Chapter 188—Makes it the duty of county boards of taxation in apportioning the amount of money to be raised for State, State school or county purposes to deduct from the total valuation of any taxing district an amount represented by the reductions of the preceding year or years.

Chapter 194—Authorizes the Fish and Game Commission to appoint not more than ten additional game wardens as they may be required.

Chapter 231—The practice act recommended by the State Bar Association and designed to simplify judicial procedure in the courts of the state.

Chapter 232—Provides that a married woman may sue or be sued without joining her husband in any case in which he would be an unnecessary party if he were not her husband.

Chapter 233—Provides for the transfer causes between the Court of Chancery and the Supreme Court, or the circuit courts or courts of common pleas, instead of their dismissal for want of jurisdiction.

Chapter 239—Amends section 24 of the act respecting conveyances.

Chapter 256—Provides for the cancelation by the State Bureau of Vital Statistics of records of marriages declared null and void by the Court of Chancery.

Chapter 264—Regulates the practice of courts of law relative to service of process by the sheriff.

Chapter 265—Amends section 23 of the mechanics' lien law relative to the service of summonses.

Chapter 285—Amends section 185 of the school law relating to the custody of school funds.

Chapter 338—Makes a disorderly person any minor who misrepresents in writing his age for the purpose of procuring whisky, beer or other intoxicating liquor, and requires the keeper of every licensed place to keep a copy of the law conspicuously posted.

Chapter 351—Requires physicians to report to the State Board of Health all patients suffering from poisoning from lead, phosphorous, arsenic or mercury or their compounds, and from anthrax, compressed air illness, contracted from their occupations, and prescribes a penalty of $25 for failure. The State Board in turn is required to transmit all data obtained by it to the commissioner of labor.

Chapter 263—Provides that bottles for milk and cream shall have a capacity of half a gallon, three pints, one quart, one pint, one-half pint or one gill, and must be clearly marked with the initials or trade mark of the manufacturer. Each bottle shall have a designating number which shall be funished to the several manufacturers upon application by the state superintendent of weights and measures.

Chapter 363—Amends section 95 of the election laws of 1898 prescribing the form of statements to be made by election boards.

Chapter 400—Amends section 33 of the practice act passed earlier in the last session.

SHIRTWAIST DANCE.

Over one hundred couples attended the shirt waist dance of the T. A. B. Society Wednesday night at the T. A. B. Hall, at Fourth and Liberty street. The merrymakers enjoyed twenty dances to the tunes of all the latest Broadway hits played by Suhr's orchestra. The committee in charge was W. V. Sullivan, chairman; William Schafer, M. K. O'Keefe, Patrick Powers, George Howell and Robert Skinner.

RICHARD OSBORN BURIED.

The funeral services of Richard Osborn, colored of the West End, were held this morning at 10:30 o'clock at 200 West Second street, Rev. E. W. Robert, pastor of the Shiloh Baptist church, officiating. Interment was made at Sampton cemetery.

Dr. and Mrs. Raphael Yood have returned from their wedding trip, having spent several days at Atlantic City.

Third Party Movements In History

THE third party movement which now centers about ex-President Roosevelt cannot be fairly described as having been born at the recent Republican national convention. Whatever name it shall adopt, its true political origin seems to have been in certain tendencies within the Republican party even while Roosevelt was in the White House. Reasoning from past political movements, it may be said that there would now be either an independent third party in the field or a strong independent element or wing in the Republican party having destructive force in party councils and even in legislation.

Among the organizers of the new third party the following are announced:

Governor Hiram W. Johnson, California, chairman.
Senator Moses E. Clapp, Minnesota.
Senator Joseph M. Dixon, Montana.
Senator M. Poindexter, Washington.
Governor C. A. Aldrich, Nebraska.
Governor R. S. Vessey, South Dakota.
E. A. Van Valkenburg, editor Philadelphia North American.
Colonel W. R. Nelson, owner and publisher Kansas City Star.
Former Congressman Richmond Pearson, North Carolina.
William A. Prendergast, New York.
James R. Garfield, Ohio.
William Allen White, Kansas.
Gifford Pinchot, California.
Judge Ben B. Lindsey, Colorado.
Matthew Hale, Massachusetts.
George L. Record, New Jersey.
Charles H. Thompson, Vermont.
Colonel E. C. Carrington, Maryland.

In his first formal declaration as to the long talked of third party Roosevelt said in Chicago after the renomination of Taft:

© 1912, by American Press Association.

GOVERNOR HIRAM W. JOHNSON, ONE OF ROOSEVELT'S LEADING SUPPORTERS.

This has now become a contest which cannot be settled merely along the old party lines. The principles that are at stake are as broad and as deep as the foundations of our democracy itself.

They are in no sense sectional. They should appeal to all honest citizens east and west, north and south. They should appeal to all right thinking men, whether Republicans or Democrats, without regard to other previous party affiliations.

I feel that the time has come when not only all men who believe in progressive principles, but all men who believe in those elementary maxims of public and private morality which must underlie every form of successful free government, should join in one movement.

The first third party movement of importance in its effect on the course of national politics was the free soil movement in 1848, which soon merged with a like movement of the conscience Whigs and fed, in the swift evolution of the political life of that period, to the success of the Republican party.

The opportunity came to the Republican party in 1860 because of a new party movement which had the practical effect of a third party. This party was born of a split in the Democratic ranks upon the question of slavery. The southern element nominated John C. Breckinridge, former vice president on the Democratic ticket, and the northern element chose Senator Stephen A. Douglas. This split placed Lincoln in the White House.

Seven years after the close of the civil war when Grant ran for a second term an anti-administration element organized the Liberal Republican movement, which culminated in the disastrous candidacy of Horace Greeley.

A few years later the Populist movement came into being. It had considerable indirect influence on the course of the main parties, especially with reference to the vital issue of free silver and the continuance of paper money. In 1882 to 1884 came the independent movement, which, though avoiding separate nominations, had the practical effect of a third party and resulted in the election of Mr. Cleveland in 1884 and 1892. A like movement in the Democratic party in 1896 carried further toward separation, brought about the election of McKinley, Republican, over Bryan.

Of the above named the split in the Democratic and Whig parties that produced the Republican party, that in the Republican party which led to the election of Cleveland and that in the Democratic party which preceded the election of McKinley were independent movements based on substantial issues that have lived to influence party developments to this day.

Dr. Alfred Ellis, of Metuchen, a practicing physician, has removed to Park avenue and West Sixth street.

Mrs. F. E. Kister and children, of West End avenue, who have been spending a month with relatives in Chicago, are expected home within a few days.

Mrs. J. H. Snyder, of Manning avenue, is entertaining her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. A. Smith, of South Bethlehem, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Napenburg.

Mrs. Frederick Turner, of Philadelphia, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Maynard, of North avenue, for a week. Yesterday, Mrs. Marion Watson Rudd and daughter, Miss Jennie Rudd, of this city, assisted Mr. and Mrs. Maynard in entertaining their guest. During the day the party had an automobile ride and in the evening they enjoyed the fireworks at Parker Field.

Rev. C. C. Caine, pastor of Grace M. E. church, will speak and sing at the meeting of the Plainfield Rescue Mission at 8 o'clock tonight.

T. R. NOT TO QUIT; PLANS CAMPAIGN

Holds Long Conference With Principal Supporters.

WILL CALL CONVENTION.

Expects to Meet Provisional Committee Monday—Refers Lightly to Osborn Desertion—New Party May Be "National Progressives."

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 4.—Following a conference at his home here Colonel Roosevelt emphatically declared that the third party movement had come to stay. He denied the report that some of his supporters are about ready to quit.

"Not one of them," he said, "has the slightest idea of abandoning the cause."

This statement was made after a long conference with the inner circle of the Roosevelt leaders. Those present were Frank A. Munsey, Senator William Flinn of Pennsylvania, Senator Joseph M. Dixon, E. A. Van Valkenburg, the Philadelphia editor, and George W. Perkins. After a preliminary meeting in New York they came down together for luncheon at Sagamore Hill and spent some time with the colonel, putting the finishing touches to the plans which have been prepared for the new organization and for the new Chicago convention in August. Colonel Roosevelt said that although the call for the convention was practically ready he did not believe it would be possible to have the call out by tonight.

"In fact," he added, "I think Monday will probably be the day, for some twenty members of the provisional committee will be unable to be present in New York, and it will be necessary to put the matter up to them by telegraph."

The question of the exact name of the new party has created some confusion. Manager Dixon is inclined to allude to it as the National party. The colonel himself had evidently not given the problem of a name much thought.

"You can search me," he replied to an inquiry. "Progressive is the name that is best known. But national progressive is also a good one." It is believed that the latter name will be used in the convention call.

The statement of Governor Chase Osborn of Michigan, one of his original "seven little governors," indorsing the Wilson candidacy and denying the necessity of a third party, was waved aide by the colonel with a careless smile.

"There isn't anything new about that," he said. "I did not expect him to stick. We looked for secessions like Hadley's and Osborn's into the Republican fold on one side and into the Democratic on the other."

TRAIN WRECKS AUTO; ONE DEAD, TWO DYING

Ex-Governor Stokes' Father Is Hurt—Women Are Victims.

Camden, N. J., July 4.—Ida Adams, fourteen, was killed; her mother, Mrs. Emma Adams, and Mrs. Fanny K. Wisham were mortally injured, and Edward Stokes, father of the ex-governor of New Jersey, was seriously hurt when an automobile, in which they were driving, was struck by a Pennsylvania railroad electric train.

Mr. Stokes, who lives in Millville, drove his car to Vineland, where Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Wisham live, and with the two women and child started for a ride.

The automobile was on the railroad crossing on the Malaga turnpike when the train, which was going fast, struck it, smashing it to pieces and tossing it 100 feet from the tracks.

The train was stopped and the crew ran back. Mr. Stokes, who is seventy-three years old, was conscious and was trying to drag the wrecked automobile from the bodies of the unconscious women and child.

MEMORY FEAT OF BLIND MAN.

Can Give Populations For 285 Cities In Last Four Censuses.

New York, July 4.—The editors of the Matilda Ziegler Magazine For the Blind told of Clement E. Coffin of Brooklyn, a blind man, and his unusual feat of memorizing the population of the 285 cities of the United States which have more than 20,000 population, for the years 1910, 1900, 1890 and 1880.

In addition to telling the population of these cities, it is said, Coffin can reverse the test, and when the census figures are given, he is able to give the city that has that population. It is said that Coffin is preparing to give public exhibitions of his skill and will combine some musical acts with his memory feats.

Taft Family at Beverly.

Washington, July 4.—The president and Mrs. Taft left Washington for Beverly, Mass., where Mrs. Taft will spend the summer with her three children, Miss Helen, Robert and Charlie. Mr. Herron, brother of Mrs. Taft, accompanied the president and Mrs. Taft to Beverly and will return to Washington with the president on Monday.

A FABLE

Two Toads sat upon the bank of a stream one day waiting to cross to the other side. A large oak leaf drifted near. One of the Toads immediately jumped and landed safely upon it.

The other waited for the leaf to come a little closer, so that he might board with less trouble and without wetting his feet. But a current at this moment carried the leaf away.

The adventurous one traveled downstream until, coming within a reasonable distance of the opposite bank, he again seized his opportunity and leaped ashore.

The Toad who had been left behind seated himself upon the bank and waited patiently for a means of following his comrade, but no other floating object drifted near, not even within possible reach of the desperate leap he was now willing and anxious to make.

For many days he waited; but at last worn out with disappointment and weariness and hope deferred, the hesitating Toad died. He had never crossed the stream.

Moral: Don't you hesitate to jump Saturday.

"Get Rothberged"

ROTHBERG'S FIRST SALE

Friends and Fellow-Townsmen---When my store Opens Saturday morning, my FIRST SALE will commence. I don't think it necessary for me to go into details about the grandeur of these clothes. I have tried awfully hard to give a man the best suit of clothes that's possible for the least amount of money---AND I'VE SUCCEEDED---just as any man will who tries hard.

In the "Fable of the Toad," you know what happened to the little toadlet for not THINKING quick and ACTING quick. Heed the moral.

This Sale Will Live Long in the Memories of Those Who Appreciate a Nice Saving!

I'm not going to talk about the articles mentioned below. I feel that if they're in my stock, it's the most eloquent tribute any one can pay to them.

FOR RAILROAD STATION AND ROAD BETTERMENT

Highlands, July 5.—Besides scoring the Central Railroad for the poor condition of the station near the draw bridge here, the Board of Trade has named a committee to see State Road Commissioner Stevens in regard to straightening and repairing the East View Hill road here.

In smiting the railroad the board publicly condemned it for not living up to its agreement in installing electric lights and making sanitary the station. A committee consisting of Paul Lichtenstein, C. Mel. Johnson and Harry M. Johnson has been appointed to call upon C. P. Huntington, general manager of the Central Railroad, in reference to the matter. If the railroad company will not install the proper improvements in the station, the committee will enter their complaint to the Public Utility Commission.

The East View Hill road is in a very bad condition. Talk of straightening the road had been indulged in for some time, but it was not until the recent meeting of the board that anything definite was decided upon. A great many accidents have happened on this road, and it is for this reason that the board wants the road straightened.

County Engineer Cooper, of Red Bank, has drawn up a set of plans whereby the road can be straightened at very little expense to the county. These plans have been approved of by the county Board of Freeholders.

MELANCHOLY WOMAN HANGS SELF TO BED

Whitehouse, July 5.—When Mrs. John E. Garlow, of New York city, who was boarding at the home of George Perry at Dreahook, near Whitehouse Station, failed to respond to repeated calls for breakfast members of the household went to her room and found her dead. Some time during the night she had committed suicide by hanging herself to the foot of her bed with a cord.

Mrs. Garlow had been in poor health for several years. It is believed that she took her life during a melancholy spell. Coroner Peter Nipper, of Lebanon, granted a burial permit, not deeming an inquest necessary. Mrs. Garlow was thirty-five years old and was a native of this section. Before her marriage, she was Miss Anna Young, daughter of Jacob S. Young, a contractor and builder, of Whitehouse Station.

GOING AS MISSIONARY WITH BRIDE TO CHINA

Red Bank, July 5.—Edward Clayton, of Lincroft, has been appointed a missionary of the American Baptist Foreign Mission Society and will sail for China early in the fall, having been assigned to educational work in Hanyang, Central China. Hanyang is a city of about 150,000 population and the centre of a district containing more than 2,000,000 persons. The only Christian proselyting is carried on by twelve missionaries of the American Baptist Board. Next Saturday Mr. Clayton will be married to Miss Grace Teu, of Hamilton, N. Y., and she will accompany him to the foreign mission field.

Mr. Clayton was graduated from the Red Bank High chool in 1903. After leaving Red Bank he attended Peddie Institute, Hightstown, being graduated there in 1906. Four years later he was a member of the graduating class of Colgate University, and the following year returned to Colgate for graduate work. During the last year he has been employed as registrar and teacher in English at Peddie Institute.

Advertising Pulls—It Doesn't Jerk

That is if it is put together rightly and placed in the right mediums. Under such conditions it is certain to influence your business to the betterment of it if you will only have the courage to "keep at it."

How did John Wanamaker and our other commercial kings build up their vast enterprises? Simply by good business ability and—Advertising constantly—keeping at it. You wouldn't apply a liniment with a feather would you, you rub it in—just the same with advertising, except that you keep on rubbing it in and the harder and longer you do the rubbing the greater the returns.

We once read in a country paper the following: "If you have a prosperous business, advertise and keep it—if not advertise and get it. If you can't find the necessary time to devote to advertising your business properly phone us. We have an expert who will put up your "Copy" that will bring sure results.

BIG FIELD OUT ON P. C. C. COURSE

Four-ball Match, Sweepstakes and Other Competitions the Attractions.

LOW SCORES ARE MADE

In Approaching and Putting Contests, F. O. Reinhart Wins On Play-off—He Also Is First In the Driving Contest.

The attractive holiday schedule brought out an unusually large field at the Plainfield County Club, yesterday. All day the course was thronged with enthusiastic players and conditions were ideal for low scores. Besides the events on the golf course, there was a reception at the clubhouse in the afternoon which was enoyed by many members and their guests. Superintendent George Eke was kept very busy attending to the wants of all. There was a large number of people for lunch and dinner in the evening.

The golfing events included a four-ball match in the morning for both Classes A and B, and the play was remarkably close. In the afternoon there was sweepstakes an approaching and putting and driving contests, all attracting a great deal of interest. These scores were returned in the four-ball match:

Class A—S. H. Patterson and H. D. Hibbard, 77, 10-67; A. J. Watson and Will T. Glenney, 72, 4-68; D. O. Rogers and A. M. Collens, 80, 11-69; J. E. Erickson and Leighton Calkins, 81, 12-69; George Schoonmaker and E. T. Willson, 81, 11-70; W. Lester Glenney and F. O. Reinhart, 76, 5-71; H. T. Eaton and Paul Brooks, 83, 11-72; C. B. Morgan and M. J. Dumont, 80, 8-72; H. G. Lapsley and R. G. Morse, 89, 12-77.

Class B—Dr. F. E. DuBois and J. P. Murray, 84, 23-61; Wylie Brown and W. B. Tyler, 87, 20-67; C. M. Church and W. G. Cooke, 91, 22-69; L. H. Gates and H. E. Moore, 92, 23-69; A. E. Barclay and H. D. Rowland, 88, 19-69; A. W. Kleinecke and George S. Clay, 95, 2372; R. H. Cox and E. A. Lyon, 93, 21-72.

There was also a sweepstakes, 18 holes, medal play, handicap, in which these scores were returned:

D. O. Rogers, 80, 12-68; C. M. Church, 94, 22-72; J. R. Evans, 99, 26-73; L. S. Church, 89, 13-76; L. H. Gates, 100, 23-77; H. G. Phillips, 106, 27-79; A. M. Collens, 91, 11-80.

In the approaching and putting competition, H. D. Hibbard, Morris J. Dumont and F. O. Reinhart were tie for first place with a score of 6, and in the playoff, Mr. Reinhart won with a score of 7. H. D. Hibbard was second with an 8. Mr. Reinhart also won the driving contest. His longest drive was 296 yards and his average was 245 yards.

SWEENY'S SCORE WAS THE BEST

Many Chose to "Colonel" Bogey But He Was Only Contestant "Even Up."

AT PARK GOLF CLUB

Miss Dunham and H. H. Woodland Win the Approaching and Putting Contest—Reception Held at the Clubhouse.

The chief event at the Park Golf Club yesterday was the play for the Holiday cup, bogey handicap, 18 holes, which aroused considerable interest among the members. Among the dozen or more of the best scores returned, all were close to "colonel' bogey. Peter C. Sweeny was the only contestant that was "even up." In the afternoon there was an approaching and putting competition, in which twenty couples engaged. The popular course was thronged throughout the day.

In the afternoon a reception was held at the clubhouse, the women members being in charge. This proved a delightful feature for those at the club and a pleasing diversion from the out-of-door sports. In the play for the Holiday cup the following scores were returned for the day, it being understood that those who completed a round before 2 o'clock could play another round for the trophy:

H. H. Woodland, 8 up; J. H. Greene, Jr., 3 up; O. F. Marquard, 1 up; Peter C. Sweeny, all even; W. P. Taylor, 1 down; W. V. Byard, 1 down; H. L. Moodey, 3 down; C. B. Morse, 3 down; R. V. Carpenter, 4 down; Clarence J. Hand, 5 down; A. M. Morrell, 6 down; A. L. Schomp, 6 down; Dr. H. K. Carroll, 7 down.

Miss Irene Dunham and H. H. Woodland won the approaching and putting competition with a score of 8, while Miss Helen Ford and W. P. Taylor and Miss Helen Moodey and Charles B. Morse were tie for second place with a score of 9.

TIGERS CRUSHED BY ROYAL GIANTS

But It Took Ten Innings to Put An End to Roseville Nine's Hopes.

CREDIT IS DUE FORD

Giants' Catcher Sent One Over Short Bringing In Gardner — Good Catches By Coleman and Carter.

The Royal Colored Giants, of this city, defeated the Roseville Tigers on the Fillmore avenue grounds yesterday afternoon, by the score of 9 to 8. The score showed an 8-8 tie at the end of the ninth inning and in the tenth the Royals pulled the winning count across the rubber. Gardner led off with a pretty bunt and Carter followed with a line drive to deep center which sent Gardner to third. Ford won the game with a Texas Leaguer over short which brought Gardner in with what proved to be the winning run.

Coleman and Carter both pulled off a couple of sensational catches that pulled Thompson out of tight holes. The game was a slugging match from start to finish and in order to win the Royals had to use three pitchers against two sent in by the visitors.

GUN CLUB'S SHOOT PROVES A BIG EVENT

The biggest shoot of the year was held yesterday by the Independent Gun Club when there was twenty-five contestants in the trap-shooting events from the Pistol and Gun Club, of Newark; the Watchung Gun Club and the Independent Gun Club.

The main event of the morning was a trap shooting match between M. D. Dilts, C. W. Leonard and C. M. Mundy, all of the local club. M. D. Dilts won the match with a score of 42 out of a possible 50. In the afternoon M. Apgar, of the Pistol and Gun Club Club, of Newark, took the honors in a trap shooting match with M. D. Dilts and C. W. Mundy. C. W. Krausse, the oldest member of the Independent Gun Club, captured first place in the sweepstakes with a good margin.

TRI-STATE LEAGUE IS AFTER OTTO FREDERICKSON

Otto Frederickson, who is doing the mound work for the Plainfield baseball team, had an offer from a Tri-State League scout after his victory of yesterday morning on the Oval. In view of his youth and inexperience, however, Freddy declined the offer and says he will remain with Dorflinger for the balance of the season.

Those who have had experience in the big leagues say that this is a wise move on the part of the local boy and goes to show the amount of good common sense the lad possesses. Freddy is in constant training the year around and this together with the coaching he is picking up while playing semi-professional ball, should fit him for a favorable debut in fast company when that time arrives.

ROYAL GIANTS PLAY TOMORROW

The Royal Colored Giants, of this city, will play the Kenilworth team on the Filmore avenue grounds tomorrow afternoon at 3:30. The Giants were defeated by the visitors in their previous meeting at Kenilworth last week, and Manager Simmons, of the locals, predicts a comeback for his charges in tomorrow's game. The Giants have acquired the service of Gardner, who will from now on take charge of the coaching department of the nine. On Sunday this team will go to Newark to engage in a double bill.

The lineup for both games will be as follows: Nelson, 2b; Ford, 1b; Jones, c; Gardner, ss; Somerset, lf; Coleman, cf; Jackson, 3b; Maiden, rf; Simmons, rf; Nelson, Kline or Brown, p.

FIVE THOUSAND SPECTATORS SEE TRACK AND FIELD MEET

Jack Fritts Captures Trophy For Highest Individual Score--Ernest VanZant Another Lucky Local Athlete.

More than 5,000 people attended the first annual outdoor meet of the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. at Parker Field yesterday afternoon, where there was an entry list of of over fifty amateur athletes, representing seventeen different oragnizations. Jack Fritts, a local Y. M. C. A. boy, who ran under the colors of the Pastime A. C., of New York, proved a consistent point gainer and carried away the trophy offered for the highest individual score, by annexing two firsts, three seconds and three thirds. It was through the efforts of E. C. Ostlin and Fritts that the meet was staged and the latter's prizes were well earned.

Next to Fritts, Ernest Van Zant, of this city, and Frank Joyse, of the Mohawk A. C., were the chief point winners. They each counted for a couple of first places in a quarter of the most closely contested events of the afternoon. Joyse is the holder of the one-mile record in the Mohawk A. C. and won this event handily yesterday. He also ran a pretty race in the half-mile and breezed home an easy victor. Van Zant won the broad jump with the good jump of 19 feet 1½ inches and also took first place in the 100-yard dash for novices.

One of the best races was run by Gibbins, of the New York A. C., in the three-mile. This little fellow won one applause after another from the spectators by his remarkable running and he lapped every other man in the race, winning easily in 16 m. 27 4-5 sec. Fred Ross, who ran third in the intercollegiate races held on Franklin Field last month, took the 100-yard dash in the excellent time of 10 2-5 seconds.

No accidents occurred to mar the meet and everything was run off with clock-like precision. This reflects with credit on the officials in charge, who were all local men, and Mr. Oslin wishes to express his thanks through the columns of this paper to those who so kindly offered their services to make the affair a success.

The summary of the events is as follows:

100-yard dash (novice)—First, Ernest Van Zant, unattached; second, Frank May, unattached; third, Raymond Tool, unattached. Time, 11 1-5 sec.

100-yard dash—First, Fred Ross, unattached; second, Charles Gilmore, Cranford High School; third, Emil Lehman, Anchor A. C. Time 10 1-5 sec.

220-yard dash—First Sherman Ross, unattached; second, Emil Lehman, Anchor A. C.; third, Raymond Tool, unattached. Time, 25 sec.

440-yard dash—First Rosenson, unattached; second, Fritts, Pastime A. C.; third, Crane, Rahway High School. Time, 55 1-5 sec.

880-yard run—First, Joyce, Mohawk A. C.; second, Hersh, Elizabeth Y. M. C. A.; third, Fritts, Pastime A. C. Time, 2.06.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LEAGUE'S GAMES

All Six Teams to Play Tomorrow and There'll Be Some Excitement.

Another big day is carded for the Sunday-school League tomorrow and all six of the teams will be in action. The game that is causing the greatest amount of comment among the league followers just at present is the contest between the First Baptist and Monroe Avenue nines. The Baptist team led the league until their game with Park Avenue last week, when Hope Chapel, by virtue of their triumph over the Monroe Avenue team, rose to the top rung and are now sharing the Front Street lads' honors. In the event of Monroe Avenue scoring a defeat over the First Baptists, Hope Chapel will probably acquire a clear title to the top notch position, for she is already conceded an easy victory over the Temple Baptist bunch, who have yet to annex their initial win. The Park Avenue Baptist ball-tossers will journey to South Plainfield and if they manage to put one across on the team of that place they will add some foundation to their now shaky hold on second place. On the other hand, a win for South Plainfield will lower the Park Avenue lads to third place and the former team will climb into the position vacated by them.

The protest of the First Baptist team in regard to their game with the Park Avenue Baptist nine last Saturday will be brought before the Sunday-school League officials at their meeting tonight. The First Baptist manager enters his protest on the grounds that the diamond was too wet to play on and that the umpire should have called the game. Their seems to be little foundation for such a protest as the complainants were decisively beaten, but in the event that the officials see fit to grant it there will be some material change in the standing before the sixth round of games beginning tomorrow.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

FLYNN IS NO MATCH FOR JACK JOHNSON

White Man Continually Fouls. Police Stop Bout.

Las Vegas, N. M., July 5. — Jim Flynn's championship hope expired in the ninth round of his scheduled forty-five round bout with Champion Jack Johnson. Flynn's face was chopped and cut frightfully by Johnson's deliberate blows, and in the ninth round Captain Fred Fornoff of the New Mexican state police pushed his way to the ring and declared the contest ended as a brutal exhibition.

For three rounds Flynn had realized his inability to defend himself and frantically tried to butt his way to victory. At times he leaped a foot from the ground, endeavoring to crash his skull against the champion's jaw. Time and again Referee Smith warned him to stop, and Flynn made no defense.

VETA JR., WINS AT RED BANK

Mrs. Blackton's Hydroplane Victor on Shrewsbury River.

Red Bank, N. J., July 5.—Thousands of people from all over the country and state witnessed the first annual regatta held by the Red Bank Motor Boat club on the North Shrewsbury river. The river presented a picturesque scene with its myriads of gayly decorated rowboats and launches.

A feature of the regatta was the race over a twenty mile course between five of the fastest hydroplanes in the country.

The big race of the regatta, twenty miles, started at 2:30 o'clock between nine hydroplanes. Four hydroplanes finished in this event. The winner was the Veta, Jr., owned by Mrs. J. Stuart Blackton, wife of Commodore Blackton of the Atlantic Yacht club of New York. The Veta finished at 3:18:09. The XPDNC, owned by J. Siegel of New York, was second at 3:18:30. The Edith finished third, her finish time being 3:18:36, and the Gunfire, owned by William Brainard of the Produce exchange at New York, was fourth at 3:22.

WOLGAST GETS DECISION.

Crowd Hoots Referee, as Rivers Apparently Was Winning.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 5.—Ad Wolgast, lightweight champion, was given the decision over Joe Rivers in their fight at Vernon in the thirteenth round of the battle. Rivers had the best of the fighting much of the way, and the outcome of the fight was unpopular with the record crowd present. Referee Jack Welch gave the decision to Wolgast on a foul, though many believed that Wolgast really fouled Rivers by striking him in the groin at the instant the Mexican landed a blow on Wolgast's jaw that floored him.

Wolgast was very tired and bleeding profusely when he struck Rivers.

—Newlywed—"Have you ever thought seriously of marriage?" Singleton—"That's the trouble. If I hadn't thought so seriously of it I should probably have been married long ago."

PRO GOLFERS' TOURNEY DOWN FOR NEXT WEEK

Professional golfers intending to take part in the seventh annual open championship of the Metropolitan Golf Association, to be held next week at Apawamis, are warned that the time for the closing of entries is close at hand. W. D. Vanderpool, the secretary, calls attention to the fact that entries close with him at noon on Friday. There is a $5 fee and no entry will be accepted unless accompanied by the amount mentioned. Although the 'pros" generally have matters pretty much their own way in these affairs, the chances are that the amateur element will be more prominent at Apawamis than usual.

A year ago Oswald Kirby got in the prize list of the M. G. A. open at Englewood, and it is reasonable to suppose he will be able to make an equally good showing this time. He intends to play at Apawamis, and not long since Jerome D. Travers also declared his intention of doing likewise. An opportunity will be offered to see these experts in action on Tuesday in the four-ball tournament, when they will be paired with well-known professionals. There will be no entrance fee for the four-ball competition, which will be under the auspices of the Apawamis Club.

JOHNNY KILBANE WINS.

Many Women See Him Outpoint Tommy Dixon.

Cleveland, July 5.—Johnny Kilbane, lightweight champion, defended his title by earning a decision over Tommy Dixon in a twelve round battle here at the Luna Park motordome. The bout was one of the most classy boxing exhibitions in this vicinity. Although Kilbane did not have a walkaway he clearly outpointed his opponent, having the better of the going in a large majority of the rounds.

Kilbane drew first blood, cutting Dixon's mouth in the fourth round. Fully 5,000 people attended the bout, among them being several hundred women.

OPEN TENNIS TOURNAMENT.

The annual tournament for the lawn tennis championship of Plainfield, open to all residents of Plainfield and North Plainfield, will begin on the courts of the Plainfield Country Club tomorrow afternoon. This event always attracts a large entry of players and brings the first half of the competition season to a close. Play will start at 2:30 p. m., and all matches except the final will be the best two out of three advantage sets. The semi-finals and finals will be played on the following Saturday, July 13. Entries close at 8:15 tonight, and can be sent to any member of the tennis committee, or to S. W. Merrihew, chairman, 1016 South avenue, Plainfield; 'Phone 798-J.

EDDIE STALLINGS DRIVES HOME RUN

He Contributed the Lone Feature In the 'Plains-Plainfield Contest.

DEFEAT FOR INVADERS

Wiltse Found Early in the Game By Local Batters, Who Reach Him For Fourteen Hits—The Score 11 to 2.

History repeated itself again on Crescent Oval yesterday afternoon when the Plainfield team again sent the Scotch Plains invaders down to defeat by an 11 to 2 score. The game was one-sided throughout the whole nine rounds and the monotony of the afternoon was broken only by Eddie Stallings' circuit clout in the second inning.

The local lads hit the offerings of Wiltse at will and amassed a total of fourteen lusty hits. Nelson registered up a quartet of these while Harter and Emery were close runners up with a trio apiece. Ortlieb's debut in a Plainfield uniform was an impressive one as he allowed but seven scattered hits and caused five hopefuls to fan in the air.

Wiltse, on the other hand, was a trifle wild, and this added to the faltering support accorded him by his backers, made it easy going for the locals. The Scotch Plains twirler was the star at the bat for his team getting a couple of healthy wallops out of the ball.

WON MIXED DOUBLES AT THE COUNTRY CLUB

Miss Edith Beers and Albert D. Beers won the mixed doubles tennis championship at the Plainfield Country Club, yesterday, by defeating Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Collens in the finals, 6-3, 3-6, 9-7. The play was watched by a large gallery of people and frequent applause greeted the contestants.

Miss Beers and Mr. Beers won their right to contest for the finals by defeating Mrs. Morris J. Dumont and Will T. Glenney in the semi-finals on Saturday. There were in all eleven pairs in this tournament.

SAILORS BEATEN IN EASY FASHION

Tars From Uncle Sam's Michigan Are Mesmerized by Frederickson's Twirling.

SCORE IS NINE TO TWO

E. and W. Stallings, Harter & Dalton Do Good Work With the Stick—Moore Gets a Single and a Two-Bagger.

The sailors of the U. S. S. Michigan proved to be easy picking for the Plainfield Baseball Club baseball-tossers, being walloped to the tune of 9 to 2 in yesterday morning's fray on the Oval. It was the old story over again; just a case of too much Freddy, which is getting to be a common complaint among visiting teams. The Plainfield twirler allowed but six scattered bingles and anchored ten of the tars at the plate with three strikes. Rice, on the other hand, was hit freely when hits meant runs and was a trifle wild in his delivery. Six of the locals thirteen hits were for extra bases and helped materially in the run getting.

The visitors got a lead on the locals in the scoring line when they pushed one of their duet of runs across the rubber in the initial round. The home boys were unable to tie the score in their half of the first but evened up matters in the second. In the fifth, seventh and eighth stanzas the Plainfield bunch got to Rice with full sails to the wind, and pushed a total of seven counts over on him.

The same old reliable quartet of batters, E. Stallings, Harter, Dalton and W. Stallings, kept up their reputation by chalking up two healthy hits apiece off the offerings of Rice. Moore was the star at the bat for the tars, pounding out a single and a two-bagger.

Plenty of holiday enthusiasm was displayed at the game which was played in the remarkable time of 1 hour and 45 minutes.

PRIZES AWAIT THEM.

E. C. Ostlin, physical director of the Y. M. C. A., has prizes at his office in the Y. M. C. A., belonging to several of the athletes who took part in yesterday's meet and will be glad to turn them over to the winners if they will call before tomorrow morning. Among the prizes left is a medal for third place in the running broad jump, which was won by A. Traveenen, unattached; a medal for third place in the three-mile run, won by Alfred Manley; and a silver medal for second place in the running high jump, which is the property of Franklin Newell.

TWO CRACK TWIRLERS IN TOMORROW'S GAME

Louis Slocum and Otto Frederickson, two young strike-out phenoms, will again oppose each other in a pitcher's duel on the Oval tomorrow afternoon. Frederickson will occupy the mound for the invincible Plainfield nine, while Slocum will be seen in a Bound Brook uniform. This is not the first meeting of these two rivals on the Oval this year for Freddy pitched the locals to victory over the Scotch Plains nine earlier in the season, when Lou was under contract with the latter team. On this occasion, both youngsters displayed gilt-edged ball, and it was no disgrace for Slocum to yield to the heavy hitting Plainfielders.

A great deal of good natured, personal rivalry exists between these two youngsters, who are the warmest of chums both on and off the diamond. In their last meeting on the Oval both twirlers were seen warming up with the same catcher and Freddy holds frequent practice sessions on the lawn of Slocum's home on Central avenue. When seen together by a Daily Press reporter the other night both youngsters had a great number of confidential remarks to make about their chances on Saturday. Freddy said, "Lou, I am going to get you this time worse than I did before. I have mastered a new delivery and have been receiving some valuable advice and coaching from one who has worked behind some of the best pitchers who have ever played the game."

Slocum, on the other hand, was equally confident and said, "I will have a team of hitters behind me Saturday which I did not have at my last appearance on the Oval. About the only thing remaining for me to do is to take care of the Plainfield swatsmiths and my backers are well able to pound on a decisive victory. My control is better than at any time since I have been in the game and every man who faces me will either have to clout the ball or strike out. There will be no free tickets on Saturday."

Both of the youngsters had a great deal more to say but this was the substance of their remarks. Slocum is working hard for his coming battle and can be seen any morning warming up on the front lawn of his home with his midget catcher.

Freddy does not have as much time for practice as his chum, because his time is pretty well filled in during the day with his draughting trade.

Tomorrow's game promises to be one of the fastest staged on the Oval this seaason, and aside from the personal battle between the two mpundsmen, Plainfield is still smarting under the 5 to 1 beating Bound Brook handed her earlier in the season and is out for a large portion of revenge.

Plainfield will lineup as follows:

Cosgrove, rf; E. Stallings, lf; Harter, cf; Dalton, 3b; W. Stallings, 2b; Driscoll, 1b; Emery, ss; Nelson, c; Frederickson, p.

LEAGUE TEAMS STRUGGLE IS HOT

Enthusiasm at High Pitch and Close Contests Are Expected Tomorrow.

As a result of a general shakeup in the Manufacturers' League standing, occasioned by the defeat of the Commercial nine at the hands of the Spicer bunch, the enthusiasm is now running at a high pitch and all the teams are conceded to have some chance of landing the cup, offered by the Daily Press for first place in the final league standing. The Spicer team now appears to have struck its winning stride and a victory over the strong R. G. E. bunch will cause quite a rise in Spicer stock. With the help of the Spicers last week the R. G. E. combination were enabled to rise to the top of the league ladder, but the Spicer followers say that they will have to go some tomorrow in order to maintain their one game lead. The Commercials will probably be given an opportunity to regain one of their two losses when they hook up with the Saurer nine. The Banks, after a layoff of one week, will try to get back in the game by taking one out of the P. S. C., who are at present traveling pennant-ward and who say they will have little trouble in defeating the coin chasers tomorrow.

Frank Evans' of the Public Service team, will probably be out of the game for some time to come and his snappy fielding and consistent hitting will be keenly missed by his teammates. Evans was injured in last week's contest with the R. G. E. nine, while sliding to third base and will probably be laid up for at least two weeks.

41 KILLED AS TRAINS COLLIDE

Of Fifty Injured Some May Die.

FOG ENVELOPS SIGNAL

Many Passengers Asleep When Death Comes.

LACKAWANNA'S WORST WRECK

Express Going Sixty Miles an Hour Plows Into Stalled Excursion Train Near Corning, N. Y.

Corning, N. Y., July 5.—All day today morbid crowds visited the spot, two miles from here, where, in the early dawn yesterday, forty-one persons met death and more than fifty were injured in a tail end collision between the Buffalo limited of the Lackawanna railroad and an express train. There was a dense fog at the time of the accident.

Official List of Dead.

William Armstrong, carpenter, company employee, Hoboken.
Mrs. William Armstrong, wife of above.
Mrs. Charles Brandes, New York city.
E. C. Pratt, Buffalo.
John E. Zimmer, Scranton.
George Lacid, Brooklyn.
James Smith, Pullman porter, Newark.
Ellis V. Ivy, Suffolk, Va.
Mrs. A. Lowry, Newark.
Ernest Schultz, Buffalo.
Miss Edith A. Hess, Scranton.
Mrs. Anna H. Jones, Scranton.
Anthony Novak, Carteret, N. J.
Lillian Reynolds, Brooklyn.
Mrs. Lucy Setteducati, New York.
Cholter Paulonski, no address.
Anthony Nelson, no address (had ticket New York to Buffalo).
Charles Brandes, New York city (died in hospital).
Herman Duyak, Newark (died in hospital).
Twenty-two other bodies have not been officially identified.

The Injured.

Among the injured are:

Robert J. Anderson, Newark, N. J.
Wolf Adams, New York.
Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Case, Brooklyn, slightly.
Henry L. and Miss Marie Falco, Brooklyn.
Emma B. Hawkins, Brooklyn.
E. D. Nestor and wife, New York, slightly.
Charles Lorenzo, New York, slightly.
Mrs. Mary McKee, Newark, N. J., seriously.
George Walters, East Orange, N. J., slightly.
William Nesserole, Brooklyn, slightly.
Mrs. E. C. Perrin, Yonkers, N. Y.
Mrs. Moeschler, New York

Trainmen say that this loss of life was caused by the carelessness of the engineer of the express train, who ran at a terrific rate of speed past a frantically signaling flagman and the warning of a dropped semaphore arm into the passenger train standing still upon the track with its hundred or so sleeping passengers.

The dead, which filled to overflowing the morgues of the little town, are in many instances so frightfully mangled that identification is almost impossible.

The engine of the express train ripped its way through the two day coaches in the rear, killing instantly every one in them; plowed on through half of a steel Pullman, throwing the sleeping car off the track, and then came to a standstill with the green carpet of the Pullman flung about its pilot. The engineer, who is blamed by the authorities for the accident, jumped before the crash came. He sat on a rail high up on a hill near the scene of the accident watching in a dazed way the wrecking crews at work.

Loaded With Excursionists.

The accident occurred at 5:15 o'clock, and it was not until long after 9 o'clock that the last body was taken in an ambulance to Corning.

The Buffalo limited left New York at 8:45 o'clock Wednesday evening, loaded with passengers bound for resorts up state. She left Elmira at 4:25 with Engineer Jacob Dennison at the throttle of the first two heavy engines that were to bring her up the Gibson cut to Corning. A heavy fog overhung the valley of the peaceful little Chemung river, along whose banks the big engines were rolling, and Dennison, from his cab window, was unable to see more than two train lengths down the track. At the Gibson narrows the click of the semaphore arm warned Dennison that there was trouble ahead. Conductor Horace Staple from Binghamton ran up the track to find a disabled freight train a short distance ahead of the Lackawanna flier standing still in distress.

—Strangely enough, it's the blunt people who come straight to the point.

She had a drawhead broken and was stalled.

Dennison left his relay engine and in his own rode on to nose the stranded freight up a siding between the east and west bound tracks and leave a clear road to Buffalo.

In the meantime the Buffalo limited stood behind her one engine for so long a period that the passengers sprawled out across the uncomfortable benches of the day coaches in the rear and began to wonder what was keeping them. They must have been in the fog by the river bank for ten minutes when George Reynolds went out on the back platform to smoke. His wife remained in the car. As he looked back into the smoker he heard high up the click of the semaphore dropping a projecting arm behind the standing train. Mr. Reynolds says he saw no flagman. As Mr. Reynolds flung away his cigarette out of the gray over his head he glimpsed a flying smokestack. It was a few feet away when he jumped sideways from the platform and went rolling down the embankment unscathed. Then minutes later Mr. Reynolds was running up and down beside the mass of splinters, steel and broken glass, begging the rescuers to save the life of his wife penned beneath tons of wreckage.

Engineer Stands Dazed.

The engine that Reynolds had seen from the back platform was that drawing train No. 11, composed of several express cars which had been made up at Hoboken and which makes the speed of a passenger train. Engineer William Schroeder of Buffalo was at the throttle. He told several witnesses after the wreck that he had seen no flagman and that he had not noticed the semaphore a half a mile down the track and only a hundred yards behind the stalled passenger train. He jumped just before the impact. Upon the embankment Reynolds and a few who had escaped with him stood dazed, looking at a cloud of smoke.

William H. Wall, a detective of New York, although his arm was fractured, managed to tie it up in a sling and with two other men went to work pulling beams off the backs of two women that had been caught in the berth beneath him. He got them out and then saw the hand of a man stuck out of the wreckage below him. The man was Dr. Ellis Vandersllce Ivy, a young interne at Bellevue hospital.

When Wall and the other rescurers came upon the physician he told them not to mind him, but to get the women out. The top of his skull had been crushed in, but he was still conscious. They got him out, however, and he was put on a farm wagon, turned for the time being into an ambulance, and taken to Corning.

Farm wagons and three ambulances from the three Corning undertaking establishments served to remove the dead and injured. Rev. Dr. J. T. Cassiday of Mary's church at Corning was in and about the wreckage giving last rites to the dying. He had to crawl on his hands and knees to reach one party of six men and a woman. Five of the men and the woman died while the sacrament was being administered. The women in the sleeper were in a pitiable condition

The railroad places the blame for the accident on Schroeder, the engineer of train No. 11. Schroeder is a veteran engineer, long with the road, and looked up to as a crack driver.

GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER.

Mate Killed Captain In Presence of Wife and Child.

Evansville, Ind., July 5.—William Carroll of Paducah, Ky., mate of the steamboat Lida, was found guilty of manslaughter. He killed Captain W. T. Howell of the steamboat Kenois at the local wharf May 3.

Howell was shot in the presence of his wife and ten-year-old son. The boy obtained his father's revolver and tried to kill Carroll.

Weather Forecast.

Unsettled, with showers today and probably tomorrow; no decided change in temperature; moderate southerly winds.

WILSON SHOWS HE IS REAL LEADER

Mack Quickly Bows to Will of Nominee.

CHICAGO GETS MEETING.

Arranged by Mr. Mack to Hold Session of National Committee in New York. Wilson Vetoes Plan, and on His Suggestion Chicago Is Selected.

Sea Girt, N. J., July 5.—A little excitement which happened here shows that Governor Woodrow Wilson intends to boss his own campaign. Norman E. Mack, chairman of the Democratic national committee, suddenly left the crowd on the lawn of the little white house.

"The Democratic national committee will meet in New York city July 15," Mr. Mack announced.

"No," said Mr. Mack. "It's all settled—New York, noon, July 15."

"If you would come to French Lick," called out Thomas Taggart of Indiana, "I'll pay all expenses," and then Mr. Taggart paused. "Say, Norman," he whispered, jerking his head in the direction of the big front veranda of the summer home of New Jersey's chief executive, "hadn't you better speak to him about it?" accenting the "him."

"That's so," said Mr. Mack with a start, and he straightway dashed up the steps. Five minutes later Mr. Mack made another announcement. "The Democratic national committee will meet at Chicago at the Congress hotel at noon July 15."

This was the recognition of Woodrow Wilson, governor of New Jersey, nominee for the presidency, as not only the standard bearer, but the real leader, the boss of the Democratic party of the United States, this season. At that time also the committee will choose an executive committee wheih will be an advisory board.

The Democratic national committee came to Sea Girt to extend their congratulations. On the way up the the committeemen among themselves discussed the plan of campaign, but about ten minutes after the committee arrived all of those little train plans and all other plans were carefully laid away.

"He's the boss," said Thomas Taggart of Indiana. "He's the boss now, and he will continue to be the boss for the next four years, no matter how the election goes."

The committee heard with interest that Ollie James will arrive at Sea Girt today or Saturday to arrange for the notification meeting. They also heard that the governor will deliver a speech of acceptance and will supplement it with a letter when the time comes. The governor will have had time to meet Governor Marshall, his running mate, on his trip west.

Charles W. Bryan, brother of the Lincoln statesman, was here and talked to the governor alone for an hour. When A. Mitchell Palmer of Pennsylvania greeted the governor the governor not only shook hands with him, but clapped him on the shoulder. The governor also had a warm greeting for former Governor John E. Osborne of Wyoming.

VANIMAN'S BODY BORNE OUT TO SEA

That Is Belief of Atlantic City Searchers.

SEAT OF CAR IS LOCATED.

Over Half of Ill Fated Craft Is Now Visible at Low Tide, and Hundreds Are Taken Out by Boatmen, Who Get Fancy Prices For Work.

Atlantic City, N. J., July 5.—Belief that the body of Melvin Vaniman, commander of the dirigible Akron, exploded in midair on Tuesday, killing him and his crew of four, has been dislodged by dynamite explosions made by divers and has been carried out to sea, became general here when a party of yachtsmen pulled the entire prow of the "car" to the surface. They found the steering gear and the seat used by the navigator but no trace of the body.

These have been brought ashore and were examined by hundreds of the curious when placed on display at the inlet. Professional divers and wreckers made no attempt to recover the remains, but will take up the search today. Over half of the "car" is now visible at low tide, showing the section where Walter Guest, who took charge of the supplementary steering apparatus, was stationed as long as the figures aboard the ill fated craft were in sight from shore.

Hundreds visited the wreck. Yachts sailing from the inlet took out load after load of excursionists and got their own price, so great was the demand for seats.

—All the pull in the world wouldn't pull some fellows together.

MISS MARY L. DUKE.

Heiress Once Reported Engaged to Prince Who Tries Suicide.

Prince Ludovic Pignatelli, reputed a distant relation of the king of Spain, has shot himself as a consequence, it is said, of disappointment in his suit for the hand of an American girl. The prince is well known to many Americans both in Paris and in New York, where he was at one time reported engaged to Miss Mary L. Duke, daughter of Benjamin N. Duke and heiress to $60,000,000.

FALLS 1,200 FEET TO DEATH IN PARACHUTE

Holiday Crowd of 20,000 Sees Performer Killed.

Belleville, N. J., July 5.—In full view of 20,000 persons gathered in Hillside park, near here, Tom Moore, who has done parachute drops at the park for the past five seasons, fell from the bar of his parachute and was dashed to death, 1,200 feet below. He had been sitting on the bar of the parachute and in some way lost his balance. Before the ascent he had refused to put on a life belt.

Moore's home was in Jacksonville, Fla. For five summers he has done drops at the park. He was twenty-five years old and was unmarried. The crowd at the park broke records, and when Moore and his partner, William C. Gillen of Harrison, stepped in the balloon which was to take them up the feature of the day began.

William Thaler, manager of the park, saw that Moore had no life belt on, and he remonstrated with him. Moore laughed and said it wasn't necessary. The balloon was cut loose, and it rose rapidly. It went up and out 3,000 feet, and then Gillen cut loose. After he had shot rapidly toward the ground for several hundred feet his spread was checked, and he began to sail slowly downward.

Moore stayed in the balloon until he reached a height of about 3,500 feet. He was scheduled to make a triple drop. There were three parachutes on his bar, and he was to open one, sail on that some distance, cut it loose, sail with another, cut it loose and reach the ground on the last sail.

The string of parachutes was cut loose with Moore sitting on the bar. The second parachute had opened up and he was sailing downward nicely when suddenly he pitched backward from the bar and fell headlong.

SLAYER GETS FIFTEEN YEARS

Killed Boarding Mistress Under Influence of Liquor.

Camden, N. J., July 5.—Accepting a plea of non vult, Supreme Court Justice Garrison in this city imposed an indeterminate sentence of from fifteen to thirty years on William Graedwell, the man who brained with an ax Mrs. Georgianna Gilliland, his boarding mistress, who lived in Cooper street, East Camden. The plea was accepted because Graedwell is thought to be mentally unbalanced, but not sufficiently so to require his incarceration in an asylum. He was represented by former Judge Joline by assignment.

It was on Feb. 25 last that Graedwell returned home under the influence of drink and killed her following a quarrel. While her little granddaughter lay beside her Graedwell procured a double edged ax and struck the woman a blow which caused almost instant death.

Man Dying of Bee Sting.

Phillipsburg, N. J., July 5.—John Bird, sixty years of age, is dying at his home at Verney, near here, from a bee sting. He was stung by the insect on the back of the neck several days ago while building a fence. Immediately his body, hands and legs began swelling, and since then his tongue has become swollen to such an extent that he is speechless.

WHAT TO WEAR.

Satin Flowers Used as Neck Pins—Collarless Gowns.

A large La France rose of pink satin is worn where the collar fastens in front.

The collarless gown is just as much favored as the model with the sheer yoke and stock.

GOWN OF INDIA MUSLIN.

Clematis blue, which shades on the purple, and a violet of a twilight tint are used for evening gowns.

In the new blouse fullness is introduced at the elbows by means of puffed undersleeves of net or lace.

Silk so thin and light that it is as cool as india muslin itself is a feature of the present season, and this gown shows it combined with lace in a most attractive fashion.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

These May Manton patterns are cut in sizes for the blouse from 34 to 42 inches bust measure and for the skirt from 22 to 30 inches waist measure. Send 10 cents each for these patterns to this office, giving numbers, skirt 7462 and the blouse 7323, and they will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

FRESH SALMON.

IF you can get fresh salmon you are fortunate in these days of high priced meat, for salmon is one of the most nutritive of flesh foods.

Served With Tartare Sauce.

Grilled Salmon.—Cut the salmon into slices about an inch thick, brush them over with salad oil and broil gently over a clear fire. Turn the slices every five minutes. They will take about twenty minutes to cook. When done the fish may be pressed from the bone. Serve with tartare sauce.

Rich and Pungent.

Salmon Cutlets.—Cut salmon into slices about an inch thick, dip each in equal quantities of flour and curry powder mixed and fry in hot fat.

Serve with curry sauce made as follows: Fry a sliced onion in an ounce of dripping or butter, add a dessertspoonful each of flour and curry powder and fry for a few minutes. Pour in half a pint of stock and boil till the sauce thickens. Season and serve with the cutlets.

Boiling the Steak.

Boiled Salmon.—Butter a piece of cheesecloth large enough to hold a slice of salmon. Tie the cloth at the corners and lower it into a saucepan containing enough lukewarm water to cover the fish. Add a teaspoonful of salt, cover the saucepan and bring to the boiling point. Then let cook six or eight minutes. Lift from the water; let drain well, then remove to a plate and turn the fish unto a hot, folded napkin set on a hot plate.

A thick piece of salmon weighing two or three pounds should be cooked nearly half an hour.

Serve with boiled potato and egg or caper sauce.

For Delicate Palates.

Salmon With Bernaise Sauce.—Put salmon steaks into a marinade consisting of a tablespoonful each of olive oil, lemon juice, onion juice, a branch of parsley, a teaspoonful of salt and half a teaspoonful of pepper. Let them stand for an hour, turning them occasionally. Then place them on a broiler and let them broil for six minutes on each side. Decorate with a little parsley and serve with bernaise sauce.

As Highlanders Like Them.

Scotch Salmon.—Cut steaks of salmon about three-quarters of an inch thick. Mix together two tablespoonfuls of flour, two teaspoonfuls of salt and one teaspoonful of pepper. Dip each side of the fish in this mixture.

Beat up an egg; brush the steaks with it. Then cover them with coarse Scotch oatmeal in the same way as crumbs are used. Again brush the steaks with the egg and cover with the oatmeal. Then fry in boiling fat until they are a pretty brown, drain well on paper and serve garnished with fried parsley.

FOR OUTING WEAR.

The Summer Coat of Reversible Material.

SMART COAT FOR OUTING USE.

These breezy coats of reversible woolen fabric are particularly smart and comfortable for outing use. The striped reverse side shows on the turned back collar and cuffs. The coat buttons snugly to the throat in the new fashion.

Japanese Teapots.

In Japan teapots may be had in any shape, in any design, at any price. One model is a huge caldron-like affair that will hold three gallons, while others are so small that a thimbleful may be said almost to make them overflow.

The Japanese have teapots in the shape of birds, beasts and fowls. Fishes and frogs have lent their forms to others. A beetle design is very popular, as is one depicting a fat, squirming eel. Buddha himself has been pressed into service as a model. Swans, correct to the last curl of neck and feathers, form teapots so small that they can be hidden in the palm of the hand. There are lotus bud pots and pots in the shape of tea houses.

All manner of materials are included in the composition. Inlaid silver, hammered copper, iron exquisitely wrought and all the different kinds of Japanese pottery have been used in the manufacture of teapots. Several favorite designs bring $100 apiece, but so cheap is artistic handwork in the far east that many others may be bought for a few cents.

A Charity Box.

Take an old trunk or large box and call it your charity box. Into it put all the articles with which you have finished—pictures, magazines, books to read and old ones for scrap books, pretty cards, clothing and all sorts of wearing apparel, pieces of silk, cloth and lace for dolls' clothing, envelopes with foreign stamps, all the little things you have finished with. Every once in awhile go through it and dispose of its articles to orphan asylums, hospitals, etc. Then when you are called on for contributions to rummage sales all you have to do is go to the box and not have to "rummage" around.

New Bridge Accessories.

The woman or man who does not play bridge nowadays stands out as an almost unique personality, so universal has it become as a popular form of entertainment, and so there have appeared upon the market many new ideas pertaining to the game. A machine has been invented to deal the cards, thus saving the dealer any extra exertion. A pack of cards is placed in the machine, the dealer turns a crank, and the cards are distributed.

Little Boy's Lesson.

See the little birds' nest
In the apple tree.
Hair and straw and leaves together,
Woven close 'gainst wind and weather,
Pretty as can be.
Little boy, and could you make it?
No? Then look you do not break it!

See the tiny ant hill
Close beside the way.
Here the ants, so small and strong,
Busy, busy, all day long,
Live and work away.
Little boy, and could you make it?
No? Then look you do not break it!

See the lovely flower
Blooming sweet and fair,
Peeping out through leaves and grass,
Giving joy to all who pass
By its beauty rare.
Little boy, and could you make it?
No? Then look you do not break it!

Woman's World

Mrs. Blaney Delegate to Republican National Convention.

MRS. CHARLES D. BLANEY.

As a result of the recent "votes for women" victory in California Mrs. Charles Duchesne Blaney has been chosen as one of the four women delegates to the Republican national convention. Her home is in Saratoga, Santa Clara county.

What Women Are Doing.

Miss Mary M. Pillsbury is in charge of one of the most unusual libraries in the world. This library is in a small building on Mount Vernon street, Boston, and the books are lent to clergymen exclusively. The library is entirely religious and theological. The books are sent to any minister in any hamlet or city in any of the six New England states. Of the 7,000 ministers in New England more than 2,000 are regular patrons of the library.

The books appeal to all denominations. During the past year the Congregational and the Methodist borrowers numbered 500 each, the Baptists more than 300 and the Episcopalians more than 200. Two Lutherans take the books continuously, three Adventists and twelve Friends. Books on social questions are said to be by far the most in demand among ministers; next come biographies with works on pure theology near the bottom of a fairly long list.

Mrs. Scott Hopkins is the president of the Woman's Kansas Day club, through whose leadership a monument to the pioneers of the Sante Fe trail has just been erected at Great Bend, Kan. At their annual meeting in 1908 the members of the Day club decided to acquire Pawnee rock as a site for the proposed monument. One year later they presented the rock, with five acres of land about it and a road leading up to it, to the state. Pawnee rock is flanked by the old Sante Fe trail. It is fifty feet high, and the monument, which is a granite shaft of twenty-eight feet, surmounts the apex, being imbedded in the rock. The Day club was assisted in erecting this monument by the Daughters of the American Revolution, the Woman's Relief corps, the State Federation of Women's Clubs and the Women's Christian Temperance union.

The Extreme Suffragette.

Three Year Old—Mamma, I want some crackers and jam!

Mother—No, dearie; you can't have any more until Mrs. Pankhurst is out of jail.

Grown Son—This motorcoat of mine is a disgrace to the family. Guess I'll go out and look at some English tweeds.

Mother—English tweeds! Horrors, Harold! You wouldn't be so disloyal! There's only nine months to wait.

Grown Daughter—Mother, I saw a duck of a hand bag downtown today—London make. I think I'll buy it tomorrow.

Mother—Oh, my daughter! How can you give in so to your personal vanity while that martyr is suffering?

Father—But, see here, Mrs. Suffragette, I was just dickering for a swell set of dinner dishes for you—best English make. Your birthday comes next week.

Mother (wildly)—Give it to me for Christmas! I can't take it now. Maybe she'll be out of jail by then for good behavior.

Frills of the Moment.

Even when girls giggle they say, "Hehe!"

No woman makes a fool of a man. The process is always automatic.

Most of the men are ready to furnish the whip to be driven to drink.

Why is it that you never hear of men suing for breach of promise?

She wants him to be a hero, but to take no chances of getting hurt.

If she could select his clothes he would always match the carpet in the sitting room.

It is not an extraordinarily vain man who will not admit that his wife can sweep better than he.

TOBACCO A CURSE JEFFREYS SAYS

Anti-Cigarette League Secretary Warns of Effect of Nicotine on the System.

ATHLETES TESTIMONY

He Quotes "Home Run" Baker Who Advises Boys not to Smoke nor Drink—Millions Are Spent Annually on Tobacco.

Before an audience of boys at the Y. M. C. A. parlors this morning, James J. Jeffreys, field secretary of the Anti-Cigarette League of America, gave a short talk on the evils of the tobacco habit. He referred to it as the worst curse of modern civilization and quoted the following statistics to show the consummation in the United States.

"The consumers of chewing and smoking tobacco, in 1908, paid as a tax into the United States treasury at the rate of $54,984 per day. They more than paid the sailors of the United States Navy."

"A brand new Panama Canal could be built each year for the money that is reduced to ashes between the lips of American cigar smokers."

"The census report shows that the consummation of cigars since 1860 has increased twenty-fold, while the population has increased only two fold. Every year our cigar bill increases another thirty million dollars."

Mr. Jeffrey, who is in every day life a locomotive engineer, has made a careful study of the tobacco habit and has examined some of the best athletes of the country during his investigations. He reviewed a talk he had with "Home Run Baker," the star batter of the Philadelphia Athletics. Baker says: "I don't drink nor smoke. Never did drink nor smoke. If any youngster wants advice from one who doesn't mean to preach, there it is. Leave cigarettes and tobacco in any form alone, and don't touch 'booze' now or at any time. It's the usual advice and doesn't carry much weight as a rule, coming from a ball player it may mean a little more to the American boy. Mine is the total abstinence platform for both liquor and tobacco."

Mr. Jeffreys outlined the effect of nicotine on the average boy and said that it caused a youth to be undersized, weazened, unkempt, shallow and subject to frequent attacks of illness.

The speaker told of the world wide crusade the league is pursuing against the use of tobacco in any form. The secretary travels about the country, in the interests of the organization of which he is secretary, enlisting boys and men in the cause.

SUMMER SCHOOL TO OPEN MONDAY MORNING

Plainfield's Summer School, conducted by the Board of Education, will open Monday morning at 8 o'clock. Classes for the Grammar grades will meet in the Whittier School and those for the High School at the Stillman School.

Dr. H. M. Maxson, superintendent of schools, wishes it understood that only those pupils will be received who are deficient in some subject and wish to make up, or who are new comers in the city and wish to get their location in the school determined.

AT GRACE M. E.

The bi-monthly communion service by baptism and the reception of new members at Grace M. E. church will be held at 11 o'clock, immediately after the regular Sunday-school hour, which starts at 9:45 o'clock. The evening service will be in charge of the Women's Home Missionary Society. Miss Jessie M. Newland, superintendent of the Deaconess Home of Newark, will be the chief speaker. There will be no regular meetings of the Epworth League during the months of July and August. The official board is planning a lawn festival for Thursday, July 18. Dr. H. K. Carroll will be chairman of the committee in charge.

PARTY FOR MISS CONNOLLY.

Miss Catherine Connolly, of 666 West Fourth street, was given a surprise party at her home, Thursday afternoon, in honor of the twelfth anniversary of her birthday. Games were played and refreshments served. Among those present were the Misses Mary Harrington, Mary Mack, Helen Mack, Catherine McCue, Anna Welsh, Anna and Catherine Harrington, Mary Connolly, Beatrice Deacy, Sarah Doyle and John Harrington, John Connolly, Edward McCue and Thomas Connolly.

SATURDAY MORNING IN THE POLICE COURT

Colored Youths Plead Guilty to Theft—Fighters Fined—Negress was Profane.

The adjourned cases of Fortuno Sweeney and John Sweeney, two colored boys living at 554 West Third street, arrested for stealing a number of electrical appliances from the railroad signalling apparatus of the Jersey Central Railroad at Grant avenue last Saturday night, came up before City Judge William G. DeMeza this morning. The boys pleaded guilty and were placed in the custody of the probation officer, Major Irwin. Charles Fay, of 516 West Third street, who admitted having received two automobile lamps from the boys, denied any knowledge of their being stolen. He was discharged.

James Ennis, of East Front street, and Francis Casey, of West Second street, were arraigned on a charge of disorderly conduct by fighting. They pleaded not guilty through their counsel, Francis J. Blatz. The complainant was Edward Stenzenberger, of East Third street. From the evidence of the plaintiff it appeared that the quarrel originated in some family trouble for which Ennis took Stenzenberger to task, calling him off his wagon last night and beating him up. In this job he was assisted by Casey. The defence was a complete denial of this testimony. Judge DeMeza gave both parties a good talking to and imposed a suspended sentence of $10 or in default 40 days imprisonment on Ennis and Casey.

Mary Johnson, colored, of West Second street, summoned Eliza Brown, colored, of the same locality, for using profane language. The case was dismissed.

FREE ILLUSTRATED TALK ON MOSQUITO CAMPAIGN

The Plainfield Medical Association becoming interested in the war to be waged against the pestiferous mosquito, and wishing to assist the Union County Mosquito Commission in its campaign of extermination of the pest, has arranged for a free illustrated lecture with beautiful lantern views.

These slides which will be displayed by Dr. E. A. Ayers, of Branchville, will show the development and life history of the mosquito and Dr. Ayers will offer valuable suggestions as to the best means of getting rid of mosquitoes. The talk will be given at the Y. M. C. A. Thursday night, July 11, at 8:15 o'clock.

Dr. Ayers has given this lecture at the Academy of Medicine, New York, before the State Medical Association and in several other States and he is in constant demand. It is hoped that he will be greeted by a large audience at the coming lecture.

MOVING PICTURES FOR MFG. LEAGUE BENEFIT

The moving picture entertainment for the benefit of the Manufacturers' Baseball League will be given in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. Some of the most remarkable films yet produced will be thrown on the screen and the program will be changed each night. On Tuesday evening the following films will be shown: "Battle Hymn of the Republic," "The Illumination," and two comic films, one of which will be the Vitograph Company's sketch, "The New Stenography."

The program for Wednesday will include a new historical film entitled "The Closing of the American Revolution," a Kalem photo-play, the scene of which is laid in Egypt, and two comic films, entitled "Never Again" and "Alkali Ike's Ante."

JUNIOR OFFICERS INSTALLED.

Benevolent Council, No. 256, Jr. O. U. A. M., at its meeting last night, installed these officers for the coming year: Past councilor, Charles Bornman; councilor, Isaac Wyckoff; vice-councilor, Lawrence Fahn, Jr.; recording secretary, W. H. I. Cubberly; financial secretary, Edward Honeyman; treasurer, J. H. Adams; warden, Harry Sheppard; conductor, William Herman; inside guard, George Bremmer; outside guard, G. S. Martin; trustee, three years, A. G. Adams.

BONNIE BURN SUP'T.

It is Dr. J. E. Runnells, of Warren Summit, N. H., who has been offered the position of superintendent of Bonnie Burn Sanitorium, and not Dr. J. E. Reynolds, as previously stated. It is expected that Mr. Runnells will accept the position.

DANIEL E. DAVIS HAS PASSED AWAY

Former Organist of Local Churches Succumbs in His Seventy-fourth Year.

HAD LONG BEEN ILL

Retired From Shoe Business to Join Plainfield Trust Co. Staff—Funeral Services on Monday to be Private.

Daniel Edwards Davis, at times organist of the First M. E. church and the Park Avenue Baptist church, died at his home, 310 Grant avenue, last night at 9:30 o'clock, of a complication of diseases. He was in his seventy-fourth year and had been in failing health since he resigned from the position of general bookkeeper at the Plainfield Trust Company last year. He had been confined to his bed since April.

Surviving Mr. Davis is a daughter, Mrs. Wilfred N. Houghton, of College place, and two sons, Robert W. Davis, of West Front street, and Alvole B. Davis, of Nutley. He had lived in Plainfield for the last forty years, was prominent in musical circles and was one of the organizers and directors of the Choral Society. He was organist and a member of the First M. E. church for twenty years and organist of the Park avenue Baptist for nine years.

Mr. Davis quit the wholesale shoe business in New York City to take the position of general bookkeeper with the Plainfield Trust Company at the time of its organization in 1902. He was very well known and liked throughout the city. The funeral services, which will be private, will be held on Monday at his late home on Grant avenue. Rev. Dr. Charles M. Anderson, pastor of the First M. E. church, will officiate.

ADVICE IS GIVEN BY THE BOARD OF HEALTH

The Board of Health has issued a circular letter calling the attention of householders regarding the isolation and care of measles, German measles, chicken-pox, whooping cough and mumps. The board cautions that persons having any of these diseases should be detained in a well ventilated room, located as far as possible from the other occupied rooms in the house. Other members of the household should not be allowed access to the room, except the one having charge of the patient. If practical, the person in charge of the patient should not mingle with the other members of the family.

"In case of whooping cough," the circular continues, "the patient should be kept apart from all persons who have not had the disease and they should not be allowed to travel in trolley cars or other public conveyances. Particular care should be taken in cases of measles and whooping-cough, to have all handkerchiefs or cloths used by the patient for the collection of discharges from the nose or throat, either burned or disinfected. It is better to use worthless cloths and have them burned, but if handkerchiefs are used, they should be boiled for at least one-half hour. When, in the opinion of the physician, persons who have been suffering from any of the above-named diseases, have entirely recovered, a thorough bath should be taken and clean clothing, which has not been in the infected room, put on.

"Under no circumstances should any of these patients be allowed to mingle with other children or attend school, Sunday-school, church or any public gathering; and they will be allowed to return to school only after obtaining a certificate from either one of the school physicians or the Board of Health physician. All persons attending school who have not had measles and chicken-pox, and have been exposed to these infections, shall be excluded from school for at least two weeks.

"After the room has been vacated by the patient, all bed clothing, clothes and articles used by the patient should be removed and thoroughly cleansed by boiling, if possible. Then the room and all contents should be thoroughly aired and exposed to the direct rays of the sun and the room cleaned.

NO MEETINGS NOW.

There will be no Thursday and Sunday meetings of the W. C. T. U. during the months of July and August as many of the members will be away during the summer.

INHUMANITY TO TRAIN VICTIM CAUSES DEATH

Somerville, July 6.—Making a wild auto ride of twenty miles over the mountains in the night, carrying Edward Lisk with his right leg and left foot cut off by the cars, Dr. Edward H. Crystell, of Califon, arrived at the Somerset Hospital here only to have his patient die just as he was being removed from the car. Dr. Crystell indignantly declares he was compelled to make the perilous ride and to risk the life of the patient because of the inhumanity of some of the residents of Califon.

The victim, who lived in Glen Gardner and who was the father of nine small children, was run over by a train on the High Bridge branch of the Jersey Central Railroad at Califon about 8 o'clock Thursday night. Dr. Crystell states that an unsuccessful appeal was made to many residents within a reasonable distance of the railroad station to allow Lisk to be carried into their homes so that an attempt might be made to operate on his severed limbs in order to save his life.

He was then taken to the railroad station, where a locomotive, running loose, was flagged with the object of having Lisk carried to a hospital in Easton. The engineer refused to carry Lisk without an order and pulled out. Lisk was allowed to remain at the station for a long time surrounded by a curious crowd when Dr. Crystell, driven to desperation by the inhumanity encountered, placed the injured man in an auto and arrived here about midnight.

Dr. Crystell, who was much exhausted from holding the injured man in his arms during the long ride over the mountains, remained at the hospital during the night.

Califon, July 6.—Edward Lisk, who was fatally hurt here Thursday night, was forty-seven years old and a farm laborer. It was an hour after the accident occurred that he was found by Mrs. Philip S. Trimmer, who was attracted by the calls of the injured man. Dr. Edward H. Crystell and Dr. Isidore Topkins were summoned and stopped the flow of blood. It is said the railroad company's refusal to take the injured man to a hospital was because, as alleged, he was a trespasser.

Lisk, accompanied by his wife and three children, arrived in town early in the morning to attend the celebration held by the local fraternal organizations. They missed the last train home, having become separated in the crowd.

TO INSTALL OFFICERS.

District Deputy Edward Bowman and staff, of Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., will install the officers-elect of Lodge of the Castle, Somerville, on Monday night; those of Crescent Lodge, Flemington, Wednesday night; Unity Lodge, No. 102, of this city, Thursday night, and Neshanic Lodge, of Neshanic, Friday night. The following Monday night the officers-elect of Somerset Lodge, of Bound Brook, will be installed.

NO FIGHT THERE.

In the police court reports published yesterday was the mention of a disorderly conduct case growing out of a fight in a "Park avenue saloon." In justice to Godfrey Weinman, who has a license on that street, it should be stated that the fight in question did not occur in his place.

ACTING HEALTH OFFICER NAMED

Miss Harriet O. Mattison Appointed and John O'Brien Supervising Officer.

REPORTS OF THE MONTH

To Abate Nuisance in Cottage Place Where Many Are Huddled in Few Sleeping Rooms—Poison Ivy in Suburbs Ordered Removed.

The Plainfield Board of Health, following the report of the health officer on the joint inspection of Cottage place made by himself and an agent of the Charity Organization Society at its July meeting last night ordered that legal steps be taken at once to bring about an abatement of the existing nuisances and as far as possible a reform in sanitary conditions as suggested in the report. A special report was received by the Board in regard to poison ivy. Inspections have revealed the fact that poison ivy is growing luxuriantly in the outskirts of the city and it was ordered that notices be served on the owners or occupants of property on whose premises the ivy exists to destroy the same at their own expense.

Inasmuch as John O'Brien, Jr., has resigned as health officer to take the position of chief inspector of the Union County Mosquito Commission, the Board has made temporary arrangements with him to act as supervising health officer. Miss Harriet O. Mattison has been made acting health officer.

The number of communicable diseases reported during the past month was remarkably low, there being a total of 8 as follows: Whooping-cough, 1; measles, 4; diphtheria, 2; tuberculosis, 1. At present there are no cases of contagion under quarantine. During the month twelve rooms in eight houses were disinfected and 38 cultures of communicable disease examined. Several samples of water were collected for analysis, one of which from the city supply. Twenty-one dairies and five bottling places were inspected and twenty-six samples of milk collected and analyzed.

The following inspections were made: Plumbing, 120; in connection with milk supply, 52; in connection with general work, 285, a total of 457. Two circulars were printed during the month, one giving instructions as to the care and isolation of the minor contagious diseases to be sent to the householder from whose house such a case was reported. The other, in regard to the exposing of food stuffs to dust and flies. The latter circular has been distributed to the dealers of the city.

During the month there were reported 30 marriages, 31 births and 19 deaths. Of the 19 deaths, eleven were of persons over sixty years of age. The following applications and bonds were received and filed:

Barber shops—Richard Walter, Joe Tumolo, Raffe Tozzo, Alex Stills, Eugene Phillips, E. B. Maynard, Charles G. Mann, Henrich Heller, William Feiring, Frank Caruso, Angelo Brancati, George Kesselring, Leon Ferrora, Spencer Kelly. Hair dressing—New York Hair Dressing Company, Mme. Brunelly, Mrs. J. H. Thornton, Sadie Leahy, Elizabeth B. Stowe.

Plumbers' bonds—Charles Krausse, Joseph D. Goros, P. S. McVoy, P. F. Kaine, Samuel McCauley. Ice—James Miner. Milk—Alprien & Meiler, Mrs. J. H. Norgard.

The Board has decided to hold two meetings a month, the first and third Friday evenings, instead of one as heretofore.

TALKS ON SABBATH.

Pastor A. R. Sandborn, president of the New Jersey Conference of Seventh Day Adventists, addressed a large audience last night at the Adventist camp meeting at Park avenue near Randolph road, on the subject of "Which Day is the Sabbath." The Adventists believe in observing the original seventh day of the week as the Sabbath, and in this respect differ from many other Christian denominations.

PERSEVERANCE LODGE INSTALL

District Deputy Edward Bowman and staff, installed these officers of Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., last night: Master of work, Ephraim Compton; chancellor commander, S. M. Staats; vice-chancellor, Stephen Perrine; prelate, Walter Baker; master-at-arms, Charles Hartfelder; inside guard, John Giles; outside guard, Peter Stram. A social hour followed.

GERTRUDE M. VAN LEUVEN.

ANDERSON'S IDEA OF MORRIS CANAL VALUE

Assemblyman Returning From Inspection of Property Gives His Views.

Assemblyman W. de la R. Anderson, who accompanied the Morris Canal Investigation Commission on its trip of inspection of the canal and other property, returned home yesterday. He was much impressed with what he saw and had some pronounced views concerning the future of the canal property. Among other things he said:

"I fought the bill in the House as presented by Governor Wilson's commission, for the reason that it advocated the giving away of valuable State rights to the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company for a small sum. Having made a personal investigation of the property I am convinced that the estimate I put on the property last winter is by far too low and that the property is of tremendous value.

"The section of the canal including the two basins extending to 'Fiddlers' Elbow,' a distance of four miles, is the key to the railroad terminal development of the East, not as a canal, but as a railroad. It is a barrier as a canal, which cuts off shore frontage owned by the Lehigh Valley Railroad, and prevents it being used for yardage, terminal and wharfs. The terminal at the other end of the canal has also tremendous value. Various railroads even now are occupying the canal company's property with their main tracks and stations and in the future it will be necessary to use the balance of it.

"From my observations the canal cannot be made a good paying proposition as a canal, owing to the fact that the boats have to be lifted 962 feet from the tide and then lowered over a series of locks and planes, the maintenance of which would more than eat up any profits. As a comparison I use the Lehigh Canal which has no planes and few locks and an annual revenue from water power sold and yet it shows an annual loss. I think that the improved steel rail, the long train and bridges able to carry their heavy loads has sounded the death knell for inland water transportation in places where other than ideal conditions exist. That the eastern section of the canal should be abandoned, provided that the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company is willing to pay a fair price to the State is evident. That the western terminal should be abandoned for railroad use and extension is necessary. That the central section should be held by the State as a park way seems to be the only use to which that central portion can be put at present. In the future the water will no doubt be used to supply large cities in eastern New Jersey."

DR. STEVENS TO OPEN COURSE FOR TEACHERS

First of Lectures at Watchung Crest to Be Given Tuesday Afternoon.

The first lecture by outside speakers in the Teachers' Course at Watchung Crest, under the auspices of the National Association for the Study and Education of Exceptional Children, will be given Tuesday afternoon, July 9, at 3 o'clock, by Dr. Edward L. Stevens, associate city superintendent of public schools in New York. His subject will be "What Teachers and Mothers Must Do For Exceptional Children: With a Historical Review of the Problem and Remarks on Classification."

The lecture will be free to all teachers and parents and others who are interested in this problem. As Dr. Stevens has been the one through whose efforts ungraded and special classes were organized in the New York school system, his address it is believed will be of unusual interest.

MRS. EMILY SELBY.

Mrs. Emily Selby, wife of Major T. Selby, 511 West Fourth street, died on Thursday evening after a short illness. The funeral service will be held at Mt. Zion A. M. E. church on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and the interment will be made in Evergreen cemetery.

SHOT HERSELF; SORRY FOR ACT

Miss Bertha Thaw, of New Germantown, Hovering Between Life and Death.

IS AT HOSPITAL HERE

Suffered From Melancholy—Chance For Her Recovery Physician Says—Girl's Father Principal of the Barnet Hall Academy.

Miss Bertha Thaw, aged twenty years, daughter of Professor and Mrs. Roderick B. Thaw, of New Germantown, is in a critical condition at Muhlenberg Hospital, following an attempt to take her life at her home. The physicians in charge say that the young woman has a chance for recovery, but thus far there has not been any improvement.

Young Miss Thaw tried to kill herself while her father was at work in the garden. She went to his room, took a key from his trousers pocket, opened his trunk, and obtaining a 32 calibre revolver, shot herself in the left breast. The bullet penetrated her left lung just below the heart and when physicians probed for it, it was taken out of her back.

Since last spring when Miss Thaw suffered a severe attack of the measles, she has had frequent spells of melancholy. After physicians had extracted the bullet, the young woman was brought to Muhlenberg Hospital in an automobile. She was conscious. She declared that she did not know what caused her to attempt her life and added that she was sorry that she shot herself. Miss Thaw is a graduate of a business college at Newark. Her father is principal of Barnet Hall Academy at New Germantown.

OPENING SERVICE AT THE NETHERWOOD CAMP

The opening service at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3:45 o'clock. Charles W. McCutchen, of North Plainfield, will preside and Rev. Dr. Charles M. Anderson, pastor of the First M. E. church, will be the speaker. Members of the choir of the First Baptist church, under the direction of Howard M. Case, organist of that church, will sing.

The children's choir, which proved a delightful feature of the services at the Home last summer, and which has been singing at the Day Nursery in New York during the winter under the leadership of Clifford A. Braider, will sing at all of the services at the Home during the summer. The public is invited to visit the Home and attend the services.

FIRST UNION SERVICE ON TOMORROW NIGHT

The first of the union services will be held tomorrow night at Trinity Reformed church, when Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, of the First Baptist church, will preach. The churches uniting in these services to be held Sunday nights during July and August include the First Baptist, Trinity Reformed, First Presbyterian and First M. E. churches.

The young people's societies of these churches will also hold union services at the place of the union preaching service. It is expected that during August, when most of the pastors will be away, their supplies will preach in their places.

TRAMPLED TO DEATH BY HORSE IN STABLE

Bernardsville, July 6.—His skull fractured and his chest crushed by a horse he was tending in a stable, Thomas O'Brien, a farmhand, forty-three years old, employed on the Henry R. Kunhardt estate at Mine Mount, died in All Souls' Hospital, Morristown, early yesterday morning. When the body was found one of the horse's hoofs was on the man's body.

There were no witnesses to the accident. O'Brien was in the stable taking care of the horses, and it is thought one of them kicked him in the head, felling him under the animal's feet. O'Brien's body was found by a fellow employe, who notified his employer. Dr. Josiah Meigh advised that the man be removed to the hospital, and he was taken there in an unconscious condition in the afternoon. He remained unconscious until his death.

The funeral was held at the Church of Our Lady of Perpetual Help this morning at 9 o'clock, Rev. Joseph A. Ryan officiating.

RECORD REGISTRATION AT MONTCLAIR NORMAL

Principal Charles S. Chapin, of the State Normal School at Montclair Heights, reports the largest number of applications for admission to the school of any year since the institution was started five years ago. Registration closed July 1, with 200 applicants enrolled. It is believed that no more than 180 can be taken because with that number the accommodations for pupils will be exhausted.

Dr. Chapin says that from now until the school opens in September all applications for admission will be filed on a waiting list. The school opened in September, 1908, with 187 pupils enrolled. Accommodations for 400 pupils only are provided.

Grading of the Normal School grounds, under contract, by Osborne & Marcellis, of Upper Montclair, is nearly completed. Work on an additional contract for grading, which was given to Barney Rensanello, has not yet been started. Rensanello says he will begin his part of the work Monday. Dr. Chapin expects the grading to be completed before October 1. Winding drives and concrete walks will be laid from the school to the Erie Depot and also to the Valley road trolley terminal. Rough board walks have been in use since the school first opened.

PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY

JERSEY'S FIRST AERIAL MAIL IS SUCCESSFUL

South Amboy, July 6.—To the South Amboy Business Men's Association belongs the credit of instituting the first official aerial mail service in New Jersey, authorized by the Postmaster-General. Between 1,500 and 2,000 pieces, divided about equally between letters and souvenir postals, were transported from this place to Perth Amboy Thursday. Not a hitch occurred in the entire proceedings.

Oliver G. Simmons, in a Wright-Burgess hydro-aeroplane owned by R. J. Collier, was the aviator-mail-carrier, and he had with him as a passenger Mayor Fred Garretson, of Perth Amboy.

Mr. Simmons, making a beautiful flight, came up from the Collier hangers at Cliffwood, carrying as a passenger E. C. Roddy, secretary of the Business Men's Association. He landed at the "city pier," and there the sack of mail was ready for him. Mayor Garretson was also on hand, and it required but a few minutes to "stow" the sack of mail on board and for the passenger to get into his seat.

The signal for the start was given at 12:31 o'clock, and three minutes later Simmons landed his passenger and the mail sack at the Perth Amboy Yacht Club quarters, along the bay.

The route was entirely over the water. Mayor Garretson was a little timid at the start, but before the brief trip was over he became a convert to aerial aviation.

As soon as the sack of mail was "unloaded," it was taken charge of by a messenger and conveyed to the Perth Amboy Postoffice, from which it was placed on the trains and the contents distributed in the regular way.

Not until late in the afternoon did Simmons return to this place and then he carried as a passenger a reporter on a Perth Amboy paper.

The aerial mail service was authorized by the Postoffice Department June 29 and the route was designated as "aero plane route No. 900006."

The service will not be continued as many had hoped it would be. It was purely experimental, but, according to Mr. Roddy, it demonstrated the practicability of aeroplanes as a means of carrying mail.

When Aviator Simmons returned to this place, a silver loving cup, two feet tall, was presented to him by the South Amboy Business Men's Association.

AN ORDINANCE

A Supplement to an Ordinance Entitled "An Ordinance for the Assessment of Taxes for the Year 1912." Approved May 8, 1912.

WHEREAS, The Board of School Estimate of this school district, that is to say, the school district comprising the City of Plainfield, has fixed upon and determined the amount of money necessary to be appropriated for the use of the public schools in such district for the ensuing school year, exclusive of the amount apportioned to it by the County Superintendent of Schools, to wit, the sum of Eighty-eight Thousand Dollars ($88,000), and has made two certificates of said amount signed by all the members of said Board, one of which certificates has been delivered to the Board of Education of said school district, and the other to the Common Council of said city:

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That pursuant to the Act of the Legislature of the State of New Jersey, entitled "An Act to establish a thorough and efficient system of free public schools, and to provide for the maintenance, support and management thereof," approved October 19th, 1903, and Acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto, the sum of Eighty-eight Thousand Dollars ($88,000) be and the same is hereby appropriated for the purpose aforesaid as other appropriations are made by the Common Council and that said amount shall be assessed, levied and collected for the year nineteen hundred and twelve in the same manner as money appropriated for other purposes in this city are required to be assessed, levied and collected.

Adopted by the Common Council, July 1, 1912; approved by the Mayor, July 3, 1912.

NEW YORK AMUSEMENTS

In continuance of his policy of presenting programs of quantity and quality to mark his mid-summer policy of greater bills, changeable weekly, William Hammerstein has provided another spectacular bill for the coming week at Hammerstein's Roof Garden and Victoria theatre. Held over by public demand is Houdini, the world's greatest handcuff king and prison-breaker. For his repeat week, a complete change of hair-raising feats is promised. In addition to Houdini, fifteen other big acts will be seen, including Little Billy, the cutest and most magnetic diminutive comedian before the public. Joe Jackson, and the Eight Original Texas Tommy Dancers will make their last appearance in New York for a long time. Cook and Lorenz, and Hoey and Lee are two men comedy teams of established reputation. They are favorites at Hammerstein's. Max Mart's Six Steppers is a dancing act par excellence, and represents the extreme of Terpsichorean art. Gertrude Van Dyke, a singer of rare beauty and charm, will make her first appearance at the corner, assisted by Max Vincinti, a graduate piano soloist.

The Union Square theatre announces a superb midsummer holiday bill for the week of July 8 with the mightiest and most magnificent show in the world's theatrical history. To those who go to the Union Square theatre regularly, it is useless to point out the superiority of the shows at that house over the vaudeville that is given at other houses. Some of the star features to appear in this monster program will be J. C. Nugent & Co., offering a new comedy; George B. Reno presenting a side-splitting farce, "The Misfit Army;" Kapellar and Bruney in a novel singing specialty, entitled "An Hawaiian Flirtation;" Hayden, Borden and Hayden, a trio of comedy entertainers; Miss Lillian Ashley in a repertoire of popular ballads; Arthur Deagon, a somewhat different comedian, and many other sensational features.

MONUMENT UNVEILED

Elizabeth, July 6.—A granite monument, erected to the memory of the victims of the Maine disaster, was unveiled here Thursday in Jackson Park, Elizabethport. Charles Henry Fadde, of Elizabethport, was one of those who perished in the explosion in Havana Harbor. The exercises Thursday included brief addresses by Mayor Stein and City Attorney James C. Connolly. The monument faces St. Patrick's church and was erected at a cost of $200. The sculptor was Frank Mulligan, of this city.

PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY, JULY 6, 1912.

The editorial columns of this paper are conducted on Saturdays by representative citizens who are free to express their own views. Ernest R. Ackerman, former President of the New Jersey State Senate, erstwhile Acting Governor of New Jersey, author of the Civil Service and other important laws, and a public spirited citizen, is the contributing editor for today.

CIVIL SERVICE.

Merit and fitness in the public service have come to stay, which fact is appreciated by both Democrats and Republicans. The old spoils system is passing away, and I feel confident that before long other States of the Union will follow the lead of New York, Massachusetts, Illinois, Wisconsin, Colorado and New Jersey relative to civil service laws and regulations. It is satisfying to place the name of New Jersey on the list of States aiming for administrative efficiency and economy.

The spoils system of Jackson's day will not work now—it would be ruinous to the country. Imagine the 200,000 positions in the competitive classified Civil Service of the Federal Government and the payroll of between $175,000,000 and $200,000,000 being worked for all they are worth at political primaries, caucuses and conventions. The growth of the country and the good sense of the American people have doomed the spoils system and it cannot be pilloried in terms too severe, and as I said some years ago, American political life should have no place for office-trading combinations.

One cannot say too much in approval and admiration of the originators and defenders of Civil Service laws. The people surely will fight for and maintain the principle that ability and faithfulness are to be rewarded and that merit and fitness are to be the standards for all time in the public service to the great advantage of all taxpayers and citizens. Civil Service laws mean a square deal to the man without a pull.

There are those who fail to endorse Civil Service on the ground that it creates, as they say, an institution for the "aged and infirm," and others criticize because they think the examination system gives the best chance to the young man who has just graduated from school. How are these different views to be harmonized? Civil Service rules provide, among other things, that:

First—Examinations are to be practical in their character and shall relate to the matters which fairly test the relative capacity of the persons examined.

Second—The question of physical ability is always considered as one of the requisites of the applicant.

Third—An employee is to retain office as long as he is faithful and can properly perform the duties for which he is paid by the taxpayers and the public.

Fourth—The system of Civil Service reform gives an equal opportunity to all without respect to age, but within reasonable limitations.

I have heard it stated by those occupying positions of influential leadership that Civil Service reform is not as effective as it should be because some of those appointed under the provisions of Civil Service laws have been sent to jail. Has there not been much demand for prison sentences for other crimes? The fact that the guilty are punished is evidence of the fact that the laws are being watchfully enforced. How can examinations reveal criminal tendencies in the mind of the applicant?

Provisions are made in Civil Service laws that no one can be appointed who is a drunkard, who has been guilty of crime, who has been guilty of notoriously disgraceful conduct or who has been previously dismissed from the public service for misconduct or delinquency. Do the advocates of the "spoils system" and the bosses always take these things into account when appointments are being made?

Examinations which are pertinent to the position to be filled are a great relief to the appointing power and give an equal chance to the thousands of applicants.

The taxpayer's dollar goes further under civil service than under the spoils system. Merit and fitness mean good service and good service means economy. Political parties will be stronger without the evils of patronage and even the strongest organizations seem to survive the ordeal of Civil Service. Political parties should stand for policies and principles, and if an organization cannot survive the operations of a Civil Service law it is because it has not principles of sufficient strength to appeal to the intelligence of the people.

Garfield, who was sacrificed on the altar of the spoils system, said "Ideas are the great warriors of the world and a war that has no ideas behind it is simple brutality." And so it is with political parties, if you have no ideas it is simply a case in the words of George William Curtis "of being very hungry and very thirsty for public office."

The merit and fitness tests for public service are fair to all political parties, and it will not be necessary for any political partisans to be dissatisfied because all the public positions are held by one party and to feel as did Thomas Jefferson when he saw that all the jobs were being held down by the Federalists, and exclaimed "None die and few resign."

Our country is constantly growing better and eternal vigilance being the price of liberty, Civil Service reform means still better government. The people of this country are getting more for their money today than ever before, and all because of organizations like Civil Service Reform Leagues.

It is not reasonable to assume that the framers of the Constitution of the United States anticipated the oppression which would come from permitting partisanship to control the judges that they, therefore, wisely arranged in part for Civil Service regulations to control the Federal Judiciary by declaring in the Constitution "The Judges, both of the Supreme and Inferior Courts, shall hold their offices during good behavior"—to this extent Civil Service reform had its inception at the birth of the Constitution of the United States?

What would become of a President if it were not for Civil Service laws? As far back as Jackson's time the pressure for office was a terrible strain upon the President. Hasting's history says, "Men were there, women were there to sustain the applications of their husbands, fathers, brothers, cousins and other relatives. The crowd was so turbulent, enormous and persistent that an order was issued not to admit any persons to any of the departments until a late hour in the day." If this was the situation at a time in the country's history when it was not possible to reach Washington by modern railroad methods and when parlor cars were unknown, what would it be now? Repeal the Civil Service laws and what would be the results today?

The advance and corrections made in the Civil Service are some of the indications—yes, evidence, that as a people we are marching onward and upward. A quarter of our population is now living under the new regime.

A free press is the light house of our liberties. I feel that it is largely due to their vigilance that much of our progress has been secured. It is through the watchfulness of our leading journals that the "lid" is being held down securely in a great many places. I believe that our country will continue to advance and that our institutions will continue to be as they have been in the past, an inspiration to the world.

An earthquake or a shipwreck puts everyone on a common footing in a single moment—rich and poor stand before appalling calamities like those with only an equal chance. Let us not forget that in many other matters we are all on a common footing. It is a pleasure to say that this is recognized by many who endow schools, libraries, colleges and hospitals.

THE NEW WORK OF THE ANTI-TUBERCULOSIS LEAGUE.
by
Mrs. E. F. FEICKERT.

It will really not be new work, although it will seem so to many people in whose thoughts the work of the pavilion for the treatment of tuberculosis cases has stood for everything being done by the league. These people believe that when the work of the pavilion is discontinued, and the splendid new county sanatorium, "Bonnie Burn" is opened, there will be nothing more for the league to do, and no further necessity for contributions to help its work.

This is very far from being the case. Taking the cases now under treatment off the hands of the league, and caring for them in the county sanatorium, will only mean leaving the league free to do what is really the most important work of all, that of maintaining a more thorough inspection of the community and classifying for observation every single case of tuberculosis, whether incipient or advanced, and of assisting the many consumptives who for one reason or another cannot or will not go to "Bonnie Burn." Many parents who are infected shrink very naturally from breaking up their homes and making their children a charge upon the community, and cling to their wages and their independence until the very last moment, when they are usually beyond help. The league aims to help such people by giving them treatment at home, in some cases they can be treated at night, or where it is necessary they will be helped enough financially so that they need only work for half of each day, and be treated during the other half. Under the new state law careful parents may remain at home, observing the proper precautions to prevent the disease spreading to their children; but if the inspecting physician finds that they are not obeying his instructions, they may be forced to leave home, and legally committed to the county sanatorium.

There will never be room in the county sanatorium for all the advanced cases. These should be constantly inspected at home, to make sure that proper precautions are being taken to prevent others from being infected by them. All cases which are supposed to be cured, or where the course of the disease has been arrested, should be carefully watched, and at the first sign of a relapse should have instant treatment.

Many methods of work are under consideration by the league and the scope of its activities will only be limited by the amount of its income. A clinic where all may be free to come for inspection and treatment and a day and night camp where incipient cases may be treated are among the most important of these. One of the most permanently effective methods of work would be the erection of houses specially adapted for tuberculosis tenants. Such houses would cost very little, if any, more than any decently built house. It has been suggested that several of these should be built in a row, so that as much yard as possible can be shut off by an ell, for the sake of privacy. These houses would have to be built by private capital, but they would yield as large an interest on the money invested as if they were rented under the usual conditions of occupancy. A number of such houses would be of the greatest help to the league, enabling it to properly locate tuberculous families, and to rent for the treatment of special cases as much room as it might require from time to time.

It is hoped that everyone will realize the immense importance of the new field of work on which the league is now entering, and do their utmost to help it by contributions either large or small. If you are not already a member of the league, won't you join its ranks? Send your name and one dollar annual dues to Mr. J. P. Murray, treasurer,, 737 Watchung avenue. This will include a subscription to "The White Crusader," the official organ of the league, which will be sent to you each month, and keep you posted as to all that is being done.

THIRD ANNIVERSARY.

The third anniversary of the Netherwood Reformed church will be observed tomorrow with special services morning and night. In the morning the pastor, Rev. Royal A. Stout, will preach on the subject, "Building the House," and in the evening, Rev. Frank Eckerson, a returned missionary from China, will speak. There will be special music.

TEN CENTS TOLL FOR ECONOMIC BATHERS

Ocean Grove, July 6.—Through a ruling issued by Edward N. Cole, secretary of the Campmeeting Association, cottagers who have been want to don their bathing suits at home and walk to the ocean for their dip found a surprise for them on the beach yesterday. Uniformed guards at the beach entrances from the boardwalk exacted a toll of ten cents for entrance to the beach.

"Use the tunnels; no bathers on the boardwalk," was the sing-song warning called out, and while it failed of effective enforcement Thursday because of the immense crowds, but few escaped the watchers yesterday.

Mr. Cole explained that while the summer visitors would still be allowed to dress at home, it was but fair that they pay a pittance toward the upkeep of the beach.

WOMAN SHOT, POLICE SEEKING MISSING MAN

Bernardsville, July 6.—A victim of a shooting accident, Mrs. Thomas Trepiccione is in the Overlook Hospital, Summit, while the police authorities are looking for Donato Forgioni, one of her boarders, who is charged with doing the shooting. The woman is in a serious condition, but it was said at the hospital this morning that she was resting comfortably.

Forgioni, it is alleged, was flourishing a revolver, when he suddenly discharged the weapon and the bullet entered the back of Mrs. Terpiccione. The ball went through the woman's body, coming out at the stomach.

WRECKED AUTO HOLDS DRIVER BY COAT TAIL

North Branch, July 6.—A chauffuer with a shorn coat tail was helped to a train for New York at Somerville early yesterday morning, following the wrecking of his car by collision with a dog. He escaped injury when the car overturned, but was held fast by the coat tail, which he cut after managing to get hold of his knife. He refused to give his name or the name of the car's owner.

To the farmer who gave the man a lift to the train the chauffeur told of the accident. He was alone in the car, a large one, on the macadam turnpike, just west of North Branch, and was going about twenty miles an hour when a dog ran out at him. It was struck and instantly killed, the chauffeur at the same time losing control.

The machine went to the side of the road, mounted a steep embankment and plowed some distance down a field, where it turned over. The chauffeur suffered only a few bruises and cuts.

One wheel was torn from the automobile, the front axle was broken and the steering gear and the lamps were smashed. The machine bore a New York number.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

THE TOOTHSOME APPLE PIE.

THE best pies are those that are most digestible. Rich crusts in which flour and butter or other fats are combined in equal proportions are not generally served in these days of hygienic eating. The shortening should be absolutely fresh and sweet. Unless the pie crust is light and flaky the pie will not be palatable.

Much also depends on the pie filling. Some persons find a pie objectionable because the filling is sweetened too much. Others cannot eat tart pie. Too little sugar, however, is a fault less serious than the use of too much. Sugar may be sprinkled over the tart pie when it is served.

One of the most popular pies is apple. The fruit is not only agreeable, but it is wholesome.

Here are various ways of preparing this favorite pastry:

Old Fashioned Pie.

Deep Dish Apple Pie.—Fill a deep dish with tart apples sliced and sprinkled liberally with sugar, nutmeg and bits of butter. Butter the upper edges of the dish and lay over the apples a sheet of paste. Cut three slits in the center. Pour into one of these openings half a cupful of hot water and bake about an hour in a hot oven. Serve hot.

A Teutonic Recipe.

German Apple Pie.—Make an apple pie omitting the upper crust. When almost done beat one egg light and add to it a scant half cupful of rich cream. Pour this mixture over the pie and replace in oven until the custard is set.

Covered With Meringue.

Apple Meringue Pie.—Pare, slice thin and stew juicy apples with about a teacupful of cold water. When done mash, sweeten to taste and flavor with lemon juice. Cover the pie pans with puff paste and fill with apples, leaving one-quarter of an inch at the top.

Bake in a steady, moderate oven until brown, then fill with meringue made from the whites of two eggs and one tablespoonful of sugar. Return to the oven and brown.

A Tart Pie.

Lemon Apple Pie.—Peel, core and chop two raw apples fine, add one cupful of sugar and one well beaten egg. Grate in the rind and juice of one-half lemon, add the pulp cut fine, one-half cupful of sweet milk and grated nutmeg to taste. Bake with two crusts.

Cookery Points

The Kitchen in Summer.

The kitchen is a great problem, for it is likely to be small, crowded and hot. The window here must be open constantly. The range must be forgotten. All heating of water or food must be done by gas if an electric range is impossible, and an acquisition that will pay for itself is a fireless cooker. This is easy to handle and means that the gas stove need be lighted but for the briefest period in the morning, when the food for the evening will be heated to the proper point. It then is removed to the fireless cooker and left to reach perfection by night, while the fire is put out. A chafing dish in the dining room will save work and kitchen fire, as will a few of the electric contrivances, such as a toaster, flatiron and percolator. The man of the house may even heat his shaving water with a little electric stick instead of having the boilerful heated by the range for his needs or the kettle placed on the hot gas stove to send waves of heat through the cool house.

The food itself should be made simple for the summer. A diet consisting largely of vegetables and fruits and cereals is used by hundreds who never could be classed as "cranks" as soon as warm weather begins. Iced tea, coffee or lemonade and cool milk or buttermilk will be far better than hot drinks. Heavy puddings that must be baked or boiled may be replaced by ices, fruits and other cool things. Salads in place of meats will appeal to the eye and the appetite on a hot day and will eliminate much cooking and consequent heat. When a hearty meal must occasionally be prepared with the aid of range or gas stove and the rooms in consequence are overheated just as evening is coming on the old remedy of a wet sheet hung in the breeze for an hour or so in each room will do wonders in the way of making the atmosphere cool and refreshing.

Cocoanut Candies.

When fresh cocoanut can readily be obtained there is no bonbon nicer than one of cocoanut fondant combined with chocolate, coffee flavoring or maple sugar.

For coffee creams with cocoanut put half a cupful of coffee and two cupfuls of sugar on the stove to boil. When it begins to spin a thread when a spoonful of it is lifted up and poured back, remove it from the fire and stir into it as much shredded or grated cocoanut as it will hold. Then beat it until very stiff and drop it in spoonfuls on waxed paper. These candies, after hardening, may be dipped in melted chocolate or maple sugar.

The following recipe is for a white cocoanut bonbon, which may likewise be dipped in chocolate or maple sugar: Mix powdered sugar and sweet cream together until a soft fondant is formed, then stir in grated cocoanut until the whole is stiff. Mold it into balls, and when they are hard cover them with melted maple sugar. When melting the maple sugar add a tiny bit of butter. This will give it a richer flavor and a smoother surface when it hardens. If the sugar seems to have been thinned too much by the water added in melting, test it by stirring a little of it in a cold saucer. If it hardens it is all right.

Orange Cup.

This is one of the nice punch bowl drinks that are all right for the children's lawn party: Peel half a dozen oranges, remove every particle of the white pith, divide into sections and take out seeds and membrane. Put six heaping tablespoonfuls of sugar in a saucepan with the juice of two other oranges and some of the grated yellow rind and simmer until the sugar is dissolved, but not boiled. Arrange the pieces of orange in the punch bowl. Combine the sirup and cold water to make a pleasant sherbet, flavor with orange flower water and pour over the oranges in the bowl and at the last put in several pieces of ice to make the "clink" and keep the contents of the bowl cold.

Delicious Short Crust.

Rub a quarter pound of butter into half a pound of flour previously mixed with half a teaspoonful of baking powder, one ounce of sugar and a little salt. Make a well in the center, break into it an egg, work together, moisten if necessary with a little water and roll out.

This paste is best for an open tart, for which purpose the paste is laid on a plate, and a roll or wall is placed around the edges. Bits of bread are laid on it, it is then baked, the bread removed and the paste filled with stewed fruit or jam.

For the Tea Table.

Small sugar cutters, which are really scissor shaped tongs, are a great help to the hostess at afternoon tea, for it is a difficult matter to select a lump of sugar which is the proper size. The little cutters may be used in place of the ordinary sugar tongs as well as for cutting the lumps into halves or quarters.

—When a fellow tells a girl he would gratify her smallest wish she may be justified in having grave doubts about her larger ones.

FURNISHING THE SUMMER HOME

A Wide Range of Choice In Wicker or Wood Furniture In Light and Airy Designs Is Afforded Housekeepers.

IN making changes in the furnishing of the summer home economy as well as attractiveness has often to be thought of and serviceable furniture, rugs and hangings have to be purchased.

While wicker has generally been considered the furniture most desirable for the summer cottage or bungalow, neat mission furniture has its advocates. The mission furniture, with the addition of cushions, does just as well for winter as for summer.

Particularly attractive are graceful forms of chairs like the one illustrated here. These may be purchased with or without the upholstering, which in this case was of light silk tapestry.

Wicker furniture is ideal for summer use, and while rather expensive at first cost this furniture is very durable. Simple, substantial shapes are best, and ornate and fanciful effects should be avoided.

Summer chairs should be low, deep and broad, with backs high enough to support a weary head and arms broad enough for the hands and elbows.

The wicker tea wagon is a convenient bit of summer furniture, for tea may be prepared in the kitchen and wheeled out on lawn, porch or living room with great ease. There is a removable tray in the top of the tea wagon so that the dishes may be lifted out and set on a table for washing.

Furniture for the summer living room should include simple, practical styles suitable for a light papered room. The lounge, deep rocker, writing table and chair and the corner cabinet for this room may be of light green enameled wood, the desk chair having a caned seat and the rocker and lounge upholstered cushions of green and lavender patterned cretonne.

A cretonne wardrobe is a most useful article of furniture for the closetless room of a summer cottage. This wardrobe has a light framework of green enameled wood matching the furniture and the panels of cretonne are tacked inside the wood frame. On a strong bar running across the wardrobe inside racks for clothing may be hung. Shelves may be fitted in if preferred and the wardrobe used for house linens, china or anything else.

For the bedroom there are chiffoniers made like the wardrobe, with light wood frames fitted with covered boxes of heavy papier mache incased in cretonne. The boxes slide in and out easily, and the lids are so arranged that they may be turned back like a folding trunk lid and the contents easily reached.

The wooden furniture with cane panels is delightfully cool and summery for a country bedroom, but this furniture is expensive, and most housekeepers have to content their souls with the white or light green bedroom furniture which is really charmingly dainty. The summer bedroom should be as simple as possible, and the fewest possible pictures and articles of bric-a-brac should decorate it. Two artistic framed prints or photographs, a vase of fresh flowers and perhaps a well chosen illuminated and framed motto of the sort that is so popular now should be sufficient ornamentation.

A nursery washstand of wicker, ornamented with the new composition called "French bisque," which is coming into usage, is made to hold two little pink china wash bowls, two pitchers, a soap dish and powder box, all of pink china. It is a convenient height for the children to use and so pretty it should dispel the usual dread of clean face and hands which soap and water seem to suggest to the infantile mind. The pitchers have the advantage of being small enough for any child to lift for himself.

Birth Announcements.

Many people do not like the idea of announcing the birth of a child in the newspapers, says Florence Howe Hall. They argue that it is not a matter to interest the general public, but only the friends of the parents. The old English custom was to tie up the door knocker with a white kid glove as an announcement of the happy event. A pretty modern method is to have baby's name, without any prefix, written or engraved, on a tiny card. This is fastened to the visiting card of the mother with a small bow of white ribbon and sent to relatives and friends through the mail.

On receiving such an announcement friends call and inquire after the health of mother and child, leaving cards for the former. Some persons leave them for the baby also, but this seems rather absurd. Instead of calling one may send a note of congratulation or write a little message of felicitation on one's card.

Gifts may be sent at this time or later, when the christening takes place, as may be preferred.

Good Form In Dress.

Few women know how to put on their clothes. This sounds like a very startling statement, but let us stop and think over the matter quietly.

How frequently we see women with dainty, well made and even well cut blouses, and yet how few appreciate the beauty of the garment, and why? Because the blouse is not pulled down tightly at the waist line and fastened in place either by hooks and loops or safety pins. Then, too, the collar is probably not carefully boned so that it will fit the neck snugly. Each woman should study the shape of her own neck (not some one else's) and find just where the bones must be placed in order to make the collar fit well. A still better plan is to take a piece of heavy paper and cut a pattern for the collar which exactly fits the throat and then have every collar made from that pattern. Curve it down under the chin so that the collar will not break, then let it stand up high just back of the ears and in the middle of the back.

The Art of Accepting Gracefully.

I wish that there were more of the gracious receiving of favors or gifts. Did you ever think how really limited are the abilities of most persons along this line?

Many of us can give beautifully. We can say the pretty phrases, write the timely good wish to accompany a gift, but when it comes to receiving graciously our energies are overtaxed, and we become embarrassed, ill at ease and sometimes very tactless.

Learn to receive as well as to give. Let your gratitude be shown in as fine a way as your generosity. It can be acquired.

A Prompt Response.

The invitation to dinner or luncheon should be answered without delay, and in the reply it is well to repeat the date and the hour to prevent any mistake. Do not accept an invitation with a proviso "if nothing happens." Remember that your hostess may want to fill your place with another guest if you cannot accept.

—Some people give themselves away and others are constantly being sold.

HERE AND THERE.

The Delta Press, of Delta, Keokuk county, Iowa, under date of July 3, has the following item of local interest:

"Charles Sebring, of Plainfield, N. J., arrived here Monday forenoon for a few days' visit at the Cap Sampson home, he being a cousin of Mrs. Sampson, and also a cousin of Will Brokaw. Mr. Sebring left his eastern home in time to be in Chicago for the Republican convention, and for a few days before coming to Delta he visited an aged aunt at Henry, Ill. He will also visit at other points in Iowa and Nebraska, and expects to get home by the last of July. While in Chicago Mr. Sebring purchased the flag decorations with which the gold room in the Congress Hotel was decorated for the Taft headquarters during the recent convention, and will use the same for decorating his auditorium at Plainfield, a city of about 30,000. Mr. Sebring has a number of interesting photos with him, noting the many changes which have taken place in his home town, which are of especial interest to his relatives."

PROGRESSIVE TICKET SURE SAYS HUTCHINSON

Will Try to Secure Control of Republican State Convention in Fall.

Trenton, July 6.—Discussing the third party movement today, Elijah C. Hutchinson, of this city, former State Senator and former State Road Commissioner, declared that the Roosevelt followers of this State would put a full ticket in the field. Mr. Hutchinson was the Roosevelt alternate to the Chicago convention from the Fourth Congressional District comprising Mercer, Hunterdon and Somerset counties. He said that the Roosevelt men would place legislative tickets in all counties not only for the purpose of winning seats in the Legislature, but also to secure control of the Republican State convention which will meet in this city the Tuesday following the primary election. This State convention will choose the presidential electors, and will be composed of the 60 candidates for the Assembly, the candidate for the Senate in the six counties in which Senators are to be chosen, and the holdover Republican Senators. Former Senator Hutchinson pointed out that if the Roosevelt party, duplicating its victory at the presidential primary in this State, could win a majority of the legislative candidates at the primary in September it would control the State convention and would nominate Roosevelt presidential electors. This would bring about the curious political situation of the Taft Republicans, although they have the regular ticket, being compelled to nominate their electors by petition, in the same form as the Prohibitionists.

Mr. Hutchinson referred to the fact that Roosevelt electors have been chosen already in six states and he stated that the movement to secure Presidential electoral tickets favorable to the Colonel would be made general in all the states. This plan, he declared, had been decided upon following the announcement by Colonel Roosevelt that he proposed to stay in the race for the Presidential election.

Assemblyman John E. Gill, of this city, who was a Roosevelt delegate to the Chicago convention, will seek re-election to the Assembly on the Roosevelt ticket. Last year he was elected as a regular and was very active in the Assembly, particularly in the fight over the school laws. Mr. Gill declares unequivocally that he proposes to continue to support Colonel Roosevelt, and he will go before the people at the September primary on a Roosevelt platform.

QUITS PRISON TOMORROW; FACES ANOTHER TERM

Trenton, July 6.—Upon his release from State prison today Robert K. Wardell, who has served a three-year term for false pretense, will be taken into custody awaiting the arrival of extradition papers from Illinois. He is wanted in that State to serve out an unexpired term of eleven months at Joliet.

About ten years ago Wardell gave a worthless check for $10. He was arrested, but refused to reveal his identity, having prominent connections in the East. He was released from Joliet in 1908, and came East without permission and in violation of the terms of his parole. His whereabouts were discovered by a man who threatened to reveal them, and Wardell raised $20 to satisfy the blackmailer. For this he was given the three-year term in New Jersey.

Wardell is a man of some accomplishments and has held a responsible clerical position at the State prison. It was he who drafted the amendment to the indeterminate sentence law which provoked so much discussion at the last session of the legislature.

C. E. SATTERLEE'S WILL DIVIDES ABOUT $200000

Freehold, July 6.—Bequests of $195,000 are made in the will of Charles E. Satterlee, of Atlantic Highlands, which has been admitted to probate in the Monmouth county surrogate's office.

Legacies of $50,000 each will be received by two nieces of the testator, Ethel Lee Abel and Emily S. B. Loretz, while to another niece, Mabel Carrington, is bequeathed $35,000. The testator's three nephews, Daniel N., Charles S. and Robert H. Carrington, are bequeathed $20,000 each.

The sum of $2,000 is bequeathed to Emily S. B. Loretz and Charles S. Carrington, to be held in trust, and, with accrued interest, used for the education of the testator's grandnephew, Edward Abel, when he arrives at a proper age to attend college. The residuary estate is bequeathed to the three nieces.

Mr. Satterlee's will was executed April 17, 1910. He appointed his nephew, Charles S. Carrington, and Edward W. Burr, executors.

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

We have the Bound Brook baseball team with us on the oval this afternoon with Slocum and Frederickson as the opposing moundsmen.

Both twirlers have a large following of supporters in this city and this added to the personal rivalry between the two pitchers should make the game a hot one.

The collapse of Manley after he had finished the three-mile run was due to the intensity of the heat and was the only thing to mar the afternoon's program. Manley's condition is not serious, however, and he will be around as well as usual within the next few days.

Oswald Gibbons, the little New York A. C., received the biggest applause of the afternoon when he lapped every runner in the three-mile event.

He set a terrific pace and was as fresh as when the started, at the finish.

A sixteen inning loss is a pretty hard thing for a twirler to take, especially after he has disposed of nine men along the strikeout route and held the opposition well in hand the whole game.

This is what was handed to Warhop, who was in the points for the Yankees yesterday against Walter Johnson, of the Senators.

The crippled New York team has been forced to swallow one dose of hard luck after another.

In order to get enough men to make a game possible it has been necessary for Manager Wolverton to get in the game at third base and Jack Martin, the Plainfield boy, is holding down second.

Martin pounded out a hit and took five chances without a misplay.

Matty came back afer his defeat at the hands of the Brooklyns on Independence Day and handed them a 6 to 1 beating yesterday.

The athletic events in the Olympic games start today in Sweden.

SOME NEW PLAYERS.

The manager of the Banker's team in the Manufacturers' Baseball League has announced a shakeup in his lineup for the Public Service team this afternoon. He will have a quartet of new men in the game, but has refused to divulge their names.

FIRST BAPTIST PROTEST THROWN OUT BY LEAGUE

The protest of the First Baptist team was thrown out at the regular monthly meeting of the Sunday-school League last night. The dispute arose over the outcome of last Saturday's game with the Park Avenue nine, when the First Baptists were defeated by a 6 to 2 score. The latter claimed that the field was in no condition to resume the contest after it was stopped during the first shower and that the umpire should have called the game at that time. Arguments were presented by the two captains and managers and also by the umpire who officiated at the game. After a brief discussion the executive committee let the matter stand as it was decided last week; a 6 to 2 score in favor of Park Ave.

This decision makes the league contest a closer race.

THINK OF THE BABES.

When you were trying to keep cool and find the breezes during these last hot days, did you stop to think of the poor, sick babies right here in Plainfield? There are several who need the air and change which could be afforded by the King's Daughters baby camp on the mountain. Won't you help send them there?

HOT WEATHER RULES FOR CARE OF HORSES

Load lightly, and drive slowly; stop in the shade if possible; water your horse as often as possible; so long as a horse is working, water in moderate quantities will not hurt him, but let him drink only a few swallows if he is going to stand still; when he comes in after work, sponge off the harness marks and sweat, his eyes, his nose and mouth, and the dock, wash his feet but not his legs; if the thermometer is 75 degrees or higher, wipe him all over with a wet sponge, use vinegar water if possible; do not turn the hose on him; Saturday night, give a bran mash, cold; and add a tablespoonful of saltpetre.

Do not use a horse-hat, unless it is a canopy-top hat. The ordinary bell-shaped hat does more harm than good; a sponge on top of the head, or even a cloth, is good if kept wet; if dry it is worse than nothing; if the horse is overcome by heat, get him into the shade, remove harness and bridle, wash out his mouth, sponge him all over, shower his legs and give him four ounces of aromatic spirits of ammonia, or two ounces of sweet spirits of nitre, in a pint of water, or give him a pint of coffee warm; cool his head at once, using cold water, or, if necessary, chopped ice, wrapped in a cloth; if the horse is off his feed, try him with two quarts of oats mixed with bran, and a little water; and add a little salt or suger. Or give him oatmeal gruel or barley water to drink.

Watch your horse; if he stops sweating suddenly, or if he breathes short and quick, or if his ears droop, or if he stands with his legs braced sideways, he is in danger of a heat or sun stroke and needs attention at once; if it is so hot that the horse sweats in the stable at night, tie him outside; unless he cools off during the night, he cannot well stand the next day's heat.

Rev. Henry Unglaub, of Newark, will preach at the German Reformed church tomorrow.

Beginning with tomorrow night, the Sunday evening service at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church will be omitted until further notice.

The Epworth League of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church for the rest of the summer will join in the regular Sunday evening services at 7:30 o'clock. The services will last for one hour. The first meeting will be held tomorrow night.

COUPLE HELD ON CHARGE OF GIRL

YOUNG WOMAN IS RESCUED

Answering Advertisement, She Goes to Farmhouse Near Burlington and Is Made Prisoner—Owner of Place Caught by Police In Woods.

Burlington, N. J., July 6.—Enticed to a lonely farmhouse near Florence under promise of employment and good wages as a waitress, pretty seventeen-year-old Elizabeth Pulitzer of Philadelphia narrowly escaped becoming a victim of an alleged white slave syndicate, according to a story told at a hearing before Magistrate Smith at the city hall court, the result of which was the holding of A. Schaeffer, a foreigner, and his companion, Mrs. Flora Marcus, under bail.

Government secret service men have taken up the trail exposed at the hearing, and further charges may be laid against the pair. Schaeffer's circulars are said to have been widely distributed by mail, having been introduced as exhibits by the state.

Rescued by a Detective.

The girl's story of how the Marcus woman had attempted to force her to meet several foreigners in the farmhouse, of how in fear for her life she fled to the woods, later returned and was attacked in her room and was saved by the almost miraculous appearance of Morris Weintraul, a Philadelphia detective, sent out by her sister and brothers to investigate the girl's surroundings, made one of the most sensational tales to which the local police have ever listened.

Schaeffer, the police say, advertised his place as "the Recreation cottage." The place proved to be the old Schuyer Rainer farm, a mile from Florence, which figured in police annals about five years ago in the daylight robbery of the safe of the old miser farmer Rainer.

Schaeffer ran to the woods when the police appeared, but was later captured and with the Marcus woman was brought to the Burlington jail.

BROKE INTO WILSON'S HOME.

Governor In Pajamas Found His Aid Retrieving Visitors' Baggage.

Sea Girt, N. J., July 6.—David S. Crater, secretary of state for New Jersey; Robert S. Hudspeth and Walter Measley, members of the Democratic national committee, and Colonel Archibald Alexander, Governor Wilson's military aid, left their handbags in Governor Wilson's library. When they returned, long after nightfall, to obtain them they found the family had retired and all the doors were locked.

Colonel Alexander was boosted into the house through an open window. He got the handbags, but while he was passing them out he heard a stern voice from the staircase say:

"Who are you and what do you want?"

At the same time the lights flashed on, revealing Governor Wilson in his pajamas and his aid passing a handbag through the window to some one on the outside. Explanations followed, and the committeemen were escorted to a nearby hotel, since there were no more trains for New York until morning.

W. U. RATES.

The Western Union Telegraph Company has by frequent changes reduced the maximum rate from $15 for a message of 10 words, date, address and signature free, which was in force in 1866 to $1 at the present time. From time to time intermediate rates have also been reduced and on July 1 last, the latest reduction became effective. This last change in the scale is caused by the introduction of a square rate of 30 cents. The changes are numerous. The points effected from Plainfield include all direct points in the State of Delaware, a large number of points in Maryland, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New York, Pennsylvania and most all points in Rhode Island and to several points in Vermont. For specific points the rates are obtainable at the local office of the company.

SUFFRAGISTS TO BUILD WOMEN'S SUMMER HOTEL

Through the generosity of Mrs. Elizabeth C. Oppenheim, president of the Newark Equal Suffrage League, the junior auxiliary has received a deed for a tract of land at Budd Lake on which to build a summer hotel for women and children.

The junior auxiliary is made up of young women whom the secretary, Mrs. Annie Bowne, says "will be eligible to vote in 1914," so confident are the women that they will be granted the ballot by that time.

The plan is to build a hotel that will accommodate about 200 girls and women during the summer months at a nominal charge. Women with children will also be considered. The plan for the hotel, which will be begun almost immediately, provides for about fifty sleeping rooms, a large dining hall, living rooms, laundry, pantry and kitchen. The junior league will be required to raise $2,000 toward the building of the house, a large sum of money having already been donated by an anonymous donor.

Lumber and other building material have also been donated, besides the plot of ground given by Mrs. Oppenheim. It is hoped by the members of the auxiliary, the parent society, to have the hotel ready for occupancy early next spring.

DEATH TOLL IS TWO IN STOKES AUTO CRASH

Camden, July 6.—Suffering from injuries received in an automobile smash-up Wednesday night, that caused two deaths, Edward Stokes, father of former Governor Stokes, is recovering at Cooper Memorial Hospital.

Ida Adams, fourteen years old, of Vinland, was instantly killed, Mrs. Emma Adams, forty years old, the child's mother, died of her injuries yesterday, not knowing that her daughter had been killed. Mrs. Fannie Wisham, of Vineland, who was injured about the upper part of her body, will recover.

The accident occurred at the Malaga Turnpike crossing, near Franklinville, where the automobile was demolished by a Pennsylvania electric train. The car was hit by an eastbound train while the chauffeur was trying to evade a west-bound train. Unable to stop for the latter, he put on speed to cross, unaware of the other train. The automobile belonged to Mr. Stokes. The chauffeur escaped uninjured. Mr. Stokes is president of the Millville National Bank.

The Adams girl was thrown upon her head, and was dead when picked up. The others were hastened to the Cooper Hospital. Mr. Stokes is suffering from severe bruises and lacerations. He was unconscious for a time.

G. R. MALBY, UP STATE LEADER, FOUND DEAD

Congressman Heart Failure Victim In New York Hotel.

New York, July 6.—Representative to Congress George R. Malby of Ogdensburg was found dead in his room at the Murray Hill hotel.

Dr. Peter Gibbons, the house physician, and Coroner Hellenstein agreed after an examination that death came suddenly from heart disease, for which the northern tier Republican leader had been frequently under treatment.

Nevertheless the congressman's end produced a great shock among guests of the hotel, where he had stopped for many years, and among the many political friends he possessed not only throughout the state, but the country.

Mr. Malby, who recently returned from Chicago, where he fought for Taft against Roosevelt as a delegate from New York, registered at the Murray Hill. He seemed well.

He went downtown. He returned, chatted with some friends and then went to his room. A maid knocked at his door. There was no response. She opened it. Mr. Malby lay upon a couch with his hands stretched toward a traveling bag which he apparently had tried to unpack.

MOTHER SEES SONS SHOCKED TO DEATH

Lightning Bolt Hits Two Boys Playing on Tree.

Fishkill Landing, N. Y., July 6.—Victor Ferry, thirteen years old, was instantly killed by lightning and his brother Thomas, aged ten, was so badly burned that he died later. The two boys had about finished picking cherries in a big tree in their yard. The mother of the two boys stood in the kitchen door watching her two youngest sons in the tree.

The thunder and lightning storm had only begun, and it was the second flash that killed one of the boys instantly and caused the other boy's death. The lightning struck the lads, tore their shoes from their feet and most of their clothing from their bodies. Both boys fell from the tree to the ground below, a distance of fifteen feet. When the boys fell the mother swooned. A peculiar thing about the storm was the fact that no rain fell.

OVERCOME WHILE DRIVING.

Former Assemblyman Badly Hurt In Fall From Wagon.

Millville, N. J., July 6.—Former Assemblyman Wilson Banks was overcome by heat while driving to Manamuskin and fell from his wagon, fracturing his arm and receiving internal injuries.

He was piced up along the roadside unconscious and a physician from this place who was summoned reports his condition serious.

Special Train Takes Number of Injured to Pittsburgh---Few on Train Escape.

DEATH TOLL OF 68 IN RAILROAD WRECKS.

On Independence day morning in a rear end collision between a stalled passenger train and an express train on the Lackawanna railroad near Corning, N. Y., forty-seven persons were killed and fifty injured.

Yesterday twenty-one persons, many of them children, were killed and several were injured when a heavy freight train ran into a passenger train on the Ligonier Valley railroad, a branch of the Pennsylvania, near Latrobe, Pa.

Latrobe, Pa., July 6.—Hundreds today visited the spot near here on the Ligonier Valley railroad, where twenty-one were killed and many fatally injured when a passenger train carrying many picnickers was telescoped by a heavy double header freight train. The accident happened at the fair grounds, about one and a half miles from Ligonier, and is said to be due to a misunderstanding of orders.

The coaches contained a large number of children who were being taken by Miss Matthews, a nurse at the home of George Seuft, president of the Ligonier Valley railroad, for a day's outing. All the children were either killed or sustained severe injuries.

Partial List of Dead.

The following is a partial list of the dead:

Mrs. Harry Dillon and baby of Wilpen, crushed to death.

William Campbell of Wilpen.

Frank McConnaughey of Ligonier, engineer, scalded to death.

George Byers of Ligonier, fireman, legs cut off.

Louise Rhoddy, eight, daughter of Henry Rhoddy of McCance, crushed to death.

Elizabeth Rhoddy, aged thirteen, daughter of above.

John H. Ankney of Ligonier, fireman, died on the way to Latrobe hospital.

Mrs. M. Essd, thirty-four, of Wilpen.

Mike Hudok of Wilpen.

Thomas Murr, fifty-two, of Latrobe, head crushed.

George Tosh of Wilpen, body crushed.

Frank Overton, ten, son of John Overton of Wilpen.

Mrs. John Overton of Wilpen, died on train going to Pittsburgh.

Unidentified foreign boy, aged twelve.

Unidentified Italian, legs cut off, head crushed.

Unidentified foreigner, aged about forty, head and body crushed.

George W. Hubley, Pittsburgh, son of secretary of Oil Well Supply company.

Matthew Niepont, Pittsburgh.

Mary Rhoddy, Ligonier.

Frank F. Beatty, engineer, Ligonier.

Every passenger on the train was either killed or injured. The passenger train left Ligonier at 3:45 o'clock in the afternoon on its regular trip up the branch. A heavy train of coal cars pulled by two locomotives were hurrying on to Ligonier. At a curve near the Denny race track the two trains came together with a terrific crash. The passenger train consisted of an engine and a coach. The heavy freight engines plowed through the coach, hurling the passengers in all directions.

Most of the passengers on the train were residents along the Wilpen branch who were returning from Latrobe and nearby towns after spending the day. The train had more passengers than ordinarily, every seat in the coach being occupied. There were a large number of women and children. The freight engines plowed through the wooden coach, crushing it as it would an egg shell. The coach was ripped to pieces. All the occupants were hurled to the roadbed, some fell in the path of the engines, while others were imbedded partly in the cinder and stone ballasting. The first engine of the double header pulling the freight train stopped after it had passed through the passenger coach, turned half way around and fell over on its side.

Conductor Charles H. Kuhn of the passenger train leaped when he saw the impending crash and received a broken leg. Engineer Dunlap and Fireman Frank Byers of the passenger train stuck to their posts and were uninjured. Dunlap and Byers are the only persons known to have been on the wrecked train who escaped injury.

Farmers near the scene of the accident and men who were at work at the Denny race track went to the assistance of Engineer Dunlap and Fireman Byers, who were pulling the dying and injured from the wreckage and laying them on the bank. A messenger sped with all haste to Ligonier and notified the residents there of the accident. In a few minutes every resident of the town who was able to walk was on the way to the race track. A frantic call for physicians and aid was sent to Latrobe.

Rushed to Pittsburgh Hospitals.

When notified of the wreck the Pennsylvania Railroad company, of which the Ligonier Valley railroad is a branch, sent a special train from Pittsburgh to Latrobe to bring the injured from the overtaxed Latrobe hospital to Pittsburgh hospitals.

The rescue train on the Ligonier valley steamed into the Latrobe station about 7 o'clock last night and was met by almost the entire town. Every conveyance in the town was at hand, and the injured were taken with dispatch to the hospital.

The wreck train of the Pennsylvania railroad from Pitcairn was ordered sent here. It is thought there may be more bodies in the wreckage. Coroner McMurray of Westmoreland county and several deputies came here and took charge of the dead in the local undertaking establishments. Fourteen dead are in Lowrey's morgue here, while the others are in Slater's and Hartman's morgues at Latrobe.

FORTY-SEVEN ARE DEAD.

That Is Latest Computation of Victims of Corning Wreck.

Scranton, Pa., July 6.—Revised official lists of the Corning dead give the names of thirty-four identified dead, with twelve unidentified and one missing, making forty-seven as total dead, with a possibility that in one case two names refer to the same body.

Vice President Loomis arrived for a conference with the interstate commerce commission representatives here. Loomis discussed the wreck and the suggestion of two engineers in a cab.

CAPTAIN HEWITT IS TRANSFERRED

Salvation Army's Local Chief to Finish His Labors Here Next Sunday.

SUCCESSOR IS NAMED

Adjutant Wall, of Elizabeth, to Be Placed in Charge—Captain and Wife Have Many Friends in This City.

Captain and Mrs. S. A. Hewitt, who for the past three years have been in charge of the Salvation Army work in this city, announced yesterday that they would conclude their services here next Sunday. The announcement was received with deep regret on the part of all those present, as well as many personal friends of the popular captain and his wife. They will be succeeded here by Adjutant and Mrs. Wall, who have been in charge of the army work at Elizabeth for the past two years. They will be given a reception here on Wednesday night, July 17.

During the three years that Captain and Mrs. Hewitt have been here they have accomplished a great deal. A little more than a year ago they conducted a special campaign at which time they cleared the army property here of all indebtedness. At present there is not a debt of any kind on the property.

Captain Hewitt came from Brooklyn to this city, while his wife, who resided in Burlington, came from the army training school here. The couple were married two weeks after being assigned to this city. They will take a month's vacation and at the end of that time will be given a post.

TEPPER BROS.' 5TH ANNIVERSARY

There are Six of 'Em and Their Slogan "Is More for Your Money."

Tepper Brothers, the dry goods merchants, are now celebrating the fifth anniversary of their coming to Plainfield by giving away valuable articles out of their large stock to patrons of the store. The slogan adopted by the firm, "More for your money," has been the means of building up a large business. Five years ago the firm purchased the present place of business from I. H. Boehm, and through progressive ideas has clearly won its right to the leading position it occupies today.

Tepper Brothers, for their are six of them, first began business at Selma, Alabama, where they first occupied a large block. Soon after locating in Plainfield the firm established a store in New Brunswick and nothing but success has marked its efforts. Max and Adolph Teper are in charge of the Plainfield store, devoting their entire time and attention to meeting every want of their many patrons. Recently the firm purchased auto deliveries for the Plainfield and New Brunswick stores.

ANNIVERSARY SERVICE AT SALVATION ARMY

The Young People's anniversary service attracted a large audience to the Salvation Army last night. There was a special program of recitations and songs, under the direction of Captain and Mrs. S. A. Hewitt. The following program was presented:

Opening song and prayer; song, "Everything Sings of His Love," the children; recitations, "The Lessons We Learn," Hannah Mallack; "I Love the Clover Best," Zettie Hall; "The Way to Heaven," Quintine Sweeney; "The Sunbeam's Errands," Hannah Dennison; song, "It Just Suits Me," the children; recitations, "Jack Tar," William Connett; "Her Name," Genevieve Sweeney; song, "Never Give Up," the children.

Recitations, "The Flower's Mission," Katherine Robbins; "What Pussy Said," Florence Connett; "If You Have a Message," Caroline Gutman; "The Little One's Speech," Maria Sweeney; song, "Come Thou Almighty King," the children; recitations, "The Children's Hour," Amanda Sweeney; "Signs of Our Father's Care," Hannah Mallack.

ENGINEER TO REPORT ON THE SEWER PLANS

George W. Fuller Will Confer With Steering Committee Here Tonight.

There will be a special meeting of the Steering Committee on sanitary sewers tonight, when it is expected that the plans and estimates for the proposed joint trunk line sewer with a disposal works on the Darling farm will be presented by George W. Fuller, the engineer engaged for that purpose. If these plans are adopted by the committee they will then be sent to the State Board of Health for its approval.

Just what the State Board of Health will do is problematical. Recently, when representatives of the interested municipalities visited Trenton they were much encouraged by the attitude of the board and were told to go ahead with the plans and present them when completed. However, there is a feeling that the opposition on the part of Piscataway Township may have some weight with the board if it does not effectually block the proposed improvedment. The Plainfield, North Plainfield and Dunellen representatives take a more optimistic view of the situation and are hopeful that permission may be given to locate on the Darling farm. After the plans are presented to the State Board of Health an early decision is expected.

7TH DAY ADVENTISTS' CAMP MEETING ENDS

Twelve Baptized in the Brook—Thirteen Nationalities Represented.

The camp-meeting of the Seventh-Day Adventists, on Park avenue, near Randolph road, came to a close last night after a ten days' session. Resolutions and plans affecting the work of the denomination for the coming season were passed. The evangelical work for the summer is to be carried on in gospel tents. Six of these tents will be pitched—two in Jersey City, one for the English and one for the Swedish; one in Trenton, one in Camden, one in Paterson. Pastor W. H. Smith, who conducted evangelical meetings for about ten days, corner Fourth street and Stebbins place, will remain in Plainfield with a tent and follow up the interest occasioned by the camp-meeting, beginning Sunday, July 21. Thirteen nationalities were represented.

As a result of the revival services held Saturday afternoon in the large pavilion, at which time some 150 persons went forward to the altar to consecrate themselves for service, baptism was held at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the brook at the foot of Westervelt avenue, when twelve persons were baptized, and others will be baptized upon return to their home churches.

Donations were given by the campers as follows: For educational purposes, $750; for foreign missions, $348.78, and for local work in New Jersey, $501.22.

The closing sermon was preached last night by Pastor J. E. Jayne, president of the Southern New England Conference, his theme being "The World Wild Message—Is Its Work Nearly Finished." It was shown that the Adventist denomination donates fourteen times as much per capita as the average denomination for foreign missions! and that this people who claim to have a world wide gospel message for the last days have their missionaries scattered throughout the world.

MISS NEWLAND SPOKE.

Miss Jessie M. Newand, superintendent of the Deaconesses Home of the M. E. church, Newark, was the chief speaker at the evening service at Grace M. E. church yesterday, which was in charge of the Women's Home Missionary Society. James J. Jeffreys, field secretary of the Anti-Cigarette League of America, made an address on the evils of the tobacco habit. Two were baptized and three were reeived in the church, one on probation and two by letter, at the morning service.

WILLIAM R. BEAL.

William R. Beal, aged 30 years, who died at Greenwich, Conn., on July 5, was buried at Hillside cemetery, this afternoon. Rev. John G. Currier, curate of Grace church, conducted the commital service at the grave. Mr. Beal formerly resided on Crescent avenue, this city, but removed to Greenwich several years ago.

WAS PLAINFIELDER KILLED IN PANAMA?

Dispatch Reports Death of R. W. Davis and it May Have Meant R. S. Davis.

The published despatch that among those killed in a fight at Panama was an American of the name of R. W. Davis has led Barton Davis, of the West End, to believe that the young man mentioned is his cousin, R. S. Davis, who has been a cashier in the employ of the Government at Panama for the past two years and a half. The Plainfielder considers that possibly a mistake has been made in the initials in telegraphing the name.

Mr. Davis prior to going to Panama resided in this city and was employed at the Park avenue office of the Public Service Corporation. He was offered the job of cashier in Panama and his letters home indicated that he was getting along well. He was located at Colon.

Barton Davis has telegraphed the War Department at Washington asking them to ascertain whether the man killed was R. S. Davis. The latter was born at Califon, Hunterdon county, and is widely known throughout that county as well as in this section.

THIRD ANNIVERSARY OF EAST END CHURCH

Special Sermon Marks Event at Netherwood Reformed—Missionary Preaches.

Special services marking the third anniversary of the Netherwood Reformed church were held yesterday morning and night. Rev. Royal A. Stout, the pastor, was in charge. The pastor preached at the morning service, his theme being "Building the House." There was special music by the vested boy choir under the direction of Horace J. Martin, and in addition Dr. T. G. Longbothum sang a solo.

In the evening, Rev. Frank Eckerson, who succeeded Rev. Daniel Rapalje, of this city, as the head of the Amoy Mission in China, addressed the congregation. He told of his work in China, describing the methods employed by him in teaching the gospel to the natives. Mr. Eckerson also displayed a number of Chinese flags. He concluded his talk by showing how the peope gather in the market places and how he talks to them. He pronounced the benediction in the Chinese language.

The Netherwood Reformed church was organized on July 4, three years ago, on which day the first services were held. Since then it has continued to grow and prosper. The present church membership is sixty-seven, while the enrollment of the Sunday-school is seventy-five. There is renewed interest in all departments and the outlook was never better.

The church received a birthday gift last week, when J. C. Hansen, a member, painted the church. Mr. Hansen donated the paint and his employes gave their services in putting it on the building. Public recognition of appreciation was made at the services yesterday.

CHURCH ALTERATIONS.

Dr. J. Ackerman Coles, of Scotch Plains, has offered to remodel the interior of the Baptist church in that place. The pipe organ will be removed from its present position in the rear of the edifice in the gallery to the front near the pulpit. This change has been discussed for several years and the board of trustees will doubtless accept the offer. At the present time Dr. Coles is having the old school-house remodelled into a clubhouse for the young people of the town, and when completed it will afford an attractive and convenient place of meeting for various amusements.

FUNERAL OF D. E. DAVIS.

Private funeral services for Daniel E. Davis were held this afternoon at the home of his daughter, Mrs. W. N. Houghton, 310 Grant avenue. Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, pastor of the First M. E. church, of which Mr. Davis was a member and organist for twenty years, officiated, assisted by Rev. J. O. McKelvey, pastor of Warren chapel. The burial was in Hillside cemetery.

3RD PARTY MEN CONFER TONIGHT

State Progressive Leaders Meet at Newark and District Ones at Elizabeth.

FOWLER CRAWLS BACK

Erstwhile Congressman Casts His Lot With G. O. P.—Chases Senatorial Rainbow—Mayor Moy Talks on Situation.

A meeting of Union County Roosevelt leaders will be held at the office of John K. English, in Elizabeth, president of the Roosevelt Progressive Republican League of Union county tonight. The meeting will be addressed by Edgar A. Knapp, who was a Roosevelt delegate from this county and who has declared that the renomination of President Taft was a deliberate steal.

Interest here centres around the report that former Congressman Charles N. Fowler will not take part in the movement to establish a third party. Mr. Fowler was a Roosevelt man before the Chicago convention, but it appears now that he does not so strongly favor the Colonel as to be willing to desert the Republican party altogether. The former Congressman, it is said, will be a candidate for the United States Senate.

If it is decided at the conference that it is advisable for the Union County Roosevelt supporters to join the third party movement, it is likely that they will put a county ticket in the field, and there is little doubt that they will have a candidate for Congress. Mr. Knapp has been mentioned in this connection, as has Charles W. Ennis, a Roosevelt delegate from Morris county. Mr. Knapp said that he has not determined whether he will make the race.

Mayor G. W. V. Moy, who was one of the alternate delegates to the National Republican Convention, will attend a meeting of State leaders in the interest of the candidacy of Theodore Roosevelt to be held at Newark tonight. Definite information will be given as to the mode of proceedure and as to what action is proposed in reference to the Roosevelt convention to be held in Chicago, August 5.

Mayor Moy is just as enthusiastic as ever concerning the nomination of Roosevelt and believes that the Colonel, if nominated, could be elected President in spite of the apparent strength of the Democratic ticket. He believes that while there are lots of people who admire Wilson especially for the reason that he is of the pronounced Progressive type, Republicans generally would prefer to vote for Roosevelt. It is the belief of Mr. Moy that should Roosevelt be nominated it would not take long for the third party to get into the full swing of the campaign which he considers would end in the election of the Colonel.

FOUR CONGREGATIONS UNITE IN A SERVICE

The first of the union services to be held Sunday nights during July and August took place at Trinity Reformed church last night and was largely attended by the members of the four churches uniting, the First Baptist, First Presbyterian, Trinity Reformed and First M. E. Rev. Dr Philip B. Strong, of the First Baptist, preached the sermon. Rev. J. Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, was in charge of the service. He also conducted the responsive Scripture reading. Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, pastor of the First M. E. church, read the Scripture lesson, St. John's Gospel, 10th chapter.

Trinity's quartet choir, Miss S. Etta Raybert, soprano; Mrs. Charles Tazewell Hutcheson, contralto; F. S. Cutter, bass, and E. D. Young, tenor, under the direction of Arthur L. Titsworth, organist, sang two anthems, with solo parts, while Miss Raybert and Mr. Cutter sang a pleasing duet as an offertory.

Referring to the tragic death of King Moab, upon which Dr. Strong based his sermon, he said that it made little or no difference as to how death should come to him for he was sure that it was well with his soul. He urged all to make their peace with God, to learn to love and serve Him.

The service next Sunday night will be held at the First M. E. church and Rev. Dr. C. E. Herring will be the preacher.

FUNERAL OF MRS. SELBY.

The funeral service of Mrs. Major Selby was held at 2 o'clock yesterday at the Mt. Zion A. M. E. church. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends. Rev. D. Sturgess, pastor of the church, officiated, reading the Scripture lesson and making an address. The burial was in Evergreen cemetery on Plainfield avenue.

MURPHY PLAYS PART OF THE REAL HERO

William H. Murphy, of North avenue, a locomotive engineer on the Jersey Central, took the title role in a dramatic rescue at Lake Hopatcong yesterday afternoon. The railroad man plunged into the body of water after a youth, who had ventured beyond his depth, and brought him safely to shore after a short struggle in the water.

The rescue took place off Halsey Island, where a number of Plainfield people spend the summer months in camp, and was witnessed by a large crowd of excited vacationists from the banks of the lake. The victim was unconscious when brought ashore, but quickly responded to "first aid" methods applied by Dr. Cox and Miss Ethel Humphrey, of this city, who conducts Sesrun Camp.

In making the dive for the helpless boy, Murphy misjudged the depth of the lake at that point and sustained a severe cut on the instep of his right foot, when he struck the bottom.

CO. K BOYS PREPARE FOR ENCAMPMENT

Hike to Holly Park and Spent Night—Surgeon to Examine Men Tonight.

Co. K, through Captain Charles Peterson, today received orders to participate in the joint maneuver encampment of the regular army and organized militia at Mt. Gretna, Pa., from July 15 to 24, inclusive, and tonight Captain W. Kempton Browning, assistant surgeon, attached to the 1st Battalion, Second Infanty, will be in Plainfield to examine the officers and men. This examination is compulsory and must be submitted to by every officer and man. It is made with a view to the detention and elimination from the camp of all contagious diseases.

The members of the company assembled in the drill hall at 320 West Front street, Saturday afternoon, in heavy marching order and marched out Park avenue to Holly Park, camping there over night and returning late yesterday afternoon. The trip was made for the purpose of gaining practical experience, not only in the handling of the camp equipment and the messing of the men in the field, but on the tactical handling of a company under the new drill regulations which have been brought out since the company attended the encampment last year. The encampment was carried out on strictly military lines and was the most successful and instructive one in which the company has participated as a separate organization.

Prior to leaving the grounds the company was drawn up in front of Milton Mendel's home and gave him three hearty cheers as an expression of appreciation for his courtesy in permitting the encampment on his grounds. Much credit is due Mr. Mendel for he not only gave the use of his grounds, but permitted the company to obtain water for cooking and drinking purposes from his own house and allowed the men to bathe in the beautiful artificial lake which he has recently built at great expense.

BOLACK-FIDENSKI.

Miss Mary Fidenski and William Bolack, both of South Plainfield, were married in the Polish R. C. church, Perth Amboy, yesterday. The wedding party made the trip to and from South Plainfield in two automobiles furnished by the Thompson Automobile Company, of this city. The bride and groom departed on a wedding trip after the ceremony and upon their return will reside on Church street, South Plainfield.

OUTING OF KNIGHTS.

Watchung Council, Knights of Columbus, held a picnic on David T. Kenney's estate on the Watchung Mountain, near Scotch Plains, yesterday afternoon, and over one hundred persons made the trip in automobiles and stages. The afternoon was devoted to playing various games. The committee in charge included Charles Shirley, Clinton Shannan, David Doyle and Robert McCormick.

LOCAL TRAIN SERVICE.

Councilman F. L. Holt has been in communication with W. G. Besler, vice president and general manager of the New Jersey Central, with a view to having the 12 o'clock, noon, express from New York stop in Plainfield on Saturdays. Mr. Holt received a letter from Mr. Besler informing him that he did not think it would be possible to stop the express at Plainfield.

AUTO TURNS TURTLE; YOUNG WOMAN HURT

Miss Edna Smith Suffers Internal Injuries as Result of the Mishap.

Miss Edna Smith, aged 21 years, of South Stirling, is at her home suffering from serious injuries, as the result of an automobile accident, yesterday afternoon. In company with a young woman companion and Hortense Horton, Jr., and his brother, William Horton, she was passing through Liberty Corner when the accident occurred. The auto was making a sharp curve in the road, when some thing went wrong with the machine. It swerved to the far side of the road, struck a ditch and turned turtle, throwing the occupants out.

Miss Smith was pinned beneath the car. Her companion escaped with slight bruises as did also the men. Dr. Bebout, of Stirling, gave "first aid" treatment and afterwards took the young women to their homes. Miss Smith suffers greatly from pains in the back, and although no bones appeared to be broken the physician says she has been injured internally.

The Hortons are sons of Hortense Horton, who recently purchased "Highland Farm," formerly owned by Guy D. Peck, now of North Plainfield. The automobile was badly damaged.

FIRST SERVICE HELD AT FRESH AIR CAMP

Geo. A. Chapman Presides and Rev. Dr. Anderson Delivers Address.

The opening service of the Netherwood Fresh Air Home was held yesterday afternoon at 2:45 at the home on Berkeley avenue. Rev. Dr. Charles M. Anderson was the chief speaker of the afternoon, his subject being, "The Two B's—Bee and Be." He told the children and mothers of the honest and industrious bee and compared it with the human being, showing how the bees were more faithful and untiring workers than men. He said be kind, be good, be honest, and be obedient.

George A. Chapman, of West Seventh street, presided in the absence of C. W. McCutchen, of North Plainfield. Mr. Chapman spoke of the great work of the home in the past five years and outlined its work for this year. He told of the untiring personal efforts of Miss Currie, who has devoted her life to the uplifting and care of thousands of needy and sick, having taken care of 44,000 children at the Day Nursery in New York city last winter. He said the home differed from other homes because a moral and spiritual atmosphere, peculiar to Miss Currie's personal care, always pervaded the camp. The songs by the children's choir, under the direction of Clifford A. Braider, and the solos by Mrs. Dickey and Miss Kaiser, of the choir of the First Baptist church, were a delightful part of the program.

During July and August, Miss Currie expects to care for 4,000 mothers and children, each person staying at the home ten days. Nearly $1,600 of the $3,000 necessary to maintain the home has been raised, leaving $1,400 to be contributed by the generous and charitable citizens of Plainfield. Forty-two dollars were realized on yesterday's offering. The public is invited to the Sunday afternoon services.

ONLY TWO ARRAIGNED BEFORE JUDGE DEMEZA

August Bendle, of 206 Manson place, was brought before Judge De Meza in the city court this morning on a charge of abusing his wife. After a severe reprimand he was allowed to go on a suspended sentence.

John Waldron, of South Second street, charged with assaulting Christopher Meyers, of 716 West Sixth street, was given the option of paying a fine of $8 or spending forty days in jail. He preferred incarceration. Meyers had been engaged by Waldron's wife to paint her house and when her husband returned home, under the influence of liquor, he pulled a ladder from under Meyers, who was busily engaged in painting the house. Meyer was precipitated a distance of twenty feet to the ground but picked himself up and had Waldron arrested.

H. C. KREBS REAPPOINTED.

C. N. Kendall, State School Superintendent, with the approval of the State Board of Education, has reappointed H. C. Krebs county superintendent of schools of Somerset county.

YOUNG MAN A VICTIM OF HEAT

Clarence Schorb Overcome in Jersey Central Ferryhouse Dies Quickly.

WAS RETURNING HOME

When Physicians Arrived Mr. Schorb Had Succumbed—Employe of P. S. C.—Twenty-four Years of Age.

Clarence Schorb, aged 24 years, son of William A. Schorb, of this city, died last night in the ferryhouse of the New Jersey Central at Liberty street, New York. Dr. Schields, of the Hudson Street Hospital, New York, who was summoned, declared that death was due to heat prostration.

Mr. Schorb, who resided at 420 West Second street, with his wife and little daughter, was employed by the Public Service Corporation. For a period he was in charge of the company's stables in this city and at the time of his death he held an office position. He was born in this city and had always lived here.

Mr. Schorb and his wife were returning from Coney Island, where they had been spending the day. His body was taken charge of by a New York undertaker, while Mrs. Schorb and a woman friend, who was with her, returned to Plainfield. This morning the dead man's father and Undertaker George Cole went to New York to arrange for bringing the body here for burial.

RATEL SAYS HE WAS WITH A PLAINFIELD GIRL

Elizabeth, July 8.—Stephen Ratel, of Roselle, was put on trial in the county court, today, charged with burglary at the home of William McKee on Union avenue, Roselle, of $300 worth of silverware, etc., either on the night of February 21 or early in the morning of February 22 last. Ratel sought to prove an alibi by testifying that at the time he was supposed to be committing the burglary he was in the company of a Miss Olga Latear, of Plainfield. All attempts to find the woman have failed. Ratel declares that she lives in Plainfield. It is hinted that the woman knows something about the affair, but no trace of her can be found. The trial will be continued this afternoon. Samuel Schleimer represents Ratel, while Assistant Prosecutor Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., is prosecuting the case.

SECOND REGIMENT MEN WIN SEA GIRT SHOOT

The first team of the Second Regiment, of which Major William B. Martin, Sergeant J. R. Dabb, Lieutenant Charles Bohm and Corporal Walters, of Elizabeth, are members, won the first prize at the regimental shoot at Sea Girt. Besides the members from Elizabeth, the team included Captain Sylvester, of Princeton, and Lieutenant A. R. Phillips, of Plainfield.

The tests of skill were 200-yard surprise fire, 600 and 1,000-yard slow fire and one skirmish run. The scores all around were slightly above the average, even under the unfavorable conditions, a wind blowing across the range and a heat mirage rising in waves.

Captain Sylvester, of Princeton, won the Governor's trophy. He was escorted to the Little White House and the trophy was presented to him by Governor Wilson with an appropriate speech congratulating the successful marksman. In the champion marksman match, Captain Sylvester's score was 138.

The second team of the Second Regiment included Captain M. A. Farr, of Princeton; Sergeant A. E. Mayer, of Trenton; Private Value and Corporal Bonnell, of Elizabeth, and Lieutenant H. E. Davis and Sergeant Carnaville, of Somerville. The First, Second and Fourth regiments entered two teams and the Third and Fifth entered one team.

MISS THAW'S CONDITION.

Miss Bertha Thaw, of New Germantown, who attempted to take her life by shooting on July 5, remains in about the same condition at Muhlenberg Hospital, where she has been since the shooting. The physicians still believe that the young woman has a chance for recovery, the only thing feared being complications.

100 DEGREES TODAY.

The thermometer of the State Trust Company in front of its building registered 100 degrees at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The thermometer is in the shade.

VETERAN PRINTER AND EDITOR DIES AT NEWTON

Newton, July 8.—Succumbing to stomach trouble, which had forced him to relinquish business eight weeks ago, Robert E. Foster, associate editor of the Sussex Register of this place, died at his home in Liberty street Saturday. Mr. Foster, who was sixty-eight years old, had devoted his whole life to the printer's trade, had, with the exception of a few years, been attached to The Register staff, either at the case or on the desk.

Mr. Foster was apprenticed to John H. Hall, founder of The Register, at the age of sixteen. Having learned the trade, he worked for several years on the Newark Journal, returning to Newton, where he again joined The Register force. For forty-six years thereafter, until his last illness, he had not missed a publication day. Among the former editors of the paper under which he served was Benjamin B. Edsall and later former City Counsel Joseph Coult, of Newark.

The decedent was a son of the late David L. Foster. He is survived by a widow and two sons, Fred L. Foster, of Newark, and Robert E. Foster, Jr., of Stillwater. The funeral services have not yet been completed.

CALL FOR THIRD PARTY IS ISSUED

Signed by Roosevelt Leaders In Forty States.

HOLD CONVENTION AUG. 5.

Chicago Is Selected as Place—Senator Dixon Says That Platform Will Be "Decidedly Scientific"—Leaders of Various States to Choose Delegates.

New York, July 8.—Politicians throughout the country today are discussing the call for a convention of a third party, headed by Colonel Roosevelt. The convention will be held in Chicago Aug. 5, either in the Coliseum or Orchestra hall. Senator Dixon issued the call, which is signed by Roosevelt leaders of forty states. It is addressed "to the people of the United States without regard to past or present differences."

The party will probably be called the Progressive National party. The convention will decide as to that. Eight states—Maine, North Carolina, Delaware, South Carolina, Arkansas, Mississippi, Idaho and Nevada—are not represented in the provisional committee which signed the call for the convention. Senator Dixon explained that in all these states the Roosevelt faction controls or has a chance to control the regular Republican organization, hence the omissions.

The method of choosing delegates to the convention will be left to the leaders of the various states. Probably they will be chosen in conventions. Senator Dixon said that the time is too short for primaries. One or two states have already had Roosevelt conventions.

Said Senator Dixon:

"The men at this convention will be worth going to see. You'll find them the highest type of men that ever sat in a political convention. As to the platform, nothing has been decided except that it will be a highly scientific one, setting forth issues that are nearest to the people—issues which both the Chicago and Baltimore conventions ignored. For forty years platforms have been a mess of platitudes. This will not be one.

"At this convention," the senator went on, "there will be no steam roller, no cash register, no pay clerk, no guillotine."

The call is as follows:

To the people of the United States, without regard to past political differences, who through repeated betrayals realize that today the power of the crooked bosses and of the privileged classes behind them is so strong in the two old party organizations that no helpful movement in the real interests of our country can come out of either; who believe that the time has come for a national progressive movement, a nation wide movement, on nonsectional lines, so that the people may be served in sincerity and truth by an organization unfettered by obligation to conflicting interests, who believe that the government by the few tends to become and has in fact become government by the sordid influences that control the few.

Want Co-operative Legislation.

Who believe that only through the movement proposed can we obtain in the nation and the several states the legislation demanded by the modern industrial evolution; legislation which shall favor honest business and yet control the great agencies of modern business so as to insure their being used in the interest of the whole people; legislation which shall promote prosperity and at the same time secure the better and more equitable diffusion of prosperity; legislation which shall promote the economic well being of the honest farmer, wage worker, professional man and business man alike, but which shall at the same time strike in efficient fashion—and not merely pretend to strike—at the roots of privilege in the world of industry no less than in the world of politics; who believe that this type of wise industrial evolution will avert industrial revolution; who believe that wholesome party government can come only if there is wholesome party management in a spirit of service to the whole country and who hold that the commandment delivered at Sinai, "Thou shalt not steal," applies to politics as well as to business.

Invite All to Join.

To all in accord with these views a call is hereby issued by the provisional committee under the resolution of the mass meeting held in Chicago on June 22 last to send from each state a number of delegates whose votes in the convention shall count for as many votes as the state shall have senators and representatives in congress, to meet in mass convention in Chicago on the 5th day of August, 1912, for the purpose of nominating candidates to be supported for the positions of president and vice president of the United States: Alabama, Oscar R. Hundley; Arizona, Dwight B. Heard; California, Hiram W. Johnson, Chester H. Rowell, Charles S. Wheeler; Colorado, Ben B. Lindsey; Connecticut, Joseph W. Alsop, Flavel S. Luther; Florida, J. H. Gregory, Jr.; H. L. Anderson; Georgia, Julian Harris; Indiana, Edwin D. Lee, Horace C. Stilwell; Illinois, Medill McCormick, Chauncey Dewey Laverne, W. Noyes; Iowa, John L. Stevens; Kansas, Henry J. Allen; Kentucky, Leslie C. Coombs; Louisiana, John M. Parker, Pearl Right; Maryland, Charles J. Bonaparte, E. C. Carrington, Jr.; Massachusetts, C. S. Bird, Matthew Hale; Michigan, Theodore M. Joslyn; Minnesota, Milton D. Purdy; Missouri, W. R. Nelson; Montana, Joseph M. Dixon; Nebraska, Arthur C. Ray; New Hampshire, W. J. Beattie; New Jersey, Everett Colby, George L. Record, J. Franklin Fort; New Mexico, George Curry, Miguel A. Otero; New York, W. A. Prendergast, Oscar S. Straus, Woods Hutchinson, Timothy L. Woodruff, Chauncey J. Hamlin, Henry L. Stoddard; North Dakota, A. Y. Moore; Oregon, Henry W. Coe, L. H. McMahan; Ohio, James R. Garfield; Oklahoma, George L. Priestly; Pennsylvania, E. A. Van Valkenburg, William Flinn, Gifford Pinchot, William Draper Lewis; Rhode Island, Henry J. Doughty; South Dakota, R. T. Vessey; Tennessee, George T. Taylor; Texas, Cecil A. Lyon; Utah, C. E. Loose; Vermont, Charles H. Thompson, E. W. Gibson; Virginia, Thomas L. Moore; Washington, Miles Poindexter; West Virginia, W. M. C. Dawson; Wisconsin, H. F. Cochems; Wyoming, Joseph Carey.

MARTINE SAYS ROOSEVELT IS NO FACTOR IN FIGHT

Washington, July 8.—Judging by the dispatches from Sea Girt and a lot of others from Washington, the militant Democracy all over the country is unified and most harmonious, so far as the Baltimore convention is concerned. Senator Martine, of New Jersey, voices that idea enthusiastically. He says: "I don't believe that President Taft can carry three States. I don't consider Theodore Roosevelt a factor anywhere in the battle that will be fought to a finish in November. Those of the Republican Progressives who are sincere are for Governor Wilson, and neither they nor I can see any good or valid reason why there should be a third ticket in the field, no matter whether it is a Rooseveltian ticket or a third party ticket by any other designation.

"However, taking President Taft and Colonel Roosevelt at their best, their supporters standing by them loyally, we'll carry this country in November and sweep it like a cyclone.

"I am firmly convinced that Woodrow Wilson has captured the imagination of the American people and that, coupled with his practical work of clean politics and real reform in New Jersey, will make him invincible.

"From all that I see and hear and understand, the November election will be a revolution, bringing blessings in its train to our country and of infinite service to our party."

As an instance and an "undoubted evidence" of Wilson's strength, Martine said he had received over fifty letters within the last couple of days from men whom he knew in different parts of the country, asserting that they have been Republicans all their lives, but will "seize this opportunity of serving their country by voting for Wilson."

"I haven't seen the Governor lately," the Senator went on, "but I feel that he is so well known to the whole people by his anti-convention talks and lectures and writings that there will be no necessity for him to make any more speeches in public or to make a campaign on the stump. The country has had enough of that buffoonery, and I want our party, in its coming campaign, to be the antithesis of the procedure of Taft and Roosevelt, and I'm satisfied that the people will appreciate that dignified conduct.

"The Governor has solidified the Democratic party in New Jersey effectively and perfectly, so much so that there are now no factions, no trouble whatever within our party lines, and we'll carry the State by 75,000 majority. From recent conversations with Leader Murphy and Senator O'Gorman, of New York, I'm perfectly satisfied that we will carry the Empire State by a handsome majority. We will also sweep Connecticut, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania. Letters which I have just received from heretofore stalwart Republicans in Pittsburg declare the writers' intentions to vote for Wilson and give most encouraging reports of conditions in that locality.

"The prospects of triumphant success all over the land are the most flattering I have every known in my experience of sixty-three years. Republican Senators today assured me of their own accord that they know in their boots that Wilson will be elected.

"I do not want to have their names published at this time, but I most earnestly assure you that three of them within an hour have done so. One of them a Western Senator, who was not long ago a Republican office holder, under this Taft administration, says that he is now analyzing the votes and the work of the National Committee, and of the credentials committee at Chicago, and he tells me that, if he ascertains that Taft's nomination was secured through crookedness or tainted means, he will surely come out for Wilson and make public his reasons for doing so."

TO CALL MORE EXPERTS IN COURTHOUSE CASE

Jersey City, July 8.—Eight more experts are to be called by the prosecution when the trial is resumed today of the eight men indicted for alleged conspiracy to defraud Hudson county when the new courthouse was built. Justice Swayze and Judges Carey and Blair will sit in Special Sessions to hear the case. The State's case will be completed in about five days, Prosecutor Garven believes.

Two more of the defendants are to be exempted from prosecution, it is said, Theodore L. Frankel, who assisted Architect Hugh Roberts in drawing the plans, and Anthony J Murray, clerk of the county building committee, which had charge of the erection and did not keep the minutes. Others of the original ten defendants who were granted trial in Special Sessions, W. G. Andrews, a contractor, and Leonard C. Herbst, a draftsman of the Art Metal Construction Company, have already been freed of indictment.

WISHBONE CLUB TO ENTERTAIN

Whitehouse, July 8.—The Wishbone Club of East Whitehouse, which devotes its time and money to providing the concrete sidewalks of the town and making other village improvements, has decided to hold its third annual fair on the grounds on the Ryman Farm on Thursday and Friday afternoons and evenings, August 1 and 2. The attractions will include a vaudeville show, a Jack Horner pie, a Japanese tea room, fancy work booth, Dutch oven, demonstrating booth, mystery express office and others. Supper will be served from 5 to 9:30 o'clock by a committee in charge, and ice cream, cake, candy and soft drinks will be on sale. Mrs. Joseph H. Lindsley is chairman of the committee in charge and the other members of it are Miss Ethel A. Daggett, Mrs. E. V. Naylor, Mrs. J. Lambert Pickell, Mrs. Frank O. Seals and Mrs. Samuel L. Emley.

EFFICIENCY BOARD ORGANIZES.

Sea Girt, July 8.—The members of the Economy and Efficiency Commission, which was appointed under a joint resolution passed by the last Legislature to report on the advisability of reorganizing and consolidating State departments, organized here Friday. Senator Walter E. Edge, of Atlantic county, was elected president; James F. O'Melia, of Jersey City, secretary, and Howard B. Tindall, of Trenton, clerk.

THE THREE PARTIES.

"To the people of the United States without regard to past political differences" is the address mark on a public call issued by sixty-three men who for years have been conspicuous figures in the Republican councils of the nation of the several States in which they reside. It is the announcement that the Progressive party, conceived at Chicago on June 22, will be born on August 5. Its baptism on that date will be marked by the nomination of candidates for the Presidency and Vice-Presidency and by the adoption of some rules of guidance for the youngster in the political arena which will be known as a platform.

Forty States are represented among the signers and there are included three Governors, two United States Senators, several Congressmen and several former Governors, two former United States Ministers and jurists and one college head. The new party will gather within its fold not only Republicans but Democrats and others of various political faiths in the past as the introduction to the call indicates. Included among the signers are several who have been prominent in Democratic councils and it is said to be extremely probable that a Democrat will be on the ticket.

All doubt as to whether Roosevelt will be a nominee for the Presidency is set at rest by this announcement of a Progressive party convention. The only question that remains unsolved, and which will not be solved until the election is held in November, is what will be the effect of the third party movement? Can Roosevelt win? Will he get sufficient electoral votes to be second in the race. Or will he run a poor third? In political prospects the man's wish is father to the thought. We are in the first flush of one of the most bitter and hotly contested campaigns in our country's history. Judging by the tenor of the predictions heard, it seems no time for calm, dispassionate judgment.

Some would have it that with Roosevelt entering the lists, Taft's hopes are vanquished and that the Democratic standard bearer will win a signal victory. Others say that the effect of the Rough Rider's candidacy will be to draw away from the Democratic colors the thousands who would desert the Republican camp and rally around Wilson rather than do battle for Taft. These, it is argued, will go to Roosevelt and thereby cut considerably into the strength that Wilson would have had. Others claim that thousands of Republicans though angered over the Chicago result, would be loyal to the regular ticket in preference to siding with the Democrats, and that now these will be found in the ranks of the Roosevelt camp. There are a dozen supposed cases to be put. But it is all guess work; so why the bother.

As to that part of Ernest R. Ackerman's contributed editorial on Saturday mentioning the judiciary the constitution says "The judges, both of the Supreme and inferior courts, shall hold their offices during good behavior." That, probably, was the start in this country of the policy known as civil service. The delegates who sat in the constitutional convention of 1787 came direct from the people who had just passed through an era of riot and passion, making insecure the government under the Articles of Confederation. In the New England States judges had been driven by mobs from the bench and the partisanship of faction was in full swing. It was to prevent the re-enactment of such affairs as Shay's rebellion that the constitution was drafted and adopted. What the country needed was a safe, stable and strong government and the country has practically enjoyed that condition of affairs since the various States ratified the Constitution of the United States. Among the provisions of the constitution the one quoted by Mr. Ackerman has probably contributed more than any other to the safety of all the people in their rights and privileges. This country has no place for a partisan judiciary.

It is a popular though mistaken notion that the nomination of Woodrow Wilson for the Presidency marks the first time that a Jersey man has been so honored. General Winfield Scott and General George B. McClellan were both Jerseymen and were both candidates for that high office.

In Roosevelt, Wilson and Taft, three of America's greatest seats of learning are represented. The former President is a Harvard man, the President, a Yale man and shall we say the next President, or just the Governor, a Princeton man.

This is a healthy nation. If you don't believe it watch for the winners at the Olympiad.

COURT FURTHER CURBS SQUIRES' POWER

Jersey City, July 8.—That justices of the peace have no jurisdiction in actions brought against drivers by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals is the burden of a decision written for the Court of Errors and Appeals by Chief Justice Gummere. A copy of the decision was received by James D. Carpenter, a lawyer, of this city, Saturday. The court decided that the society's actions against drivers should be civil and should therefore be brought in a district court, a police court or the Common Pleas Court.

The case was brought to the attention of the errors court through an appeal taken by the S. P. C. A. of Hudson county. An agent of the society caused the arrest of Ralph Russ, of Hoboken, for mistreating one of his horses. He was taken before Justice of the Peace George F. Seymour, of Hoboken, and fined $25. He took an appeal, and the action of the court was set aside by Justice Swayze. The appeal to the Court of Errors was then taken by the society. The decision affirms the action of Justice Swayze. Carpenter represented Russ.

NEW CHAPEL FOR LEBANON.

Whitehouse, July 8.—The consistory of the Reformed church at Lebanon has just awarded the contract for a new chapel to B. L. Bell, of Cranford. The price to be paid is $2,000, and the structure is to conform as much as possible to the architecture of the present church edifice there. P. C. Van Nuys, of Somerville, is the architect. The building committee is composed of Martin B. Hoffman, Samuel L. Cox, Rev. William J. Lonsdale, Augustus Jenkel and Lucas A. Voorhees. The horse sheds have been removed to a place in line with the other sheds, and this will make room for the new structure at the west end of the church. The chapel will be of one story with a good-sized kitchen in the rear. The chapel is to be 30 by 40 feet and the kitchen 15 by 20. It is expected to have the building ready for use by fall. Work will soon be started.

FINED FOR SHORT WEIGHTS.

New Brunswick, July 8.—Declaring that there was nothing meaner than a tradesman giving short weight to his poor customers, Judge Peter F. Daly fined Peter Larsen and Gross Brothers $250, with costs, and Frankel & Pasersky $200, without costs, for selling short weight coal at Perth Amboy. The next time they are convicited the defendants will go to jail, the court said.

"SUNNY JIM" SHERMAN.

Friends of James Schoolcraft Sherman declare that he would rather attend a ball game than preside over a meeting of the senate. They doubtless exaggerate to a certain extent, but as a matter of fact that famous smile of his is never so much in evidence as when its owner has left the duties of state far behind and is safely ensconced in the grand stand.

THE VICE PRESIDENT'S "SUNNY JIM" SMILE.

Mr. Sherman was greatly pleased when the Republican convention renominated him for vice president, but it was not until the news that the Washington team had won its seventeenth straight game that he gave proof of the fitness of his famous sobriquet.

"Sunny Jim" is now in his fifty-seventh year, having been born in a suburb of Utica, N. Y., on Oct. 2, 1855. He is a great favorite in Washington, and no social or state function is considered complete without him and his smile.

In spite of his severe illness of the past year Mr. Sherman declared that he feels as well as he ever did, and if the camera is any criterion this must be so.

A ZOOLOGICAL CAMPAIGN.

Remarkable Roster of Animals In the Political Ark of 1912.

What with the irruption of the Missouri "houn' dawg" at an early stage of the preconvention proceedings, the adoption by the Alabama delegates at Baltimore of the rooster as an Underwood emblem, which some Democrats say should supplant the traditional donkey, it seems safe to predict that this will be, to a greater degree than any of its predecessors, a zoological campaign. M. F. Kilgore, who wore the rooster on his hat, was an Alabama delegate. Besides the donkey, we already had the elephant as the emblem of the G. O. P. and the camel, which has been semiofficially recognized as the animal prototype of the Prohibition party. It was perhaps because of its relationship to the Teddy bear, which became a "best seller" on the strength of the rough rider's name, that the California delegation's bear standard, taken from the coat of arms of the Golden State, was so readily accepted as the oriflamme of the progressive revolt at Chicago. It would seem like desertion of a faithful mascot if the colonel and his political friends should drop the fuzzy little beast, yet a chance utterance of the ex-president to the effect that he felt "like a bull moose" may lead to the choice of the antlered king of the woods over the humbler plantigrade as better typifying the ardor of the insurgent forces.

So the menagerie will be very much with us for the next four months, and when the turmoil is over in November some hide will have been nailed on the national barn door—but whose?

Cheerful Information.

In the olden days a semaphore was erected on Telegraph hill in San Francisco. It was used whenever a vessel appeared in the offing. One arm at right angles indicated the coming of a sloop; one arm upright said that a schooner was seen; both arms at right angles was the signal for a brig; one arm at right angles and the other upright meant a full rigged ship, and both arms upright announced the approach of a side wheel steamer. They were playing a melodrama at the opera house. John McCullough was the hero. He rushed upon the stage with both arms upraised and exclaimed, "What is this?" Half a dozen gallery gods shouted in chorus, "Side wheel steamer!" and McCullough's subsequent heroics produced derision from the audience.—Los Angeles Times.

"WHAT IS THIS?"

Swift's Joke on Partridge.

Partridge, the almanac maker, who taught old Moore his business, will be remembered as the victim of an extraordinary practical joke played on him by Dean Swift.

Against Partridge's almanac for 1708 the dean published a rival almanac, predicting Partridge's death on March 29, about 11 at night, of a raging fever. And on March 30 appeared a pamphlet giving an account of the almanac maker's death, with his confession that he was an impostor. This was followed by Swift's "Elegy on the Death of Mr. Partridge," which so completed the deception that the Stationers' company struck Partridge off the rolls and applied for an injunction against the publication of almanacs in his name.

Partridge advertised that he "was not only alive, but was also alive upon March 29." But no one believed him.

TOOK HIM DOWN A NOTCH.

The Old Man Thought the Official Rated Himself Too High.

Professor Willis Moore, chief of the weather bureau, enjoys a joke on himself as well as when it is on the other fellow and tells with new appreciation of an encounter he had with an umbrella mender in a small town in Illinois. Having an hour to while away till train time, Mr. Moore strolled down the street and, passing a battered and seedy looking fellow mending umbrellas, stopped to chat with him. The talk turned on politics, and the old fellow proved to be an ardent Bryanite. Quite a crowd collected as the discussion went on, and several times in the sallies and retorts that passed between them Mr. Moore got the laugh on the umbrella mender.

It was a cold, raw day, "and suddenly," said Mr. Moore, "the thought came to me, 'Here am I, well clothed, well fed, prosperous, making sport out of this poor old derelict for a lot of idle bystanders!'" And he began to think how he could square himself. Remembering that there was a little rip in his umbrella, he asked if it could be repaired. Without a word the man took it, threaded his needle and, taking the few necessary stitches, handed it back.

"How much?" asked Moore, knowing that the job was worth not more than a nickel.

"Twenty-five cents," replied the man, looking him squarely in the eye.

Smilingly Moore went into his pocket and handed out the quarter, saying good humoredly: "You made a mistake, my man. You could have got 75 cents out of me as easily at 25."

The umbrella mender silently looked him over from head to toe, then, shaking his head and turning to the crowd impressively, said, "I've traveled from New York to San Francisco and from Mobile to Duluth, and I know a seventy-five cent gent when I see him."

Flowered Organdies Again In Fashion's Favor.

Flowered organdies are again fashionable, though as yet they are seen only in high class circles, and some of the dressmakers are turning out midsummer frocks of delicately flowered organdies and of quaint, sprigged dimities that are certain to be much in demand by midsummer.

An extremely attractive frock or organdie was seen recently made with a quaint fichu, trimmed with lace edged frills. The skirt was also trimmed with several flat lace bordered frills.

Plain linen with eyelet embroidery linen makes this very attractive gown. This model is carried out in all white, but touches of color are often used on such a costume.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

FRUIT WATER ICES.

WATER ices made with fresh fruit are the most acceptable of summer desserts.

As a few turns of the vessel every five minutes will do in making ices it is not necessary to have a freezer to make them. They can be prepared in a tin pail, which may be whirled around in the vessel containing the ice and salt.

Water ices are made like ice cream except that water takes the place of cream in their composition and they need less turning to bring them to the right consistency.

Here are some recipes for fruit water ices given according to the directions of a French chef:

Cool and Wholesome.

Pineapple Ice.—Put a pound of lump sugar in a saucepan. Add to it a pint of water and boil for ten minutes. Meanwhile peel a sufficient amount of pineapple to weigh just three-quarters of a pound when peeled. Place this in a mortar and pound to a fine paste. Then add to it the juice of a large lemon freed from pips and strained and the boiled sirup. Mix very thoroughly and rub through a fine wire sieve. Freeze and turn out carefully.

Made With Berries.

Currant and Raspberry Ice.—Put a pound of sugar in a saucepan. Add a pint of water and bring to the boil; continue boiling for ten minutes. Meanwhile rub one and a half pounds of red currants and a quarter of a pound of raspberries through a hair sieve into a clean basin. Add to it the juice of two lemons, freed from seeds and carefully strained, a few drops of either cochineal or carmine coloring and half a pint of cold water.

Mix all together and add the boiled sirup. Mix again, strain through a fine strainer into the freezer and when three parts frozen place it in fancy molds. Leave for two hours and then turn out and serve.

Plain raspberry ice may be made by substituting a pound of ripe raspberries for the combined currants and raspberries.

Peaches or Apricots.

Apricot Ice.—Rub six or eight ripe apricots through a fine sieve. Crack the stones and take out the kernels. Place these in a mortar, add to them a dessertspoonful of orange flower water and pound them to a paste. Mix them with the apricot pulp and reserve.

Place a pound of the best sugar in a clean saucepan. Add to it a pint of water, bring to the boil and continue boiling for ten minutes. Then add the juice of two large lemons carefully strained, half a pint of cold water and the apricot pulp. Mix, strain into the freezer and when three parts frozen put into molds. Peaches may be used instead of apricots.

Anna Thompson.

THE SUMMER FROCK.

Simple Linen Tub Costume Very Popular.

WHITE LINEN FROCK.

Never were linen tub frocks so adorably simple and unpretentious. This graceful model of white linen buttons all the way down the front and is smartened with a broad collar and cuffs hand embroidered in black wash cotton enlivened with touches of pink. White buttoned boots show under the skirt hem in a most attractive fashion.

WHAT VOTES HAVE NOT DONE.

Women Without Ballots Have Been Good at Municipal Housekeeping.

"Men for generations have proved what the ballot cannot do," writes Anna Steese Richardson in McCall's Magazine. "Capable, even brilliant business and professional men, armed with the ballot, have not been able to keep cities clean and healthful nor to run them economically and honestly.

"The so called experts or officeholders, voted into place by these clever men, have become, like unguided, unsupervised servants in an unguarded kitchen, slovenly, dirty and often dishonest. The woman with the ballot will discover that she must follow municipal servants into the municipal kitchen and see that her orders are obeyed.

"At times she may even have to roll up her sleeves and tackle the work in her own efficient, unwavering, housewifely fashion. Let her refuse to do this and she will find that the ballot in her hand, as in that of her husband, her son or her brother, does nothing for her city, sex or family."

Sashes and Streamers.

A charming novelty is a long sash of liberty satin that fell some distance beyond the gown of the wearer and formed a sort of little train. We shall probably see many of these sashes this summer on the lighter frocks—the spotted net, the marquisette and the like. Sometimes, however, the streamer will take its rise on the hat, and this is quite as picturesque and graceful, though it has the inconvenience of dragging the hat backward and disarranging the hair. For both purposes soft satin is used. On the hat it starts as the trimming of an immense capeline of fine straw, tuscan or chip, tied in a monstrous two looped bow at the back, and thence one long end descends to the ground. One woman who had adopted this hat had fastened her ribbon en route to her left shoulder with a diamond safety pin, leaving a fairly loose curve to allow of any movements of the head and not disturb the set of the hat.

The Tailor Made Shirt.

Twilled silk shirts are being made the accompaniment of tailored skirts, and the shirts when cut in the corselet manner have an outside belt of soft suede and show above the belt a double frill, scant in front and at the sides and rather closely plaited at the back.

There are numerous forms of collar for the twilled silk shirt, but the favorite is of a turnover shape, with pointed fronts. In some models eyelet holes are punched, and the sides are drawn together by means of narrow silk or cord knotted and left to fall with tasseled ends.

The shirts are made in the simplest possible manner, with three large pearl buttons down the center, or they are given no visible fastening at all, the necessary opening being concealed beneath the box plaited front.

Something New.

The sanitary envelope moistener is something quite new and is really very useful as well as attractive. It is simply a small china box about the size and shape of a lip salve case with a few small holes at the top through which the water comes to moisten the envelope and stamp.

MILLINERY MATTERS.

The Shepherdess Hat In Style Again.

LEGHORN HAT FACED WITH BLUE.

The hat bent down at the front and back and flaring at the sides is an old favorite revived this summer. This shepherdess hat is of leghorn faced with nattier blue and has a trimming of white and blue hyacinths.

Smartness of White.

The woman of limited income should not be tempted by colored linen frocks. They are not a wise investment when gowns must necessarily be few in number. They are almost sure to fade, and even while they possess all their original glory they cannot be touched up and varied by colored cravat and belt as the white outfit can. Such is the imperishable beauty of white that even the inexpensive material known as sailcloth, which can be bought for about 30 cents a yard, can be made to look smarter than the average colored linen. Those venturing upon costumes of sailcloth should, however, to make assurance doubly sure, see that the material has been well shrunk before it is made up.

Hoarding "Trash."

"Most women dread housecleaning, and it is little wonder if one could see into their attics and closets," says the Woman's Home Companion. "They have the 'saving mania' and have indulged it all their lives, and many a one, especially she who has stayed in the old home, has not only her own, but the accumulations of generations of women before her.

"How can any sensible woman be so selfish and so self abusive at the same time as to keep what benefits her in no possible way and yet makes her so much extra work every year? Why not dispose of things to the best possible advantage as they become useless and save half the work of the spring overhauling as well as do a great deal of good?"

For the Matron.

There is little distinction between the gowns of young girls and the matron's frock this season. Still, there are small differences that to the initiated are observable. The stunning gown of black and white silk seen in the illustration is an ideal one for the matron who is inclined to be a trifle stout. Bands of plain black silk give long lines, and the basque effect in the back is particularly good.

Ability, Put to Bed, Has No More Earning Power Than an Infant.
Because of the vacation season, many are exposed to an unusual hazard of accident. Travel, during the summer months, is heavier than at any other time of the year and is therefore more prolific of accidents; mountain-climbing is attended with numerous dangers; bathing frequently results in drowning; and the innumerable other pastimes associated with summer outings are more or less productive of accidents. Consequently there is a greater need, during this period, for Accident Insurance. Renting of all descriptions a specialty.

HAHNE'S BIG SALE.

Going into the second week of the great July Furniture Sale Hahne & Co., of Newark, announce that there will be practically as wide a choice as was offered those who came last week. While the vast stocks presented for selection enable everyone to find just what they want, and, as it is all reduced in price, it is easy to make selections. This week brass and enameled beds, cots and divans, especially useful in the summer time will be featured and they will be obtainable at diminished prices. The double advantages offered in the July Sale—lowered prices and the Club Plan System of easy payments make furniture buying almost pleasurable and profitable. Many other sales of importance, especially the sale of men's wear begins today and continues throughout the week.

Woman's Part In the Conventions

WITH six states where women are on a political equality with men and with delegates to the national conventions for the selection of presidential candidates from three of the six, it would seem that the cause of woman's suffrage was in a decidedly more flourishing condition here than in England, where the sisterhood languishes in prison at hard labor. American women have always scorned the strenuous window smashing, stone throwing methods of the Englishwomen, and their common sense reaps its reward. At Chicago Mrs. C. O. Blaney and Mrs. Florence Collins Porter of California were the two most interesting delegates.

Mrs. W. A. Davis of Chicago was the "big noise" of the convention, second only in interest to the one from Oyster Bay, for whom she tried to stampede the convention. She is a young and handsome woman, and when she rose to her feet and hurrahed for Teddy the men gallantly shouted with her, although it was noticeable that they afterward voted according to schedule.

The most interesting woman delegate of all was Mrs. Annie Hamilton Pitzer of Colorado Springs, Colo. She and Mrs. May Arkwright Hutton of Spokane, Wash., were the two women delegates to the Democratic convention at Baltimore. Mrs. Pitzer is the sister-in-law and firm champion of the Hon. Champ Clark, for whom she was instructed to vote. Mrs. Pitzer is a leader in reform and philanthropic work in her state.

Mrs. Hutton was a leader in the recent campaign that won woman the franchise in Washington.

Mrs. Emma Loy, a quiet little woman from Los Angeles, Cal., was an alternate at the Democratic convention.

FREE OF CHARGE—The most thorough and accurate examination of the sight that is possible and there is no chance of error in being fitted to glasses by the DAMMERS SCIENTIFIC METHOD.

This examination is worth at least $5.00 of any one's money.

We make a pair of glasses as low as $1.00 with as fine a gold-filled frame as can be made.

When you are tired and sick of having your eyes fitted by the old-style way of fitting glasses, or the so-called subjective test of putting lines and letters on the wall and asking whether you can see this or that letter and line; when you have been all through this many times and have been unable to get fitted correctly, come to us and we will look through your eyes and take the exact optical focus and error of your sight and give you comfort and relief.

If you have headaches, dizziness, nervousness or any trouble resulting from eye-strain, come to us and have your eyes measured by the new system from which wonderful results are obtained.

SAVE FOUR GIRLS FROM DROWNING

Canoe Capsizes; Three Are Thrown Into Water.

RESCUED BY LIFE GUARDS.

Another Young Woman, Seized With Cramps Several Hundred Yards From Shore, Is Brought to Land by H. W. Kelly of Port Richmond.

Jersey City, N. J., July 8.—Three young girls, who gave their names as Bertha Moore, Olive Smith and Jennie Johnson of this city, were rescued from drowning at Midland beach, Staten Island, by Life Guards John McCullough and William Frie.

The girls were brought ashore in an unconscious condition and were attended by Dr. Devlin of New Dorp, who restored them to consciousness after working for three-quarters of an hour.

The girls went to Woodland beach to camp over Sunday. They got into a small canoe in bathing suits and paddled over to Midland beach. When about 400 yards from the beach the wash from a passing steamboat struck their craft and capsized it. The girls were thrown out, but clung to the canoe until it filled and sank. Then they cried for help.

McCullough and Frie, whe were patrolling the beach, put out on a life raft.

Several thousand persons at the beach saw another rescue when Miss Lillian Driscoll of Jersey City was saved from drowning in the surf by H. W. Kelly of Port Richmond. Miss Driscoll, who is a good swimmer, was several hundred yards from the shore when she was seized with cramps. She cried for help. Kelly heard her and swam to her. He was cheered by the crowd as he brought her ashore unconscious.

MOTORMAN INHERITS $25,000.

Had Disappeared For Years and Was Found In California.

Caldwell, N. J., July 8.—After an absence of four and a half years Charles A. Zabriskie, through the efforts of his sister, Mary Elmira Van Duyne, has returned to his wife and two daughters in the little village of Montville, near this place, and this week will have $25,000 in cash, with interest that has accumulated since the death of his father, Albert J. Zabriskie, which occurred a short time after the son had disappeared.

The son in his long absence never communicated with his wife or any relative, and for a time it was believed he was dead. His sister, Mrs. Van Duyne, did not believe this and devoted a recent pleasure trip to searching for him. She knew that Bert, as he was called, always had a fondness for California, and she went to several cities in that state. While in Pasadena she was waiting for a trolley car and to her surprise saw that her brother was the motorman. He did not recognize Mrs. Van Duyne, but when the car reached its destination the woman greeted him, and a happy reunion followed.

SLAIN ON A JERSEY ROAD.

Body of James Russo of Philadelphia Found Near Vulcanite.

Phillipsburg, N. J., July 8.—James Russo, thirty-one years old, of Phillipsburg was found murdered on a lonely road near Vulcanite. His money and valuables were gone. There were finger prints on his neck that indicated that the man had been strangled to death.

He left home saying he was going to a barber's. That was the last seen of him by his family. Russo is survived by a widow and two children.

BELLEVILLE HAS BIG FIRE.

Thousands of Gallons of Lubricating Oil Are Destroyed.

Belleville, N. J., July 8.—Thousands of gallons of lubricating oil contributed to a spectacular blaze at the plant of L. Sonnerborn Sons at this place. The factory was destroyed, entailing a loss of more than $200,000.

The plant will be rebuilt at once. Pending its construction the business of the concern will be confined to its other plants at Petrolia, Pa.

TO APPREHEND MAGUIRE.

Wealthy Liquor Dealer Charged With Contempt of Court.

Trenton, N. J., July 8.—An order was signed by Chancellor Walker committing Aloysius J. Maguire, a wealthy wholesale liquor dealer of Philadelphia, to jail for contempt of court in refusing to pay his wife back alimony amounting to $2,874.

Maguire, however, is out of the state, and the order cannot be enforced until he is apprehended.

Scalded In Tub of Water.

Camden, N. J., July 8.—Falling into a tub of water, Harry Davis, three years old, of this city, was taken to the Cooper hospital badly scalded about the body. The child suffered awful agony, but will recover.

VICE PRESIDENT SHERMAN

He Is Taking Rest Cure at His Home In Utica.

SHERMAN TAKING REST CURE.

Vice President Expects to Be Able Soon to Begin an Aggressive Fight.

Utica, N. Y., July 8.—Vice President dent Sherman, by direction of his physician, is taking a three weeks' rest cure at his home in this city and, according to a statement by his secretary, is rapidly regaining the rugged health he enjoyed previous to a few weeks ago, when he suffered a slight indisposition in Washington.

The vice president sleeps late each morning, spends many hours on the veranda of his home, motors a little and otherwise is taking matters easy. No business cares are permitted to disturb him, and this program will be continued for the next two weeks.

BATTLESHIP STRUCK BY FALL RIVER BOAT

New Hampshire and Commonwealth Crash In Fog.

Newport, R. I., July 8.—The Fall River steamer Commonwealth, Captain W. B. Appleby, soon after leaving here for Fall River, rammed the battleship New Hampshire, Captain James H. Oliver, in Narragansett bay, inflicting damages to both that will necessitate their going to drydock. Luckily there was no casualty.

There were not many going about on either vessel at the time, and it so happened that the boats struck at points where there were no sleeping quarters. The steel and wooden hulls as a result of the impact crumpled up like paper despite the fact that the Commonwealth was beginning to slow down and her paddle wheels were beginning to reverse.

The collision was due to fog, one of the thickest that has enveloped the bay, making it impossible to see a boat's length. The New Hampshire was at anchor abreast of the naval training station 500 yards from the battleship Kansas and 1,000 yards from the Louisiana.

The New Hampshire was the closest inshore and therefore the nearest to the path followed by the Commonwealth on her way from this city to Fall River. Wireless Operator Whitehead of the liner notified the naval torpedo station here of the accident immediately after it happened. This message was picked up by the other battleships in the bay, and there was preparation made to go to the assistance of the colliding vessels. Fortunately this was not necessary.

POSTMASTER M'HARG IS OUT.

Dismissed For a Bitter Attack on the President In His Newspaper.

Washington, July 8.—Lee B. McHarg, postmaster at London, Ky., has been peremptorily dismissed from office by President Taft. McHarg is the publisher of the Mountain Echo, a well known Kentucky publication. He is a Roosevelt man.

McHarg printed in his paper editorials in which he made bitter personal attacks on the president. He referred to Mr. Taft as "a rat in a corner" and "a man of straw."

Postal officials say the president as a general policy in not making reprisals upon men who oppose him politically. An exception was made in the case of McHarg, it was said, because of his bitter personal attacks upon Mr. Taft.

UTILITY BOARD ORDERS CROSSING GATES BACK

Trenton, July 8.—Replacing of the gates at the Paterson avenue crossing in East Rutherford is directed in an order issued by the Board of Public Utilities Commissioners to the New Jersey and New York Railroad.

The order requires that the gates shall be operated at all hours of the day and night by a competent man. The gates were recently removed by the railroad, which sought to justify its action upon the ground that other arrangements had been made for adequately safeguarding the crossing.

In a memorandum accompanying the order, the Board pointed out that the gates had been maintained up to June 1 last. In the hearing that followed their removal, the Board said it had not been shown that there had been any decrease in the number of trains operated over the crossing or in its use by the public.

The Board was convinced that present conditions at the crossing are not as they should be. The order is to be carried out by July 25. At the crossing in question the Public Service Railway tracks cross those of the railroad at grade.

DON'T FORGET THE BABIES.

The baby camp on the mountain, maintained by the King's Daughters, is about to be opened, but funds are low in the treasury of the City Union. Your help is needed. Your fifty cents and your dollar will do their share in bringing back to health some of Plainfield's sick babies who urgently need the fresh air and the nursing of the camp.

TO PASS ON PLANS FOR TUBERCULOSIS HOSPITAL

Trenton, July 8.—The State Board of Health will meet at Morristown on July 29 to give a public hearing upon the application for approval of the plans and site for the proposed tuberculosis hospital at Morris Plains. If the State board gives its consent, the Freeholders of Morris county are prepared to spend $35,000 in establishing the institution. Both the objectors and advocates of the hospital will have an opportunity to present their views at the hearing.

The board has also arranged to give a hearing at the State House on July 16, upon the application for permission to establish two cemeteries in Woodbridge township, Middlesex county. The Township Committee has given its consent for the two cemeteries, one Roman Catholic and one Reformed church, and from this decision residents in the vicinity have appealed to the State board.

SEES SUCCESS OF NEW PLAN FOR OCEAN GROVE

Ocean Grove, July 8.—Although the leaders of the boroughites movement here claim that the proposed lessee board of twenty-five to be elected Thursday, August 1, will never materialize, the Rev. Dr. Aaron Ballard claims success is already assured for the scheme.

The leaders, said Dr. Ballard, were expected to oppose the scheme, but from data collected by the association, no doubt remains, he declared, that the mass of the lessees are in favor of the plan.

The meeting will be held in the Association Hall, and every lessee, women included, will have equal suffrage in the choice of twenty-five representatives, a number equal to the strength of the association. This body will have, according to the plan, an equal voice with the association in the outlay of the year's appropriation.

The association and the lessees' representatives, it is planned, shall first meet separately and make tentative budgets. Then a conference shall be held and the two lists reduced to a compromise budget.

YANKEE ATHLETES IN NEW TRIUMPHS

Clean Sweep of 100 Meter Race at Stockholm.

THORPE HAS A WALKOVER

Carlisle Indian Captures Pentathlon. Americans Show Splendidly In Trial Heats and Semifinals—Eight Hundred Meters Race Apparently at Their Mercy.

Stockholm, July 8.—The United States is in the lead of all other nations in the Olympic games. In the 100 meter race three American runners finished first, second and third, respectively. The only foreign competitor was in the "also ran" class.

With the exception of the javelin throw won by the Swedes, this was the first final decided. Ralph C. Craig of Detroit, Alvah H. T. Meyer of the Irish-American A. C. and Donald F. Lippincott of the University of Pennsylvania were the men to finish in the order named and thus place all the points to the credit of America.

One other event was decided, and this also was won by an American, the Carlisle Indian, James Thorpe. He came out with flying colors in the pentathlon, winning with only nine points scored against him. F. R. Ble of Norway was second and another American, J. J. Donahue, Los Angeles, third.

In the events in which trials or semifinals were held the representatives of the United States performed as creditably as they did on the opening day and qualified so many men that the chances for other nations to score heavily are very slim. In the running high jump six of the eleven men who cleared 183 centimeters and qualified for the final were Americans, England getting two of the remaining places and Sweden, Finland and Hungary the others.

Americans Score Again.

In the semifinals of the 800 meters America also came through with flying colors. Two heats were run, four in each to qualify for final, and of those chosen eight America supplied six. Hansbraun of Germany and G. M. Brock of Ontario were the men that slipped into the final with Uncle Sam's lads, the four British runners being shut out. America's representatives in the finals are: James M. Meredith, Mercersburg academy; Melvin W. Sheppard, Irish American Athletic club; H. N. Putnam, Cornell university; C. S. Edmundson, Seattle Athletic club; D. S. Caldwell, Massachusetts Agricultural college, and Ira N. Davenport, Chicago university.

In the trials for the 10,000 meters America, though making a good showing, did not shine so distinctly. Louis Tewanima, the Carlisle Indian, gained a place in the second heat, and Louis Scott of the South Paterson Athletic club finished third in the Americans to qualify, as George Bonhag did not start, and Kramer and Hallowell were outrun in the first heat.

American swimmers performed valiantly, though there is a chance that a misunderstanding will keep them out of the final competition without an opportunity to measure their speed with the foreigners. The heats of the second round were run off, and Duke Kahanamoku, who made a record for the 100 meters, won his trial, beating two Germans. In the third heat Kenneth Huszach of the Chicago Athletic club won, and Perry McGillivray of the Illinois Athletic club was second. Nine men came safely through the second round and, in addition to the three from the United States, Germany and Australia each qualified three.

After the second round was over the Swedish committee announced to the American competitors that owing to the smallness of the field there would be no semifinals, but that all the men would be allowed to compete in the final. Then without notifying the Americans the officials changed their plans and ran off the semifinals. The American swimmers, of course, were not present to compete.

Germans' Bloodless Victory.

When their absence was noticed the Swedes wanted to defer the races, but the German swimmers saw an opportunity of scoring in the absence of the Yankee cracks and insisted on running the trials off. As they had called the Germans out for the semifinals, the officials finally consented to let them swim, the result being a bloodless victory for the Germans. Manager Halpin of the American team immediately made an appeal to the general committee. There is a belief that the committee will order the semifinals swam over again or that all the second round winners will be allowed to start in the final, as first announced by the Swedish committee.

The manner in which Craig won the 200 meters proved him without doubt to be the fastest sprinter in the world. Drew, the negro runner, from the Springfield high school, who broke down at the finish of his second trial heat after he had crossed the tape a winner, got on the mark a few minutes before the time for starting the race. He tried to stride through for a few yards, but found that the muscles of his left thigh were useless for making speed. His physicians told him that if he put the slightest strain on the injured leg it was probable that he would never be able to run again.

BOUND BROOK IS OVERWHELMED

Scotch Plains' Batters Pound Slocum While "Warry" is Almost Invincible.

VISITORS ARE SHUT OUT

Only Two Bound Brook Men See Third and Neither Survives—Frederickson as a Relief Man—The Score 11 to 0.

Bound Brook tumbled in on Scotch Plains yesterday afternoon, when the latter team was getting one of its batting streaks out of its system and the result was a 11 to 0 contest for the home aggregation. The Bound Brook nine came down with Louis Slocum in the box but his offerings were pounded to the four corners of the lot, and Frederickson was pressed into service, as a relief man, only to receive the same kind of a reception as "Lou." The registering continued throughout the contest until the home nine had piled up eleven counts behind old "War Horse" McLaughlin, while he was holding the visitors to five scattered hits and no runs. Only two men arrived at the third station for Bound Brook and these were held safe while McLaughlin disposed of the next man.

THREE DIE AS 60 ARE HURLED INTO WATER

Thirty Unconscious While Doctors Work Over Them.

New York, July 8.—Three persons are known to have been drowned and others are supposed to have been injured through the collapse of a runway connecting a float and a pier at Point Breeze. Sixty men, women and children had narrow escapes from death when the structure crumpled up like paper.

That the death list is not ten times as heavy is due to the prompt assistance rendered by cottagers and campers at the point. Of the sixty dragged from the water thirty were unconscious and laid out along the beach while doctors and campers worked over them to restore them to consciousness.

The police were on the spot grappling and searching for the bodies of two known to have been drowned and others reported missing.

Point Breeze was turned into a hospital settlement, more than thirty of those who were rescued being too ill to leave the island. These were cared for by the cottagers.

DISPUTE FOLLOWS PITCHERS' BATTLE

IN THE SEVENTH ROUND

Eddie Stallings Stole Home and Bound Brook Protested When Umpire Called Him Safe—A Hotly Fought Contest.

For seven long innings Frederickson and Slocum fought it out for the diamond supremacy on the Oval Saturday afternoon, only to have it all end in a decisiveless contest, as far as actual twirling was concerned. While it lasted, the game was one of the best battles seen on Crescent Oval this season, but a close decision ended the fray with Plainfield in the lead in the last half of the seventh. Bound Brook, headed by their manager, Charles Newhouse, paraded off the field after Eddie Stallings was declared safe when he pulled off a pretty steal of home.

Plainfield drew first blood in their half of the second on Emery's scorching single through short and Slocum's wild throw when he tried to catch Emery napping at first. Bound Brook evened matters up in the third and took the lead in the sixth.

The local lads came to the bat in their half of the seventh determined to sew up the game. Eddie Stallings and Harter got around to third and second respectively, with two down. At this juncture, Stallings decided it was time to make good on his steal for home which had been postponed from the initial round by an untimely foul by Dalton, who was at the bat. Eddie was off with the motion of Slocum's arm and was declared safe by the umpire. Bound Brook fans began to pile onto the field and for a time a riot was expected, and while the argument was in progress, Harter, who had made his way to third, very appropriately sneaked home, putting Plainfield in the lead. This was too much for the Bound Brook nine to swallow all in the space of a minute, and they immediately made their way back to the little town of hills. Although the decision was questionable from a non-partisan fan's point of view, the visitors were a little hasty in determining their course and Newhouse seemed a little one-sided in what he evidently thought the proper thing to do under such an unfortunate circumstances. Umpire Langdon awarded the game to Plainfield with a 9 to 0 verdict.

Both twirlers were at their best Saturday and the pitching honors were about even up to the time they quit. Freddy was steady at all times and allowed but four widely scattered hits. Slocum, on the other hand, allowed one more hit, but gave a pretty exhibition of tightning up with men on the bases. Several times the sacks were occupied by local men with only one down and Slocum invariably held them on, while he disposed of the next two batters.

Grimes, the little golden top fielder of the visitors, monopolized three of his team's four hits and played a fine fielding game.

Eddie Stallings displayed some of the cleverest base running seen on the Oval in many moons and also got away with a timely single. Harter was also handy with the stick for the local nine and counted for two healthy wallops.

TEAM STANDING IN MFG. LEAGUE

No Changes in Position as Result of the Games Played on Saturday.

The three games played in the Manufacturers' Baseball League Saturday afternoon, caused no change in the standing and all the teams are holding down their regular berths assigned to them when the shakeup occurred last week. The Commercial nine celebrated its return to its old time style of playing by putting it over the Saurer aggregation to the tune of 13 to 3. The Public Service came out of the swatfest with the Bank people on the big end of 19 to 15 score, and G. R. E. took a well played game from the Spicer nine by the score of 6 to 3.

R. G. E. HOLDS ON TO TOP POSITION

Its Game With Spicers Ended With Victory in One Hour and Ten Minutes.

FLEMING'S GOOD WORK

Dolan, for Defeated Nine, Also Shines On the Mound, But His Support Not up to the Standard—Score 6 to 3.

The R. G. E. held its own with the Commercials at the top of the Manufacturers' League by taking a well played game from the Spicer team Saturday afternoon by the score of 6 to 3. The contest between these nines was without doubt one of the best ever seen in this section and was ended in the remarkable short time of 1 hour and 10 minutes. The R. G. E. aggregation piled up four runs in the first trio of rounds, but its lead was ever in doubt and the Spicers had a number of chances to break through in the scoring but were held well in hand by Pitcher Flemley, who allowed but six scattered bingles and fanned an even dozen.

Spicer held back in the scoring line until the seventh, but finished up strong with one count in each of the last trio of rounds.

Dolan, who did the heaving for the losers, was not far behind Flemley. He struck out 8 and was touched up for seven bingles. His support waivered at critical times and this accounted for the R. G. E. lead.

Reich, Kelley, Compton and Flemley wielded the willow with effectiveness for their respective teams and De Nitizio pounded out a circuit clout.

PUBLIC SERVICE DEFEATS BANKS

Poorly Played Game in Which Wild Fielding Was Altogether too Conspicuous.

NINETEEN TO FIFTEEN

Hitting the Ball a Frequent Feature—Montross Contributes a Double and Three Singles for His Nine.

Parker Field was the scene of a slugging match between the Public Service and Banks' nines, of the Manufacturers' Baseball League, Saturday afternoon, when the former team nosed out a 19 to 15 victory. The fielding of both teams was woefully loose, each nine contributing eight misplays, which eventually were turned into runs.

Harriman, formerly of the off Holy Cross baseball team, and Demler twirled for the losers, while Montross took care of the burden for the Public Service. The Company's pitcher fanned eight men and also contributed a double and three singles for his team.

SAURERS BEATEN BY COMMERCIALS

Result Made Practically Certain After the First Inning is Ended.

MISPLAYS WERE MANY

Conover's Work on the Mound Satisfactory—Conshay Not in Fit Condition—McVoy, Banks and Emmons Handy With the Bat.

The Commercial baseball aggregation of the Manufacturers' League returned to its old time playing form Saturday and turned in a 13 to 3 verdict over the Saurer people. The winners put the game on ice in the first stanza, when they rolled up a quintet of registering counts, and from then on the outcome was never in doubt. The Commercial lads secured their win by clean walloping, for they had a decided off-day in the field, making a total of ten misplays. Conshay, the usual steady and reliable third sacker, was the chief offender along this line, and was charged with five of the errors around the difficult station.

"Rope" VanZandt, the regular twirler of the Clerks, shifted his position to one behind the bat and handled the shoots of Conover to perfection. Conover twirled an excellent game for his team, allowing but a trio of scratchy hits and struck out 10. Conover's work was all the more remarkable as he was working under a decided handicap with a set of unsteady backers behind him.

The Saurer nine played a better fielding game but were weak at the bat. McCarty was the one exception along this line and he managed to garner two of his team's three hits, one of them being a two bagger.

McVoy, Banks and Emmons were the consistent swatsmiths for the winners and their hits brought in a majority of the scores for the team.

BEERS QUALIFIES FOR THE FINALS

Last Year's Champion Plays in Fine Form on the Country Club's Courts.

WINS THREE MATCHES

Lipcomb, a Novice, and Vandeventer, a Small Boy, to Play Third Round This Week and Winner Will Meet Collins.

Splendid progress was made in the tennis championship of Plainfield, which began Saturday afternoon on the courts of the Plainfield Country Club. The field of twenty-two players, which comprised practically all the best in the city, was brought down to the final round in the lower half of the draw, while one of the semi-final brackets was filled in the upper half.

Albert D. Beers, of the Plainfield Country Club, a former holder of the championship title, did the best work of the day, winning three matches and qualifying for the final round, which will be played next Saturday afternoon. He won all three of his matches easily, although the last one, played late in the afternoon, was against Harry T. Eaton, one of the best players of the club. Beers was in excellent form and as W. B. Cragin, Jr., last year's winner, is not competing, he is regarded as having an excellent chance of winning.

Three are left in the upper half. A. M. Collens, Ludlow Vandeventer and C. E. Lipscomb, the last two will play their third round some day this week and the winner will play Collens to see which will meet Beers in the final round.

Although very warm the day was excellent for tennis and a number of the matches were closely contested. Sidney Gough, who was looked upon as a championship possibility, had a very hard match with S. W. Merrihew, and it left him in such a condition that he fell and easy victim to C. E. Lipscomb, who is a comparative novice. The match between Lipscomb and Vandeventer, who is a mere lad, is likely to be a close one. The summaries follow:

Preliminary round—Sidney Gough defeated S. W. Merrihew, 6-4, 2-6, 6-2; Ludlow Vandeventer, defeated Philip Vandeventer, 6-4, 7-5; H. S. Eddy defeated E. M. Daniel, 6-1, 3-0, 6-1; H. T. Eaton defeated H. C. Hall, 6-2, 6-3; R. W. Harper defeated P. Larned, 6-1, 6-2; W. F. Austin defeated J. P. Byers by default.

First round—D. Anderson defeated R. Gough, 6-3, 6-4; A. M. Collens defeated D. W. Mulford, 8-6, 6-2; C. E. Lipscomb defeated S. Gough, 6-2, 6-4; L. Vandeventer defeated H. S. Eddy, 4-6, 6-4, 6-2; H. T. Eaton defeated R. W. Harper, 6-4, 6-1; W. F. Austin defeated A. Lovell, 3-6, 6-2, 6-4; F. M. Letson defeated P. Brooks, 6-0, 6-4; A. D. Beers defeated H. Earle, 6-2, 6-2.

Second round—A. M. Collens defeated D. Anderson, 6-2, 6-1; H. T. Eaton defeated W. F. Austen, 6-0, 6-1; A. D. Beers defeated F. M. Letson, 6-2, 6-1.

Semi-final round—A. D. Beers defeated H. T. Eaton, 6-1, 6-2.

SOME SURPRISES OF S. S. LEAGUE

South Plainfield Trounced Park Avenue and Monroe Flays First Baptist.

The week-end games in the Sunday-school League brought forth several surprises in the form of defeats handed to the strong Park Avenue nine at the hands of the South Plainfielders and an unmerciful walloping dealt out to the First Baptist bunch by last year's champions. Hope had an easy time with the Temple Baptist team, who have their first game still to win.

The Park Avenue and South Plainfield game was without a doubt the best of the three. The former team led up to the ninth inning when the village lads came up from behind with two counts, which were just enough to sew up the game for them.

First Baptist seemed a bit put out over their first defeat at the hands of the Park Avenue nine and played listless ball in their game with the Monroe Avenue bunch. The latter team piled up a total of 23 runs against 8 made by the losers.

The Temple Baptist lads have now been defeated by every other team in the league, at least once, and by the Hope Chapelites twice. They yielded their second game to Hope by the score of 25 to 5.

GOLF NOTES.

The eyes of the golf world, especially the professionals and the most expert amateurs, are turned in the direction of Apawamis, where the annual open championship tournament of the Metropolitan Golf Association will be held next Wednesday and Thursday. The association bars no one from its tournament, and, being practically open to the world, high class fields are the rule. Most of the professionals are from the metropolitan district.

Preceding the championship proper will be an open amateur and professional invitation four-ball competition tomorrow. In this event scratch conditions prevail, consequently the leading amateurs, as a rule, will have professionals as partners, the only requisite necessary being that the professional is entered in the championship. The amateur-professional combinations this year look unusually promising with Jerome D. Travers, the metropolitan amateur title-holder, paired up with Alec Smith, and Oswald Kirkby, the New Jersey champion, bracketed with Gil Nichols, winner of the open championship last year at Englewood. There will be no entrance fee and post entries will be received. This curtain raiser is entirely under the auspices of the Apawamis Club. The money offered for the "pros" will be as follows: $80, $60, $40 and $20, while suitable prizes will be given the amateurs. Conditions governing the championship provide for 72 holes medal play, 36 holes on Wednesday and a similar number Thursday. The winner will receive $150 and a gold medal. There will be seven other regular money prizes in addition to six special $10 prizes for the best morning and afternoon and 36 hole scores each day.

SWEENY AND GREENE SUCCESSFUL "GOATS"

The weekly competition for the President's cup attracted a large number of golfers to the Park Golf Club, Saturday, and the play for the coveted trophy was spirited. Most of the scores were low, although in some instances large handicaps had something to do with this. They will doubtless be sliced before next Saturday. These scores were posted for the cup:

W. P. Taylor, 82, 4-78; N. H. Morrison, 96, 16-78; O. F. Marquard, 116, 37-79; J. M. Beekman, 106, 26-80; W. H. Woodland, 99, 19-80; Rev. C. L. Goodrich, 98, 15-83; J. H. Greene, Jr., 100, 14-86; A. M. Merrell, 98, 11-87; Peter C. Sweeny, 94, 7-87; H. L. Moodey, 102, 15-87; Dr. H. K. Carroll, 92, 4-88; Charles B. Morse, 102, 13-89.

In the "goats" competition, J. H. Greene, Jr., and Peter C. Sweeney won from R. M. Carpenter and U. G. Tingley, by default. Mr. Greene and Mr. Sweeny were the challengers and they will hold the cup until it is won by another pair.

VILLAGERS WON IN LAST INNINGS

South Plainfield Pounds out Winning Run in Game With Park Avenue.

SCORE NINE TO EIGHT

Fielding Errors Responsible for the Result—Sofield Was Steady in the Box—Clarke Not In His Usual Form.

The South Plainfield baseball team rang up a "won in the ninth" victory over the Park Avenue Sunday-school leaguers, at South Plainfield Saturday afternoon, by the score of 9 to 8. When the villagers went to the bat in their half of the ninth the score stood 8 to 7 in favor of the visitors, but by a series of successive errors in the field of the other team they were able to tie the score and eventually put the deciding run over the pan in the same round. After being in the lead the greater part of the contest the Park Avenue lads were thus forced to swallow defeat and also yield their position in the league standing.

Sofield pitched a steady game for the village nine but was touched up pretty well in the third and seventh. He was not accorded the kind of support his twirling deserve, however, or he would have been able to pull the game out of the fire in the early stages of the struggle. Clarke, who was on the mound for the invaders, was not up to his usual good form and was enabled to get through many tight places by the sensational fielding of his backers.

Sofield and E. Terry gathered in the batting laurels for the South Plainfield nine while Moshor and Clarke led the Park Avenue aggregation.

FIRST BAPTISTS MET WITH DEFEAT

Monroe Avenue's Aggregation Make Them Bite the Dust.

COULD NOT HIT HESS

Baptists Played a Listless Game—Bailey, Smith and Townley Show Themselves Creditably—The Game in Detail.

The strong First Baptist baseball team succumbed to the Monroe Avenue nine Saturday afternoon by the score of 23 to 8. This was one of the biggest surprises of the week-end in the Sunday-school League, because the Baptist boys have heretofore set a terrific clip in all their games and although the Monroe team were going along at a steady gait they were not conceded such a one-sided win. The loser's inability to touch Hess up for the needed hits at the proper times, and Monroe's good work with the willow told the story. The Baptist nine played a listless game in the field, making fifteen costly misplays. This support was enough to discourage any twirler and it is therefore little wonder that Bailey, Smith and Townley could do little with the Monroe swatsmiths.

HOPE NINE NOW 1ST PLACE HOLDER

STEWARD FOUND EASY

Two Doubles and Nine Singles Off Temple's Twirler—Fielding Errors Galore—Umpiring is Weak—The Score 21 to 5.

Hope Chapel chartered an undisputed berth at the top of the Sunday-school Baseball League Saturday by overwhelming the Temple nine by a score of 21 to 5. Stewart the loser's box artist, who struck out thirteen of the South Plainfielders in five innings last week, was no puzzle for the Hope sluggers and they found him for two doubles and nine singles. The game was characterized by many fielding errors and loose playing with men on the bases. Hope had little difficulty in getting men on the bases and invariably got them around, assisted by a total of fifteen misplays.

Umpire Brown's officiating was not up to the standard Saturday and caused the Temple lads to quit and make their exit from the field in the seventh. Although no official announcement was made by the umpire, the game will probably go down as a 9 to 0 forfeit to Hope Chapel.

Tom Heron and Snyder were the bright stars at the bat for the chapelites, their afternoon's work including a trio of pretty bingles. Grisley and Angleman also did good work at the bat for the same team and Gullberg managed to get three out of Schott for the losers.

This game gives Hope Chapel a clear title to first place in the league. This position was divided between First Baptist and Hope Chapel last week but the former's unmerciful walloping at the hands of the Monroe's sends it down a rung or two.

DUNELLEN DEFEATED WESTFIELD AGGREGATION

Westfield lost its first game of the season when the team met Dunellen, McLaughlin being in the box for the latter, Saturday afternoon, at Recreation Park, in Westfield. The Dunellenites landed on Phin at the start and scored all but one of their runs on clean walloping, fourteen bingles, six of them two and three base hits, scoring the runs. Ulrich, the Westfield third baseman, relieved Phin in the seventh.

Dixon played a brilliant game both at the bat and in the field for the victors. Coyle and McLaughlin were also handy with the willow for Dunellen.

JOB OF CHAIRMAN IS BOTHERING WILSON

Will Not Go to Chicago—Hudspeth His Spokesman.

Sea Girt, N. J., July 8.—Governor Woodrow Wilson has about made up his mind not to go to Chicago for the national committee meeting Aug. 15. Instead he plans at this time to have Robert H. Hudspeth, Democratic national committeeman of New Jersey, go as his personal representative. He will go with power to deliver ultimatums, ukases or any other form of orders which will bring about action along lines desired by the Democratic nominee and new leader of the party. Governor Wilson himself made this announcement. He gave as his reason that he had learned it was not the custom of nominees to attend such meetings.

It was apparent from the governor's talk that he is going to stick as closely as he can to New Jersey and the governor's job this summer. He does not want to lay himself open to the charge of absenteeism. He may not go outside the state until after he has resigned, which will be just about thirty days before the next election, when the Democrats can put up another man.

The nominee is considerably embarrassed over the choosing of the man who is to lead the organized hosts for him this fall. Personally he would like to have William F. McCombs or William G. McAdoo, but he is disposed to defer to the national committee. The governor's embarrassment arises from the fact that all the experienced politicians whom the governor has consulted have told him that the chairman this fall must not only be a good national organizer and executive, but he must have had experience.

A. Mitchell Palmer of Pennsylvania is handicapped for the position because he will run for congress again this fall in the Stroudsburg district of Pennsylvania. Besides Mr. Palmer has pledged himself to carry Pennsylvania for Wilson this year, which will be a job to keep him too busy to attend to the campaign. As it stands now undoubtedly Mr. McCombs has the inside track. Mr. McAdoo is slated for the treasurership of the finance committee.

SEVEN DIE IN LABOR RIOT.

Lumber Mill Force and Union Men Clash In Louisiana.

Baton Rouge, La., July 8.—Seven men were killed in a labor riot at Galloway's mill, three miles from De Ridder, according to a message received by Governor Hall. The sheriff of Calcasieu has been authorized to call out troops.

Open warfare is said to exist between union men and the members of the lumber mill force. Many are reported injured, and there is much excitement.

De Ridder is on the Kansas City Southern railroad, fifty-three miles north of Lake Charles.

WHALE RAMS A SCHOONER.

Crew Abandons Her and Rows 120 Miles Before Being Rescued.

St. John's, N. F., July 8.—A collision with a whale on the Grand Banks caused such serious damage to the two masted schooner Empire, from Oporto for St. John's, that the vessel was abandoned by her crew of six men and a passenger, who reached here.

The accident happened last Tuesday. After keeping the vessel afloat two days the crew had to leave her when the pumps became choked. The men rowed 120 miles toward land before they were picked up by a fishing schooner. The Empire was loaded with salt.

EVELYN THAW TODAY.

Latest Picture of Wife of Stanford White's Slayer.

Since Harry K. Thaw, the dissipated young Pittsburgh millionaire, shot and killed Stanford White six years ago his family has spent a sum estimated at $1,000,000 in the attempt, first, to save him from the electric chair and, second, to obtain his release from the Matteawan (N. Y.) Asylum For the Criminal Insane. This is the institution to which he was committed after his acquittal on the ground that the killing was done while Thaw was insane.

The most interesting figure in the new proceedings before Justice Keogh at White Plains, next to Thaw himself, has been his young wife, who, estranged from him now, though she probably saved his life by her testimony at his two trials for murder, has appeared as a witness against his contention that he is now sane. Still attractive, she is not the girlish beauty of the early days of the case, but is notably matured and much less slender. Her answers to questions have been clear and to the point, but she created a sensation by warning Thaw's counsel that she would not repeat the harrowing recital which saved her husband's life. He had hidden behind her skirts long enough, she said.

DAVID AND GOLIATH.

Tewanima and Rose Are Fitted to Play Their Respective Parts.

At such an international meeting as the Olympic games at Stockholm, in which athletes from all quarters of the globe compete, the contrasts between contestants must be numerous and striking. It is to be doubted, however, if any more notable will be observed than that presented by the two members of the American team pictured in the accompanying photograph, which was made on the ship which carried them to Europe.

The giant is Ralph Rose, champion shot putter of the United States. Rose, who is a Los Angeles lawyer, stands 6 feet 6 inches and weighs more than 300 pounds. The wiry figure beside him is that of Lewis Tewanima, the Hopi Indian athlete who carried the colors of Carlisle in the middle distance races. He weighs 130 pounds and is 5 feet 5 inches tall and looks like a pygmy alongside Rose's huge bulk. Both men, in the opinion of American athletic experts, are marked for victory in their respective events.

Curious Astronomical Calculation.

A European astronomer has made some remarkable calculations. He figures that if all the living representatives of the human race were strung out in space and separated from each other by intervals of a mile the line would only reach one-third of the distance to the planet Neptune. If separated by distances as great as that between London and Constantinople the line would only reach halfway to the nearest star.

Obliging the Doctor.

Dr. Stewart was called to the telephone the other night in Bellevue hospital, New York, to hear a cheerful voice announce:

"On zhe way down to shee you, doc! Got fine case tremens."

Dr. Stewart recognized the voice as that of a rather well to do young man who had made several previous trips to Bellevue and expressed over the telephone his strong regrets that he should again be bothered by the anticipant visitor.

"Thash a' ri', doc," said the voice through the phone. "I'm goin' co—hic—co—his—co-operate wiz you zhish time, doc. Goin' make recovery in quickesh time known." And he hung up the receiver. In half an hour or thereabouts a cab rattled in through the receiving gate and an annoyed driver helped out the telephoning person. By this time he was speechless. The driver dragged him inside.

"We shtopped at a wild animal shtore," said the driver sourly. "That's why we're late. The stew here bought a lot of horned toads and gartersnakes and things."

"But what for?" asked Dr. Stewart.

"He said he was thryin' to help yez," said the driver. "He said he wouldn't be able to shpeak by the time he got to the hospital, but he'd bring along samples of his symptoms!"—Cincinnati Times-Star.

Solitude.

Laugh and the world laughs with you,
Weep and you weep alone,
For sad old earth must borrow its mirth
It has troubles enough of its own.
Sing and the hills will answer;
Sigh and it's lost on the air.
The echoes rebound to joyful sound,
But shirk from voicing care.

Rejoice and men will seek you;
Grieve and they turn and go.
They want full measure of all your pleasure,
But they do not want your woe.
Be glad and your friends are many;
Be sad and you lose them all.
There is none to decline your nectared wine,
But alone you must drink the gall.

Feast and your halls are crowded;
Fast and the world goes by.
Succeed and give and it helps you to live,
But no man can help you to die.
There is room in the halls of pleasure
For a large and lordly train,
But one by one we must all file on Through the narrow aisles of pain.

—Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

A Witty Retort.

John McCormack, the Irish tenor, told the following story on himself at a dinner of the Irish society in New York recently:

"My wife and I had been entertained at dinner by Archbishop Ireland of St. Paul," said Mr. McCormack. "After the dinner my wife and I both sang for the prelate, and when Mrs. McCormack had finished the archbishop turned to me and said, 'You should be very proud of such a talented wife.'

"'Indeed, I am,' I replied with enthusiasm.

"'This is the first time he ever made such a confession,' said my wife, looking at the archbishop with a twinkle in her eye.

"'He couldn't make a confession in a better place,' remarked one of the guests, indicating the archbishop.

"'True,' smiled the prelate, 'but I cannot forgive him, because he isn't sorry for it.'"

His Flight Into Journalism.

Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, the millionaire sportsman of Philadelphia, who is equally at home in the drawing room and in the prize ring, told the members of the Chicago Athletic association the other evening of his early experience in journalism.

"As a youth my great ambition was to be a reporter," he said, "so I went to my uncle, George W. Childs Drexel, who was editing the Public Ledger. He gave me a place on the local staff, and the city editor assigned me to a district in which the city morgue was located. On the first day of my assignment the body of a man was found in the Delaware river and brought to the morgue. Scenting a possible murder mystery and seeing also an opportunity to gain journalistic fame in a single day, I hastened to the office and wrote a thrilling story, which was largely imagination. In concluding I gave a graphic description of the supposed victim, saying that 'the man was attired in a black mustache and clothes of the same material.'

"My wonderful story filled about ten lines of the next day's paper, and I received a summons to my uncle's office. 'Tony,' he said, 'I can get you a place on this paper, but I cannot keep it for you.'

"My journalistic ambitions ended then and there."

Lost No Time.

Two brothers went hunting. Henry had a wooden leg and had to be persuaded to accompany his brother, who had a reputation of being fleet footed. They went up in the mountains, where their pack of hounds scared up a big bear. William emptied his gun at the bear, but it kept on coming. William dropped his gun and struck out for home, leaving his poor wooden legged brother to look out for himself. William, when he got to the house, dove through the window, sash and all, landing in his father's arms. William began to cry, telling how Henry had been left behind and how way back there in the woods the bear was picking his bones clean. "Stop that moanin' and weepin'," said the father. "He done come beatin' it home with the dogs a half an hour ago."—Kansas City Star.

THIRD PARTY MEN PLAN CONVENTION

COMMITTEE IS NAMED

Fort, Colby and Fowler Prominent in Council at Newark Last Night When Clarion Call Was Sounded—Prepare for Battle.

Newark, N. J., July 9.—Plans for the formation of the proposed new third movement in New Jersey were made at a conference in the office of ex-Governor John Franklin Fort in the Essex Building here.

Fort presided, and about forty-five men who are connected with the movement were present. The meeting was held behind closed doors. Edmund B. Osborne, president of the state Progressive Republican league and chairman of the Essex county progressives, was assigned to give out the information. Mr. Osborne said that a committee of nine members was appointed to make arrangements for a mass convention to be held in Asbury Park between July 18 and 27, at which will be chosen the delegates at large to attend the national convention of this party in Chicago on Aug 5.

Mr. Osborne announced that the congressional district delegates would be picked at a local convention, but he gave no information as to when the conventions would be held. Among those present at the meeting were ex-Congressman Charles N. Fowler of Elizabeth, George L. Record of Jersey City and Harold J. Howland of Montclair, who is associated with Colonel Roosevelt on the Outlook. It was expected that Mr. Record and Mr. Fowler would express their views on the party movement, but whether anything was said by them could not be learned.

Ex-State Senator Everett Colby was absent from the conference, and it was explained that he was detained on account of a previous engagement.

Former Governor Fort named on his committee:

Borden D. Walling, the recently-elected member of the Republican National Committee from New Jersey; Edmund B. Osborne, the president of the Progressive Republican League; Frank J. Higgins, of Jersey City; J. E. Bathgate, Jr., of Basking Ridge; F. O. Potter, of Bridgeton; Assemblyman John E. Gill, of Trenton; Clarence E. F. Hetrick, of Monmouth county, the party candidate for sheriff there last fall, and former Judge Adrian Lyon, of Middlesex. Mr. Fort acted as a member of the committee, ex-officio.

The Progressive Republican League will co-operate with the Roosevelt movement. Mr. Osborne, as president of the league, will issue a call, perhaps today, for a meeting of the league to lay plans for the capture of the State once more from the Taft organization.

Mr. Whiting has no intention of resigning from the national committee, because of his activity in the Roosevelt campaign. He says that if the national committee thinks he is an undesirable member it can kick him out, as it has practically kicked the majority of the rank and file out of the party in the great Republican states by its methods at Chicago.

Among those present was Mayor G. W. V. Moy, of Plainfield, an alternate delegate to the Chicago convention.

BLAZE IN A CLOSET CAUSES A $100 LOSS

An alarm of fire sent in from box 8:20 o'clock this morning, summoned the department from No. 1 house, the hook and ladder and steamer to 729 South Second street, where a fire was discovered in a closet of an apartment on the second floor occupied by Jacob Staul. The fire, the cause of which was unknown, burned a hole in the ceiling and all of the contents of the closet were destroyed. The loss is estimated at $100. The tank of No. 3 hose wagon and chemical was required to extinguish the blaze.

The apartment is a two-family affair owned by McDonough Brothers. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Giddis occupy the first floor. Carpenters who were working on a house nearby saw smoke pouring out of the eaves and they were the ones that gave the alarm by pulling the box.

MUSIC FOR EXCURSIONISTS.

Joe Freed's Victorian Concert Band has been engaged to furnish the music for the Thomas Timbo Social Club's annual excursion to Atlantic City on Sunday, July 21. There will be over 400 on the special vestibuled train to leave this city at 8:10 that morning and among the notables will be the popular Thomas Timbo himself.

ANTLERED HOSTS INVADE PORTLAND

Oregon City is Brilliantly Decorated in Honor of the Elks' Convention.

CONTESTS FOR OFFICE

Hot Fight for Every Place Except Grand Exalted Ruler—Rivalry for Next Convention City—Mills for Highest Office.

Portland, Ore., July 9.—The Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks yesterday began its forty-eighth grand lodge session and the twenty-sixth annual reunion of the Brotherhood. In honor of the occasion virtually every building in the business district has been covered with bunting and hundreds of store fronts are electrically decorated. Among the Jersey delegation is Lewis A. Bellis, representing Plainfield Lodge, No. 885.

The decorations centralize about the court of honor. The streets are lined with pillars outlined with purple lights and surmounted by clusters of frosted globes.

Last night the first convocation of the grand lodge took place. It was open to the public and consisted wholly of welcoming speeches and responses.

Virtually every office save that of grand exalted ruler, for which T. B. Mills, of Superior, Wis., seems to have a clear lead, will be contested. Principal among the contests are those of Fred Robinson, of Dubuque, Ia., whose re-election as grand secretary is contested by David McArron, of Port Huron, Mich.; Dr. Charles H. Warr, of Pasedena, Cal., who is seeking election as grand esteemed loyal knight against W. H. Wisher, of Goldfield, Nev.; a three-cornered contest for grand esteemed leading knight between Judge George Addington, of Albany, N. Y.; James King, of Topeka, Kan., and Frank King, of Providence, R. I.; a contest between E. M. Dickerman, of Tucson, Ariz., and L. R. Maxwell, of Marshalltown, Ia., for grand esteemed lecturing knight and between L. P. Leveroni, of Keene, N. H., and Frank Lee Clark, of Albuquerque, N. M., for grand inner guard.

The contest for the convention city is becoming warm. In the field are Rochester, N. Y., and Cincinnati, O., for the 1913 convention.

MERCHANTS' BUREAU FOR CREDIT RATING

Business Men's Association Plans to Keep Tabs on Customers' Income.

The Plainfield Business Men's Association at its monthly meeting last night, decided to establish a general mercantile agency, to investigate business methods for the purpose of curtailing unlimited credit and for the abatement of trade abuses. The association will also take assignments of claims against debtors for its patrons and sue thereon.

It will also act as agent and trustee for its members in the collection of accounts and will investigate and recommend persons desirous of doing business with its members and issue certificates as to the responsibility of persons as well as credit ratings. All of these matters were discussed at some length at the meeting and it was the belief that the adoption of the plans would be the means of making the association a strong one and at the same time extend its influence. During the evening four firms were elected to membership.

MISS CORA B. HAND DIES; AGED TWENTY-EIGHT YEARS

Miss Cora B. Hand, aged 28 years, daughter of Samuel T. Hand, of this city, died last night at Muhlenberg Hospital, where she had been since July 4 for treatment for complications. Miss Hand was born in this city and always lived here. Recently she had been making her home with her sister, Mrs. Helen Hull, at 208 Evona avenue. She attended the First M. E. church and Sunday-school. Miss Hand is survived by her father, two sisters, Mrs. Helen Hull and Miss Mildred Hand, and two brothers, Walter Hand and William Hand. The funeral will be held at the late home at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Rev. J. O. McKelvey will officiate. The burial will be in Hillside cemetery.

The perspective view of the High School shows the rear of the completed building viewed from Arlington Avenue, as it will appear when the proposed addition is made. The ground top windows light the gymnasium. The addition is one-third larger than the present building. It contains 20 class rooms for pupils' desks, 4 smaller rooms where pupils will go to recite, 4 rooms for science and domestic arts, a gymnasium, 45x78, and in the basement 4 rooms for manual training. The auditorium as enlarged will seat 1,100 people, which is about the number of pupils that the building will accommodate. The stage will be much larger than the present stage, so that it can be used for High School graduation, for the senior play, and fo rall the other requirements of a school of 1,100 or 1,200 pupils. Under the auditorium will be the lockers for the gymnasium, and also the swimming pool. The building as completed wil lrun back almost to the rear line of the lot.

PLAINFIELD HIT BY A HEAT WAVE

Mercury Flirts With the 100 Degree Mark and the People Suffer.

MAN FALLS IN STREET

Horses Overcome—Official Temperature Today is 98 and There's No Relief Promised—Soda Fountains Do Big Business.

While the mercury is flirting with the century mark, Plainfield in common with the rest of this part of the country is experiencing the first severe heat wave of the season, and what makes it discouraging is the fact that the weather man holds out no hope for any immediate relief with the possible exception of a thunder shower. Yesterday the highest temperature was 100 degrees. The present hot spell has taxed to the utmost the ice man, as well as the dispensers of cold drinks. The proprietor of every soda fountain and ice cream parlor reports "a rushing business."

"Weather Prophet" John Neagle reported the maximum temperature 98 degrees and that was before noon. The weather predictions are: Fair tonight, Wednesday unsettled with continued warm weather. The record of high temperature as reported by Mr. Neagle was one degree higher than that reported by The State Trust Company at 1 o'clock this afternoon, but when the thermometer nears the hundred mark the difference of a degree or two makes little difference.

Despite the intense heat but one case of prostration has beeen reported. Harry Schwartz, aged 35 years, of 1219 Arlington avenue, was overcome on North avenue about 6 o'clock last night. He was taken to Walsh's pharmacy at North and Watchung avenues, and Dr. Albert Pittis summoned. The man was removed to Muhlenberg Hospital for treatment. He was able to go home this morning.

The S. P. C. A. has made arrangements to give draught horses a bath, as usual during intense warm weath-

NEW HIGH SCHOOL FOR 1,150 PUPILS

Why Board of Education Plans for Enlargement of Present Structure.

EIGHT SOUND REASONS

When Improvement Is Made Plainfield Will Have One of the Handsomest School Buildings in This Part of the Country.

The Plainfield Board of Education today gave out the following self-explanatory announcement:

When the High School was built a few years ago, it was thought by some that the High School problem was solved for a long time. It now appears that it was only just begun. When the present building was erected, owing to the shortness of the appropriation, six class rooms had to be omitted from the original plans with the result that when the new High School was occupied, nearly every seat was at once filled, and now there are over a hundred pupils without seats. This excess of pupils is expected to increase to 200 in the fall.

At the time the School Board took up the matter of an addition two years ago, it seemed that the adding of the six rooms omitted from the original plans was the wise action to take, but since then the outlook has changed greatly, and it now appears that if only six rooms were added another addition would be needed at once and still another in two or three years more, while a large expense would be necessary to change and enlarge the heating and ventilating and other features of the building for the increased number using it.

It therefore appears to be the most economic plan to enlarge the building now to its ultimate capacity of about 1,150 pupils, incorporating in it now the features necessary for a school of that size, and the Board of Education has adopted plans as shown in today's issue to meet this need.

This will not only relieve the present crowding, but it will at once

The first floor plan indicates the present building by the light-colored lines, and the addition by the dark lines. The front of the building will be unchanged. The addition consists of building out the rear so as to form a hollow square two stories high with the auditorium in the middle. The gymnasium runs from the basement up through the first story to the second floor.

TWO SIPHONS FOR SEWER SYSTEM

Fuller Offers Suggestion That Gravity Plan Be Adopted for the Joint Plant.

HIS REPORT NOT READY

As the Improvement Can Not Be Made Within Two Years, $10,000 Will Have to Be Spent on Repairs at City's Present Sewer Beds.

The Councilmanic Sewer Committee and other members of the Common Council, together with Street Commissioner A. J. Gavett met George W. Fuller, the sanitary engineer, last night to discuss the local sanitary sewer situation. It was expected that Mr. Fuller, who has been engaged to prepare plans and estimates for the proposed joint trunk sewer would have them ready last night, but he said that more time would be required to complete his task.

Mr. Fuller had some suggestions to offer as to the general construction of the trunk line, the principal one being that two siphons be included. One to be located within the city limits where the connection is to be made with the borough line and another one within the borough limits in the direction or vicinity of the Cramer farm. Mr. Fuller said that by doing this it would be possible to have gravity practically the entire distance to the Darling farm. It may be necessary, however, to have a pump at the disposal works.

Although it is estimated that the installation of two siphons would cost more than acording to the other plan, there would be a considerable saving in the long run, it is claimed, by doing away with a pumping system. This feature seemed to appeal to the Plainfield members of the Council and it will probably be accepted.

It being agreed that it will probably be two years at least before the newer plant could be installed, the councilmen have decided that in the meantime something must be done to improve the city sewage beds. The idea is to repair the four upper beds by thoroughly cleaning them, taking out all of the old stones and replacing them with others and making other changes that will permit the best possible service until the beds are abandoned. The four beds are not working satisfactorily now and something must be done, it is said, to relieve the situation.

It is estimated that the cost of this proposed work at the city sewage beds will be approximately $10,000, but the councilmen say they realize that it is an expenditure that must be made as soon as possible so that any further trouble may be avoided pending the building of the joint plant by Plainfield, North Plainfield and Dunellen. The estimated cost of this joint plant is $334,000 to be apportioned according to the size of the municipalities. It is possible that there may be a joint conference of the municipalities tomorrow night, provided the representatives can be gotten together.

COLORED BOYS SCOUTS ORGANIZATION PLANNED

A preparatory service will be held at Bethel Chapel tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock and on Sunday evening at 8 o'clock the Lord's Supper will be observed.

A meeting of the boys interested in the formation of a Boy Scout patrol will be held in the church parlors Thursday evening at 8 o'clock and the meeting will be addressed by Allen E. Beals, Scout Master of the First Presbyterian patrol, and Charles R. Bostwick, who with C. Wm. Bingeman, of the Y. M. C. A., is the official representative of the organization in this city.

TROLLEYMEN'S OUTING.

The day force of employees of the Public Service Railway will hold an annual excursion tomorrow and will go to Palisade Park, on the Hudson. The men will be accompanied by their families and will make the three and one half hours journey in special trolleys provided by the company under the supervision of George Luhr. The night force will go on a similar outing sometime next week.

MOVING PICTURES.

The moving picture entertainment for the benefit of the Manufacturers' Baseball League will be given under the auspices of the League officials in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium tonight and tomorrow night. The films are some of the finest ever thrown on the screen in this city and several hundred tickets have already been disposed of by members of the teams.

BLACK HAND MAN AT SCOTCH PLAINS

Enretta Arrested When He Called for Decoy Letter but Marasoit Weakens.

CLEARS THE PRISONER

Believed by Police That Marasoit, Who Was Threatened With Death, Feared to Press the Grave Charge.

Through information given to the police of Scotch Plains by Dominick Marasoit, an Italian employed at Bonnie Burn Sanitorium, a "Black Hand" plot which threatened his life has been disclosed. As a result Anton Enretta, also an Italian, residing at Scotch Plains, was arrested yesterday afternoon. The police used a decoy letter and when Enretta called at the postoffice for the missive, his arrest followed.

Enretta protested his innocence, and this fact together with the statement by Marasoit that the former was a friend of his and not guilty, led Justice Clark, before whom he was arraigned, to dismiss the case. The decision, it is said, did not meet with popular approval. It is generally believed that Marasoit is afraid to press the case against his fellow-countryman.

Marasoit on Thursday of last week received a letter addressed to "Dear Friend," telling him that the writer knew he had been saving and thrifty since coming to this country, but if he ever expected to see his wife and children in Italy again, he would have to give up $100 within a week or he would be a dead man. The writer warned Marasoit not to show the letter to anyone. If he did and there was an arrest the matter would not end there, as there were thousands of men who would carry out the threat.

The writer demanded that the money be wrapped in paper and placed under a large stone near the white bridge by the fur mill within a week. Marasoit was greatly excited over the affair and acting on the advice of friends reported it to the police. Officers Frederick Clark and MacCauley were put on the case. A decoy letter was addressed to Guisippi Blaco, Scotch Plains, that being the name given. The postoffice was watched Saturday night, but no one called for the letter. The efforts of the officers were rewarded last night, however, when Enretta or Blaco called and inquired for mail addressed to him.

Postmaster Dunn showed the Italian the letter addressed to Blaco and inquired if it belonged to him. He said that it did and departed from the office with the letter. A few minutes later the man was placed under arrest. On his way to the police station the prisoner, who evidently knew what he was arrested for, informed the officers that the letter was not his, but was for a friend. When searched a long ugly looking knife was found on Enretta.

At the hearing, Marasoit testified that the prisoner was a friend of his and that he knew he was not the guilty one. There not being sufficient evidence, Justice Clark dismissed the case.

ARRESTED FOR NON-SUPPORT COLORED MAN GOES TO JAIL

George Hatchell, colored, of South Second street, was arraigned before Judge DeMeza in the police court this morning, on a charge of non-support. The prisoner was placed under bonds of $250 to provide $4 a week toward the support of his three children, and in default of the required bonds was committed to the county jail in Elizabeth.

James McAvoy, of 456 West Third street, was brought before the city court on the charge of fighting with Charles Mosko, a fellow workman. The scrap grew out of an argument arising over respective duties at the place where they are employed. McAvoy became aggravated over something Mosko said to him and struck the latter in the mouth. The accused pleaded not guilty, but Judge DeMeza found them both at fault. He suspended sentence on McAvoy and warned Mosko.

John Shultz, of West Front street, was arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct while under the influence of liquor Saturday night, and a sentence of $10 or forty days was suspended, with a warning.

WANT GOV. TO REVIEW PAGEANT

Long Branch, July 9.—Acting Mayor Frank L. Howland will call on Governor Wilson at Sea Girt today and invite him to review the children's pageant here August 16. The Mayor will be accompanied by Senator John W. Slocum, one of the Wilson delegates, and former Senator Henry H. S. Terhune. It is thought that the Governor will accept. Invitations will also be extended to President Taft, Colonel Roosevelt and Cardinal Farley. The last named is a summer visitor here. Both the President and Mr. Roosevelt were told of the carnival while here on campaign tours last May.

MET THURSDAY, WED SATURDAY

Long Branch, July ...—A quick courtship and marriage is on record here. On Thursday Mark Jackson, a widower, and Mrs. N. J. Williamson, a widow, met for the first time at the home of Mrs. William Fisher. Mr. Jackson was a friend of Mr. Fisher, while Mrs. Williamson was a guest of Mrs. Fisher. On Saturday the couple were married. Rev. Dr. John F. Dobbins, of St. Luke's M. E. church, officiated.

FACES SERIOUS CHARGE.

Elizabeth, July 9.—Held on technical charge of disorderly conduct, Arthur Monroe, of New Providence, was committed to the county jail by Justice of the Peace Woodruff for thirty days. The justice wrote on the margin of the commitment that prior to the expiration of this term a serious charge will be lodged against the prisoner.

The Celebration of Our Anniversary Scores A Well Merited Success

Hundreds Attended Saturday, Sharing in the Dozens of Remarkable Values Offered in all Departments.

And today and tomorrow we shall continue to celebrate in the same manner—by giving out-of-the-ordinary values in every section of the store. By lowering prices in a manner that MUST AND WILL CONVINCE YOU that our statements regarding the values offered in this birthday celebration are bonafide—that they tell of ACTUAL PRICE REDUCTIONS.

We want to show our appreciation of your patronage in a practical and worth-while manner—in a way that will appeal to your purse rather than to your fancy. Therefore we offer these remarkable bargains in all departments—bargains that will remind you pleasantly of the store and the occasion.

Our Free Birthday Gifts-- REMEMBER TO BRING YOUR CIRCULARS WITH YOU

Gift numbers are changed each day—if you don't see your number displayed today, it may be tomorrow, so be sure and pay us a visit.

Ten different numbers for each day (80 in all) have been drawn by Mr. Fort, of the Daily Press, and if your circular has one of those numbers you are entitled to a gift. So visit the store each day of the Sale and see if your number is displayed—if it is that gift is yours free.

OUR STORE WILL CLOSE AT 5:30 P. M. DURING THE WARM WEATHER.

Believing that it will be for the benefit and comfort of our patrons and our salespeople we have decided that during July, August and September instead of opening the store at 8:30 and closing at 6 we will OPEN THE STORE AT 8 A. M. AND CLOSE AT 5:30 thus giving an extra half-hour in the cool of the early morning for you to shop in.

YOUTH IS PARALYZED AFTER HIS HIGH DIVE

Keyport, July 9.—As the result of diving from a platform twenty-five feet high into about five feet of water Sunday afternoon, William Perlew, twenty years old, is in the Long Branch Mospital paralyzed from his armpits down. His condition is critical. It is believed that his spine is broken, and the physicians at the hospital will make an X-ray examination today to determine the extent of the lad's injuries.

Purlew was bathing with several companions about 3:30 o'clock, when he essayed his high dive. For a moment he stuck head down in the mud, but later came to the surface. He was conscious but could not move any part of his body below the arms.

Drs. D. E. Roberts and H. W. Hartman were at once summoned. They ordered Purlew taken to Long Branch. Purlew's mother, Mrs. John P. Connell, who was automobiling with her husband, was summoned, and she quickly arranged to have her son taken on a cot in an automobile delivery wagon to the hospital. There the boy has a sister, who is a trained nurse.

MUCH PARTIZANSHIP IN TOMORROW'S VOTE

Atlantic City, July 9.—Campaigning of commissioner candidates ended yesterday, and the election takes place today. While it had been hoped that it would be comparatively free of party parizanship, there is every prospect of the contrary being the rule, and also that all the old "gang" tricks will be resorted to.

This supposition is supported by the fact that at the recent registry over 2,000 names were added to the voting list, and no efforts have been made to purge them by either the district or county boards of election, but every name illegally registered is known to the citizens' committee, with headquarters in the Bartlet building. Polling places will be watched and arrests are to be made of any one who attempts to vote fraudulently. The police are with the reform faction on this occasion, being solidly opposed to Mayor Bacharach, from Chief Woodruff to the last roundsman.

The Kuehnle machine slate consists of William H. Bartlett, Albert Beyers, William Cuthbert, Edwin A. Parker and William Riddle. Efforts will be made to elect at least three of them, to control the commission. If a trade is to be made, they say, they are willing to lose Cuthbert and Parker.

Mayor Bacharach, high man at the primaries, and Dr. J. B. Thompson are making a vigorous fight on their own account against this slate. It is popularly understood that "Bob" Delaney, who aspires to the position of "boss," will back them today with all the workers at his command.

Alfred M. Heston, the former city comptroller, who lost his job because of the opposition of Kuehnle, and Daniel H. V. Bell, the sole Democrat in the fight, are taking a similar course. Dr. P. L. Hawkins, the colored candidates, is making strenuous efforts to control the race vote.

Riddle, who is playing both ends of the game, has issued a personal appeal on his own acount while going with the machine, in which he declares he has "given the best years of his life to this city without salary." He also makes a play for the colored vote by declaring that more interest must be taken by the white man in seeing that the colored race should have surroundings in their part of the city that will enable them to uplift themselves.

The declaration of Joseph W. Salus at a meeting of the County Republican League that support should be given entirely to G. O. P. candidates has angered the Democrats, and they will array themselves against the "machine" in supporting Bell.

WILSON AT CAPITAL TODAY.

Trenton, July 9.—For the first time since receiving the Presidential nomination, Governor Wilson is expected in Trenton today. He will probably meet with the State House Commission, the trustees of the school fund, and possibly with one or two of the other boards of which he is a member ex-officio. According to information received here, the Governor intends to continue, for the present at least, his practice of visiting the State House each Tuesday for the purpose of disposing of such official duties as may be more conveniently performed here than at Sea Girt, where the bulk of the executive work is performed.

LOCATING CONNECTING LINE.

Morristown, July 9.—The engineers engaged in surveying the connecting line between the Morristown and Erie Railroad and the New Jersey and Pennsylvania Railroad have the line nearly located. The first scheme has been modified somewhat, and the line as staked passes down Pocahontas Lake on the easterly side, where the water is shallow. Then it crosses the Shelley Terminal tract, crosses the Whippany River, cuts off a corner of the Caldwell Playground, instead of bisecting it, and generally keeps to the east of the line as originally planned, but crosses under the Lackawanna at the same place.

RECALL OF JUDGES, WHY?

No one is surprised that the House Judiciary committee has returned a true bill against Judge Archbald, of the Commerce Court, but the wonder is how the President of the United States ever lent himself to place such a notorious man on the bench. It seemed to be a matter of common knowledge as to what a Pennsylvania man's record had been. The Philadelphia North American printed column upon column concerning his unsavory past. Archbald got the berth on the bench, however, and held on to it. That fact did not deter honest newspapers from watching his record as a member of the Commerce Court. That the object of their hunt has "been caught with the goods on" is found in the indictment, the articles of impeachment numbering thirteen and it contains this terrible arraignment:

"Your committee is of opinion that Judge Archbald's sense of moral responsibility has become deadened. He has prostituted his high office for personal profit. He has attempted by various transactions to commercialize his potentiality as judge. He has shown an overweening desire to make gainful bargains with parties having cases before him, or likely to have cases before him. To accomplish this purpose he has not hesitated to use his official power, and in such he has degraded his high office and destroyed the confidence of the public in his judicial integrity."

There were four Democrats and three Republicans on the committee entrusted to investigate the charges and their decision was unanimous. As an exchange says, this man Archbald, "traded upon his judicial powers to get favors and profit out of railroad ligitants in the Commerce Court, and paid for these favors by decisions. He did this in a number of cases. And the indictment contains no count in reference to the notorious decisions of Archbald in the Federal Court in New York in accepting small fines from men who had been engaged in immense frauds upon the government at the customhouse, while at the same time sending a small offender, who had no favors to offer, to jail for a long period."

This notorious man was made a member of that high court as a favor to another notorious man, the outcast boss of Pennsylvania Republicanism, United States Senator Boise Penrose, who played his part in the Chicago convention, a part the reason for which is well understood by the people.

OUR EDITORS.

A real newspaper is one that affords the people full opportunity to express their views on any subject and does not "force down the throats" of its readers its own opinions without giving them a chance. Popular editorials are a feature of this newspaper and one day each week, Saturday, is set aside for some representative citizen to have his say. These contributed editorials are willingly written because the authors are permitted to write upon any subject uppermost in their minds and to treat their topics in any way that they see fit and at any length. We have been extremely fortunate in being able to obtain in this way editorial comment that would be out of the question were we to pay for it, for the writers are men who stand high in professional and business life, as a list of the editors to date bears testimony. There will be no departure from the rule for in the future as in the past, men of merit will contribute. One purpose is to make people think and as the editorials are written by those who know whereof they speak, the feature is a pronounced success. Let us call your attention to the fact that there will be an excellent editorial next Saturday by a man who stands high in the estimate of his fellow citizens.

MEN AS SLAVES.

Waiting for their trains at the North avenue station this morning were hundreds of New York commuters. They were prepared to be on their way to business in a district where the heat is intense at this season of the year. And they were dressed as fashion or custom decrees, regardless of the discomforts they were destined to endure. Here and there, however, was a man sensibly attired. These wore linen suits or clothes of some other very light material. This prompts the question, why should a man be dressed in clothes of heavy material or of the kind that draws and retains the heat Or as the Birmingham News puts it, "why is a man's coat in summer time?" As that Southern journal states the case, "the average man is dressed as warmly in July as the average woman is in the coldest winter month." And by way of contrast it queries: "Does woman ask man if she may poke her shirtwaist full of large holes?" No man chooses to wear an uncomfortable coat nor a stiff collar on such days as these. Then why does he do it? It's because he is a slave to a silly custom and yet the average man looks upon women as being slaves in this respect.

A "SMALL" MAN.

It takes a really big man to forgive his enemies and to receive forgiveness from them. James Smith, Jr., is not in that class. His measure has been taken and falls far below the requirements. Common report had it that "Jim" Smith would "shake hands and bury the hatchet" with Woodrow Wilson now that the Governor has been nominated by their party for the Presidency. It was published broadcast that the owner of the Newark Star, a bitter foe of Wilson, would participate in a love feast yesterday at Sea Girt. When asked about it the disgruntled erstwhile candidate for the United States Senatorship said he had not been invited. Then he indulged in an old worn-out trick by sending this telegram about the time the two were to have met: "Your letter has just reached me on my arrival at the trust company inviting me to luncheon today. Regret that it did not reach me earlier." It will be noticed that the Honorable James did not say "I regret that it did not reach me in time for me to accept," or any words to that effect. No, Mr. Smith is not a big man. He belongs to an old school in politics, the machine class, one that is dying hard.

"A boss uses his party organization for his own private objects and the leader does not."—Woodrow Wilson.

Well said, and true.—Jersey Journal.

"So mote it be."

THIRD PARTY MOVEMENT IN UNION CO. IS PLANNED

Supporters of the Roosevelt Republican League of Union County at a meeting held last night in the office of John K. English, at Elizabeth, expressed the opinion that it would be advisable to form a third party. They believe that with Roosevelt as the candidate for President the party would be successful at the coming election.

The fifteen members of the executive committee were present and Mr. English presided. No formal action was taken, but it was decided at an informal meeting afterward to make arrangements for a public meeting at which an opportunity will be given to express third party sentiment.

TEACHERS TRAINING COURSE HAS BEGUN

Summer School of Atypical Children's Educators Starts at Watchung.

The Teachers' Training Course, which is being conducted by The National Association for the Study and Education of Exceptional Children at its school, Hebart Hall, held its first session yesterday. Dr. Maximilian P. E. Groszmann, the educational director of the association, made an informal address, outlining the course of study.

"The Problem of the Exceptional Child," was the subject of a talk by Dr. Groszmann, yesterday afternoon. Dr. Edward L. Stevens, associate superintendent of the New York Public Schools, gave a talk this afternoon on the subject, "What Teachers and Mothers Must Do For Exceptional Children; with a Historical Review of the Problem and Remarks on Classification."

Dr. Groszmann will speak tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock on "The Backward Child vs. The Feeble-minded Child," and Friday morning Dr. A. Emil Schmitt, of New York, will speak on "Physical Conditions Underlying Backwardness," and in the afternoon at 3 o'clock, Dr. Groszmann will talk on "The Exceptionally Bright Child."

TAX ON OCEAN GROVE PARSONAGE SUSTAINED

Ocean Grove, July 9.—By a decision handed down by the State Tax Board, the assessors of Neptune Township, of which Ocean Grove is a part, have a right to assess the parsonage of the association, which has long been exempt, it being contended that "it was used for religious purposes."

The parsonage is at 60 Lake avenue. In May, 1911, it was assessed for $6,500, representing a tax of about $100. The association took an appeal to the County Tax Board, and that body sustained the assessment. Then an appeal was made to the State body.

The decision of the State Board is that the members "are not prepared to admit that Ocean Grove is a religious corporation within the meaning of the tax act. The section of the act applicable to this case, when read as a whole, indicates that what the Legislature had in mind was a body of Christian people incorporated as a church for religious purposes. This is the only meaning compatible with the phrase 'the officiating clergyman thereof.' The occupant must not only be a clergyman, but the officiating clergyman of the religious corporation owning the parsonage."

The contention of the Campmeeting Association was that the parsonage was used by a bishop of the Methodist church in charge of the summer meetings in the Auditorium.

"In the case under review," it is set forth in the decision, "we are dealing with a situation where one of the essential elements required by the statute is lacking, namely, the pastoral relationship. This element is not expressly mentioned, but it is clearly implied.

"A campmeeting association that conducts religious services during a short period of the year, and sets apart a dwelling for the accommodation of the minister who has charge of such services, may, in perfect good faith, style such a dwelling a parsonage, but, in our opinion, such a building does not thereby become invested with those characteristics which entitle it to exemption from taxation."

POWER OF HEREDITY TESTED AT VINELAND

Vineland, July 9.—That heredity is a potent factor in crime and imbecility is the belief of Dr. H. H. Goddard, who is collecting data on the subject at the New Jersey State Traning School for Feeble-minded here.

In a statement from Dr. G. L. Orton, of the State reformatory at Rahway, a study of 300 inmates shows forty-eight per cent. are mentally defective and that one or both of the parents are feeble-minded or degenerate. Tuberculosis, alcoholism and drug addiction are common among the parents and there is a history of crime in thirty per cent. of the cases.

MR. SCHORB'S FUNERAL.

The funeral services of Clarence Schorb, who died of heat prostration in the Liberty Street Ferryhouse of the New Jersey Central, on Sunday night, will be held at his late home, 420 West Second street, tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Rev. J. O. McKelvey, pastor of Warren chapel, will officiate. Interment will be made at North Plainfield cemetery.

DRUGGISTS TO MEET.

The Plainfield Detail Druggists' Association held its monthly meeting this morning, which will be the last one until fall. There was a general discussion of Sunday hours, and it was agreed that so far as possible the druggists should close in the afternoon from 1 to 5 o'clock, and to use their judgment as to morning and evening hours.

WATER SHORTAGE LEADS TO RETRENCHMENT ORDER

Asbury Park, July 9.—Fearing serious results on account of a water shortage an order has been issued by the authorities preventing the use of lawn sprinklers. The situation was so alarming Saturday last that the Ocean Grove supply was turned into the reservoir in this place, thus relieving what threatened to be a water famine.

Lawn sprinklers have been running night and day during the drought, and the result has been that the artesian wells have been forced to their limit, even with the use of air compressors. This situation applies to that part of the city east of the railroad tracks. On the west side the residents gets their water from the Monmouth County Water Company. There is connection between the two systems.

POLITICAL NOTES.

A sub-committee of the Socialist Union County Committee has been authorized to take charge of the drafting and filing of nominating petitions for the primaries. A date for a caucus to consider candidates will also be fixed within a short time.

Robert S. Hudspeth, former State Senator and former judge of the Hudson County Court of Common Pleas, will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor this fall if Governor Wilson resigns, and next fall in case the Governor decides to hold on until after the November election. Announcement to this effect was made today by friends of Mr. Hudspeth.

WILL NOT ACCEPT PASSES.

Several Clergymen Will Refuse Favors From Railroads.

Beverly, N. J., July 9.—Aiming to outlaw in New Jersey railroad clergymen, orders which grant pastors reduced passenger rates, a movement instituted by Burlington county preachers is winning support of many clergymen from other sections of south Jersey, whose conscience condemns this rebate as an evil to be opposed as strenuously as freight rebates prohibited under the anti-trust law.

Rev. William T. Snead, assistant rector of Christ's Protestant Episcopal church, New Brunswick, but whose home is in Beverly, declared that the matter will be made a legislative issue by progressive clergymen opposed to the use of passes, at the next session of the legislature.

The movement means a state wide clash between the pass and no pass factions of clergymen in the different denominations, and the issue has already stirred up considerable feeling.

A. L. Force, of Duer street, is spending the month of July at a cottage in the Thousand Islands and is enjoying the days in a motor-boat.

Mrs. Frank E. Kister and daughters, Bernice and Marion, of West End avenue, returned home last night from a month's visit with relatives in Chicago.

CONDEMN 28 HOSPITAL COWS AS TUBERCULAR

Morristown, July 9.—Out of the herd of 102 cows at the State Hospital for the Insane at Morris Plains, twenty-eight have been condemned as tubercular. The examination was made by State Veterinarian Dr. Whitfield Gray, of Newton, who was assisted by Dr. Henry W. Dustan, veterinarian of the local Board of Health.

Three cases of typhoid fever had developed at the hospital, and it was thought that the disease might be traced to the water supply. The water, however, was found to be pure, and then it was that an examination of the milk was made, with the above result.

The hospital uses 1,100 quarts of milk a day, and it is now necessary, since part of the herd of cows has been condemned, to buy 250 quarts a day from outside sources.

BURIAL OF MRS. LIABLE.

Mrs. Minnie Liable, formerly of this city, who died at Hightstown, on July 6, was buried this morning in the Plainfield Avenue cemetery, Rev. J. O. McKelvey, of Warren chapel, officiating. Mrs. Liable was the mother of Mrs. Lewis Hall, of Manning avenue, the borough. She is also survived by one son.

—Thomas Buckley, of Orchard place, wishes to state that it was not he which was arraigned in the city court Saturday on a charge of fighting. It was another man of the same name.

—Mrs. Elizabeth Waldron, of McDowell street, desires to state that the assault of John Waldron on Christopher Meyers, which led to the arrest of the former and a hearing in the city court, yesterday, did not take place at her home, but at the home of Miss Alice Wallace on Manson place, where Mr. Waldron boards.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

A service preparatory to communion will be held at Hope chapel tomorrow night. The communion service will be held Sunday evening.

Rev. Dr. Strong, of the First Baptist church, who is always seeking to vary the different services of the church, especially the mid-week meeting, announces a "Special" for tomorrow evening and it will be a special service in more sense than one. Mrs. Conradt, of New York, who sang two weeks ago, is again to sing.

CHIEF AT CONVENTION.

Police Chief Patrick S. Kiely left yesterday to attend the International Police Chiefs' Association Convention in Toronto. The convention will be in session until July 14, and on Thursday the Plainfield chief will read a paper on the subject of "Detecting Crimes." Several of the police chiefs of New Jersey have gone to the convention and will boom Kiely for the position of vice president of the association.

STRAWBERRY FESTIVAL.

The Baraca and Philathea Juniors of the Temple Baptist church will hold a strawberry festival on the church lawn, East Third street, near Richmond street, next Thursday afternoon and evening, for the benefit of the baseball team.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

EGGS WITH VEGETABLES.

On midsummer days, when it is desired to eliminate meat, eggs cooked with vegetables make a savory variation in the bill of fare.

Hard boiled eggs may be sliced and served as a salad with almost any cold vegetables.

The vegetables can be chopped and placed in tiny baking dishes with one or two eggs broken over them to be served individually.

Here are some timely ways of cooking eggs:

A Wholesome Way of Serving.

Eggs With Spinach.—Break four eggs into a dish, beat them well, then add a pint of milk, a half teaspoonful of salt, pepper and onion juice. Brush custard cups with a little melted butter and pour in the egg mixture. Put the cups in a pan of hot water in a moderate oven and bake until firm.

To try them take a silver knife and run it in the center, and if it comes out clean the custard is done. Turn the eggs out on a bed of the prepared spinach.

A Rich Dish.

Eggs With Mushrooms.—Take a cupful of minced mushrooms, a cupful of stewed tomatoes, one or two slices of onion minced, three raw eggs and salt, pepper and cayenne. Put a scant tablespoonful of olive oil in the frying pan and when hot add the onion and cook a light yellow. Take care it does not burn. Turn in the other ingredients, and as soon as the eggs are set this is ready to serve.

A Use For Leftovers.

Eggs In Potato Nests.—Take some cold potatoes, mash and shape into nests. Place on a buttered tin. In each nest drop an egg, and on the egg place a bit of butter and dash of red pepper and salt and a teaspoonful of cream. Bake until eggs and potatoes are brown. Serve hot garnished with celery.

With Much Seasoning.

Eggs and Carrots.—Take one pint of milk, one onion, two cloves, one carrot, a small bunch of parsley, four eggs, two ounces of butter, one and a half ounces of flour, one pint of milk and salt and pepper.

Put the milk in a saucepan with the cloves stuck in the onion, the carrot and parsley and let this simmer for half an hour.

Boil the eggs for twenty minutes; then remove shells and cut each in half. Melt the butter in a pan with the flour and stir it in smoothly. Next pour in the milk and stir over the fire till it thickens.

Season well with salt, pepper and lemon juice.

Good Form

Company Manners.

To begin with, there should be no such thing as "company manners." True courtesy springs from the heart, and it is only selfishness that makes some of us invariably turn a smiling face to a stranger and reserve our scowls and bad tempers for our nearest and dearest. It is as important that children should early be instructed in manners as that they should read and write. If young people are taught to be deferential to their elders, to be polite and generous to their playfellows, and are instructed in all the small courtesies of life they will have been given something which will help them greatly to achieve success in after years, no matter what their position. But children are great imitators, and it is impossible to teach them these things if the father and mother are not courteous to each other.

Consideration for others is the keynote of all good manners, and the man or woman who lacks this important quality can never hope to have anything but the most transparent sort of "company manners." Children should be taught to eat quietly, to take soup from the side of a spoon without making a disagreeable noise, to break their bread with their fingers and butter it on the plate, never on the tablecloth or the palm of the land; never to bite fruit at the table, but to cut it with a silver knife and convey the pieces to the mouth with the fingers or a fork. During the process of mastication the mouth should be kept tightly closed, and naturally a child should never be allowed to talk with the mouth full. The head should never be bent to drink from a tumbler or cup, but the cup or glass should be lifted to the mouth. Yet a child should be cautioned not to lift a saucer from the table when eating from it. After all, the great point is with both young and old to make the everyday manners so good that the "company manners" can be left to take care of themselves.

Summer Hand Bags.

In the region of hang bags, pique is being made up for white summer wear. Many bags are now of crochet, and this looks charming with a linen frock, but one can not as a rule say much, for the sack of colored crochet, a thing that contrives to look vulgar even when it happens to be in complete harmony with the tub frock with which it is carried. Macrame is successfully worn with linen or tussore.

Bags are at the moment in a transition stage, or perhaps they have fallen into line with the fashion in regard to other accessories of wearing whatever individual whim dictates. Anyhow some of them are enormous sacks trailing from long cords and hung with deep fringes, while others are quite neat and small, so small, indeed, that they are merely overgrown purses and can serve no vanity purposes at all.

The "Bunty" Bonnet.

Children's millinery is really bewitching. For everyday wear there are some "bunty" shapes, with rather high crowns of coarse straw, the crown carrying the regulation band of ribbon or black ribbon velvet and numbers of close fitting basin styles in drawn taffeta or pliable pedal, some being completely round and others showing an inclination to stand out a scintillation at either side.

Especially pleasing is a pliable straw with a narrow brim and high, squarish crown—in fact, a vertical Paddy shape. Worn at a saucy angle and by the right child, with laughing, piquant face, this Paddy is an assured success. Nor is the sugar loaf crown at all conspicuous by its absence, allied for the most part to a pliable brim that can be rolled or caught up at any angle most becoming to the small wearer.

SEWING ROOM HINTS.

If seams are pressed over a rolling pin or any rounded surface with care in keeping them straight there will be no shining streak.

A bit of white paper slipped under the foot of a machine needle facilitates threading if the light is dim.

Instead of using darning cotton for mending stockings, use crochet cotton. The latter does not harden when washed.

To prevent the seams of skirts puckering first pin and tack them flat on the table. This should be done from the waist down.

To prevent buttonholes fraying in loose material neatly oversew the edges with fine silk and work the buttonhole stitches slightly "on the slant."

ELECTRIC POWER FOR ANY PURPOSE

It makes no difference what use you have for a power drive, Central Station Electric Power will fill your wants.

If you need a thousand horse energy to operate ponderous machines, you can get it. The same is true if you want only a fraction of one horse power to run a delicately balanced piece of mechanism.

One of the great advantages of Central Station drive over other methods is its flexibility. And it is this very quality which helps to make electric power more economical than steam.

You pay only for the energy you need and put to profitable use. You can not do this with a steam plant. With steam drive you pay for wasted energy and wasted fuel.

Let our representative give you figures, founded on actual results in other plants, and show you what electric drive would do for you. A card or 'phone call will bring him to your office.

NEW HIGH SCHOOL

provide for increased efficiency in the work of the whole school. The enlargement will provide for the following improvements:

First. It will provide additional seating capacity for about 750 pupils. The seating capacity of the present building is about 400. The building as enlarged will accommodate about 1,150. This will take in the 300 additional pupils that will be waiting for seats when the building is ready, September, 1913, and will also provide for the growth of the school for six or eight years to come.

Second. It will provide additional accommodations for the science department; a new class room for zoology and biology, and a lecture room. This department is already feeling the need of additional accommodations for doing satisfactory work according to modern requirements.

Third. It will provide additional conveniences for the commercial department. This is one of the strongest, most practical departments in the school, and has been cramped for room for some years, fifteen typewriters being crowded into a small room intended for an ante-room to the stage. The new building will provide an equipment for a banking department and a class room to accommodate thirty typewriters, with other features that will make it possible to do the most satisfactory work in the commercial subjects.

Fourth. It will provide for the growth of the manual, technical, and industrial side of the High School. Those who saw the exhibit of manual work, in June, were impressed with the great possibilities in this line. The new building will provide for rooms for cooking, dressmaking, millinery and other work in housekeeping and homemaking, so that a girl may take definite work through her whole four years' course that will fit her for the work of a homemaker. It will also provide additional rooms for manual and industrial work for the boys in woodworking, forging, machine work with iron, foundry work, and other lines of industrial training.

Fifth. It will provide adequate gymnasium accommodations, so that all pupils in the school may get this valuable work through the four years of their course. The present gymnasium has already been found too small for the school in its present size. The new building will provide a new gymnasium that will permit much larger classes on the floor at one time, while the present gymnasium will be retained for use when the school requires two instructors.

Sixth. It will provide a swimming pool where the pupils may be taught the valuable art of swimming. This should not be considered as simply a place for boys to splash and have a good time. Swimming is one of the best forms of exercise and physical training that can be found. Every summer shows that it is also extremely valuable as a life-saving art. It is coming to be recognized as very desirable that every boy and girl should be taught to swim. In some high schools it is required as a requisite for graduation. When the new school is in use, it is expected that both boys and girls will be taught the art of swimming, just as they are Latin and algebra.

Seventh. The new building contemplates putting the heating and ventilating plant outside of the building. This will remove the boilers from the basement of the present building and will eliminate all danger and fire risk. It will also obviate all noise and dust that usually result from having the plant inside of the building. It will improve the ventilation of the auditorium and add much to its efficiency.

Eighth. It will relieve the Stillman Building until such time as a new grammar school is built. When the State inspector examined our school buildings last fall, he pronounced the Stillman School, which is now used by the seventh and eighth grades, as unfit for school use under modern conditions, because of the low ceilings, the small rooms (only about two-thirds the size required by present rules), the inadequate ventilation, etc., and advised that the Board should discontinue its use at the earliest possible date, saying that it was not practicable to attempt to reconstruct it. The new High School as enlarged will have ten or twelve rooms that will not be immediately required by the High School. The grammar grades now in the Stillman School can be moved bodily into these vacant rooms and can probably occupy them for several years. This will relieve the Stillman School and will make it possible to put into it, temporarily, the children in the Franklin School who are now on "half time" because there are not enough rooms to put them in classes small enough to accord with the size of the rooms. When the new primary building in the Kensington avenue section has been erected, the Stillman Building will be finally vacated but will probably be found available for use as a workshop for classes in industrial training.

The question may arise in some minds, why so large an increase is made at this time. One reason is that the plan is now made to complete the building as a unit. This makes it possible to construct the whole unit now much more cheaply than would be possible if it were done piecemeal, a part now and the rest later. All indications seem to be that the growth of the school will be such that if a part were constructed now, a further addition would have to be made in the course of three or four years.

Again, it has been found that any addition would require a general reconstruction of the heating and ventilating at considerable expense, if the plant is not constructed for the whole building as it will be when completed, considerable money will be saved.

Finally, it is apparent from the plans given above that while the building as enlarged will be larger than is immediately required by the High School, it will practically be all put in use at once, to the great profit of the grammar school pupils.

As to how long the completed building will meet the High School needs, no one can definitely prophesy. Drawing deductions from past experience, this may be said: Two years ago, the attendance in the High School increased 30 pupils; last year the increase was 50; this year, it is about 80. From a careful estimate of the pupils now in the High School and the classes that will be promoted to the High School this year, it seems that the increase in the size of the school next fall will be 100. The proposed addition will provide additional seating capacity for about 750 pupils, but by the time the building will be ready for use, September, 1913, there will be already waiting to occupy the new rooms about 200 pupils, leaving for the growth of the school a capacity of about 450 pupils. If the increase annually is no more than it is this year, the whole building will be occupied by the high school pupils in six or seven years after it is finished. At the most, it seems likely that it will be less than ten years before we again meet the question of new accommodations, even after the present enlargement has been made.

POLITICAL NOTES.

Among the Elizabeth men being talked of as a candidate for surrogate in Union county is former Mayor Patrick J. Ryan, of Elizabeth. Many of his friends are booming him for the Democratic nomination, held for years by George T. Parrot. It is conceded that the former Mayor would poll a heavy vote in Elizabeth, but his strength throughout the county is doubtful.

Assistant City Attorney Joseph T. Hague, of Elizabeth, is also being mentioned for the Union county surrogateship on the Democratic ticket and his candidacy is believed to have gained considerable headway. Leroy Gibby, of Summit, is another candidate, and there is every reason to believe that there will be a warm primary fight for the nomination.

Freeholder William A. Bourdon, of Elizabeth, has come out with the announcement that he will be a candidate for the small Board of Freeholders and is confident of election.

BARS SUNDAY BASEBALL.

Trenton, July 9.—Chief of Police John J. Cleary has served notice upon the officers of the Trenton Tri-State Baseball Club that any attempt to play Sunday baseball in this city will be followed by arrests and prosecutions. Commissioner Labarre, of the department of pubic safety, has received a petition with 11,000 signatures asking that Sunday baseball be permitted. It is thought that the action of the chief of police will put an end to any further efforts for Sunday baseball during the present season at least. The Trentons played at Harrisburg Sunday.

Y. W. C. A. ATHLETIC NOTICE.

The regular monthly meeting of the Y. M. C. A. athletic association will be held in the Y. M. C. A. parlors tonight at 8 o'clock. Important matters will be discussed. The track committee of this organization was the promoter of the Fourth of July meet on Parker Field and the members will submit their report at tonight's meeting. Several of the officers and members of the association are out of town on their summer vacations, but President James MacClymont will be on hand to take charge of the meeting.

SUMMER SCHOOL NINE?

An effort is being made to organize a baseball team in the summer school which opened in the Stillman School yesterday. There is an abundance of playing material on hand, including a number of last year's Plainfield High School stars, and a nine could be organized that would prove a formidable opponent for any of the amateur ball teams of this section.

PLAINFIELD HIT BY HOT WAVE

er. Several horses were overcome yesterday. This affords great relief to the animals and doubtless prevents many deaths.

Perhaps, Plainfielders suffered more last night from the heat than at any other time during the past few days. There was scarcely a breeze anywhere and a majority of the people awoke as tired this morning as when they retired last night. Those who have automobiles have been making the best use of them these days in an effort to keep cool. The evening is the popular time for riding and just now an unusually large number of machines are to be seen about the city and suburbs.

The Plainfield-Union Water Company has not been asleep, as some have imagined. Its representatives were about the city last night and as a result a number of permits were revoked for using sprinklers out of the prescribed hours. The company is determined to stop this practice also the wasting of water as far as possible.

PROHIBITIONISTS PLAN CHANGE IN PARTY NAME

Atlantic City, July 9.—All the flags of the city are to fly tomorrow to welcome the incoming delegates to the national Prohibition convention, which begins its session tomorrow.

Maintaining that the Prohibition party is the original progressive party, a determined effort is to be made by the leaders to change the party name before the Roosevelt party is christened. The leaders insist that if any party is entitled to be named "progressive," it is their party, which ever has stood for advanced political principles.

There is a split in the party, and an effort is to be made by a strenuous minority to oust Charles R. Jones, the national chairman, whose financial management of the party is objected to by many members of the committee. The treasurer is Felix T. McWhirter, of Indianapolis.

The protestants intend to run Oliver W. Stewart, of Chicago, for the presidency. He has the backing of such Prohibition leaders as W. G. Calderwood, W. F. Ferguson and Messrs Mulvihill and Bykens.

—The Billiard parlor in the Y. M. C. A. is undergoing extensive repairs and will be put in first-class condition for the opening of the fall season in September.

WANT COMMISSION TO EXAMINE WOMAN SLAYER

Elizabeth, July 9.—The legal procedure necessary to have a commission appointed to examine Mrs. Charles Henry, who killed her infant daughter last month, is being arranged by her counsel, John K. English. If he is successful in having the commission appointed Mr. English feels confident that the woman will be adjudged insane.

Ever since she has been a prisoner in the county jail Mrs. Henry's conduct has more than borne out the insanity theory.

TO CONFER ON VALIDITY OF TWO IMPORTANT BILLS

Trenton, July 9. The nine members of the Supreme Court will meet in conference at the State house next Saturday to consider the forthcoming decision as to the validity of the Pierce grade bill which has been printed as a statute in the last session laws, and the Bloomfield lighting bill of last year, the regularity of whose passage is also under attack.

Although an early decision as to both measures is generally anticipated it is scarcely probable that neither of them will be handed down this week. It is possible that the court may reach its conclusion on the grade crossing bill at the conference, but formal announcement is likely to be withheld until an opinion has been written and concurred in by at least a majority of the court. This may take some time, particularly should close legal questions arise.

WOMEN TO PERSEVERE FOR RED BANK CURFEW

Red Bank, July 9.—Not disheartened by its failure to induce the Borough Council to adopt a curfew ordinance, the local branch of King's Daughters proposes to keep up the crusade.

A large number of women appeared before the Council at its last meeting and argued for the passage of the ordinance. Among the speakers were Mrs. Elizabeth Ritter, Mrs. Frank L. Blaisdell, Mrs. Henry S. White and Mrs. Charles B. Parsons. They all declared the moral tone of the community would be improved if children were kept off the streets at night.

One of the councilmen suggested that a curfew ordinance would necessitate the employment of extra policemen, which the borough was not financially able to do. Mrs. Ritter replied that the King's Daughters would pay the salaries of additional policemen.

The right parental training, some of the councilmen declared, would do more than anything else to keep the boys and girls at home.

BLDG. INSPECTOR ISSUES SOME MORE PERMITS

To Morris Robinowitz, of 964 West Third street, for the erection of a three story brick building on the corner of Liberty and Third streets. The tenement house is to have a store on the ground floor and is to house five families.

To Standard Oil Co., 26 Broadway, New York City, for the erection of a warehouse, shed, a stable and a tank enclosure at West Front street, 121 feet west of Rock avenue.

To Daniel Devoe, of 1348 West Front street, for two frame dwellings on Johannis place.

To Nicholas Rocco, of Orchard place, for a store and dwelling on the corner of Prescott place and Third street.

To Morris Israel for a frame dwelling at 942 John street.

To Isadore Freidlande, of 413 Plainfield avenue, for two dwellings on West Third street.

To Annetta C. Masker, of 1021 East Seventh street, for an extension.

To C. W. Mowen, of 426 East Second street, for an extension.

To Susie Voliack, of 825 Midway avenue, for an extension.

To Fred Nielson, of 1426 East Second street, for an extension.

TO VOTE ON WALSH ACT.

Wildwood, July 9.—A petition has been filed with City Clerk Hendee requesting that in accordance with the provisions of the Walsh act he will call an election to vote upon the question of the adoption of the commission form of government. July 23 is set as the date on which the question is to be voted upon.

Rev. Ernest R. Brown, pastor of the Dunellen Presbyterian church, will speak at the meeting of the Plainfield Rescue Mission at 8 o'clock tonight. There will be special music.

The Christian Endeavor Society of Hope chapel will omit its meetings during the months of July and August. By a vote of the society, the young people will unite in attending the mid-week service.

SPLENDID VICTORY BY AMERICAN BOY

J. E. Meredith, Winning Event, Hangs Up World Record.

MEL SHEPPARD IS SECOND

Uncle Sam's Athletes Have Piled Up Twenty-five Points—England Hasn't Scored at All—Finland Is Second, With a Total of Six Points.

Stockholm, July 8.—At the end of the third day in the Olympic games the Americans led all countries with twenty-five points. Finland, with six points, is second; Sweden and Greece each has three, Norway and Germany two each and Hungary one. In the seven events decided England hasn't scored a single point.

It fell to the lot of an American schoolboy, James E. Meredith of Mercersburg academy, to provide the day's sensation by winning the 800 meter run in the world's record time of 1 minute 52 9-10 seconds. Not only did the young American beat the world's figures, but in doing so he lowered the colors of the man that set the previous mark of 1 minute 52 1-5 seconds, Melvin Sheppard of the Irish-American Athletic club. Sheppard was only a yard behind the flying schoolboy and only inches in front of Ira Davenport, the Chicago university runner, so that all three places in this remarkable race went to America.

First In Running High Jump.

Another first place fell to the United States in the running high jump, and in this event the result was somewhat in the nature of a surprise, as the man to carry the shield over the 6 feet 3 3-10 inches that earned the victory was Alner W. Richards of Brigham Young university. He had to clear that height to beat Leische of Germany. George L. Horine, the great jumper from the coast, though not in his best form, placed the third place to the credit of America.

In the standing broad jump the Americans met a formidable opponent in C. Tacilitiras, a Greek, who won the event with a jump of 3 meters 37 centimeters (11 feet 6 9-10 inches). This was just enough to beat the Adams brothers, who, however, scored second and third for America, Platt Adams taking second and Ben Adams third. As a windup for the great day's work Louis Tewanima, the Carlisle Indian, finished second to the Finnish distance runner, Kolehmainen, in the 10,000 meter run in a race that was run in the fast time of 31 minutes 30 seconds.

Much to the surprise of the experts, Frederick H. Kaiser of the New York Athletic club qualified for the final of the 10,000 meter walk by finishing fifth in his heat. Lieutenant George S. Patton, jr., a competitor in the modern Pentathlon, was second in the only part of the event decided, the 300 meter swim, but the regular swimmers of the United States failed to qualify in the heats of the 400 meters. McDermott of Chicago did finish second in his heat, but was disqualified.

By far the greatest interest was taken in the struggle in the final heat of the 800 meters, where, in addition to Meredith, Sheppard, Putnam, Edmundson, Davenport and Caldwell of America, Hans Braun, the fast German runner, and G. M. Brock of Canada toed the mark.

Sheppard is the Favorite.

Sheppard, on acount of his victory in London in 1908, when he made the world's record for the 800 meters, was the favorite, but nearly every other member of the team had his supporters among the Americans present. There was a large following for Meredith on account of his defeat of Braun in the semifinal heat in faster time than the other heat was run in. For once the expectations of a fine race were realized and the struggle turned out to be the greatest test of speed and endurance that ever took place. Meredith set the pace with a long, free stride that carried the other runners along at a pace that made the spectators believe that one of the eight starters must give way under the strain. Braun kept right up with the Americans and try as they would they could not shake off the Teuton. Entering the stretch Braun drew alongside of the Americans and a desperate battle commenced. German and American cheers rent the air as the men flew toward the tape, but two yards from the finish the German wavered and Meredith shot over the line a winner by a scant yard from the peerless Sheppard. Davenport, the Chicago man, had come with his usual rush at the finish and was so close to Sheppard that they were both timed in 1 minute 52 seconds, beating the old record. Braun fell exhausted after crossing the line in fourth place. The other runners hung on so well that only twenty feet separated the last of the eight starters from Meredith. The Mercersburg boy's time was 1 minute 52½ seconds, gaining two world's marks in one race. Sheppard, though beaten by the superior speed of Meredith, finished in good condition and will be a starter in the 1,500 meter event.

TRAINING AT FIELD.

Since the Y. M. C. A. field and track meet on Parker Field July 4, a number of local athletes have been using the playground track every evening and are getting into condition for future meets. The recent innovation seems to have started the fever and everyone wants to get a try at the next set of prizes that are put up.

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

Saturday's game on the Oval was a disappointment to the crowd of fans who had hoped to see a satisfactory conclusion to Frederickson and Slocum's troubles.

The two youngsters were about even up to the time of the unlooked for ending.

One of the brightest features of the Bound Brook and Plainfield game was the heady base running of Eddie Stallings for the home nine.

His attempt to steal home would have been a cinch had not his brother hit a foul ball just as he slid into the plate.

It was all right on Bill's part, however, as there were two down and two strikes on him.

Umpire Langton's decisions were a little off color Saturday, but both sides were about even up on close verdicts and the troublesome decision at home plate in the seventh was anybody's.

Sunday Driscoll's Hobokens defeated Paterson 15 to 1. The winners collected 15 hits, including three home runs, three two baggers and one triple.

Scotch Plains sprung a surprise on Bound Brook in the first of their three game series Sunday and walloped to the tune of 11 to 0.

The Plains nine had an unusual day at the bat and pounded the offerings of Slocum and Frederickson to the four corners of the lot.

The Banker's team in the Manufacturers' League had four new players in their lineup Saturday. One of these was Frank Dunning, the N. P. H. S. first sacker, who contributed a three base hit on his initial appearance. The Vail brothers were two others who starred on their first mixup in this league and one of them secured a hit every time he went to the plate.

The Park Avenue nine lost a hard game to the South Plainfielders who came across with a heart-breaking climax in the ninth.

What's the matter with First Baptist? We hope they haven't lost heart over their protest refusal in regard to their first loss.

Earl Moran, the old North Plainfield A. C. player, broke into the ranks of semi-professional ball Sunday afternoon, when he took Lidgate's place behind the bat for Bound Brook.

He started out with a pretty good afternoon's work, holding up Frederickson and Slocum in great shape and also secured one of his teams' five hits.

Plainfield will be out of town for the first time in a long while next Saturday, when they journey to Recreation Park and open up their series of three games with the Westfield nine.

As this team lost their initial contest of the season last week a good game is expected and a large delegation of Plainfield rooters will probably accompany the locals on the trip.

Fight fans will probably be given another treat similar to the one handed out on July 4, when Jack Johnson and Al Palzer meet for the championship of the world on Labor Day. The big smoke says this is his last appearance in the ring and never wants to see a pair of boxing gloves again.

The Wolgast-Rivers bout, which ended in a near-riot on July 4, will also be fought over again on Labor Day to decide the ownership of the diamond studded belt which has been offered for the championship.

Just to keep the field and track movement going in this city, Charles R. Bostwick, director of Parker Field, is organizing a junior meet for Labor Day.

Abbie Carlstrom, the Elizabeth boy, who held down the short stop position for Plainfield last season, and Flock Luyster, another Elizabeth player, well known in this city, are starring for the Lawrence nine, of the New England League.

Just by way of celebrating the Nation's birthday, on July 4, Luyster rapped out a pair of home runs and Carlstrom poled a circuit swat and a single.

The New York fans have dubbed the New York Giants "The Rube Marquard Steam Roller Company (Inc.)."

The American team of athletes have started a repetition of their previous Olympic wins and are out for records in the present international games.

After winning his heat in the 100 meter run, Drew, the little Springfield (Mass.) High School sprinter, was formed to watch the finals from the side lines.

The wonderful negro runner pulled a tendon in the trial heats and although he went to the gym and donned his running togs, he had to be carried back from the track.

Drew was a popular favorite with the Olympic crowd and keen disappointment was displayed over his misfortune.

The claim that the pitching in the American League is better than that in the National is borne out a little by the batting averages. The older organization has a gross average of .272 and the junior .262.

Alfred H. Tilley, captain of Dartmouth's 1913 track team, died yesterday, following an operation for appendicitis.

Tilley was one of the best college hammer throwers, and in 1914 won the intercollegiate championship. He was a pupil of John Flanagan, under whose instruction he mastered the triple turn.

Pitcher "Rube" Marquard met his Waterloo yesterday, after nineteen straight victories. He was taken out after the sixth inning, Chicago defeating New York, 7 to 2, in the opening game of the series.

Jimmy Lavender, who opposed the "Rube," is the pride of Chicago fans. The former Providence twirler is going better than any man on the Cubs staff.

Lavender had pitched thirty-eight consecutive innings without being scored on up to yesterday's game. As the Giants didn't tally until the third, Lavender pitched forty scoreless innings in succession.

Lajoie is truly the wonder of baseball. He hasn't gone back a meter in efficiency. He is still the same dangerous clean-up hitter and the same graceful fielder. He made some stunning plays. Once more he showed that he was the best infielder in the business, putting the ball on a runner when he took Steve O'Neill's wide throw in the first game and retired Baker.

The only way for a pitcher to keep Lajoie from hitting the ball is to pitch so far out that he will be unable to reach it. Because a ball is not squarely over the plate means nothing to Larry, who can hit anything within possible reach with equal freedom.

Russell Ford, star pitcher of the New York American League baseball team, and Miss Mary H. Bethell, of Reidsville, N. C., were married Sunday night. The couple left at once for New York, where the groom was scheduled to pitch against the Washington team yesterday.

Al Palzer, who defeated Bombardier Wells at the Garden a short time ago, has decided that his next bout should be with Jack Johnson, and has called off his proposed bout with Luther McCarthy, which was originally scheduled for Madison Square Garden on July 18. According to advices from the West, Johnson announces that he will gladly take on Palzer for a bout Labor Day and then retire from the ring. Judging from Palzer's showing against Wells, the champion would have little difficulty with big Al.

Joe Jeannette, the Hoboken heavyweight, is making another effort to force Jack Johnson into a match. Jeannette has made other efforts since Johnson won the title, but without result.

Frank R. Emmons, of 47 Prospect avenue, has secured a position with the National Automobile Company, and will enter upon his new duties next Monday morning. "Pete," as Emmons was familiarly known, has been engaged in the plumbing trade in this city for the past three years and will enter into the automobile business with the idea of becoming an expert driver of racing cars. Emmons has lived in this city all his life and has made himself popular with a large circle of friends. He is an accomplished athlete and coach and was a leading factor in the Holy Cross Club when it flourished two years ago in this city. He played for a number of years on the Holy Cross football and baseball teams and after he gave up playing turned his attention to training the club's athletic teams.

GOLF NOTES.

A golfer with a procilivity for figures and for the complication of data, has gotten together a comparison of distances made off the tee by men, women and boys. The men's distances are based on a driving contest betweeen British professionals at Sandwich; between women at the Shawnee Country Club, Pa., and between the boys in the recent junior metropolitan championship at Plainfield. The figures:

Men—Edward Ray, 251½ yards; James Braid, 250 yards; Harry Vardon, 235 yards.

Womeen—Mrs. William Hilles, Wilmington, 175 yards; Mrs. Caleb F. Fox, Huntington Valley, 162 yards; Miss L. A. Wells, Brookline, 159 yards.

While the women's figures were not made by such long drives as Miss Gillian B. Hyde, of South Shore, or Miss Marion Hollins, of Westbrook, or some of the British women, they are fairly representative. The figures are all the more interesting when it is considered that the boys and women are not at the head of their class, except perhaps Carter, who is the interscholastic champion, while the men are among the world's greatest players.

Spotswood D. Bowers, of Brooklawn, has always been classed among the short players of the metropolitan district until this season. At the present time Bowers is driving so long a ball that there are few amateurs in this vicinity who can make him play the odd. How this sudden lengthening came about is explained by Bowers in rather a unique way. He spent last winter without doing much exercise and found that he had taken on considerable weight about the waist line when he resumed golf in the spring. He had been in the habit of making his strokes with his arms close to his body and, according to Bowers, when he began to play again he was unable to take his accustomed swing without materially interfering with his waist line and causing considerable discomfort. So he began to swing with his arms further away from his body; with the result that he got a much longer ball.

PLANS BASEBALL LEAGUE FOR THE SMALL BOY

A junior baseball league for the smaller boys of the city is being planned by Charles R. Bostwick, director of Parker Field. The organization will be known as the Parker Field Junior Baseball League and will include boys of from nine to sixteen years of age who have beeen in attendance at the regular sessions of the playground.

It is planned to have at least four teams in the league and a regular schedule will be drawn up. Any fellow desiring to become a member of one of these nines should be at Parker Field Thursday morning, at 10 o'clock. It is not necessary to be an unusually good baseball player in order to make one of these teams and any fellow who really wants to get into the game will be placed on one of the nines where he can learn the fine points of the game. Captains will be selected Thursday morning and will be given charge of their teams at once, so that they can get their men into condition for the opening contest.

BOUND BROOK PLAYER QUITE SOME BATTER

Frank Bruggy, the former star backstop of the Bound Brook baseball team and one of the best hitters recently turned out of that hilly village, is chopping down everything that comes across the pan up in Pittsfield, Mass. The big catcher is hitting around the .500 mark and he has scored so heavily with the fans that some of the bugs want to deed him the town. Frank twisted his leg while sliding into a bag Saturday and has been unable to play since. The injury is not a serious one, however, but on the advice of the club physician he is taking a rest.

WESTFIELD MIXED DOUBLES.

In the semi-final round of the mixed doubles tennis tournament at the Westfield Golf Club Miss Hazel Gardner (former champion of Vassar College) and W. A. Gardner defeated Miss Perkins and F. ELIZABETH WILL HAVE WILSON DEMONSTRATION

Elizabeth, July 9.—The Elizabethport Democracy, which is the banner section of the party in Union county, will have a big Wilson demonstration tonight. There will be a parade consisting of the Jeremiah P. McNamara Association, the First Ward Independent Club, Third Ward Democratic Club, Bushtown Association and M. F. Gernardt Club. The procession will be headed by Brogan's military band of twenty pieces and there will be plenty of fireworks. The start will be made from Travers' Hall, Second street and Inslee place, at 8 p. m.

The line of march will be to First street, to Elizabeth avenue, to South Broad street, thence along South Broad to the residence of General Dennis F. Collins, treasurer of the Democratic State Committee, who will be tendered a serenade in honor of the work he did at Baltimore toward bringing about Governor Wilson's nomination.

AUTO VICTIMS RECOVERING.

New Providence, July 9.—Mrs. Henry Thompson and Mrs. Albert Burnett, who were injured when an automobile in which they were driving with their husbands on Friday evening crashed into a buggy, ran up an embankmeent and upset, throwing its occupants out, are reported to be doing well today. Both suffered from shock and were severely bruised. They are still under the care of physicians. Rev. Mr. Thompson was driving the auto. He said that in the darkness he could not see the buggy until he was too close upon it to shut off his power. The horse attached to the buggy took fright and ran. None in the auto party knows who occupied the other vehicle.

FAMILY RESCUED FROM FIRE.

Elizabeth, July 9.—A fire was discovered at 11 o'clock Sunday night in a delicatessen store at 166 Fourth street, Elizabethport, owned by Norris Gordon. The flames ate their way between the walls to the third floor, on which lived a Mrs. David and her two small children. They were nearly overcome with smoke, but managed to crawl to the fire escape. Detective Thomas Nolan, who was on his way home, saw their perilous condition, and rescued them. The firemen had hard work saving the building from destruction. The damage was about $1,000.

PROBERS POSE AS POLICE.

Paterson, July 9.—Two men in the guise of policemen held up and robbed Albert Holstein, of 101 Ward street, in Eastside Park Saturday night, taking $6. Holstein was walking in the park with a young woman when the men approached. Holstein questioned their authority when they ordered him from the park and demanded to see their badges, but they refuse to show them. In a scuffle that ensued the man was robbed. The young woman was not molested. Holstein reported the robbery to the police, but no trace of the men was found.

UPHOLDS DISTRICT COURT.

Trenton, July 9.—In an opinion filed by Justice Kalisch yesterday, the Supreme Court affirmed a judgment obtained in the First District Court of Newark by the Electric Park Amusement Company against Nicholas P. Psichos. The company sued for $500, alleged to be the balance due on a lease for stands in the park. Psichos sought damages on the ground that the company refused to let him put up two new stands in the park and claimed that there had thereby been an eviction.

GIVES COMMUNION SERVICE.

Paterson, July 9.—Rev. A. B Richardson, pastor of Wesley Methodist Episcopal church, announced Sunday morning the gift of a silver individual communion service by Mrs. Arthur H. Dey, in memory of her parents. Dr. Richardson paid a tribute to the late Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Doremus. He referred to the gift of Mrs. Doremus of the equipments for the platform, including the pulpit tablets, chairs and the communion tablets.

IN TRUST FOR 35 YEARS.

Morristown, July 8.—Trusteeship of thirty-five years duration was disclosed in the application of Philander B. Pierson for $100 counsel fees and one per cent. commission on the trust created by the will of Dr. William De Hart Quinby, who died in 1877. Dr. Stephen Pierson was one of the executors and trustees under the will, and for many years, until s death a few months ago, the surviving trustee.

CIVIL SERVICE HEARING.

Trenton, July 9.—The Civil Service Commission will hold a public hearing July 16, at noon, in its rooms, State House, on the exemption of the position of field or research worker for the department of charities and corrections. A similar position has been heretofore exempted for institutions like the State Home for Girls, Home for Feeble-minded Women and the Village for Epileptics.

SCARE HASTENS DEATH.

Riverton, July 9.—Fright, caused by a narrow escape from being run down by an automobile Saturday, is thought to have hastened the death of Policeman James J. Tomes, of Palmyra, who died of heart trouble yesterday. Reaching home, Tomes collapsed and grew steadily worse until the end came. Tomes was a special officer for Palmyra Township for eighteen years. For fifteen years he had been a constable.

TAFT MEN FAIL TO NAME A CHAIRMAN

Charles D. Hilles and Harry M. Daugherty Are Urged.

COMMITTEE IS OPTIMISTIC

Think President Has Chance to Win. William Barnes, Jr., Said to Be Out of Race For Chairmanship—Mr. Taft Says He Has No Choice.

Washington, July 9.—Although the subcommittee of nine of the Republican national committee of the conferences that occupied all day failed to make any selection as chairman, it is understood that either Charles D. Hilles, the president's private secretary, or Harry M. Daugherty of Ohio will be chosen, with the chances in favor of the former.

William Barnes, Jr., who has been favorably considered for the place, has practically been eliminated. The national committee were almost unanimous in the opinion that Mr. Barnes is the best equipped man for the place, but the fear was expressed that his selection would lead to the immediate lugging of the Barnes issue into the Taft campaign.

The members of the subcommittee who were instructed by the national committee to confer with the president in regard to the permanent organization of the latter committee found Mr. Taft's mind absolutely open.

The president insisted on having the views of the committeemen and upon giving his own opinions in regard to several candidates. The result was that the committeemen ended their day's labors without any candidate bearing the Taft tag. The president, now that he has obtained a full expression of views from the committeemen, will indicate his choice more definitely late today.

Think Taft Has Chance.

The most notable thing about the chairmanship situation is that five or six candidates really want the job. Mr. Barnes of New York would like to have it. So would Mr. Daugherty of Ohio. The fact was taken to indicate that the political wisacres think that Taft at least has a good fighting chance. There was a surprising cheerfulness among these committeemen over the nomination of Woodrow Wilson by the Democratic convention and the announcement of the call for the third party.

The subcommittee consists of General Powell Clayton of Arkansas, chairman; Alva H. Martin of Virginia, secretary; Roy O. West of Illinois, John J. Adams of Iowa, Charles B. Warren of Michigan, Thomas A. Neidringhaus of Missouri, F. W. Estabrook of New Hampshire, Sewell Sanders, United States senator from Tennessee, and Samuel A. Perkins of Washington.

All the members except Mr. Perkins were present. Mr. Estabrook, after the White House conference, was designated to speak for the committee. He said:

"We agreed not to mention any names for publication. There were eight or ten names mentioned and considered, representing various sections of the country. There was no recommendation in favor of any man for chairman, and it appeared that no one was prejudiced in favor of or against any one. This leaves every one in the field with equal chances."

BULLETS FOR POLICE; MOB TRIES LYNCHING

Rope About Prisoner's Neck When Reserves Arrive.

New York, July 9.—In a fight with striking sailors three Brooklyn policemen were shot, two so badly that they were taken to the Holy Family hospital in a dying condition. Reserves were called from the Hamilton avenue police station and they saved Alexander Sazanno, one of the strikers who did the shooting, from being lynched by a mob of more than 2,000 people.

The rope was already around Sazanno's neck and the loose end was being drawn over the arm of a lamppost when the reserves, under Inspector Harkins and Captain Hussy, reached the scene and helped Patrolman McMillan get his man to the station, more dead than alive.

CLEW IN GIRL'S MURDER.

Boy Finds Knife With Which Crime May Have Been Done.

New York, July 9.—A murderous looking dirk with a four inch blade and a wooden handle upon which was nailed a brass crown, which the police believe may have been the weapon with which little Julia Connors was stabbed forty-one times, was found lying in the street in front of the tenement building where the police believe she was killed.

It was wrapped in a piece of Jewish newspaper and lay amid the dirt near the curb. Jacob Posner, fifteen years old, found the knife, and Garfield Carson, who saw him pick up the weapon, called the attention of Detective Flynn to the knife.

—Youngpop—"I tell you that kid of mine was born to rule." Singleton—"Think he'll make a statesman, eh?" Youngpop—"Yes; or a janitor."

WILLIAM G. M'ADOO.

Man Who Built Tubes Is Ardent Woodrow Wilson Supporter.

© 1912, by American Press Association.

One of the hardest workers at the Baltimore convention for the nomination of Woodrow Wilson was Mr. McAdoo. Mr. McAdoo has been at several Sea Girt conferences, and it is admitted that he wields considerable influence in the election plans.

EXPERT SAYS THAT HARRY THAW IS SANE

Declares It Would Be Safe to Free Him.

White Plains, N. Y., July 9.—Dr. Adolph Meyer, first alienist for the defense in the Harry Thaw hearing, declared without hesitation that Thaw is sane and that it would not be dangerous for him to be at large. This answer came when Mr. Shearn, Thaw's counsel, had submitted to him a short hypothetical question.

The last examination of Thaw by Dr. Meyer took place on June 12 last. At that time he was asked what was the greatest mistake he had made in his life, and he replied that it was the killing of White on June 25, 1906. Thaw added that the factor over which it had occurred had passed away from him. Therefore he considered it of no consequence.

When asked what his leading motives in life were before the situation arose (meaning the murder) the slayer of White said that as far as he could judge he was very much like other people and that he never had any exaggerated ideas.

"As to the future," Thaw continued in telling his story to the insanity expert, "I would like to go abroad. I don't think I am in a position now to judge what I could do after that."

The witness said he could find no trace of persecution delusions or of exaggerated ego when he questioned Thaw on many occasions.

OLD GUARD LEADERS WILL HAVE TO TRAIL

Wilson Said to Have Accepted Advice of Gore.

Sea Girt, N. J., July 9.—Although it was band wagon day for the New Jersey Democrats at the little white house there were developments of much importance nationally to the fight of Woodrow Wilson and the Democratic party for the presidency.

It was made emphatic that this is to be a campaign run by the progressive wing of the Democratic party, headed by a progressive chairman, managed by progressive committees, and that there will be no olive branching, no concessions, no placating of any conservative elements in the party at any stage of the game. The progressive fight is to be carried on in every state in the Union.

The national headquarters is to be in Chicago, and not only will there be an eastern branch headquarters in New York city, but another in Denver or San Francisco. There will be more effort to attract the support of progressive Republicans than conservative Democrats.

United States Senator Thomas P. Gore of Oklahoma, who arrived just about the time the Jerseyman had put in an appearance, seemed to have been able to clarify the situation. Senator Gore had a two hour talk with the governor, and he made no concealment of his gratification after the interview was over. The senator sounded the progressive keynote, and it may be added that he will play a big part in the fight. He said that the party needed a man like McCombs or A. Mitchell Palmer for national chairman and that whoever the man is to be he must be a man of the "new type."

ICE PATROL IS OFF.

Wireless From Sea Lane Says Scout Cruisers Have Quit.

Washington, July 9.—A radiogram received from the scout cruiser Birmingham stated that that ship had ceased her ice patrol and was now bound for Philadelphia, where she was to return to the reserve fleet.

Since late in May the scout cruisers Birmingham and Chester have been taking turns in patrolling the navigation routes of the North Atlantic on the lookout for icebergs and ice fields.

Ice encountered was reported to the hydrographic office daily and thence distributed to all ships on the northerly routes, while the cruisers also relayed the wireless reports of other ships to the shore.

The ice patrol was instituted by order of Secretary Meyer following the Titanic disaster.

TAGGART QUITS COMMITTEE.

Indiana Leader Says He Wants to Get Out of Politics.

Washington, July 9.—Thomas Taggart of Indiana has resigned his place on the Democratic national committee, to take effect July 14. Mr. Taggart, who is in Washington, made the announcement that his resignation had been forwarded to the chairman of the national committee.

William H. O'Brien, state auditor of Indiana, or Senator John W. Kern will succeed to the place so long held by Mr. Taggart. Mr. Taggart insists that his only purpose in quitting the national committee was to get out of politics. He said he is perfectly satisfied with Wilson's nomination.

Weather Forecast.

Fair, continued warm today; tomorrow unsettled; probably local showers in southern portion; moderate south and southwest winds.

MOSES HELD IN BAIL.

Shirt Manufacturer Hauled From Hotel by Irate Sister-in-law.

Atlantic City, N. J., July 9.—Samuel Moses, a shirt manufacturer, who was pulled from a prominent hotel by his sister-in-law, Miss Catherine Creighton of Philadelphia, was held in $500 for grand jury action by Justice Jagmetty, but Mrs. Gertrude Wilkinson, the woman who was in the hotel room with him at the time, had fled before she could be arrested. It developed at the hearing that Mrs. Wilkinson is the same woman who was named by Mrs. Wolstenholme, daughter of F. A. Poth, the millionaire brewer, in her divorce case. Wolstenholme was taken from the home of the Wilkinson woman after she first had attempted to protect him from the officers with a loaded revolver.

At the hearing Moses managed to produce a man so like him that an ordinary acquaintance could not tell them apart. He endeavored to prove that the "twin" was the "Mr. Wilkinson" who had registered at the hotel. Both Mrs. Moses and her sister thought otherwise. So did Justice Jagmetty.

Advertising Pulls—It Doesn't Jerk

That is if it is put together rightly and placed in the right mediums. Under such conditions it is certain to influence your business to the betterment of it if you will only have the courage to "keep at it."

How did John Wanamaker and our other commercial kings build up their vast enterprises? Simply by good business ability and—Advertising constantly—keeping at it. You wouldn't apply a liniment with a feather would you, you rub it in—just the same with advertising, except that you keep on rubbing it in and the harder and longer you do the rubbing the greater the returns.

We once read in a country paper the following: "If you have a prosperous business, advertise and keep it—if not advertise and get it. If you can't find the necessary time to devote to advertising your business properly phone us. We have an expert who will put up your "Copy" that will bring sure results.

VACATION DAYS FOR MINISTERS

Where and When Plainfield's Dominies Will Enjoy Their Annual Rest.

AUG. FAVORITE MONTH

Supplies Engaged For Local Pulpits—Plans of Some Pastors Have Not Been Arranged—A List of Them.

The pastors of the city and borough churches are planning for their annual vacations, most of them for August. As yet all of the supplies have not been engaged and it is impossible to give the full list.

Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, of the Crescent Avenue church, will preach Sunday mornings during July, there being no evening services and he will spend August on the coast of Maine. Rev. Dr. C. E. Herring, of the First Presbyterian church, will spend the month at his new cottage at Spring Lake.

Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, of the First M. E. church, will divide the time between seashore and mountains. Rev. F. J. Hubach, of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, will sojourn at Ocean Grove, while Rev. C. C. Caine, of Grace M. E. church, will also visit the seashore and mountains.

Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, rector of Grace church, with Mrs. Stevenson, is spending the summer in Europe. Rev. W. S. McCoy, of Holy Cross church, is sojourning for a couple of weeks at Orr's Island, Casco Bay, where he expects to be joined by his family for the month of August. Rev. C. H. Mallery, of the Church of the Heavenly Rest, has not settled upon his plans, but he will be away a part of the month.

Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, of the First Baptist church, will be away all of August visiting various points of interest. The supplies will be announced the latter part of July. Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire, of the Park Avenue Baptist church, has gone west on a lecture tour and will return the last Sunday in September.

Rev. C. L. Goodrich, of the Congregational church, will spend August in the White Mountains. Rev. Dr. E. G. Read, of this city, will preach the first Sunday in the month; Rev. Dr. James M. Whiton, of New York, the second Sunday, and the church will be closed the last two Sundays in the month and the first Sunday in September.

Rev. Frederic L. Greene, of Hope chapel, will probably not take his vacation until September. Rev. Evarts C. Conover, of the Temple Baptist church, will spend two weeks of August at Asbury Park and the balance at his old home in Hamilton Square, this State. Rev. J. O. McKelvey, of Warren chapel, will spend a month at Float Island, in the Thousand Islands. He and Mrs. McKelvey will leave here July 29.

Rev. J. Y. Broek of Trinity Reformed church, will spend week-days this month at Lake Hopatcong, returning to preach on Sundays. He will take his regular vacation August, but his plans are unsettled at present.

HE FELL FROM WAGON; BEBOUT IS IN HOSPITAL

Eldridge Bebout, aged 52 years, a teamster, residing at 1252 Cameron avenue, fell off a wagon containing a load of hollow tile he was delivering on the Martine tract this morning, receiving a fracture of the right leg below the knee, a scalp wound and bruises on the hip. Mr. Bebout was driving over a small ditch when the tile began to slide and before he could prevent it, he and the load went off together. He landed between the horses and the wagon with a portion of the load on top of him. Men employed building on the tract hastened to assist the man and they afterward took him to Muhlenberg Hospital. The broken leg was set, the other wounds dressed and the victim's general condition is reported to be favorable for recovery.

TALKS TO ENDEAVORERS.

J. T. Sproull, president of the New Jersey Christian Endeavor Society, of Arlington, addressed the Christian Endeavor Society of the Warren chapel last night on "The Efficiency Campaign," in which the State Endeavorers are greatly interested at present.

MILLS CHIEF OF ELKS; ROCHESTER NEXT YEAR

Total Membership 384,724—The Wealthiest Fraternal Order in America.

Portland, Ore., July 10.—Thomas B. Mills, of Superior, Wis., was elected grand exalted ruler of the Elks for the ensuing year. Charles H. Ward, of Pasadena, Cal., was elected grand esteemed loyal knight. Both were elected by acclamation.

Edward Leach, of New York, was re-elected grand treasurer, also by acclamation.

According to the annual report of Grand Secretary Frederick W. Robinson, the total value of property owned by the surbordinate lodges at the close of the fiscal year, March 31, was $20,391,832.45, which, according to the report, makes the order the wealthiest in America. Portland Lodge No. 142 is the richest, surpassing by a goodly margin all other subordinate bodies in the order, its assets being $345,684.01. New York comes second, with $335,700.49. The next eight in order are:

Brooklyn, $247,163; Sacramento, $183,806; Youngstown, O., $175,466; San Francisco, $173,561; Jacksonville, Fla., $168,927; Spokane, $164,874; Seattle, $142,678; Philadelphia, $138,824.

The total membership in the order, as shown by Secretary Robinson's report, is 384,724, a net increase of 25,065 in the last year.

The report shows thirty-one lodges with a membership of over 1,000. Brooklyn No. 22 shows the record for the best growth. This lodge received 1694 applications and a total of 814 were initiated, making the present total 3,693, leaving approximately 850 to be initiated by the incoming exalted ruler.

Rochester, N. Y., will be the convention city next year, all other cities having withdrawn from the contest.

HERE'S A CHANCE TO BE COOL FOR A DAY

And to take a dip in the Ocean, if With the Excursionists.

The annual excursion of the First M. E., Grace M. E., Monroe Avenue M. E. churches, of Plainfield; Dunellen M. E. church and Wilson Memorial chapel, to Asbury Park, tomorrow, promises to be one of the most successful of the season. All who have been suffering with the intense heat of the past week will welcome the opportunity to visit the shore and take a dip in the cool, briny deep. The committee in charge of tomorrow's outing has left nothing undone in preparing for the comfort and convenience of patrons. There will be plenty of room on the train for everyone and tickets may be obtained at the station's platform.

The train will leave Dunellen at 8 o'clock in the morning, Clinton avenue at 8:06, Grant avenue, 8:08 and Plainfield at 8:15. Returning, leave Ocean Grove 7:10, stopping at Plainfield, Grant avenue, Clinton avenue and Dunellen.

T. R. MASS MEETING WILL BE HELD HERE

Plans are underway for holding a mass meeting in this city within the next two weeks for the purpose of getting an expression of opinion from voters as to the advisability of a third party ticket headed by Roosevelt for the Presidential nomination. There is said to be a strong sentiment here for T. R. and the idea of holding a public meeting is for a full discussion of the subject.

Mayor G. W. V. Moy, who was an alternate delegate to the Chicago convention, is taking the initiative, and when seen today, he said that he had found such a strong sentiment in favor of Roosevelt that he favored the public meeting, instead of a private conference.

"Why, I am beseeched constantly by voters," said Mr. Moy, "who ask me what steps are to be taken to secure the nomination of Roosevelt. They are also urging that an opportunity be given for them to express their opinion and show that they favor the nomination of the Colonel. But, I will not attempt to call a meeting until the weather becomes cooler. However, the meeting will be held before the convention at Asbury Park."

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Judson, of John street, attended the funeral of Jacob R. VanMater, of Rutherford, on Sunday. Mrs. VanMater was formerly Miss Mary Judson, sister of Mr. Judson.

LIGHT SHOWER GIVES NO RELIEF

Heat in City Still Intense Today and no Let-up in Sight.

ONLY ONE PROSTRATION

Jacob Doty Overcome on North Avenue and Fell From Wagon—Back Yard Best Summer Resort—May Be Cooler, and Again, May Not.

Resignation today replaced the irritable resentment with which most of the suffering Plainfielders met the present scorching spell. Enervated almost to a degree of indifference, sweltering humanity arose from a restless night prepared for the worst. And, according to the predictions of John Neagle, the official weather watcher, this morning, they were not to be disappointed. Today has been about as hot as yesterday, so that on almost every face was to be seen the stoical expression, "What's the use?" The thermometer at the State Trust Company stood at 97 at one o'clock this afternoon.

Only one prostration was reported today. Jacob Doty, of Prospect avenue, was overcome by the heat this morning on North avenue, when delivering a load of lumber for the Dunellen Lumber and Stone Co. Doty, who is sixty years old, was driving along North avenue when he suddenly collapsed and fell from the wagon. Several people went to his assistance and sent him home where he is said to be recovering.

Forecaster Negle reiterated today his warning of yesterday that except for possible showers there was no relief in sight before tomorrow, and even that is altogether contingent. The light shower early this afternoon afforded little or no relief, except to cool off the pavement. The area of high barometric pressure extending over the middle Atlantic States is responsible for the oppressive heat. Until it decides to move out and let in a cooler substitute there is not to be any great amount of relief.

The relief that might be expected from showers was understood to be only an ephemeral respite, somewhat similar to the temporary comfort of a cold shower in the morning tub.

From 6 until 7 o'clock this morning the State Trust Company thermometer was one degree behind the marks achieved during the corresponding hours of yesterday, when the temperature registered 74 degreds. At 9 a. m. it had gone up to 83 degrees.

No record of the humidity is taken by the New York Weather Bureau until 8 o'clock in the morning, so that no earlier figures are available. In this respect, however, today set out to be worse than yesterday. At 8 a. m., the humidity stood at 77 in that city, as against 74 yesterday. An hour later the percentage had dropped to 72, which was three points more than at 9 a. m. on Tuesday.

Unless the aerial sprinkling department loosens up considerably the cost of living is going to be boosted again. No appreciable liquid nourishment for the crops has been squeezed out of the clouds in this vicinity since Saturday, June 29. Up to this morning mother earth around these parts had gone without a drink except from a hose or irrigation ditch, for eleven days. She has been getting so dry and parched the nearby farmers and truck gardeners complain that it will take a generous liquidation to quench her thirst. If the drought continues it is predicted that most of us may be eating field-cooked vegetables before very long.

There seems to be one, and only one cool spot in the country and that paradise is Yellowstone Park, where frost blanketed the ground last night and the weather was 16 degrees cooler than in Iceland. The official Yellowstone Park thermometer flaunted 32 degrees in the perspiring face of the rest of the country yesterday.

Those who have made all arrangements to leave town during this torrid spell will be chagrined, no doubt, to learn from the official weather men, that about the coolest spot in many miles is the old back yard in the shade of the house or a kindly tree. In fact, prospective deserters from the city are advised to remain right at home and sip lemonade.

H. J. ANGERBAUER PROMOTED.

Henry J. Angerbauer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Angerbauer, of East Third street, who has been manager for the A. & P. Tea Store at Bayonne for the past seven years, has been transferred to a larger store of the company at 214 Newark avenue, Bloomfield, where he will be manager. Mr. Angerbauer formerly resided in this city and his first position was with the local store of the A. & P. Company.

MRS. T. J. MUMFORD PASSED AWAY TODAY

Philanthropic Woman and Member of Grace Church Goes to Her Reward.

Mrs. Clara McKinley Mumford, wife of Thomas J. Mumford, died at 4:30 o'clock this morning at her home, 319 West Ninth street, of complication, following a four months' illness. She was born at Harrisburg, Pa., and had resided in Plainfield about thirty-four years. She was a faithful communicant of Grace church, and a regular attendant at the services.

Mrs. Mumford possessed an exceptional Christian character. Her many beneficiences were known only to herself and those who were helped. She lived a quiet, retired life, and was beloved by all who knew her. Although a daughter of the Revolution she never affiliated herself with that organization. Her great-grandfather, Captain Michael Whitley, fought in the Revolution and was killed at the Battle of Germantown. She is survived by her husband.

The funeral will be held Friday afternoon at the late home. Rev. John G. Currier, curate of Grace church, will officiate. The burial will be at Harrisburg, Pa.

LITTLE BICYCLIST RAN INTO CARRIAGE ON NORTH AVE.

Richard Fullerton, the seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Fullerton, of 117 East Fifth street, received a slight scalp wound and injuries to his fingers, the result of being struck by Miss E. B. Hartridge's carriage at Park and North avenues, about 9:30 o'clock this morning. The little fellow was riding his bicycle and in turning from North avenue into Park to avoid an automobile, ran into Miss Hartridge's carriage. He went under the carriage, his head and fingers striking against the body of the vehicle.

Stanley Robins, of East Second street, who was nearby, rushed into the street, and carried the little fellow into Armstrong's pharmacy. Miss Hartridge, Miss Seward and Miss Maplesden, who were in the carriage, went to the drug store and Miss Hartridge summoned Dr. E. W. Hedges. The physician dressed the head wound, being obliged to take one stitch. He examined the boy and decided that his injuries were not serious. Orders were given by Miss Hartridge to have the damaged bicycle repaired at her expense after she had taken the lad home.

CAR HAD N. Y. LICENSE; CHAUFFEUR FINED $25

Clement Corderay, of 46 Lincoln place, was arraigned before Judge Gano in the North Plainfield court this morning on the charge of disregarding the automobile license laws. Corderoy, who is chauffeur for Mrs. T. H. Curtis, of 511 West Eighth street, has been running his own car on a New York license owned by Mrs. Curtis for the past month without her knowledge. He said he had purchased the New York license for Mrs. Curtis in February when she wanted to stay in New York for a couple of months. On returning to this State and having no need for the license, Corderoy put the license on his own auto as he expected to sell his car. He added that he did not think it necessary to purchase a New Jersey license for his car for such a short time.

Chief Weiss had taken an account and found that Corderoy had used the New York license on his car for eighteen consecutive days. Judge Gano imposed a fine of $25 which Corderoy paid.

THE RIGHT ROAD.

Ambitious baseball players, if you want advice go to Joe Albert the veteran who manages Scotch Plains. Earl Fulton, of New Market, a promising youngster who is known as "Young Matty" in that village, asked Joe this question the other day: "Say, Mr. Albert, I want some good advice. You have played ball for 20 years or more and I believe you can tell a young feller how to get ahead." "Yes, I can," responded "Red." "Write to the big league managers and ask them for a job carrying bats for five or ten years and then you'll know something."

APPEAL FOR THE BABIES.

While you are making your plans for the summer wont you think too of the babies who must be left behind in the hottest part of Plainfield. Every summer the King's Daughters try to help some of those little children, and care for many sick babies and their tired mothers at their camp on the mouuntain but they are unable to do this adequately without the help of the public.

TUTTLE SEEKS A RENOMINATION

Fifth District Representative in Congress Makes Formal Announcement.

ASKS POPULAR VERDICT

Democrat Praises Wilson—There May be Three Tickets in the Field—Will Runyon be the Republican Nominee?

In the advertising columns of this paper today, William E. Tuttle, of Westfield, formally announces his candidacy for a renomination to Congress as the Representative of the William E. Tuttle.

Fifth, New Jersey, District. Two years ago, the Westfielder was carried in on the Democratic landslide for which the candidacy of Woodrow Wilson for the Gubernatorial chair was responsible. In that campaign he defeated William N. Runyon, of this city, who routed Charles N. Fowler in the fight for the nomination.

Here is Mr. Tuttle's "card" announcing his candidacy for a second term:

"As a matter of fairness to you and myself I make this early announcement of my candidacy for the nomination to succeed myself in Congress. Under the laws of our State the voters of the party must first pass upon the ambition of those who seek public honor and service through party organization. As the last nominee of the Democratic party under the old delegate system I am frank to say that the new system appeals to me as more dignified and more satisfactory. It gives the candidate the satisfaction and inspiration of knowing that he is the choice of the party votes for the honor he seeks, and in my own case of submitting my stewardship to the voters of the party that has honored me with its confidence. It is on your approval of that stewardship, that record of service, that I base my claim for the customary renomination."

When Tuttle first ran, the Fifth District was composed of Union, Morris and Warren counties. By the recent re-districting Warren was eliminated from the Fifth, much to the chagrin of the Democrats, for with Morris and Union alone the district would be normally Republican.

Referring to the nomination of Wilson at Baltimore, where the Westfielder played a conspicuous part, Tuttle said yesterday:

"It has been truthfully said that no candidate ever won his nomination more fairly and honorably than Governor Wilson," said the Congressman. "He is nominated, if ever a candidate for President was, for the sole reason that he is the choice of the majority of the Democratic voters of the United States. His nomination was brought about by the pressure of the 'home folks' upon the delegates at Baltimore, and his selection testifies to the work of the Wilson managers and the Wilson adherents at the convention. Nothing in my life has given me so much satisfaction as the little part I may have had in aiding the Wilson cause."

There is no question as to Tuttle's renomination by the Democratic party. As to who his opponents will be is still a mystery. It has been supposed that Runyon would make another try as the Republican candidate but he has not announced himself as yet. Whether there will be a third man, in the event of a Progressive ticket being launched, is also a matter for future conjecture.

ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Bennett, of 1224 West Sixth street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Jane Grace Bennett, to Gansevoort T. Van Alstyne, son of L. I. Van Alstyne, of 1001 West Front street. The wedding will take place in the fall.

HE PLANS CRUSADE AGAINST THE MORMONS

Hans Freece Tells Mayor He Drove Them out of Sweden and Will do so Here.

Hans P. Freece, a New York lawyer, who says he has been the protagonist in the recent anti-Mormon campaign in London and the North of England, called on Mayor G. W. V. Moy today for the purpose of enlisting his sympathy and support in the movement. He was induced to come to Plainfield, he asserted, because he heard that two Mormon elders had been doing missionary work in this city and vicinity. His plans are to hold a mass meeting here about the middle of September, possibly in one of the churches.

Mayor Moy assured Mr. Freece of his support, and said that he would lend his aid to any plan that meant the overthrow of Mormonism. The Mayor is decidedly pronounced in his views on the subject. He told Mr. Freece of his experience with the Mormon elders that visited Plainfield and said that he would not permit them to do missionary work here if it was possible to prevent it. The trial of the elders for violation of a city ordinance is scheduled for early in September.

Mr. Freece told the Mayor that he had been successful in driving the Mormons out of Sweden and other foreign countries and had blocked them many times in carrying on their work. He is visiting all parts of the country, he said under the auspices of the American Civic Union, organized in Ohio, for the purpose of getting individual States to petition Congress for a uniform marriage law to be under Federal control. The consent of twenty-three States, including New Jersey, has been obtained and only nine more are required. If a uniform marriage law is adopted it would absolutely prevent plural marriages.

SHE WITHDREW CAVEAT ON HER FATHER'S WILL

W. C. Chamberlain Left Daughter but $5, but His Wife Made Settlement.

Elizabeth, July 10.—When the rule to show cause why the will of the late William C. Chamberlin should not be admitted to probate was returned before Judge Atwater in the Union County Court, this morning, Lloyd Thompson, of Westfield, of counsel for the widow of Chamberlin, reported that a satisfactory settlement had been made and the caveat which was filed against the will by Mr. Chamberlin's daughter, Mrs. Lottie Anson, of North Plainfield, was withdrawn. Winfield S. Angleman was counsel for Mrs. Anson.

Mr. Chamberlin, who was a contracting painter in this city, died a year ago, leaving an estate valued at $30,000, to his second wife. He left his daughter but $5. It was for this reason that the latter filed a caveat against the will. Ernest Chamberlin, of Westfield, and the widow were appointed executors of the will.

The property of Mr. Chamberlin consisted chiefly of real estate and securities. No hint as to the terms of the settlement was given in court this morning and the interested parties declined to discuss the matter. The case had been dragging along for nearly a year when Mr. Angleman obtained the rule to show cause why the will should not be admitted and that rule was to have been argued today.

HORSE RUNS AWAY.

Some excitement prevailed on Park avenue this morning at 11:30, when a horse belonging to Robert H. Keenan, a grocer, became frightened when standing in front of the store at East Fifth and Richmond streets, and dashed down Fifth street to Park avenue and down Park avenue to Front street. The animal dodged among the many wagons and automobiles on Park avenue and in turning into Front street a wheel of the wagon was caught on the traffic post. The harness broke and the horse ran loose but was caught by Policeman O'Keefe, of the traffic squad.

RATEL NOT GUILTY.

After three hours' deliberation the jury at the Union County Court in Elizabeth in the trial of Stephen Ratel, of Roselle, for burglary in connection with breaking and entering the home of William McKee, of Crandford, February 21 last, returned a verdict of not guilty. The defendant's parents and a number of friends remained at the Courthouse while the jury was locked up and waited for the announcement of the verdict.

FLED TO ESCAPE THE BLACK HAND

Given Death Sign When He Confronts Enretta Intended Victim Disappears.

HE QUAILED IN COURT

Frightened by Black Hand Signal Marasoit Professed That Enretta Was Not Guilty and He Then Dropped Out of Sight.

Dominick Marasoit, an Italian employed at Bonnie Burn Sanitorium, who received a "Black Hand" letter last week, resulting in the arrest of Anton Ernetta, a fellow-countryman, quit his job suddenly yesterday and fled from that section. Marasoit's hasty departure was caused by threats of alleged "Black Hand," because he told the police of his having received a demand for $100 under penalty of death.

It has been learned that when confronted by Marasoit in Justice Clark's office, Monday night, Enretta gave him one of the death signs of the Black Hand so familiar among Italians. It was noticed that Marasoit became greatly excited after getting the signal and that he almost fainted away. It was due to his allegation that Enretta was not the guilty party, that Justice Clark was led to dismiss the case.

In the letter received by Marasoit he was ordered to place $100 beneath a stone near the white bridge at Scotch Plains within a week and if he failed his life was threatened. He was also told that he need never expect to see his wife and children in Italy again. Marasoit was also warned not to tell anyone of the letter and if he did and there were any arrests there were a thousand men that would carry out the threat against his life.

The victim of the "Black Hand" letter was thoroughly frightened, but acting upon the advice of friends to whom he related the incident, he reported the matter to the Scotch Plains police. Then followed the arrest of Enretta through the means of a decoy letter.

C. J. FISK IS INCENSED BY A HOT WEATHER TALE

Former Mayor Charles J. Fisk was much hotter than the extremely warm weather made him this morning, when he gave an interview from his New York office to the Daily Press about a story which was printed in a local paper yesterday, concerning plans he is alleged to have completed for making radical changes at his homestead on Seventh street. The story had it that plans were all completed to tear down the old homestead, which is located in the centre of an entire block, and to erect in its stead eight small houses, which would be placed on the market for sale.

The former Mayor could not speak in too strong terms about the article which he stated was manufactured around plans, which he described as being very much "in the air," and which he said would in all probability never materialize. He added that there were only two or three people that he had ever talked over the possibilities of the matter with, and that when he found out who was responsible for giving credence to such a garbled and erroneous story that person would be the sufferer. "I'm so hot and mad about the matter that I do not want to talk about it," was the way he put it. "There is absolutely no excuse for having published such a story, and you may rest assured that if such a plan had reached a state where we were definitely prepared to make our announcement, the information would be founded on something more definite than was that which resulted in the article made public. At the present time I doubt whether anything more will be done about making changes in my Plainfield property, and the plans are entirely in the air."

PICNIC AT WASHINGTON ROCK.

The Young People's Society of the First Baptist church will hold a picnic at Washington Rock on Saturday afternoon and evening. The young people will take the 3:30 o'clock car from the trolley station on Watchung avenue to Dunellen, from which place they will walk to the Rock. All friends are invited. If it should rain the picnic will be postponed two weeks.

MFG. CLUB BENEFIT.

The motion picture entertainment for the benefit of the Manufacturers' Baseball League in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium last night was largely attended. The program of films will be changed at the second performance to be given tonight and will include two comic reels, one of which is entitled "The New Stenographer."

TO PREPARE GAMBLING PROOF.

Atlantic City, July 10.—Evidence of the existence of gambling-houses here will probably be formulated today when Detective William J. Burns is expected to meet Assistant Attorney-General Gaskill and special counsel for the State. The grand jury will meet at Mays Landing Wednesday to consider the proof which Justice Kalisch declared in his charge would be submitted. Burns' evidence is said to be based chiefly on dictagraphic reports of conversations between his operators, masquerading as sporting men, seeking gaming-house franchises here, and gambling-resort proprietors to whom they are alleged to have been referred by city officials. The detectives are said to have been visitors for two weeks at faro layouts and poker rooms in two beach-front hotels.

The Celebration of Our Anniversary Scores A Well Merited Success

Hundreds Attended Saturday, Sharing in the Dozens of Remarkable Values Offered in all Departments.

And today and tomorrow we shall continue to celebrate in the same manner—by giving out-of-the-ordinary values in every section of the store. By lowering prices in a manner that MUST AND WILL CONVINCE YOU that our statements regarding the values offered in this birthday celebration are bonafide—that they tell of ACTUAL PRICE REDUCTIONS.

We want to show our appreciation of your patronage in a practical and worth-while manner—in a way that will appeal to your purse rather than to your fancy. Therefore we offer these remarkable bargains in all departments—bargains that will remind you pleasantly of the store and the occasion.

Our Free Birthday Gifts-- REMEMBER TO BRING YOUR CIRCULARS WITH YOU

Gift numbers are changed each day—if you don't see your number displayed today, it may be tomorrow, so be sure and pay us a visit.

Ten different numbers for each day (80 in all) have been drawn by Mr. Fort, of the Daily Press, and if your circular has one of those numbers you are entitled to a gift. So visit the store each day of the Sale and see if your number is displayed—if it is that gift is yours free.

OUR STORE WILL CLOSE AT 5:30 P. M. DURING THE WARM WEATHER.

Believing that it will be for the benefit and comfort of our patrons and our salespeople we have decided that during July, August and September instead of opening the store at 8:30 and closing at 6 we will OPEN THE STORE AT 8 A. M. AND CLOSE AT 5:30 thus giving an extra half-hour in the cool of the early morning for you to shop in.

CALLS KEYPORT'S SEPTIC TANK AN INFRINGEMENT

Keyport, July 10.—A communication has been received from the Cameron Septic Tank Company notifying the Borough Council that a part of the septic tank for the new sewer system here is an infringement upon patents held by the Cameron company.

The company cited several cases in which it alleged its patent rights had been upheld by the courts. The question was placed in the hands of Borough Attorney Henry E. Ackerson, Jr.

The tank used here was designed by Engineer Clyde Potts, of Morristown, and installed by the Harrison Construction Company, of Newark. Mr. Potts also laid out the whole system and acted as supervising engineer during its construction.

The original cost of the system was to be about $75,000, but the Council has already raised an additional $10,000 to defray the extra expense incurred. Some of this money, however, is still in the Council's hands, as the Harrison Construction Company defaulted on its contract, and the borough is completing the work under the direction of Anthony D. Bedle, superintendent of public works, assisted by Engineer Van Zee.

PROHIBITIONISTS WOULD 'PACK' HIGHEST COURT

Metuchen, July 10.—Declaring that if the Prohibitionists were in power they "would pack the Supreme Court as both the grand old whisky parties do," Eugene Chafin, of Chicago, who was the Prohibition candidate for President in 1908, addressed a "cold water" massmeeting here Monday night.

Mr. Chafin went on to say that the country did not need more laws, but wanted power. He declared that President Taft had packed the Supreme Court with whisky judges "and yet you non-partisan Republicans stand for it."

"Vote us power," he continued, "and then we will do with the Supreme Court what the Democrats did when they wanted the Dred Scott decision. We will do as Grant did with this same court, when he wanted the greenback decision.

The speaker declared at this juncture that if the Prohibitionists get in power they would pack the Supreme Court for Prohibition.

"It's not new laws we want," he declared. "It's administration of those laws we already have: it is control of the Supreme Court in order that our laws may be properly interpreted. We will have the court decide that liquor selling is a crime and not a business, and then we will get justice.

"President Taft sent Secretary Wilson to preside over a brewers' convention. Now you may think this a fact calling for criticism of the G. O. P. It isn't. If the Democrats had been in probably they would have sent two cabinet officers to do the same trick. I tell you the two old parties are the Grand Old Whisky parties and with the per capita consumption of liquor up to twenty-three gallons per annum it's time we were voted to power."

Mr. Chafin referred to the convention of the Prohibition party, which opens at Atlantic City today, and said that if the Prohibitionists were successful "there will not be a grog shop, brewery or distillery doing business under the American flag."

The speaker said that there were six candidates for President in 1908. Four of them, he declared, were good talkers.

"Taft," he went on, "couldn't talk at all. He was elected. The moral is, if you want to be President don't talk too much."

FIND BODY ACROSS TRACKS.

Elizabeth, July 10.—An unidentified man, who it is believed lived in this city, was killed at 12:30 o'clock yesterday at the Staten Island ferry. The body was found across the trolley tracks on Staten Island and close to the ferryhouse. The man is believed to have beeen struck by a trolley car. The Staten Island police removed the body to the Richmond county morgue, and at 8:30 this morning notified the Elizabeth police. The victim is about twenty-three years old, dark hair, five feet six inches tall and his weight was about 140 pounds. He wore a brown sack striped coat, white shirt, no collar or necktie. He had on a 7⅞ derby hat and on the inside was the name John G. Ilg, 861 Elizabeth avenue, hatter.

Visit of the German Squadron

THE recent visit of the German squadron of warships to the United States was one of the principal events on the social and official calendar for the summer. The visit was a return of the friendly call made by an American squadron to Germany a year ago.

The German squadron was met at Hampton Roads by President Taft and representatives of the navy, and the officers were escorted to Washington to be the guests of the government. At the invitation of Mayor Gaynor the squadron later visited New York for a round of entertaining.

The visit of the German ships presented two features which attracted general attention. These were the flagship Moltke, the first battle cruiser or modern man-of-war to visit American waters and the presence of two princes as well as a couple of barons on the staff of officers. The Moltke held the attention of the naval and diplomatic authorities, while the princes and barons added to the interest of the social season.

The titled officers of the squadron were Lieutenant (junior grade) Prince Christian of Hesse-Philippsthal-Barchfeld, Prince Henry XXXVII. of Reuss, Lieutenant Baron von Senorchiens-Grench and Midshipman Baron von Liebenstein. All of these officers come from well known houses, but none of them is of the blood royal. Prince Henry of Reuss is the thirty-seventh prince of that house in the nineteenth century. The custom of Reuss is unique in that its princes take serial number throughout each century. Just how many princes this little domain has produced even the Almanach de Gotha fails to indicate.

The battle cruiser Moltke stands out pre-eminently as perhaps the most remarkable man-of-war of the battle class in the world. The Germans contend that she is the swiftest fighting ship above the destroyer type.

With the Moltke came the protected cruiser Stettin, much smaller, slower and of an older type, and the protected cruiser Bremen of the German West Indian station.

The squadron was under the command of Rear Admiral von Rebeur-Paschwitz, the first German naval attache to the United States. Admiral Rebeur-Paschwitz was only a lieutenant commander when he was attached to the German embassy following the Spanish-American war. Few foreign nations had deemed the American navy of sufficient importance prior to that war to send attaches to Washington. Since then every European power—indeed, every nation maintaining an embassy here save Mexico, which has no navy—has sent a naval attache to Washington.

—Most of our disappointments are due to our belief in that hoary old fallacy about a bad beginning making a good ending.

A FAIR ARGUMENT.

William A. Lord, city counsel of Orange, who was of one the Roosevelt delegates to the Republican national convention, believes in party regularity, but says he cannot quite stick to the party after the result at Chicago without one more test. He has suggested a method by which the voters of New Jersey be given a chance to determine whether they are satisfied with the nomination which was made by the National Committee, and in making the suggestion says that he will not be driven out of the party, come what may. His plan is given publicity in a letter to former Governor Franklin Murphy, and suggests that the re-call principle be applied to Mr. Taft's nomination. To bring this about Mr. Lord suggests that Taft and Roosevelt candidates be chosen to run at the primaries for the Senate and Assembly in September, and that the electors selected following this primary, be instructed to vote for the man who wins. The Presidential electors are chosen, to the number of fourteen, by a convention made up of he successful candidates for Assembly and the Senate, and the hold over Republican Senators. Mr. Lord shows his position to be a fair and just one when he says:

"This will give the Republican voters an opportunity to 'recall' the decision of the National Committee, the decision of the Credentials Committee of the convention and the decision of the convention itself as to the seating of the delegates whose right to sit therein has been so seriously questioned.

"If a majority of said State convention is for Mr. Taft it will indicate that the voters believe he was honestly nominated and Presidential electors favorable to him will be named, and I pledge myself, in that event, to vote for them and work hard for their election.

"If, however, a majority of said convention should nominate Roosevelt electors, I pledge myself to vote for them and work hard for their election, and in so doing I shall consider myself working in the interests of the Republican party, and for its duly chosen nominee selected by an overwhelming majority of Republicans, not only in this State, but throughout the Nation."

It will be interesting to see how Mr. Murphy, who was one of the busiest of the oil-can holders on the steam roller, will reply to an argument as fair as that offered by Mr. Lord, if he replies at all. If he agrees that the plan is a good one he will admit that there is serious question about the honesty of Mr. Taft's nomination, and if he disagrees he will show that he is afraid to trust the judgment of the members of the Republican party. The latter have already spoken, in the primaries held in May, so decisively that it is probable that the Republican organization will dodge such a test as Mr. Lord suggests.

According ot testimony submitted yesterday, the man who was in charge of the engine which smashed into the rear end of a Lackawanna train last Wednesday morning, with the resultant death of forty persons, was intoxicated at the time of the accident. If such was the case it would seem that the responsibility rests upon some one higher up. The evidence went to show that the engineer boarded the engine just at the time when he was to leave the station at Elmira, having been late in reporting ofr duty, so late in fact that the train was held for him. Under the circumstances it would seem that some superior officer should have been on hand to learn why he was behind time. Perhaps if such had been the case it would have been discovered that he was in no condition to take the engine out, and the forty lives could have been saved.

Charles D. Hilles, secretary to the President, who so successfully ran the steam roller with the National committeemen as a crew at the Republican convention, has been chosen as Mr. Taft's campaign manager, over William Barnes, Jr., the New York boss. Such action is creditable, for the Taft campaign has had too much of Barnes and his kind in it already, and Mr. Hilles is a fine type of man. He will not find the cushion in the seat of the steam roller so soft now as it was at Chicago, for instead of mowing down a few delegates, he will have to buck up against a stone wall of voters.

Atlantic City held its first commission government election yesterday, and the five commissioners are said to have been the best candidates offered. All of the commissioners chosen are Republicans, but they represent two factions in the party which are bitterly at odds, and as they will watch each other like hawks, the prospects are that the great watering place, probably the most corruptly governed city in the nation up to the present time, will benefit materially as a result of commission rule.

In our advertising columns today, William E. Tuttle, of Westfield, makes public announcement of the fact that he is a candidate for renomination on the Democratic ticket for Congressional honors. His formal statement is characteristic of him for it is frank, blunt and to the point. He tells the voters of the Fifth district that if they are satisfied with his record that he would consider it an honor to be sent back to Washington.

The alacrity with which the hidebound Republican organs print news about defections from the Progressive ranks is amusing when one takes into consideration the utter absence in their columns of reports about the much greater defections on the part of Progressives to the Wilson cause. It is also remarkable that up to date not an independent newspaper in the whole country is supporting Mr. Taft for re-election.

"T. R." is caricatured as the Bull Moose. Well, one of the habits of this animal is to knock down the timber as he rushes through the forest, and that would be an unsafe place for an unstable platform.

So our Joint Sewage Disposal System Commission is referred to as the Steering Committee. Well, now, cut out that "steer" business—we've had enough of it.

An exchange opines that Taft will not carry a single State. Quit your kidding. How about "the state of innocuous desuitude?"

"Wilson—that's all." But "Jim" Smith could not swallow it.

Charlie Murphy is "fer that there college perfesser."

THE TEMPERATURE.

The following temperature was reported at the State Trust Company today: 9 a. m., 83 degrees; 11 a. m., 91 degrees; 1 p. m., 97 degrees.

POLITICAL NOTES.

New Brunswick, July 10.—Congressman Thomas J. Scully is now the recognized Democratic leader of Middlesex county, succeeding Millard F. Ross. The change came about when Scully won the approval of the voters at the primaries as a Wilson nominee, an Elizabeth lawyer who resides here. Schleimer was the candidate of Millard F. Ross, a James Smith, Jr., adherent, who withdrew his support from Governor Wilson because he would not support Smith for United States Senator.

TROLLEYMEN'S OUTING.

The annual excursion of the day force of employes of the Public Service Company was held today when two special cars carrying the men and their families, left the car barns at 9:30 for Palisades Park on the Hudson. Refreshments will be served on the cars. The night men will have their excursion Wednesday, July 24, and Supervisor George Luhr says, "last but not least."

TWO WEEKS' VACATION FOR MANY POOR BOYS

Union County Youths Enjoying Outing at Endeavorers' Camp at Scotch Plains.

Looking forward joyously to two weeks of fun in the mountains twenty-one Elizabeth boys met at the Y. M. C. A. for the trip to Camp Endeavor at Scotch Plains. Boys from Plainfield joined the party yesterday, making the quota of twenty-four for whom provision has been made. This is the first group of boys to be entertained this year, and two weeks hence others will replace them. It has been arranged that eight groups of twenty-four boys each shall be entertained at camp between now and September 2, when camp will close.

The site is near that occupied last year, and four acres of land have been purchased. A few earnest young men assisted Fred C. Lounsbury, Jr., of this city, general chairman of the fresh air committee and Wilson Hoffman, of Springfield, chairman of the house committee, in preparing the camp for occupancy. They worked on Saturday, June 29, and last Saturday and also sacrificed their holiday on the Fourth of July in order that everything might be in readiness for the boys. It required much hard work for the small company of workers to get the land cleared, the tents erected and equipped, and boundaries fixed, but camp is in good condition and in a few days will be in full swing.

A daily routine has been outlined by the entertainment committee, Frederick L. Mintel, chairman, and for the devotional meetings on Sunday afternoons the devotional committee Miss Lucie M. Coriell, chairman, has made careful provision, assigning to various C. E. societies in the county the charge of these services.

The camp is conducted by the Union County Christian Endeavor Union, and the guest committee, Miss Vera H. Day, chairman, has sought to secure as guests those boys who most need the camp benefits. Among those who went was one boy who within the past six months has undergone four operations, and a few of the others are not strong, robust boys. All of the boys selected are members of families where it is not possible to provide much pleasure for the children, and the delight with which the mothers welcomed the opportunity afforded for their boys to have a two weeks' outing away from the heat of the city and untoward influences, is an indication of the value of the work. The guest committee was greatly aided in the selection of guests by Miss Nelle L. Swartz, superintendent of the Charity Organization Society Elizabeth, and a number of school teachers and others who knew of worthy cases.

PHYSICIANS TO ADDRESS COUNTY MEDICAL SOCIETY

The Union County Medical Society will hold its regular meeting tonight at 8:30 o'clock at the Elks' Clubhouse on Westfield avenue, Westfield. After the executive business is disposed of the society will take up the subject of "Symposium on Artificial Infant Feeding." This program has been arranged by the Milk Commission of the society, composed of Drs. Arthur Stern, Stephen T. Quinn, Edgar B. Grier, of Elizabeth; Joseph B. Harrison, of Westfield, and B. Van D. Hedges, of this city.

Physicians from the northern part of the State will address the society on subjects relative to the matter for discussion. The speakers and their subjects are as follows: Dr. Godfrey R. Pisek, New York, "Reduction of Infant Mortality in New York." Demonstration of charts. "Work of the New York Milk Committee; Dr. Julius Levy, Newark, "Relation of Scientific Artificial Feeding to Infant Mortality." Presentation of motion pictures for teaching mothers the care of babies; Dr. Francis H. Glazebrook, Morristown, "Speedwell Organization with Demonstration of Photographs; John H. Hankinson, manager Raritan Valley Farms, Somerville, "Business Side of Modern Artificial Feeding."

AMERICANS WINNERS IN OLYMPIC SHOT PUT

The surprise of the day, in the International games at Stockholm, came in the defeat of Ralph Rose, the popularly conceded victor, in the shot put event. In order to secure first place, Pat McDonald, one of New York's finest, was compelled to hurl the missile the record distance of 50 feet, 4 inches. Rose, the defeated champion, came in for second honors; while Whitney, a practically unknown man with the shot broke in to third place for the Americans.

Previous to this clean sweep in the shot put, Reidpath, Craig, Courtney and Cooke carried off first place in the sprints. Reidpaith won the first heat in the 200 meter run, Craig took second, Courney, the third, and Cooke, the seventh. America is now separated by three points from her nearest competitor, Sweden, but the American team had on their program today several of the events in which they are most interested and which they are sure of taking part and perhaps all the points.

TRINITY'S ENDEAVORERS CONTRIBUTE TO A CAMP

The Christian Endeavor Society of Trinity Reformed church at its monthly business meeting, last night, reported that about $30 had been raised toward the support of "Camp Endeavor," located near Scotch Plains, and maintained by the Endeavorers of Union county. The local society had pledged $15, but was successful in collecting double that amount. It has been arranged for the Trinity church society to take charge of the religious service at the camp Sunday afternoon, July 21.

After the business meeting the Endeavorers adjourned to the church parlors, where they engaged in a "spelling" game, which afforded much amusement. The social committee provided refreshments and altogether a pleasant and profitable evening was spent.

GOMPERS WITH WILSON; LABOR PLANK PLEASING

Trenton, July 10.—Governor Wilson came to the State House yesterday from his Sea Girt cottage, and was in comference for more than an hour with President Samuel Gompers and other officials of the American Federation of Labor. After the meeting President Gompers said:

"We discussed with the Governor the platform adopted by the Baltimore convention and expressed ourselves as being in entire approval with the planks which apply to legislation and principles affecting the rights of the working people of the United States.

"I think the platform goes as far as a great political party can declare under present industrial and political conditions—that is with any degree of assurance of being enacted into law."

Former State Senator Colby, of Essex county, prominent in the new National Progresive party, called on Governor Wilson, but declared that his visit was one of business and not politics. "Did you tell Governor Wilson you intended defeating him with T. R.?" he was asked.

"That is just what I told him," said Colby. "I further told him that six months after his election, should he be elected, the old fight against the bosses would have to be gone all over again. We have the Republican bosses licked now, and are going after the Democratic ones as well, but with T. R., not with Wilson."

WARDEN DODD'S GUEST.

George Hachett, colored, who was arrested on complaint of Overseer-of-the-Poor H. L. DeForest, charged with the non-support of three children, was taken to the county jail today to be held there until he can furnished bonds to guarantee the payment of $4 a week for the support of the children.

STATE AFFAIRS ENGAGE GOVERNOR WILSON

Progress toward solving the questions involved in the appointment of a campaign manager for the Governor has been made at a conference between the Governor and Norman E. Mack, the present chairman of the national committee. Mr. Mack arrived at the Sea Girt cottage at 9 oclock and stayed more than an hour.

The probability of William F. McCombs becoming head of the national committee, grows stronger. However, this does not mean that Mr. McCombs will be the big boss of the campaign.

There is much opposition to the young New Yorkers from the old war horses, and as a way out of the dilemma Mack suggested to the Governor that he revert to the plan of having a campaign manager in addition to national chairman. This scheme was used prior to 1908.

"We did not get down to names," said Mr. Mack, "but it was suggested to the Governor that if he was going to have an Eastern man for National Chairman it would be well to have a Western man as campaign manager."

The Governor has not indicated just what he thinks of Mack's suggestion. As time goes on, it becomes apparent, however, that he is leaning more and more to the appointment of McCombs as national chairman.

Governor Carey, of Wyoming, National Committeeman Davies, of Wisconsin, and Fred B. Lynch, of Minnesota, are the names suggested for campaign manager.

—"How old are you?" asked the little boy of the lady who was calling on his mother. "Why, Willie!" exclaimed his mother. "You must not ask a lady a question like that. It's not polite." "Why mamma? She isn't supposed to tell the truth."—Yonkers Statesman.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

Rev. F. St. John Fitch, of this city, preached at the Park Avenue Baptist church last Sunday and next Sunday he will occupy the pulpit at the Roselle Baptist church.

Rev. J. Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, is planning to spend the week-days during July at Lake Hopatcong, returning for the Sunday services.

The members of the Philathea Jr. and Baracca Jr. classes of the Temple Baptist church will hold a lawn social on the church grounds tomorrow afternoon and evening. The committee of arrangements is as follows: Cake and candy, Miss Bessie Carson and members of the Philathea Jr. class; ice cream, Fred Coombs; music and entertainment, Walter Cubberly; decorations, William Conger; finance, Frank Stewart. Robert Gullberg, chairman of the "mystery committee," announces that he will have the "gumbus" on exhibition. The decorations will be in the class colors, maroon and white.

AQUATIC SPORTS ARE COMMENDED

The Young Woman Who Can Swim and Row Expertly Is Generally Healthy, Handsome and Clear Witted.

THE recent ocean disaster calls attention again to the chances taken by those who travel by water. Wrecks do not always occur in the icy north, where the swimmer has no advantage over those not thus equipped. It was shown by the promptness with which the Carpathia appeared in response to the wireless appeal of the Titanic that in ordinary waters those who are equipped with life belts and can swim have an advantage and a definite chance of surviving the disasters of the sea. If a woman can swim she can guide herself out of the way of danger, and the belt will keep her up indefinitely.

Even when there are plenty of lifeboats in case of an accident on shipboard, says a veteran traveler, the woman who wears a life belt and can swim insures her own safety, for life craft have met with accidents after embarking.

Aside from the assurance of safety from dangers in travel on the water, swimming is one of the most useful forms of exercise. It brings more muscles into play than anything else, and she who swims regularly is apt to be a handsome, clear brained creature who is ready for any emergency.

Water sports of all kinds are to be commended. In England punting is a favorite sport. Many an English society belle and beauty can take a hand at the oar as effectively as her brother. The best yachtswomen in the world are English.

Our many beautiful lakes and rivers offer a delightful field for the development of aquatic sports in this country. Of late years the women's colleges have encouraged boating, and their graduates have carried their enthusiasm for it to their homes and imparted it to other young women.

MIDDY BLOUSE OF WHITE LINEN.

Canoeing does not make so much of a demand on the strength as boating, and it is therefore a more strictly woman's sport. Any young girl can learn to manage a canoe, but parents should base their permission for her to do so on her first learning to swim. If a knowledge of swimming were required before any other aquatic recreations were undertaken the hearts of mothers might be at peace, no matter how venturesome their daughters.

A houseboat vacation is one of the most delightful imaginable. The journey from town to town along the river can be made with the assistance of the "teams" of farmers, who will welcome the fees for towing the city folks on their way. A small boat should always be part of the houseboat's equipment, and rowing and fishing excursions can then be enjoyed.

No elaborate toilets are needed for the houseboat vacation. A few simple linen sailor blouses like the one shown in the illustration, a couple of serge skirts, stout, comfortable shoes, a warm sweater for chilly nights and a jaunty outing cap are enough for the aquatic girl's vacation outfit.

A neat bathing suit should be included for sea or fresh water bathing and for swimming. Flannel or serge are the best materials, and the bloomer type of skirt is, after all, the most comfortable.

Doctoring Bumps.

Bumps, such as children often receive, should first be thoroughly cleansed with warm water. A few drops of carbolic acid in the water forms a splendid antiseptic. Put cloths as cold as possible on a bump and continue this treatment until the swelling goes down. You may save a child a fit of sickness by nursing the bumps received now and then.

About Parsnips.

In parsnips are starch and sugar and a little gluten. They have not so much water as turnips or carrots and hence are a better food.

Parsnips are served with fish, preferably with salt fish, and with corned beef.

—An egotist is a man who is so wrapped up in himself that he pays no attention to us.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

SERVING GOOSEBERRIES.

THE English use the gooseberry to an extent unknown in America, where fewer varieties of the fruit are available. In England one may obtain specimens of this fruit that weigh almost an ounce.

At one time gooseberries were more generally sold in our markets than at present, but the difficulty of raising fine specimens of this fruit, which requires a very moist atmosphere, discouraged fruit growers, and only a very ordinary variety of gooseberry can be purchased nowadays, although private growers often have some success with the berries.

Tarts and Pies.

Pies and tarts made with gooseberries by those who know how to use them would tempt the most jaded appetite.

Gooseberry Pie.—Line a baking dish or deep pan with puff paste. Then fill with the fruit. The gooseberries should have been first stewed in water with sugar to taste. Crush the fruit and stir into it a dessertspoonful of flour and butter. Cover with puff paste, which should be pricked or cut. Then place in the oven and bake.

Handsomely Latticed.

Gooseberry Tart.—Line a baking dish with puff paste. Bake it until it is light brown. Stew your gooseberries, using one-third sugar to two-thirds of fruit. Then cover the dish with strips of puff paste to form a lattice. Place in the oven and bake till done.

A Dessert Delicacy.

Gooseberry Charlotte.—Take a pint and a half of gooseberries, half a pound of sugar, six small sponge cakes and whipped cream. Boil the gooseberries with sugar and half a teacupful of water until reduced to a pulp. Pass through sieve. Line a mold with the sponge cakes, pour in the fruit and place a layer of sponge cake at the top. Let it stand for some hours and serve with whipped cream on the top.

Molded In Gelatine.

Gooseberry Cream.—Pick the stems carefully from two pounds of green gooseberries. Wash, drain and boil them until soft in a pint and a half of water. Press them through a sieve. To every pint of juice add a pound of sugar and the grated rind and juice of a lemon. Boil twenty minutes and when cold mix with half a pint of milk in which an ounce of gelatin has been dissolved. Pour into a mold and put into a cool place to set.

FASHION JOTTINGS.

White Dress Accessories Very Modish This Summer.

White is leading in footwear, gloves, neckwear, parasols and general dress accessories.

Taffetas, crape satins and Turkish toweling are equally in the foremost march of fashion.

Mercerized threads are used in some of the embroidered designs on soft batiste, cotton voiles and dainty crape fabrics. This makes them novel as well as charming.

GIRL'S TUNIC DRESS.

The tunic dress is one of the newest and prettiest for the girl's outfit. This one is very effective, yet simple to make.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes for girls of ten, twelve and fourteen years of age. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 7481, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

IN SILK ATTIRE.

Charming Costume of Lace and Taffeta.

LINGERIE FROCK WITH SILK COAT.

The lingerie frocks of high degree have adorable little taffeta coats, which make them very dressy for afternoon occasions.

The model illustrated of venise lace and cream net has a coat of green shot taffeta trimmed with white ball buttons, and the upper bodice of net has long sleeves of green taffeta.

THE NO GLOVE MOVEMENT.

Rings With Large Settings Responsible For Change.

There is an old saying that a French woman dons her gloves in the privacy of her boudoir, an Englishwoman while coming down the stairs, and the American tugs on her gloves when halfway down the street. And if this is so it would appear as though for once the Parisians are imitating their American contemporaries.

The no glove fashion is particularly noticeable in Paris, where many smart women are carrying their gloves in their hands instead of putting them on. The gloves they carry are exceedingly fine suede ones in beautiful tints of biscuit, ecru and tan.

For some little time past women have been flouting the old inexorable law that the hands should be covered in the evening, and at the theaters and the less ceremonious parties the wearing of gloves has been on the decrease.

There is also a new liking for duck's foot yellow gloves, which several years ago were exceedingly modish. These are worn for morning walks.

The reason assigned for the no glove movement is the fact that rings with very large gem settings are fashionable, and muffs are exceedingly popular It is customary to take to the theater a large muff, in which the hands are buried. But the gloves must be there, too, loosely carried in the hands after the manner affected by men.

Crepe de Chine Underwear.

Each year the return of summer brings us something new in the way of undergarments. This year's innovation is to be crepe de chine, and there is no doubt that it will be exceedingly cool and comfortable. We will find all our old favorites developed in this material, combinations, princess slips and nightgowns, and they will all be glorified. Pink is the favorite color, though garments are found in all the delicate shades, while the more elaborate affairs, and likewise the more expensive, are decorated with flowers, rosettes and wreaths made of chiffon and ribbon.

The more simple and practical garments are lace trimmed, cluny being the favorite, as it is on the fine under muslins, though Irish edging and ribbon are used.

Useful Things to Know.

Starch should be mixed with soap water, for thus the linen will have a more glossy appearance and be less likely to stick to the iron?

Moisten grease spots with cold water and soda before scrubbing, as this will cause them to be more easily removed?

Good black ink mixed with the white of an egg is excellent to restore the color to black kid gloves or shoes?

Any kind of steamed bread will be tastier if it is baked ten or fifteen minutes immediately on being taken from the steamer and before being removed from the mold?

If new cake tins are put on top of the stove until they have a bluish color, but not until they become burned, cake will not stick to them during the baking as it usually does to new tins?

—It is perhaps possible to get something for nothing, but not in the line of experience.

VOTES FOR WOMEN

Conducted by the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield.
CONTRIBUTING EDITORS.
Mrs. Edward F. Feickert, Mrs. Louise Bryan Dorr, Mrs. Champlain L. Riley, Mrs. Vernona Henry and Miss Zoe Bateman.

BEWARE OF SUFFRAGE!
Mrs. E. F. Feickert.

"Beware of Suffrage!" is the slogan of an army of opponents, large in numbers but strangely composed. Shoulder to shoulder in its ranks stand the "womanly woman," who shrinks from the publicity of voting, and the brewer and the saloon-keeper, the "White Slave" trafficker, the dishonest politician and the selfish manufacturer (employer of women and children, but opposing with might and main every effort to obtain for them an eight-hour or even a ten-hour working day!)

"Beware of Suffrage!" shriek with one voice the organized Antis and the brewers of Oregon who raised a fund, publicly and unblushingly two years ago to fight the equal suffrage amendment to the State Constitution. Now this amendment is before the voters of Oregon again and its supporters feel confident of success, though there is plenty of the same kind of opposition this year.

"Beware of Suffrage!" says Mrs. Francis M. Scott in an interview in the New York Times. "Woman's entrance into politics is unnecessary. The men have shown themselves, in days gone by quite capable of managing political affairs." Is this statement true? If so, why do we hear so much of man-made laws which have failed of their intention—of laws which protect "special privilege" to the detriment of the life of the nation and its people Why so much of socialism, and what is the reason of the rapid rise in numbers and power of the I. W. W.? Women could not do any worse than the men have done! If women had conducted a convention on the lines of those recently held in Chicago and Baltimore, what a howl would have gone up on every side!

Mrs. Moore, retiring president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, in her speech at the Biennial Convention in San Francisco last week, said with pride, that "After twenty years of effort the club women of this country got a pure food bill through Congress." Twenty years seems a pretty long time to spend on one law, especially when we consider that 800,000 clubwomen were working concertedly for it. The most rabid Anti must admit that while indirect methods may be the acme of womanly propriety, they are mighty slow! Mrs. Mary A. Hutton, delegate from the State of Washington to the Democratic National Convention, says that the women of her State worked unsuccessfully for years to secure an eight-hour day for women; but the bill was passed very quickly after women obtained the vote in Washington.

More and more the women, not only of the great western States, where most of our present-day progressive movements have had their birth, but also the women of the East, the New England States, New York and Pennsylvania, and last but by no means least, the women of our own State of New Jersey, are awakening to the fallacy of the warning to Beware of Suffrage! and realizing that those whose parrot cry it is, are actuated by selfish motives of their own and not by a deep interest in woman, her lot in life! As against a total of fourteen suffrage clubs in New Jersey less than two years ago, today there are clubs in Arlington, Bayonne (3), Elizabeth, Jersey City (4), Madison, Montclair, Moorestown, New Brunswick, Newark (4), Ocean Grove, Orange, Passaic, Plainfield, Ridgefield Park, Riverton, Rutherford, Summit, Trenton, Vineland, Westwood, West Hoboken and Wenonah, or thirty in all!

"Beware of Suffrage!" say the politicians, "it will only mean doubling the vote, for the women will vote just as their husbands and fathers do." Judge Ben Lindsey, of Denver, whose splendid Children's Court is a model for the whole country, and who is regularly returned to office by the votes of the women of Denver, does not hold this view. Writing to his friend, Daniel Kiefer, of Cincinnati, to thank him for his congratulations on the election just won, he says: "My dear Dan: The women were certainly with us, and they voted our straight independent Citizens' ticket, which won by ten thousand majority. My official majority is 26,360, which is said to be the greatest victory against a boss in the history of municipal government. Be sure and tell the voters in Ohio that woman suffrage is fair and just, and that they will kick the bosses out of politics. Sincerely yours, Ben. F. Lindsey."

Naturally no political boss could be expected to view such an occurrence with pleasure, and the determined opposition of such men as Boss Murphy, of New York, one of the greatest foes to woman suffrage, is not hard to comprehend.

The time is coming with greater rapidity than most people imagine when every woman will have to align herself with one side or the other—either with the duty-shirking, selfish or ignorant women who are opposed to suffrage, or with the progressives who number in their ranks such women as Jane Addams and her fellow social uplift workers, Mrs. Frederick Nathan and her fellow-laborers for pure food, and thousands of others who are striving earnestly to improve not necessarily their own individual condition, but that of the 7,000,000 self-supporting (and more often than not, family-supporting) women and the 3,000,000 little children who work for their daily bread. It can no longer be a matter of indifference, every woman will have to stand squarely on one side or the other.

JUVENILE STYLES.

Smart Little Frock Of White Linen.

LINEN SUIT IN RUSSIAN EFFECT.

The very strong contrast of the black patent leather belt and the cerise bow at the throat of this white linen frock is very Parisian and chic.

The frock is exceedingly simply, but is made distinctive by its effective trimmings. It is made on the Russian order, and the arrangement of the tiny ball buttons with their crochet loops is very unique.

The white socks are worn with childish buttoned strap slippers of patent leather.

Ironing Helps.

In dampening clothes for ironing it is well to use a whisk or one of the regular clothes sprinklers which are made for this special purpose.

Sprinkle one piece at a time, spreading it out smooth before sprinkling, and roll it up tightly.

Always wipe irons off carefully before using them. When not in service they should not be allowed to stand on the back of the stove, but should have a place on a shelf or dry closet.

Always have a steady fire when ironing. Add a little fuel at a time, so that the heat may never be deadened.

If a large pan is turned over the irons they will retain their heat more perfectly.

Irons must be much hotter for starched pieces than for flannels. For the latter they must barely hiss under the touch of a wet finger.

Always brush off the stove clean before ironing and never have foods frying when ironing is being done.

It is well to have a separate ironing sheet to be pinned around the board when ironing and removed when the board is put away.

Never use an ironing sheet that is badly scorched, for it will stain the clothes.

Iron the more difficult pieces first and the simpler ones later.

Apron For the Up to Date Maid.

Much prettier aprons are worn by parlor maid and waitress than used to be the rule. This apron of fine dotted swiss, with bands of embroidery and wide hemmed strings at the back, is both coquettish and correct over black mohair gown donned in the afternoon.

FACTORY WORKERS STOP REMOVAL OF MACHINES

Roselle, July 10.—Considerable excitement was created shortly after midnight yesterday when an attempt was made surreptitously to remove the sewing machines and other machinery from the Newman pants factory, a New York concern.

Some of the best machinery was quietly loaded on a wagon, which at Chandler avenue was halted by a crowd of about 100 Jewish employes. They sought the assistance of Recorder Rossa, who prevented the removal of the machinery further.

Mr. Rossa yesterday placed an attachment on the machinery on a rent claim of $35. The employes have placed their claims for wages in the hands of Mr. Roosa for collection.

The New York members of the firm sent wagons here Saturday night and had furniture and the stock of boys' pants removed to New York. Had they been successful in getting away with the machinery, it is said, the employes would have had great difficulty in collecting the wages due them. It is said that the claims against the company exceed the amount that can be realized on the machines.

LOCAL B. AND L. BODIES ARE STRONG

Atlantic City, July 10.—Local building and loan associations were prosperous during 1911, according to the report of H. F. Cellarius, secretary of the United States League of Local Building and Loan Associations, made to the convention of that organization at its opening session yesterday. The meeting will close Thursday.

In total assets, the associations have passed the $1,000,000,000 mark. Their growth for the year was in excess of $98,000,000, establishing a record. The increase was general, not a State reporting a loss.

The total number of associations now is 6,099, an increase of 230 for last year. The membership went up from 2,169,893 in 1910 to 2,332,829 in 1911. The average amount due each member for 1911 is $441.81, a gain of $12.36 for the year.

TWO WILLS ARE PROBATED.

Morristown, July 10.—The will of Mary A. Van Ness, of Pequannock Township, has beeen admitted to probate. She left her estate in trust to her executor to pay the income to her sister, Elizabeth G. Bulger, during her lifetime. A mortgage of $1,400 on the premises of Charles A. Van-Riper and wife is left to them, and the residence goes to Mary C. Van-Riper. Charles A. Van Riper is the executor. Mary Doran, of Chatham, left a fund of $110 for the burial of her sister, now in a hospital, and the residue of the estate to Mary Balaney, daughter of the testatrix, who is also named as executrix.

—A woman is apt to believe everything her husband tells her, till she has been married at least two weeks.

"SPRING" PROVES TO BE LEAK IN WATER MAIN

New Brunswick, July 10.—Watson Writtlesey, of Livingston Manor, thought he had discovered a natural spring in the Manor, but he has another guess.

For some time he has had men at work dredging and preparing the outline of a park along the Raritan River. He had planned a canal and swimming pool, supposing that he had found a spring that would supply a fine bathing pool.

The spring, however, has turned out to be a leak from the New Brunswick city water main. The main passes under the Pennsylvania Railroad bridge and runs near the riverside park.

The water department investigated at the suggestion of Mr. Whittlesey, and found it was losing 150,000 gallons of water a day through this supposed spring. The pipe has been cut off and a meter will be attached if the water is used for the swimming pool.

SCHOOL GROUNDS LENT FOR METHODIST TENT

Bernardsville, July 10.—The grounds of the High School will be used for church services a part of the summer. The Bernards Township Board of Education Monday night granted the request of Rev. Thomas T. Crawford, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, for permission to pitch a tent on the grounds. Services will be held there while the church building is undergoing repairs.

Action on the proposed new school at Far Hills was deferred to the next meeting, because no word has been received from Attorney-General Wilson, to whom was referred the question of the legality of the election at Far Hills June 5.

Supervising Principal Lester Meseroll said applications will soon be received from teachers seeking to supply three vacancies in the township schools. He is in correspondence with several who wish the position of teacher in the commercial department recently added to the High School. Mr. Meseroll recommended that a young man be engaged for the fifth grade. This was approved by the board.

The board authorized the building and grounds committee to make necessary repairs and to clean and disinfect the Liberty Corner, Mine Brook, Mine Mount, Somerset Inn and West Millington schools.

The clerk and supervisor were asked to investigate an offer of single seats, enough for four schools, for $25, reported from the Montclair School Board. About 120 seats will be required.

It was decided that no transportation to the High School shall be allowed pupils who live within two miles of the school.

The supervising principal was instructed to report at the next meeting the necessary furnishings for the new High School, now under construction.

DEATH BY FALL ENDS HIS LIBERTY

Newton, July 10.—After enjoying less than forty-eight hours of freedom following his escape from the Sussex County Almshouse, Joseph Romaine, who was between seventy-five and eighty years old, was found lying dead yesterday with his neck broken in the barnyard of Oren Losey, a farmer at Papakating. Romaine, probably in his sleep, had arisen from the haymow, where he had been permitted to stay for the night, and had walked out of the loft door, falling more than twenty feet.

Romaine had not been long at the almshouse, but in the few weeks he had been there, he had twice before escaped, each time being caught with little difficulty by Simeon Cole, the steward. On Sunday night because the weather was so warm, the windows and doors of the men's quarters were left open, and Romaine, with John Ostrander, about fifty years old, as his companion, slipped quietly out and started on a long trudge toward Vernon Township, from which the older man had been committed. It was his desire to see once more the home of his youth that led to his death.

That night the two men, both of whom were feeble mentally, asked Losey for permission to sleep in his barn, and it was readily given them. Ostrander slept peacefully through the night and was almost overcome when awakened by Losey and told of Romaine's death.

Dr. E. P. Updergrove, the local coroner, was summoned and gave a certificate of accidental death and issued a permit to remove the body. Steward Cole arrived later in the day with a wagon, and took back in the same vehicle to the almshouse the fugitive Ostrander and the body of his companion in flight. Romaine will be buried at the almshouse today. He has a daughter in Sussex Borough, it is understood, but the authorities do not know her name or address.

FINLAND GAINS ON YANKEE ATHLETES

United States, However, Still Has Commanding Lead.

ENGLAND FINALLY SCORES.

Bonhag and Scott Qualify In 5,000 Meter Trials—The 1,500 Meter Event Seems to Be at Mercy of Americans. Finland Has Twelve Points.

Stockholm, July 10.—With two final events decided in the Olympic contests the Americans failed to add to their score. The Finns carried off all the places in the javelin throw. England scored its first victory in the 400 meter relay. The United States was disqualified in the semifinal and Germany in the final of this relay.

Sweden took second to England in the relay, the disqualification leaving no team for third place. This off day allowed the other nations combined to creep ahead of the United States in points scored, America having twenty-five points and all other countries twenty-eight.

Little Finland is firmly planted in second place with twelve points and next to the wholesale victories of the United States the performances of the athletes of the Russian dependency is the wonder of the experts on international athletics.

Although shut out of the finals the Americans gave promise of more fruitful occasions by qualifying men in the 1,500 meters in the same lavish manner that they did in the 100 and 800 meters.

They were: Oscar F. Hedlund, Boston Athletic association; Walter McClure, San Francisco; M. W. Sheppard, Irish American Athletic club; Norman S. Taber, Brown university; A. R. Kiviat, Irish American Athletic club; John Paul Jones, Cornell, and Louis C. Madeira, University of Pennsylvania.

Bonhag and Scott Win.

In the 5,000 meter trials the United States qualified only two men, many of their good distance runners being used up by competing in the 10,000 meters, which was finished. George Bonhag of the Irish American Athletic club, the hero of many Olympics, was one of the men who competed successfully. The American distance king won the first heat, which opened the day's program, and his young rival, Louis Scott of the South Paterson Athletic club, followed his example by winning the second. Tolberna, the Cornell crack who won the race at this distance at the American tryouts in Boston, proved a disappointment. He met the great Finnish runner, Kolehmainen, in his heat, and the Finn set such a fast pace that the Cornellian had not his usual finishing spurt left. The best he could do was to finish third to Kolehmainen and Nordstrom of Sweden.

When Bonhag came out for the opening heat of the 5,000 meters he was greeted with a round of cheers. The veteran showed the good effects of the rest of the voyage over, and his face had lost the drawn look that caused his friends so much anxiety before he left the United States. Striding along like a well oiled machine, the Irish-American runner easily led the field, and for awhile it looked as though he would have the same kind of bloodless victory that was his wont when breaking records in America. About halfway through the race C. N. Hill, the Australian, spurted and passed him, but he only led on sufferance, and Bonhag soon assumed the lead again. On entering the last lap Bonhag had a safe lead of fifteen yards on A. Decoteau, the Canadian runner. About the same distance back of Decoteau was F. R. Robbins of England, while the two other starters were hopelessly out of the race. With victory assured the New York man let up, and Decoteau took advantage of this to cut down the lead. The Canadian came strongly through the stretch and finished only seven yards behind Bonhag.

Scott Has Stiff Fight.

In the second heat Louis Scott had to contend with E. W. Hutson, the winner of the English tryout at this distance. E. C. Fitzgerald of the New York Athletic club was another starter, while the English tryout winner was backed up by his countryman, C. H. Ruffell. For the first two miles the Americans were allowed to make the pace without any serious attempt on the part of the other contenders to deprive them of the lead. Fitzgerald and Scott took turns in the van, with the Englishmen always within striking distance. Joseph Keeper, the Canadian, and B. Modig and M. Person, the Swede, were a little farther back, and it was anybody's race when the last mile began. Ruffell was the first man to make a move to displace the Americans, and he rushed into the lead shortly after the final mile began. It was his dying effort, however, and in a few moments he gave way to Fitzgerald. The New Yorker could not hold the pace, and when the other runners looked in Scott moved into the lead. He had to keep going, for Keeper and Hutson were having a lively battle for the place that brought them nearer and nearer the Paterson boy as they sprinted through the last lap. Scott always had the speed of his opponents and won by four yards, while Keeper beat the Englishman to the tape by two yards. The time was 15 minutes 23½ seconds, about a second slower than Bonhag made.

ORTLIEB IN THE BOX.

Ortlieb, the Westfield twirler, who has been doing relief work in the box for the Plainfield nine during the last two weeks, was on the mound for the South River team against the St. Anthony's of Perth Amboy, Sunday afternoon. This was his initial appearance in a South River uniform and after the first round he settled down and was a mystery to the opposing batters. He allowed but four scattered hits and secured a 4 to 2 verdict in his debut.

A GAME SATURDAY.

The Royal Giants will play the strong Dunellen team at Dunellen on Saturday, and in preparation for the game Managers Simmons and Warrick are putting the Royals through a stiff practice every day, game called at 3:30. The Royals will have their full lineup in the game.

—The "pulling" powers of Press want advs. are unknown until tried

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

Although he fell down on his twentieth attempt to pull off a win "Rube" Marquard holds the world's pitching record with nineteen victories, according to the best baseball records that have been shown up to date.

When the Rube reached and passed the fourteenth hunts were made into old-time records for winning streaks which might or might not have to be broken before Marquard could claim the title of "King Pitcher."

The junior ball tessers will be given a chance to get into the game tomorrow morning on Parker Field when Charles R. Bostwick will organize a league of junior nines.

Now is the time to get in line and get on one of these teams. You do not have to be a fine player; just enlist in the ranks of one of the teams and you will be taught the game.

Plainfield begins her season's baseball series with Westfield next Saturday at the latter place.

It may be a good thing for the local nine to stay away from the Oval for the next few games and give the fans a few week-ends without any big game to go and see.

The attendance of late has not been the kind that would encourage a nine of the calibre of the one we have here and after a short rest the baseball followers may appreciate the strength of the team.

Platt Adams, the former Plainfield Y. M. C. A. baseball player, who took second place in the standing high jump at the Olympic games Monday, was conceded a sure winner in this event and his defeat came somewhat as a surprise.

Louis Scott, the South Paterson A. C. representative at Stockholm, failed to be placed in the 10,000 meter race. Scott found the pace too hot for him after half the route had been covered and left the track.

Umpires in the Western Tri-State League who officiate in games at Walla Walla in the future will have a pleasant time as the result of an order issued yesterday by Mayor Gillis, instructing the chief of police to arrest all players disputing an umpire's decision and charge them with disorderly conduct.

The order is the result of a visit of the Mayor to a recent game in which there was considerable kicking. During the contest the Mayor's wife was struck by a bag of peanuts thrown by a bibulous fan.

Dan Murphy, the star of the Philadelphia Athletics, will smash no more base hits for the world's champions. The captain and the team's heaviest hitting outfielder, has such a bad case of water on the knee that he is physically incompetent to get into another game this year.

MFG. BASKETBALL LEAGUE AFTER BALL SEASON ENDS

Immediately after the closing baseball games in the Manufacturers' League, the organization will turn its attention to the formation of a basketball league to be conducted under the same management and with practically the same representative teams as contestants. The baseball schedule winds up on August 17, and after the few postponed games that may accumulate, have been played off, it will then be time to start the new league going.

There is a wealth of excellent basketball material scattered out among the various factories and other athletic organizations in the league and some cracker-jack quintets could be obtained. A number of the old Y. M. C. A. stars are just waiting for this kind of an opportunity to get back into the game and any organization of this nature is an assured success in this city, where basketball has always been one of the most popular games, since it was first introduced by George L. Listman, formerly physical director of the Y. M. C. A.

Those in charge of the affair have not as yet decided upon any definite court on which the games will be played but have several halls in view, which if properly fitted up, would make ideal places to hold games.

PLAINFIELD-WESTFIELD; SERIES OF THREE GAMES

The Painfield baseball team will open up a three-game series with the Westfield ball team at Recreation Park, Westfield, next Saturday. These two nines have always been the greatest of rivals ever since the two towns have had representative ball teams and next to the annual series with Scotch Plains their contests are the ones most looked forward to by local fans.

The reported shakeup in the ranks of the local ball-tossers has no foundation and Manager Dorflinger will have his regular lineup on the field. Dave Driscoll's followers will continue to play Saturday ball with the Plainfield aggregation and will devote their Sundays to exhibition games at Amusement Park, New Brunswick.

DRISCOLL'S PLANS.

Dave Driscoll, the Plainfield first baseman and captain, will again attempt to revive the National game in New Brunswick. He has made arrangements with the New Brunswick Amusement Company to bring his team to that city every Sunday, beginning this week. He has announced that he will have his old team on the field Sunday. This will include the Stallings brothers, Harter, Dalton and Cosgrove, who play with the Plainfield nine on Saturdays. Driscoll is trying to secure a couple of good twirlers and a catcher. He made an effort to sign up Walter Nelson, the local backstop, but Nelson will never play in a Sunday ball game.

BUILDING FOR A JAIL OFFERED BY CONSTABLE

New Providence, July 10.—Constable Jacob G. Miller offered to the Borough Council Monday night free of charge a small building on his premises for use as a jail, provided the Council would install two steel cells. He explained that without a jail it is a hardship at times to dispose temporarily of prisoners destined for the county jail at Elizabeth. The offer was referred to a committee.

The law committee was empowered to look into the feasibility of establishing a police justice's court in the borough for the trial of all cases of disorderly conduct that heretofore have had to be taken to the county court.

The last mad dog scare prompted the Council to introduce a license ordinance, which was given first reading. It is proposed that every dog shall be licensed or shot.

The long-drawn out discussion of the claim of Constable Miller for a promised commission for collecting all delinquent poll taxes was settled. The borough counsel said the Council could not legally pay the commission. One member some time ago offered to pay Miller out of his own pocket, but Miller declined the money and Monday night withdrew the claim, which was for $12.50.

Because of the increased cost of feed the Council allowed the advanced claims of teamsters employed on the borough roads. The men had been receiving $5 a day, but asked $6.

A protest of the Murray Hill Heights Company that development of its tract has been delayed by the refusal of the Council to approve its maps, as required by law, was referred to a special committee.

A car of oil was ordered, to be sprinkled on the streets of the borough.

CENSUS TAKEN ON SCHOOL NEED

New Brunswick, July 10.—Preparatory to plans being taken up for the building of a new school in the borough of Highland Park, a census of the children of the borough has been taken by Principal Frank E. Spring. He submitted his report at Monday night's meeting of the school board, showing that there are 658 children in the borough. Of these 300 are below five years of age. This was taken to indicate that in a short time additional school facilities will have to be provided.

ACQUITTED OF BURGLARY.

Elizabeth, July 10.—After a trial lasting one week, Stephen Ratel, aged twenty-two, was acquitted Monday night of burglary. The prisoner was accused of breaking and entering several houses at Lorraine. The jury was out three hours. Other indictments against Ratel will probably be quashed. The State's strongest evidence consisted of finger prints found in one house. George Schwartz, the Newark police Bertillion expert, was the chief witness for the prosecution.

Snapshots of Celebrities at Baltimore's Convention

How Messrs. Bryan, Parker, Kern, Folk and Others Looked During the Excitement.

Gore, the Blind Senator; Tillman, the Man From Manila and Other Notables.

IN one respect at least the Democratic national convention at Baltimore was better handled than any other convention in the history of the party. At no other similar gathering except the recent Republican convention at Chicago was the newspaper photographer so much in evidence, and the excellent work of his camera was sent north, south, east and west. As nearly every Democrat of prominence in the United States except the favorite sons who had booms was in Baltimore, the hustling camera men had plenty of subjects for time exposures, snapshots and flashlights.

Nowadays few statesmen are camera shy, and most of them were willing to face the legion of photographers and "look pleasant" even when held up on a street corner. Some of them even consented to pose in an oratorical attitude with right hand raised as if in the act of nominating the particular favorite son whose candidacy they were committed to.

Beyond doubt the man who attracted the most attention was William Jennings Bryan. The moment he alighted from his train he was surrounded by two dozen photographers. The first picture in this article was taken while Mr. Bryan was fruitlessly endeavoring to defeat Alton B. Parker for the temporary chairmanship. The other picture of Mr. Bryan was taken on the street.

Mr. Parker, who knows very well from personal experience what running for the presidency means, posed for his picture in his hotel room. John W. Kern of Indiana, who was Mr. Bryan's running mate four years ago, was sitting at a table surrounded by his family when the camera men got busy.

Another notable who was a favorite with the photographers was Joseph

W. Folk, former governor of Missouri, whose presidential boom was sidetracked by the Clark boom.

Still another celebrity who attracted much attention was Senator Thomas P. Gore, Oklahoma's blind orator. As usual, Senator Gore's almost constant companion was his wife, whose eyes see for two.

A third celebrity who was pointed out wherever he went was Benjamin R. Tillman, the South Carolina senator, much softened by illness and no longer the wielder of the pitchfork.

Independence for the Philippines also had its champion at the convention in the person of Manuel L. Quezon, resident commissioner from the islands, whose swarthy face was in striking contrast to the snow white suit he wore.

There were more than the usual number of women at the convention perhaps because of the spread of woman suffrage. Doubtless the feminine voters are seeking to gain political information at first hand. Many of the women were the wives or daughters of delegates. The most noted of the women visitors was Mrs. Taft, the wife of the president.

There were two women delegates, one from California and one from Colorado. They took an active part in the convention and occupied seats with the delegations from their states.

GIRL TYLER GIBBS WED IS VERY ILL

Seventeen-year-old Choir Singer Victim of Grief.

STILL IN LOVE WITH GIBBS

Because of Young Woman's Condition Father Is Unable to Attend Funeral of His Mother—Woman Who Caused Gibbs' Arrest Has Disappeared.

Metuchen, N. J., July 10.—Miss Delaphine Courtland Bennett, the seventeen-year-old choir singer who on June 1 married Tyler M. Gibbs, only to learn a few days later that Gibbs was an ex-convict and was claimed by another woman as her husband, is critically ill at her home. Her mother, Mrs. William M. Bennett, said that the girl is so grief stricken that her heart is breaking. She is still, it is said, infatuated with Gibbs.

Because of her condition her father was unable on Monday to attend the funeral of his mother, Mrs. Sarah Bennett, who died last week. Delaphine was her grandmother's favorite, and the girl's marriage affected the old woman's health. Gibbs, who continued to call at the Bennett home before an indictment charging bigamy was found against him, is no longer permitted to have any communication with her.

Mrs. Edith Sammis Gibbs of White Plains, who has a marriage certificate showing that she is Gibbs' legal wife and says he was never divorced from her, has gone to Baltimore. Before leaving she assured the authorities that she would be on hand to testify against Gibbs.

The young woman, Lauretta Shaw of Canton, O., who claimed to have been a relative of the wife of President McKinley and who gave the information against Gibbs which led to his arrest and to the exposure of his criminal history, has disappeared. She is much needed as a witness at Gibbs' trial, which is expected to be called in the latter part of this month.

REMOVES DYING FATHER.

Widow of "Tin Plate King" Giving Him All Possible Luxury.

Montclair, N. J., July 10.—Mrs. Nonnie Stewart Leeds, widow of the "Tin Plate King" and heiress to his $30,000,000 fortune, removed her father, William C. Stewart, who is very ill, from this town to her villa at Newport, R. I., in her private car Independence, which left over the Lackawanna railroad. Mr. Stewart is said to be dying of a heart disease.

A private ambulance was brought here from New York and Mr. Stewart was taken from the Leeds mansion to the railroad station. A New York physician and a trained nurse rode in the ambulance. Other nurses were on the car. Mrs. Leeds and her sister, Mrs. Henderson Green, accompanied the ambulance to the station in an automobile. Mrs. Leeds picked her way over the temporary wooden platforms that lead to the concrete concourse and platforms.

She looked somewhat tired after all she had gone through since her arrival in this country a week ago, having been summoned to America by the news that her father was dangerously ill. She went directly to the car, and the attendants then carried the sick man aboard. Mrs. Leeds directed the nurses in their work, and the sick man was quickly ready for the journey to Newport.

SEES BURGLARS LEAVING.

Livingston Whitney of Morristown Finds $1,000 In Plunder Gone.

Morristown, N. J., July 10.—Going out of the front door after ransacking the house of Livingston Whitney, one of two burglars let a screen door slam and the noise awakened Mr. Whitney. He arose just in time to see the two disappearing across his lawn.

Entrance was gained through a pantry window, and although Mr. and Mrs. Whitney, four servants and two dogs were asleep in the house, the burglars made a pretty general tour and obtained $1,000 worth of booty, including two gold watches, some diamond pins and other jewelry.

$20,000 Roebling Memorial Gift.

Trenton, N. J., July 10.—As a memorial to his son, Washington A. Roebling 3d, lost in the Titanic disaster, Charles G. Roebling, millionaire cable manufacturer, announced a gift of $20,000 to the Union Industrial home in this city, a charitable institution for the care of children. The trustees are to use the money as they see fit.

Daughter of Revolution Dead.

New Brunswick, N. J., July 10.—Mrs. Antoinette Rose Acken, whose father fought in the Revolution, is dead at her home here, aged ninety-six years. Her uncle was a signer of the Declaration of Independence.

HONOR FOR MRS. DECKER.

Colorado Governor Wants Body to Lie In State in Capitol.

Denver, Colo., July 10.—The body of Mrs. Sarah Platt Decker will lie in state in the capitol building if her daughter, Miss Harriet Platt, accedes to the request of Governor John F. Shafroth.

Flags on all city and state buildings were at half mast and will be kept so until after the funeral, which probably will be held on Friday.

HILLES AND REYNOLDS.

Men Who Will Have Charge of President Taft's Campaign.

T. R. RIDICULES TALK OF GIVING UP PLAN

"Preposterous," He Says When Asked About It.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 10.—The plan projected from Washington by many interested Republican officeholders to induce President Taft and Colonel Roosevelt to withdraw from the race so that some compromise Republican candidate could be named was nipped in the bud as far as the colonel is concerned.

"Please don't ask me about anything so preposterous or expect me to deny so self evident a fake," was the way he headed off all discussion of the matter.

Any suggestion that he contemplates retiring from the race at this late day is highly displeasing to the ex-president. He sees in it an implication that he was prompted by something more than a desire to oppose what he considers an open thwarting of the people's will. He feels strongly that the defeat of President Taft by any other than himself would be a triumph for the forces which were lined up against him at Chicago and to whom any candidate other than himself would be acceptable. He has said to friends repeatedly that he expected to continue the struggle to the very end, even if he did not secure an electoral vote.

Here is one case of it:

C. L. Treat, painter and paperhanger, 411 E. Third St., Plainfield, N. J., says: "I suffered for a long time from kidney trouble and for years could not find anything that would give me relief. My back ached constantly and there was pain across my kidneys. My kidneys were in bad shape and I became all run down, in fact, was almost a physical wreck. Hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a supply and they made a different man out of me. I got this remedy at Randolph's Drug Store and my experience was so satisfactory that I cannot make my endorsement of it too strong. I simply would not be without a supply of Doan's Kidney Pills on hand."

THOUSAND ISLAND PARK FIRE SWEPT

Hotels, Cottages and Business Section Destroyed.

GUESTS PANIC STRICKEN.

Loss Is Estimated at $500,000—Fire Apparatus Summoned From Adjoining Towns—Strong Wind Hampers Work of Firemen and Guests Who Aided.

Watertown, N. Y., July 10.—Hundreds came from the country about here today to gaze on the ruins of a fire which swept Thousand Island park on the St. Lawrence river. The Columbian hotel, 200 cottages and the business center of the city are in ruins. The Wellesley hotel was badly damaged. The loss is at least $500,000.

The hotels and cottages were filled with summer sojourners, most of whom lost their belongings. There was a panic as the flames spread, but it is believed that all of the guests escaped and that no loss of life will be recorded. Thousand Island Park is one of the most popular resorts on the St. Lawrence.

The fire started in Haller's department store, the cause not being known. A strong wind which was blowing spread the flames until in a moment neighboring stores were in flames. Every effort was made by the residents to check the flames, but all in vain. A telephone alarm was immediately sent to both Alexandria Bay and Clayton.

About a half hour after the starting of the fire the Columbian hotel was in flames. So quickly did the fire spread the Columbian was soon in ruins, the New York state educational building had been burned to the ground and the postoffice, church and all the leading business places destroyed.

With the catching of the Wellesley the fire spread throughout the entire park. Two hundred cottages and boarding houses were quickly consumed, and numbers of persons are practically homeless.

Firemen from Watertown, Clayton and Alexandria Bay reached the park and joined in the effort to save what was left of the resort.

GOV. DIX DECLARES HE WILL RUN AGAIN

Says He Expects Party Will Renominate Him.

Albany, N. Y., July 10.—Governor Dix returned from his Thomson home and reiterated that he was a candidate for renomination. "I expect," said he, "that the party will tender me a renomination, and I am frank to say that I am a candidate."

In discussing the possible candidacy of Mayor Gaynor of New York for the gubernatorial nomination the governor said he believed the mayor was of the same frame of mind now as he was two years ago, when he declared that he would not relinquish his present office for the governorship.

"In the selection of a national progressive candidate at Baltimore," said the governor, "the progressive administration of New York state was reflected. I believe the Baltimore platform was an amplification of the Rochester pledges of two years ago."

WILSON AT ATLANTIC CITY.

Enjoys Brief Stroll on Boardwalk, Then Retires Early.

Atlantic City, N. J., July 10.—At the end of the most care free day he has spent since he became the Democratic candidate for president Governor Woodrow Wilson came here, dined with the Democratic state chairman at the Chalfonte hotel, enjoyed a brief stroll on the boardwalk and went early to bed. He had announced in advance that he was coming to Atlantic City at bedtime for the definite reason that he did not want any politicians to waylay him with suggestions for conferences.

The purpose of the governor's visit here is entirely nonpolitical. Before he came to the top of the heap of Democrats at Baltimore he had accepted an invitation to welcome to New Jersey the delegates to the convention of the National Building and Loan association. After it was known that he was coming the local Y. M. C. A. hurried forward plans to lay the cornerstone of a new building, and Governor Wilson agreed to preside at this function a few hours before he is scheduled to appear before the Building and Loan association.

Caught by a Camera at Republican Convention

Unconventional Photographs of Colonel Roosevelt, Senators Root, Borah and Other Celebrities.

THERE were a great many hard worked men at the Republican national convention, and one of the hardest worked was the newspaper photographer. Supplementing an army of editors and reporters was another army of the knights of the camera. They were here, there and everywhere, snapshotting Colonel Roosevelt at the risk of their necks as he made his memorable speech from the balcony of the Congress hotel, holding up Senator Borah in midflight between the Coliseum and Colonel Roosevelt's headquarters, buttonholing Governor Hadley on a street corner and urging him to "look pleasant," besieging the headquarters of Senator Root insistent in their demand that he come out and show himself, hunting up the men whose sole claim to fame was their resemblance to Colonel Roosevelt or William Jennings Bryan, rounding up Colonel Bryan himself in the midst of his duties as special representative of a New York newspaper, snapshotting every freak delegation as it marched to its hotel, "getting in on the flash" when the first big picture of the convention in session was taken and stalking shy and unwilling subjects with boldness and cleverness born of long experience.

They were like Colonel Roosevelt during his African hunt—there was plenty of big game in sight every minute of the day, and when daylight failed there was still a chance to "pull a flash" if an interesting subject showed up in the darkness. Most of the camera men were bright, shrewd artists who knew the pictorial value of every prominent man, but now and then, as in the case of Senator Depew, a "cub" photographer displayed his ignorance and won a round of jeers from his fellow "swashbucklers of the camera."

Mr. Depew stepped out of the Congress hotel into range of a firing squad of photographers. His distinguished look caused him to be regarded as "game," and he was held up and asked to pose. Mr. Depew did so graciously.

"And what is the name?" asked one of the snapshotters.

"Depew," replied the former senator.

"And the initials, please?" persisted the photographer.

"Chauncey M.," answered the victim, reddening as some spectator tittered.

"And where are you from?"

Mr. Depew fled.

A battery of fully two dozen newspaper photographers camped outside the Congress hotel waiting for Senator Root. When the unemotional temporary chairman of the convention appeared on the walk the camera men began to take pot shots at him.

"Raise your mitt, senator," requested one of the photographers. Root seemed puzzled.

"Your mitt—your hand," came in yells again. "We want a striking pose."

Root assumed a theatrical attitude, raised his right arm, clinched his fist determinedly and remarked, "I guess that's about the proper Rooseveltian pose, eh?"

Kermit Roosevelt escaped almost unnoticed from his hotel. Only for a moment, however, did he move unnoticed, for as soon as the name Kermit was mentioned a dozen photographers were on the job to "land" the rough rider's son in action.

Mrs. Roosevelt and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth were much sought by the photographers as well as the two California delegates who won the distinction of being the first women to vote in a national convention, Mrs. Florence C. Porter and Mrs. Isabella W. Blaney. The assemblage rose en masse when they answered "Governor McGovern" on roll call and cheered for several minutes. They were a bit camera shy, but both posed for pictures.

And so it was with every celebrity, his sons, his cousins and his aunts, even down to and including the dusky delegates from the southland. The camera band was everywhere all the time.

OFFICIAL MINUTES OF THE BOARD OF FREEHOLDERS.

The regular monthly meeting of Board of Chosen Freeholders of the county of Union was held at the Courthouse, Elizabeth, New Jersey, on Thursday, June 6, 1912, at 2:30 p. m. Director Cady and Freeholders Acken, Bourdon, Crane, Darby, Doane, Fay, Gruener, Hall, Hennessy, Krouse, McMane, Meisel, Perry, Pierson, Randolph, Smith, Teller and Wilbur present.

Absent—Freeholder Jones.

On motion by Freeholder Wilbur the reading of the minutes of meeting May 2, 1912. were dispensed with.

Communications.

May 22, 1912.

Clerk of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union County:

Dear Sir—To guard its bridges so far as possible from reckless traffic and place them under the protecting influence of Chapter 34 of Laws, as approved March, 1912, Somerset county intends to erect, in a conspicuous place at its end of each county line bridge, a sign reading as per enclosed copy, and hopes your county can and will co-operate in the matter by placing similar signs at its end of all such bridges.

Yours very truly,
JOSHUA DOUGHTY, JR.,
County Engineer

Notice—Ten dollars penalty will be enforced for passing over this bridge in any vehicle, self-propelled or otherwise, at a faster rate than five miles an hour.

"Any person passing over this bridge in any vehicle the combined weight of which exceeds six tons does so at his own risk."

On motion by Freeholder Wilbur this matter was referred to the County Road Committee.

June 5, 1912.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union:

Gentlemen—At a meeting of the Common Council of the city of Rahway held last evening the following action was taken in regard to the bridge about to be constructed at Bridge street:

Objection was made on account of the centre pier being constructed at an angle with the flow of the stream causing the current to strike the bank of the river, causing a wash of dirt from the bank which settled on the opposite bank of the river. This pier should be so constructed as not to interfere with the natural flow of the stream.

Also, that the new bridge was not to be constructed the full width of the street, which was considered to be a great detriment, as the P. R. R. Company was about to open the street and pave the same with brick thereby making this to be one of our first-class streets, which should not be marred with a narrow bridge.

If these facts be true, the council desires to enter a protest against the same.

Very truly yours,
CHARLES H. LAMBERT,
City Clerk.

On motion by Freeholder Wilbur this matter was referred to the Committee of the Rahway Drawbridge.

May 28, 1912.

Board of Chosen Freeholders:

Gentlemen—I have been instructed to communicate with you regarding the condition of Westfield avenue, where the R. R. company have been making repairs. Complaints have been made to council of stone and heaps of dirt and rubbish that are left in the roadway that should be removed. Also ask you if it's not possible to induce the R. R. company to oil the avenue between their tracks or sprinkle same with water. Complaints are made to council that the dust at almost all times is unbearable not only to the residents along the same but to the passengers that ride in the cars.

Respectfully,
A. M. WOODRUFF,
Borough Clerk.

On motion by Freeholder Wilbur this complaint was referred to the County Road Committee.

Rahway, N. J., June 4, 1912.

To the Honorable the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union County:

Gentlemen—We, the undersigned being residents and property owners along that part of Milton avenue between Main street and the drawbridge, and being annoyed by dust from the excessive traffic, petition your honorable body to oil the above mentioned section of Milton avenue.

Yours respectfully,
JOHN J. JEFFRIES,
GEORGE BALL,
FRANK BURTON,
D. I. MUDDELL,
A. T. CRANE.

On motion by Freeholder Gruener this request was referred to the County Road Committee.

Newark, N. J., June 5, 1912.

To the Honorable Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders—
John N. Cady, Director:

Dear Sir—Conforming in all respects to the specifications and quantities called for in bids for the improvement of South avenue, Plainfield, and Rahway avenue and Westfield avenue, Elizabeth, we are low bidders by some $20,000 (Westfield avenue $14,000).

In addition we have voluntarily doubled the quantity. In all other bids received the same day for other streets the awards were made to the lowest bidder in every case. Through the County Engineer we are informed that the Committee on County Roads has recommended the award of the contracts on these three streets to others than the lowest bidders.

As large taxpayers of Union county for many years and prepared as we are to fill the contracts called for according to specifications and quantities submitted, we protest against awarding them to anyone else than ourselves, the lowest bidders.

Yours truly,
WARNER-QUINLAN ASPHALT CO.
By C. E. McDonald, Representative.

On motion by Freeholder Wilbur this communication was received and ordered placed on file, following Freeholder Smith's explanation as to the County Road Committee's reasons for recommending the acceptance of the bids of other concerns for these streets on account of different materials being used than those bid upon by this concern.

Garwood, N. J., May 3, 1912.

Mr. George Teller, Cranford, N. J.:

Dear Sir—Enclosed please find a copy of a resolution which was adopted by the Mayor and Council of the Borough of Garwood on April 2, 1912:

Resolved, That the Board of Freeholders be requested to construct a culvert across Spruce avenue, at the westerly intersection of West street, to take care of the surface water which is drained toward this point from the town of Westfield; also to install two twenty-four-inch pipes on the southerly side of the Centre street bridge, as it has been shown that the present pipes are inadequate to take off the surface water on Centre street; and be it further

Resolved, That the clerk be and is hereby instructed to forward a copy of this resolution to the Board of Freeholders.

Approved, W. F. SARGENT, Mayor.
Attest: WM. DARROCH,
Borough Clerk.

On motion by Freeholder Teller this communication was received and ordered placed on file.

June 1, 1912.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders Union County:

Gentlemen—I herewith beg leave to submit a report of the work of the Department of Weights and Measures for the month ending May 31, 1912.

During the month 776 inspections were made divided as follows: Number of counter and balance scales 123; wagon scales, five; weights 396; dry measures, 143; liquid measures, sixty-two; yard sticks and counter measures, forty-seven.

There were thirty-one confiscations of scales and twenty-two condemnations, making a total of fifty-three found incorrect. Forty-eight incorrect weights were confiscated, twenty-one dry measures and sixteen liquid measures. Nine yard measures were condemned and destroyed while thirty-two were adjusted, leaving only six that were found correct on first inspection.

The work of office inspection is increasing daily, as the dealers begin to realize the importance of having their scales and measures sealed. During the month three counter scales, thirty-two weights, forty-seven dry measures and twelve liquid measures were inspected and sealed at the office.

The department was visited during the month by Mr. Charles E. Browns, an assistant superintendent from the State Department, and the equipment and work thoroughly inspected and most favorably commented upon.

Three days were spent in various parts of the county and conditions noted and reported to the state superintendent by his assistant.

I am now arranging the inspections so that a particular locality is visited and finished before new territory is taken up.

Respectfully submitted,
A. W. SCHWARTZ.
Superintendent of Weights and Measures.

On motion by Freeholder Wilbur this report was received and ordered placed on file.

Report of Committee on Bridge on Mountain avenue, Mountainside.

To the Board of Freeholders, Elizabeth, N. J.:

Gentlemen—Your committee on this bridge would report that they have examined the site and find the present bridge to be too small and too short.

Your committee would recommend the construction of a new bridge about sixty feet long, three feet wide and two and a half feet high, at a cost not exceeding the sum of $450.

Signed by the committee,
ELSTON DARBY,
JOSEPH PERRY,
THOMAS J. PIERSON.

On motion by Freeholder Wilbur this report was received and ordered placed on file and the recommendations contained therein were on roll call adopted unanimously.

On motion by Freeholder Krouse this report was received and ordered placed on file.

Report of Committee on Bridge on Burnet avenue, Union Township.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders Union County, New Jersey:

Gentlemen—Your committee on the above-named bridge would respectfully report that it has examined the location and finds that it will be necessary to build a culvert along the roadway of Burnet avenue for about 330 feet; also to extend the present bridge about nine feet at one side and five feet at the other side.

We, therefore, recommend that this work be done as stated, the cost to be not more than $2,100.

AARON D. CRANE,
D. F. HENNESSY,
WILLIAM I. M'MANE.

On motion by Freeholder Gruener this report was received and ordered placed on file and the recommendations contained therein were on roll call adopted unanimously.

Committee

On motion by Freeholder Smith this report was received and ordered placed on file.

Summit, N. J., June 6, 1912.

Committee on Stanley Bridge.

The committee appointed on the above-mentioned bridge respectfully reports that it has examined the bridge and finds that it is badly in need of replanking and repainting.

The probable cost of the work will be approximately $600, expense to be divided between the two counties, and we would therefore request that this committee be empowered to receive bids and proceed with the work.

Yours respectfully,
WILLIAM M'MANE,
BRADFORD JONES,
BURTON P. HALL,
Committee.

On motion by Freeholder Wilbur this report was received and ordered placed on file and the recommendations contained therein were on roll call adopted unanimously.

Report of committee on proposed bridge at West Holly street, Cranford.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders, Elizabeth, N. J.:

Gentlemen—Your committee on this bridge would report that it has visited the ground and finds two bridges practically adjoining each other on the same stream—one crossing West Holly street and the other crossing Spring Garden street.

A very small strip of private property intervenes between the two bridges.

The committee is of the opinion that a new bridge should be built across both of these streets, and across the strip of land between the two streets, providing the owner of said strip will dedicate the same to the public as a street without cost to the county.

Your committee would recommend that a new bridge be constructed therefor, about 160 feet long and about ten feet span, with the proviso as above stated, the cost not to exceed the sum of $2,100.

Signed by the committee,
GEO. G. TELLER,
PETER H. MEISEL,
BRADFORD JONES.

On motion by Freeholder Gruener this report was received and rodered placed on file. and the recommendations contained therein were on roll call adopted unanimously.

Report of Committee on Martine Avenue Bridge, Fanwood.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders, Elizabeth, N. J.:

Gentlemen—Your committee on the above-named work would report that bids have been reecived for the work and the contract awarded as follows to the lowest bidder:

Martine Avenue Bridge, awarded to Charles H. French, at $433.

Signed by the committee.
BURTON P. HALL,
BRADFORD JONES,
J. LOGAN FAY.

On motion by Freeholder Smith this report was received and ordered placed on file.

Report of committee on new bridge at Bridge street over the Rahway River, Rahway.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders, Elizabeth, N. J.:

Gentlemen—Your committee on this bridge would report that bids have been received for the work, and the contract was awarded to Arthur E. Smith, of Plainfield, New Jersey, at $12,745.

The committee appointed Mr. John Farrell, of Rahway, as inspector on the bridge during its construction at $3 per day.

Signed by the committee.
D. F. HENNESSY,
W. A. BOURDON,
GEO. G. TELLER.

On motion by Freeholder Smith this report was received and ordered placed on file, and the recommendations contained therein were on roll call adopted unanimously.

Report of Committee on Bridge at Maple avenue, Union Township.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders, Elizabeth, N. J.:

Gentlemen—You committee on the above-named work would report that bids have been received for the work and the contract awarded to the lowest bidder.

Bridge on Maple avenue awarded to T. Foster Callaghan at $349.

Signed by the committee.
AARON D. CRANE,
D. F. HENNESSY,
GEO. G. TELLER.

On motion by Freeholder Wilbur this report was received and ordered placed on file.

Report of Committee on Bridge on Raritan road, near waterworks, Clark Township.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders:

Gentlemen—Your committee appointed to examine this bridge would respectfully report that it has made such examination and finds that it will be necessary to replank the bridge throughout.

We also recommend the insertion of three lines of steel beams to take the place of three lines of present wooden beams.

We would therefore recommend that this bridge be replanked as stated, cost not to exceed the sum of $450.

Signed by the committee.
HENRY KROUSE,
CHAS. A. SMITH,
M. H. ACKEN.

On motion by Freeholder Randolph this report was received and ordered placed on file, and the recommendations contained therein were on roll call adopted unanimously.

Report of Committee on Wing Walls, New Church Street Bridge, Rahway.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders, Elizabeth, N. J.:

Gentlemen—Your committee on the above-named work would report that bids have been received for the work and the contract awarded as follows to the lowest bidder:

Wing walls at New Church Street Bridge, awarded to Garman & Smith at $305.

Signed by the committee,
ADOLPH H. GRUENER,
D. F. HENNESSY,
HENRY KROUSE.

On motion by Freeholder Wilbur this report was received and ordered placed on file.

Report of Committee on Culvert at Hazelwood avenue and St. George avenue, Rahway.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders, Elizabeth, N. J.:

Gentlemen—Your committee on this work would report that it has examined the site and would recommend the construction of a cast iron cover culvert about fifty feet long, at a cost not exceeding $225.

Signed by the committee,
D. F. HENNESSY,
W. H. RANDOLPH,
ADOLPH H. GRUENER.

On motion by Freeholder Gruener this report was received and ordered placed on file, and the recommendations contained therein were on roll call adopted unanimously.

Report of Committee on Recovering Grand Street Bridge, Rahway.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders, Elizabeth, N. J.:

Gentlemen—Your committee on this bridge would report that it has examined the bridge and finds the present planking in need of considerable repairs.

Your committee would therefore recommend the replanking of this bridge at a cost not exceeding the sum of $600.

Signed by the committee,
W. H. RANDOLPH,
ADOLPH H. GRUENER.

On motion by Freeholder Gruener this report was received and ordered placed on file, and the recommendations contained therein were on roll call adopted unanimously.

Report of Committee on Sycamore Avenue Bridge, Plainfield.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders:

Gentlemen—Your committee on this bridge would report that the bridge is in need of replanking.

Your committee is of the opinion that instead of replanking it the bridge should be covered with concrete or concrete and amiesite.

Your committee would therefore recommend that this work be taken up with the Somerset County Board with a view to having this work performed and report their findings to the board at the next meeting.

Signed by the committee,
S. P. T. WILBUR,
J. HERVEY DOANE,
D. F. HENNESSY.

On motion by Freeholder Randolph this report was received and ordered placed on file.

By Freeholder Krouse:

Whereas, By resolution heretofore adopted by this board respecting the acquiring and improving, under and by virtue of the provisions of an act entitled, "An act to enable Boards of Chosen Freeholders to acquire, improve and maintain public roads," approved March 19, 1889, of the following named streets, avenues or roads:

Newark avenue, beginning at North Broad street; thence running northeasterly to the city line of the city of Elizabeth; said road being at least one hundred (100) feet in width, and one mile in length.

Westfield avenue, beginning at Morris avenue; thence running westerly to Bayway, a distance of about one mile, said street being a part of said distance sixty (60) feet, and the remaining part one hundred (100) feet in width.

Rahway avenue, beginning at Broad street; thence running southwesterly to the city line, being sixty (60) feet in width part of said distance, and eighty (80) feet in width the remainder thereof, and being about one mile in length.

And South avenue in the city of Plainfield, extending from Richmond street northeasterly to its intersection with Terrill road, a distance of about one and a half miles, said street being sixty-six (66) feet in width; and,

Whereas, In accordance with the provisions of said act, application has heretofore been made to the Circuit Court of the county of Union setting forth the assessed value of the real estate of the county of Union for the purpose of taxation in the year next preceding said application, together with a statement of the entire debt of the county for all purposes, and of the amount of county road bonds proposed to be issued by the county of Union at this time; and,

Whereas, By an order of the Circuit Court of the county of Union bearing date April 29, 1912, said court did fix the first day of June, instant, as the time for hearing said application; and,

Whereas, At the time so fixed to wit, on the first day af June, 1912, said court did make a summary investigation of the accuracy of the statements contained in said application, and did ascertain and certify that the assessed value of your estate in the county of Union for the purpose of taxation for the year 1911 was the sum of $122,400,346; and that the total debt of the county for all purposes, as found by said investigation, was the sum of $1,140,000; and that the amount of the county road bonds which the county of Union proposes to issue at this time is the sum of $145,000, which certificate has been filed with the clerk, and entered in the minutes of said court; therefore, be it

Resolved, That for the purpose of raising money to pay the cost of paving, macadamizing or otherwise improving the roads, streets and avenues above referred to, that the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the county of Union do hereby authorize and direct that bonds of the county of Union to the extent and amount of $145,000 be issued in accordance with the provisions of the act entitled "An act to enable boards of chosen freeholders to acquire, improve and maintain public roads," approved March 19, 1889, and the supplements and amendments thereto said bonds to be designated "county road bonds," in the sum of $1,000, each dated July 1, 1912, payable in thirty (30) years from the date thereof, with interest at the rate of four and one-quarter (4¼ %) per cent., payable semi-annually, principal and interest payable at the National State Bank of Elizabeth, N. J.; said bonds shall be signed by the Director of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the county of Union and the collector of said county, and attested by the clerk of said board, and sealed with the seal of the board, and properly numbered from 1 to 145 inclusive, and a registry thereof kept by the board; and that said bonds be coupon bonds, said coupons to be signed by the Director of the board, and the number to correspond to the several bonds to which they shall be severely attached; provided, however, that a facsimile signature of said Director may be engraved or lithographed on said coupons in lieu of actual signing; and be it further

Resolved, That the Director of this board and the county collector are hereby authorized to cause said bonds to be prepared, printed and executed, and advertised and sold to the highest bidder, but not less than at par.

Dated June 6, 1912.

On motion by Freeholder Smith this resolution was on roll call adopted unanimously.

SOLDIERS READY TO FIGHT WITH MINERS

Following Wild Riots Strikers Get 400 Additional Rifles.

Charleston, W. Va., July 10.—As the result of wild rioting among the striking coal miners in the Paint Creek field orders have been issued to the two regiments of the national guard to hold themselves in readiness for field service. It is known that the miners received 400 additional rifles, mostly Winchesters, the latter part of last week. The adjutant general's office has everything in readiness to ship the troops to the scene at a moment's notice.

For days trouble has been looked for among the miners. The men have been on strike since April. Several hundred armed miners scattered along the hillsides at Mucklow and opened fire on the homes of nonunion men, but none of the occupants were injured. Several hundred shots were fired and some of the houses were fairly riddled.

The Paint Creek county is a narrow ravine extending back twelve miles from the Kanawha river, and the hillsides are wooded and steep, making it difficult for an attacking party to gain control. If there is a repetition of what occurred it is probable that by tomorrow the troops will be on their way.

LITTLE ELECTION BETTING.

Wilson Backers Hear of Taft Money at Evens, but Can't Find It.

New York, July 10.—Wall street has not yet been able to get down to hard pan in sizing up the sporting chances in the coming election. Real bets have been few and far between since the conventions closed and for small amounts.

The curb heard that there were some offers of even money on Taft, but when they sent emissaries to put up Wilson money the alleged offers had taken cover. It was reported that $250 of Wilson money had gone up against $300 put up by a Taft banker, but it was said to be an isolated bet.

KILLED BUTTING HILL IN FOG.

Aviator Bedel Flies Head-on Into Cliff at 2,000 Feet.

St. Cyr, France, July 10.—Losing his way in the thick fog while attempting a monoplane flight from St. Cyr to Chalons, Aviator Bedel, one of the best known of the French fliers, was killed when he plunged head-on into a hill.

He was running nearly eighty miles an hour at the time, and it is thought that he was at least 2,000 feet in the air.

His machine was smashed into small pieces, and the aviator was caught under the engine and his life crushed out instantly.

Brutal Conduct.

"But why are you determined to get a divorce from your husband?"

"Because he is an absolute brute."

"You amaze me. You used to say that he was as gentle as a child."

"Yes, that's what I used to say. But you ought to see him now! Listen! Since the baby began teething nothing would quiet the little darling but being allowed to pull his papa's whiskers. And when he found that out what do you think he did? He went down and had his beard shaved off, that's what! Do you think I'd live with a man that has that sort of disposition?"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Courteous.

Being unable to find a seat on the overcrowded train, a large woman went into the smoking car and sat down by the door. The man next to her, absorbed in his newspaper, kept on smoking.

"I was foolish enough to suppose," said she, glowering at him, "that some of the men in here at least were gentlemen."

"Pardon me, madam," he answered, politely offering her a cigar.—Housekeeper.

The Scrap Book

A Difficult Pose.

Sir Luke Filder, the noted English artist, told a comical story of one of his models for his picture "The Village Wedding." As a model for the bridegroom he had engaged a villager, and, as the man had never "posed" before, Sir Luke warned him not to move on any account. Soon after the sitting began Sir Luke noticed that his model was not looking very well, and he suspended work for a little to let the man rest. Soon after they had started work again the man's eyes began to bulge from his head, and he appeared to be on the verge of a collapse.

WARNED HIM NOT TO MOVE.

"You don't seem well," Sir Luke remarked sympathetically.

"Noa, zur!" gasped the man.

"Does the pose tire you?" the artist asked.

"Noa, zur; 'tain't that what does it; it's the holdin' me breath so long!"

The unfortunate man had somehow got the idea that "not to move on any account" included that he mustn't breathe.

This World's Illusions.

This world is all a fleeting show
For man's illusion given.
The smiles of joy, the tears of woe,
Deceitful shine, deceitful flow.
There's nothing true but heaven.

And false the light on glory's plume
As fading hues of even,
And love and hope and beauty's bloom
Are blossoms gathered for the tomb.
There's nothing bright but heaven.

Poor wanderers of a stormy day,
From wave to wave we're driven,
And fancy's flash and reason's ray
Serve but to light the troubled way.
There's nothing calm but heaven.

—Thomas Moore.

An Ornament to Society.

A society woman was commenting on the way different people act under embarrassing circumstances, some stammering excuses and acting like fools, while others take it as coolly as though nothing had happened.

SPAT OUT THE CHOCOLATE.

"I never see any one embarrassed that I do not think of what happened at my home one evening when I was giving a dinner party," she said. "We had almost reached the final course when chocolate was served my guests. It was steaming hot, but the whipped cream gave it a different appearance. The young man of whom I am speaking was engrossed in conversation with one of the debutantes and did not notice the chocolate was hot. He took one gulp, and then what happened I will never forget.

"He merely turned his head to one side and spat the chocolate on the new wall paper. Not in the least embarrassed, he turned to the guests and remarked:

"'Now, don't you know that some fools would have swallowed it?' It was so funny that we were all forced to laugh."—Louisville Times.

Wouldn't Lie About Golf.

Grizzly Adams fell in with Opie Read and Bill Sterrett at Dallas.

A three handed golf match was suggested, and the first hole had been played. The second hole was beyond an abandoned quarry, crossed by a bridge. It took only an ordinary drive to be safe, and Adams made it easily. He was followed by Sterrett, and both were on their way when Read unlimbered.

He sliced his drive and the ball went into the quarry, where Opie descended laboriously.

Adams and Sterrett presently heard a succession of whacks, and after a bit the ball came out, with Read in hot pursuit.

"How many strokes in the quarry?" asked Grizzly.

"Three," said Opie.

Adams turned to Sterrett, and they both laughed.

"Why," said he, "Bill and I heard six plainly."

"I know," said Opie, "but three of them were echoes."—Chicago Post.

Elsinore and the Senor.

When F. H. Heald settled on the Machado ranch, near San Diego, and began to build Elsinore, then unnamed, he was puzzled about the christening. What should he call the coming city by the lake and springs? Finally he chose lake something or other—a long compound—but the postoffice authorities would not have it. They wrote Mr. Heald that one word was enough and sent him a list to choose from. He took Elsinore and a few days afterward announced the fact to old Senor Machado. The aged don was for a moment nonplused. "El Senor," he said, "which senor do you mean, yourself or myself?" "Yourself, of course," replied the diplomatic Heald. And to this day the Machados believe that the name Elsinore is but a gringo corruption of "El Senor," the senor who owned the original property.—Argonaut.

TEACHING FARMERS TO WORK WITH DYNAMITE

Newton, July 10.—Under the auspices of a Wilmington, Del., powder concern, farmers in this vicinity were given their first practical demonstration of "farming with dynamite" on the farm of Thomas Inslee, in Fredon Township, Monday.

The possibilities of digging a ditch through shale rock, one of the hardest soils a farmer has to contend with, were shown. Ten charges of explosive were used. Hugh boulders, weighing many tons, were torn from their deep resting-places in the fields and broken up. Stumps of trees were treated likewise, showing with ease what the farmer can accomplish by giving up the time-worn methods of digging.

A two days' demonstration will be given and today planting will be taken up.

The success of the ditch-digging demonstration was marred somewhat by the dry condition of the soil. The ground was dry and loose, therefore the soil was not thrown out in solid compact masses.

In charge of the experiments are Robert Nicholls, of New York; Percy Smith, of Wilmington, Del., and Charles V. Weaver, of Easton, an expert powder and dynamite man.

WASHINGTON, N. J., SEES AN "ARMLESS WONDER"

Washington, N. J., July 10.—Frank McKeoun, "the armless wonder," who is just finishing the first return trip of three round trips between New York and Chicago, was in Washington Monday and left yesterday for Dover. He walked from Allentown, Pa., to Washington on Sunday. His visit aroused great interest here.

His manager, Frank McKay, makes the trip on the cars, but the armless wonder walks. By the terms of his agreement with a chewing gum company, he says he will receive $3,000 if he walks from New York to Chicago and back again three trips each way in three years. The first year will be up in October but he is so far ahead of his schedule that he expects to be in New York Thursday.

The "armless wonder" owes his title to the fact that he lost both hands and his arms to within a few inches of his elbows in a calendar machine in a Passaic factory some years ago. Since then he has learned to write, shave himself with a straight razor, use carpenter tools, a knife and fork, juggle chairs on his chin, use Spanish steel rings, etc. He also plays ball and can bat and catch as well as throw a ball. The armless wonder is twenty-five years old, married, and has a boy three years old. His home is in Passaic. He says he averages twenty-five miles a day on the walk. The "wonder" gave an exhibition of his skill Monday night in the public square and proved that he can do everything an able-bodied man can do, except wash his hands.

SHIPPERS PROTEST NEW SOUTHERN RAIL RATES

Atlantic City, July 10.—Nearly 300 shippers and traffic men are in session here protesting against the new classification of commodities in the Southern territory. They regard the change as a general advance in Southern territory rates.

In addition to advancing many of the commodities to a higher rate, according to the shippers, the changes are so affected that commodities of free movement are advanced, while commodities of lighter movement are left at the old rates or reduced.

Among those pleading for a new rule making blocking a portion of the car equipment are Frank A. Bedford, Philadelphia, for the American Bridge Company; L. C. Bihler, for the Carnegie Steel Company, of Pittsburgh; Murray N. Billings, Chicago, for the Illinois Steel Company, and Daniel N. Bates, Worcester, for the American Steel and Wire Company.

C. M. Taylor, of Huntington, Pa., representing the J. C. Blair Company, devoted an hour to an argument for restoration of an old rating on paper tablets and pads. The question rose over what constitutes writing paper.

In the question of machinery, various kinds were taken up in their turn, such as potato planters, cotton-seed machinery, dental machinery and various kinds of agricultural implements.

Announces His Candidacy

TO THE DEMOCRATIC VOTERS OF THE FIFTH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT OF NEW JERSEY:

As a matter of fairness to you and myself I make this early announcement of my candidacy for the nomination to succeed myself in Congress. Under the laws of our State the voters of the party must first pass upon the ambition of those who seek public honor and service through party organization. As the last nominee of the Democratic party under the old delegate system I am frank to say that the new system appeals to me as more dignified and more satisfactory. It gives the candidate the satisfaction and inspiration of knowing that he is the choice of the party voters for the honor he seeks, and in my own case of submitting my stewardship to the voters of the party that has honored me with its confidence. It is on your approval of that stewardship, that record of service, that I base my claim for the customary renomination.

Respectfully,

W. E. TUTTLE, JR.

HEAT BACK BONE BROKEN BY STORM

Heavy Rainfall Late Yesterday Afternon Cooled the Atmosphere a Trifle.

SHADE TREES DAMAGED

Streets Were Flooded and Night Was More Bearable—The Temperature is a Trifle Lower Today But Still Plenty Warm Enough.

The intense heat wave that has caused so much suffering the past week was partially broken late yesterday afternoon when a heavy thunder shower passed over the city and vicinity. For more than an hour the rain fell in torrents and then flash after flash of vivid lightning accompanied by heavy thunder. While the rain there was considerable hail in the centre of the city, but from reports there was neither much rain nor hail in any of the nearby towns. With the passing of the storm there was a preceptible drop in the temperature and although it was not cool last night, living was a trifle more comfortable. The highest temperature reported yesterday officially was 98 degrees.

At the State Trust Company this afternoon the thermometer registered but 91 degrees, a rise of only eight degrees since 9 o'clock this morning. This shows that the backbone of the heat wave has been severed.

The recent hot spell did not approach the record established a year ago, according to weather reports, when more than a third of the country experienced temperatures of nearly 100 degrees during the first two weeks of July, with a total of 1,500 deaths reported in this country.

Yesterday's storm resulted in considerable damage to the shade trees about the city, while the streets were flooded for a time. Today the Shade Tree Commission working in conjunction with Street Commissioner Gavett's men was kept busy cleaning up the debris. William G. Hobson, superintendent of the commission, reported the following damage:

A tree on East Ninth street had several large limbs torn off and the tree itself shattered; on Kensington avenue, near Watchung, two trees were shattered by a bolt; several trees on East Fifth street, near Richmond street, stripped of limbs; large maple at Central avenue and West Fifth street, split in two and stripped of large limbs. Another tree about two hundred feet distant lost a number of large limbs. On West Fifth street, near Division, a heavy bolt stripped shingles from the roof of a house and tore off a blind. Fire Chief and Mrs. T. O. Doane were sitting on their porch at the time and Mrs. Doane was partially stunned by the crash, falling into the arms of her husband. She was soon revived. During the heaviest of the shower the fire alarm sounded, but investigation showed it to be a break. It was repaired after the storm.

LUHR AND HIS MEN ENJOYED AN OUTING

Trolley employes of Plainfield and Dunellen, together with their families, enjoyed the annual picnic at Palisades Park, yesterday. The affair was arranged by Division Superintendent George Luhr, of this city, and he personally saw that men and their families had a good time. The trip was made to and from the park in trolley cars, it requiring about three hours each way for the journey.

Beside enjoying the many attractions at the Park, a fine dinner was served. The rain did not mar the pleasures of the day for the party was fortunate in escaping the downpour on the return trip. The cars were in charge of Messrs. Doyle and Gordon. The following employes and their families made up the party:

Superintendent George Luhr, F. Keenen, Messrs. Murphy, Phayer, Matthews, L. Smith, L. Duffy, Voorhies, Derenver, Deroma, Eversole, Hendershot, D. Walsh, Peeverson, Frank Doyle, Walter Bohrass, Walter Doyle, S. Nell, Gordon, Warden, Swiritzen, Colom, M. Walsh, Crawford, Dellehunt, Mohan, Soffus, Sullivan, A. Smith and F. Diehl.

MRS. SARAH LANE.

Mrs. Sarah Lane, aged 77 years, colored, died this morning at her home, 636 West Third street. She is survived by a son and daughter who lived with her. The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the late home. Rev. F. D. Tildon, of Bethel chapel, will officiate and the burial will be in Hillside cemetery.

Unity Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., will meet tonight and the officers-elect will be installed by Deputy Edward Bowman and staff.

GIRLS MUST SOON GET THEIR LETTERS AT HOME

Young Women to Be Barred From Getting Their Mail at General Delivery.

Although Postmaster Bird has not yet received such orders, the news comes from Washington that the postmaster general's department has been promulgating a rule barring girls, and even married women, from obtaining their letters from the general delivery window of the postoffices in the cities in which they reside.

Many years ago a simfiar order was issued, but that it had gradually passed almost entirely from enforcement.

It is claimed that many girls and women get their mail from the general delivery window in order to conceal their correspondents from their relatives at home.

Should girls and women be refused their mail by the general delivery clerk they could, of course, adopt the plan of many men and rent letter boxes, in which their love secrets would not be revealed.

According to the news from Washington, women in the near future, upon applying for mail at the general delivery window, will be asked their home address and their reasons for not having their letters delivered there. Should the answer be unsatisfactory to the clerk, he will be authorized to forward the letter, by carrier, to the address given.

Postmasters are looking also for an order to put a stop to the habit that has long prevailed of making postoffices meeting places for men and women, old and young, who, for reasons of their own, wish to keep their friendship for each other a secret.

Every night many men and women go to the local postoffice, not for mail, but to meet each other and then go out for a stroll through the dark streets. This practice prevails, is is said, in nearly every city, and Uncle Sam is getting tired of it.

1,300 PLAINFIELDERS SPEND DAY AT THE SHORE

Thirteen hundred or more Plainfielders are enjoying the day at Asbury Park. They left here this morning on the excursion conducted by the Methodists, the congregations of the First, the Monroe Avenue and Grace and of the Dunellen and M. E. churches and Wilson Memorial chapel being represented. The train was in two sections, the first thirteen cars and the other twelve cars.

The return trip from Asbury Park will be begun at 7:10 and the day's vacationists will be home again by 9 o'clock.

MISS MILDRED SOPER NOW MRS. ROBERT KELLEY

Miss Mildred May Soper, daughtr of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Soper, of South Plainfield, and Robert E. Kelley, of this city, were quietly married at 6 o'clock last night at the home of the bride's parents. Rev. J. J. Allen, pastor of the South Plainfield Baptist church, performed the ceremony in the presence of the immediate relatives and intimate friends of the couple.

Miss Marjorie Soper, of Newark, sister of the bride, was the bridemaid, and William Firstbrook, of this city, son-in-law of the bridegroom, was the best man. After the ceremony a reception was held and supper served. Later the couple left on a wedding trip. They will reside in Plainfield. The bride is an active member of the South Plainfield Baptist church.

MRS. LIABLE'S FUNERAL.

Mrs. Minnie Liable, whose death occurred at Hightstown and who was buried in the family plot in the Plainfield avenue cemetery on Tuesday, Rev. J. O. McKelvey officiating, is survived by three daughters and four sons. They are Mrs. Louis Hall, of Manning avenue, the borough; Mrs. W. H. Teeple, of Newark; Mrs. Helena Brose, of Hightstown; Charles and John Liable, of Newark, and Joseph and Frank Liable, of Hightstown.

GIFT OF A PRIZE.

Mrs. Daniel F. Ginna, of Watchung avenue, was awarded the dinner set displayed at the recent fair held at Bethel chapel under the auspices of the choir boys and at her request it will be given to them on their return from camp. Sixteen of the boys, in charge of Charles VanHorn, will leave Saturday for Long Island where they will camp out for a week.

Mrs. William D. Manning and daughter, Florence, of Randolph road, are spending a week at the Fourth Avenue Inn, Asbury Park.

YOUTH SHOT BY R. R. DETECTIVE

Laveratt, of Jersey Central Force, Responsible for Injury to Levelle.

SELF-DEFENSE CLAIM

Struggle, It is Alleged, Precedes the Wounding of Bayonne Man, Who is Now in Hospital—Was the Detective too Quick?

John Levelle, aged 19 years, of 336 Broadway, Bayonne, was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital, last night, in what was thought to be a dying condition from a gunshot wound received at Dunellen while engaged in a desperate struggle to get away from Detective Charles Laveratt, of the New Jersey Central. Stories as to how the shooting occurred differ, but there has been considerable criticism of the apparent too free use of firearms by railroad detectives.

When Levelle was admitted to the hospital he was removed to the operating room and Drs. P. J. Zeglio and F. E. DuBois, who were on duty, discovered that the bullet had entered the thigh and severed the main artery. Levelle was greatly weakened by the loss of blood and at first his chances for recovery were thought to be slight. The bullet was removed from the lower part of the back, the flow of blood stopped and today it is said that the patient will probably recover.

According to the police Detectives Laveratt and Charles Hans, both of the New Jersey Central, had been searching for tramps who have given the railroad company considerable trouble by stealing brass couplers and oil cups from signal switches. While in the vicinity of Dunellen, Levelle and three companions were seen riding on a freight train. The quartet recognizing the detectives they got off the train and started in the direction of Main street. They were followed by Laveratt and Hans, and, it is said, that just as the former was about to arrest Levelle he pulled a club from beneath his coat and struck the detective in the head.

The two men clinched and, according to Laveratt's story his revolver dropped out of his pocket. At that instant both men grabbed for the weapon and in the mixup it was discharged, the bullet entering Levelle's thigh. In the meantime, Detective Hans, who had captured two other members of the quartet let his prisoners go that he might assist Laveratt, and they and the fourth member of the gang made their escape. The detectives first took Levelle to Pennock's drug store where "first aid" was obtained. Levelle was losing quantities of blood and he was then brought to Plainfield on a train and sent to the hospital in the ambulance.

Detectives Laveratt and Hans gave themselves up at police headquarters and Captain Frederickson notified the Middlesex county authorities. Later in the evening, at the direction of Prosecutor George Silzer, of New Brunswick, Detective Fogarty, of Middlesex county, came to Plainfield and in company with Detectives Laveratt and Hans and Henry L. DeForest, of the legal department of the New Jersey Central, went to Dunellen and investigated the affair.

Detectives Laveratt and Hans were put in custody of Mr. DeForest, it being understood that they are to appear for a hearing at New Brunswick today to answer to a complaint of atrocious assault. It is expected that bail will be fixed for the prisoners at that time.

It is said that the railroad detectives are too quick to use their guns and an instance of this is recalled when two years ago one of them fired carelessly at some small boys from Cottage place that were playing on the top of a freight car standing on a siding.

MR. SCHORB BURIED.

The funeral services of Clarence Schorb, who died of heat prostration in the Liberty Street ferry house of the New Jersey Central on Sunday night, were held at his late home, 420 West Second street, yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Twenty-eight men of the Public Service Corporation, where Mr. Schorb was employed, attended the funeral in a body. The six of his fellow-workmen who acted as pallbearers were J. J. Lake, M. B. Caffrey, James S. Ellis, A. D. Higgins, W. J. Wolf and Charles Anderson.

FUNERAL OF MISS HAND.

The funeral service of Miss Cora Hand was held at the home of her sister, Mrs. Helen Hull on Clinton avenue, at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. Rev. J. O. McKelvey, pastor of Warren chapel, officiated and the burial was in Hillside cemetery. The pall-bearers were: William Hand, Wallace Hand, Percy Davies, Lloyd Van Middlesworth, Joseph Selb and Mr. Smith.

DRAGGED BY COW; FARMER INJURED

Freeholder Zergierbel in Muhlenberg Hospital Suffering from Internal Hurts.

CHANCE FOR RECOVERY

Victim's Feet Caught in Rope With Which He Was Leading Cow and He Was Dragged Several Hundred Feet.

Freeholder Robert Zergiebel, of Warren township, who was removed to Muhlenberg Hospital, yesterday, suffering from severe internal injuries, the result of being dragged a considerable distance by a fractious cow he was leading, was reported today as being slightly improved, with fair chances of recovery. The physicians who examined Mr. Zergiebel have been unable to find any broken bones, but he suffers constant pain and it is the belief that he has serious internal injuries. The physicians say that unless complications should develop the patient is likely to recover.

Mr. Ziegiebel was taking the cow from pasture to the barn, when the animal started to run away. The freeholder was taken off his feet and in his efforts to stop the animal in its flight became entangled in the rope. Before the cow stopped, Mr. Zergiebel was dragged a distance of several hundred feet. He was found by one of his farmhands in a semi-conscious condition and was removed to the house.

Dr. Zeglio was summoned and after an examination, he had the injured man removed to the hospital in the ambulance. Mr. Ziegiebel is about fifty-two years of age and is widely known throughout Somerset county.

FEE REGULATION AT THE HOSPITAL

Patients Outside of Union Co. and the Borough Must Pay Two Weeks in Advance.

RULE IS NECESSARY

County Patients in Wards to Pay $2 Per Day—Local Patients Tax Capacity of Institution and Charge is For Their Benefit.

The Board of Governors at the July meeting voted that on and after August 1, 1912, no patients outside of Union county, excepting North Plainfield, shall be admitted to Muhlenburg Hospital without payment of charges for at least two weeks in advance. Under this ruling there will be a rebate in cases where patients do not remain for at least two weeks in the institution. It was also voted that county patients be charged at least $2 a day for treatment in the wards, with the exception that the charges in emergency cases shall be at the discretion of the executive committee.

The reason given for this action is that oftentimes patients are received from numerous places outside of Union county and there has never been any fixed rule as to the method of payment. There are so many demands on the institution by local patients, as well as those from different points in Union county, that such a rule was found necessary.

The president of the board reported that Mrs. Worrall's term of service as superintendent of nurses terminated about July 1, and that Miss Cardwell was acting superintendent pending the appointment of a new superintendent of nurses.

The Medical Board report for the month of June showed 62 patients admitted during the month into the wards and 22 patients in private rooms. The total number of patients treated in wards and private rooms was 125. Of these, 92 were discharged, leaving 33 patients in the hospital on July 1. There were 1,162 patient days' treatment, 46 per cent. being in the free wards, 3 per cent. in the isolation ward, 34 per cent. in the pay wards, and 17 per cent. in private rooms. There were 218 visits in the dispensary, and 106 dispensary patients treated. Ambulance calls, 17. In the tuberculosis pavilion there were 8 patients treated and 2 discharged, leaving 6 on the first of July.

SATISFIED WITH FULLER AS EXPERT

No Truth in Story That Joint Sewer Disposal Commission Seeks Other's Service.

MINOR POINTS WAIVED

Much Red-tape in all Three Municipalities Before the Plans Can Be Fulfilled — Representatives Are Harmonious.

The joint sewage committee, representing Plainfield, North Plainfield and Dunellen, having under consideration the question of building a trunk sewer with a disposal plant to be located on the Darling farm, in Piscataway township, met here last night and discussed the situation, pro and con. It was agreed that all minor differences that would tend to delay the project should be waived so that no time be lost in accomplishing the desired purpose.

The only serious difference that has arisen since the various municipalities decided to unite in the proposition has been that in reference to the route to be selected from the connecting point of Plainfield and North Plainfield to the disposal works. George W. Fuller, of New York, the sanitary engineer who was engaged by the municipalities to prepare plans, maps, estimate of cost and maintenance, at a meeting a few days ago suggested the plan of running the trunk line near the mountains in North Plainfield, install two siphons and thus get the benefit of gravity. This, he claims, would do away with the cost of pumping, except at the disposal plant.

The Plainfield representatives did not altogether favor this plan, believing that North Plainfield should come to Plainfield with one siphon beneath the brook. According to this plan, it is said, Plainfield would be able to save many thousands of dollars. In the meantime, Councilman F. L. Holt had a talk with James S. Fuertes, who was engaged by the city to make a survey of the water situation, and Fuertes suggested that a direct trunk line to the Darling site would be more preferable than extending it into the borough and running it along the foot of the mountain.

While most of the evening was devoted to a discussion of the probable cost of building, maintenance and the establishment of a sinking fund, it was finally the concensus of opinion that all minor points of difference should be waived. In fact North Plainfield showed a disposition to concede the point as to the route to be selected for the trunk line, if it was deemed to be for the best interest of those concerned in the project. The report that Plainfield intended engaging another sanitary engineer as asserted by another paper, was discredited, it being stated that all the municipalities had agreed to employ Mr. Fuller and there was no thought of making a change. The report was only another of those hot weather stories. But if Plainfield or any other municipality desires to seek further information either from an engineer or a lawyer other than the firm of Lindabury, Depue & Faulks, which was engaged to represent all the municipalities, it would be at liberty to do so.

It is estimated that at the least calculation it will take a year to get everything in shape to build the trunk line sewer as there are countless details to be undertaken. North Plainfield and Dunellen must hold special elctions to get the sanction of the people to join in the proposition. Under the circumstances it is the opinion that the vote in both municipalities would be favorable to the plan. There are numerous ordinances and joint resolutions to be adopted. Bonds will have to be issued and passed upon by experts and then sold and other matters attended to before the work can be completed.

But first of all the consent of the State Board of Health must be secured permitting the municipalities to locate its disposal beds on the Darling farm or any other nearby site. There is no absolute assurance that this permission will be given, but the attitude of the board has been encouraging. It is the opinion of those who are engineering the matter that it is up to the State Board of Health to help the various municipalities solve the sewage problem. According to the plans Scotch Plains and Fanwood are to be taken into the trunk sewer as tenants.

Those attending the conference last night were: Councilmen R. I. Tolles, F. L. Holt, Duncan W. Taylor and Street Commissioner A. J. Gavett, of Plainfield; Mayor Robert Clark, Jr., Councilman W. J. Buttfield and J. O. Osgood, of North Plainfield; Mayor Richards, A. J. Hambley, A. F. Todd and Engineer L. T. Churchill, of Dunellen.

GALLAGHER SENTENCED TO FROM 2 TO 15 YRS.

Judge Daly Says he Does not Care to Have Dunellen Man Die in Prison.

James Gallagher, the sixty-nine-year-old Dunellen man, convicted on the tale of fifteen-year-old Barbara Sonkup, of Dunellen, several weeks ago, was sentenced by Judge Daly in the Middlesex County Court at New Brunswick, yesterday, to not less than two or not more than fifteen years in the State prison. Fifteen years is the maximum penalty for the offense for which Gallagher was convicted, and the judge said that in fixing the minimum limit to the sentence he did so because he did not wish Gallagher to die in the prison.

In passing sentence Judge Daly declared that he remembered nothing in the testimony that indicated that the girl was what counsel for the defense said she was but that it did appear that she was mentally deficient. Her character, however, had nothing to do with the case, the judge said, as she was under the statutory age of sixteen.

"Our law," said Judge Daly, "regards this crime as the crime of a brute. It may be that in some other counties a different opinion is held in regard to the women children, and that might be considered in the case of a foreigner. But you, Gallagher, are an American, and that doesn't apply in your case.

"However, I don't think that the legislature in fixing the penalty intended that a life sentence should be imposed, and I feel that almost any sentence would be a life sentence for you. I don't want you to die in the State prison.

"The sentence of the law is that you be confined in the State prison for not more than fifteen or less than two years."

12 YEARS OLD GIRL HURT IN A RUNAWAY

Thrown From Carriage Little Miss Bailey Sustains Injuries at So. Plainfield.

Myrtle Bailey, the twelve-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elias Bailey, of South Plainfield, was severely injured about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon while driving from the village centre to her home. She was crossing the Lehigh Valley Railroad tracks, near the station, when a bolt dropped out of the vehicle's shafts allowing the latter to strike the horse's feet. The frightened animal sped away at top speed. After about a half-mile was covered the horse broke away from the wagon and the girl was thrown out when the wagon overturned.

Station Agent Richard Fairservice, of the Lehigh Valley Railroad; Thomas Sexton and Connie Noff, also employes of the company, ran to the girl's assistance and removed her to the station building. She was found to be suffering from a severe injury of the knee and back. Several of her teeth had been shaken loose. She also suffered greatly from shock. Miss Ruth Nevius volunteered to take Miss Bailey home, after which a physician was summoned. Today the girl is reported to be resting easy.

TROUBLESOME YOUTH.

Sidney Burton, a troublesome colored youth, was arraigned before Judge DeMeza in the city court this morning on a disorderly charge preferred by Playground Commissioner H. W. Marshall. The boy has been brought before the court on a number of previous occasions on similar charges of rowdyism and this morning was given a severe reprimand. He had driven children away from the swings and other playground equipment and had proved himself troublesome to the supervisor in charge.

GUARDSMEN READY FOR TRIP.

The Elizabeth companies of the National Guard, F, C and I, and Co. K, of Plainfield, as well as Co. M, of Somerville, will leave for Mt. Gretna, Pa., next Monday morning. A special train on the Jersey Central Railroad, leaving Elizabeth will stop for the Plainfield and Somerville companies. All of the companies will be under the command of Major William B. Martin, of Elizabeth.

FINED ONE DOLLAR.

William Miller, of 333 Watchung avenue, was fined $1 by Judge Gano this morning in the borough court for not appearing before him Monday morning as he had been ordered. He was one of many boys arrested on Sunday for swimming only clothed in nature's garb in Debele and Stahl's pond on Maple avenue.

FRANK LINKE, SR., FOUND DROWNED

May Have Fallen Asleep and Rolled Into Green Brook.

NO CAUSE FOR SUICIDE

Aged Resident Left Grandsons at 12 O'clock, Apparently in Best Humor—Body Found Near Girard Avenue Shortly After One O'clock.

Frank Linke, Sr., aged 84 years, father of Frank Linke, of West Front street, was found dead in Green brook, near Giraud avenue, about 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. It had been his daily custom during the summer to seek a shady spot near the brook and he would spend the morning and afternoon there. The belief is that he dropped asleep while reading and fell in the brook.

The first news that the family had that anything was wrong was when the dogs, which always accompanied Mr. Linke, came running home. They appeared excited and refused to be quieted. Mrs. Linke feeling that something had happened to the older man, called her husband and son Gerald. The latter went at once to wher he had left his grandfather about noon, and found him dead in the water. After sending word to the family, he notified Chief Marshal Weiss, of North Plainfield, who took charge of the case until County Physician Long arrived later in the afternoon.

Mr. Linke's grandsons have been gathering the hay from the meadow near the brook, and they left Mr. Linke there while they went home to dinner. They intended taking his dinner to him when they returned this afternoon.

Mr. Linke was born in Seiffersdorf, Germany. He came to this country sixteen years ago to make his home with his son. Once since then he visited his old home in Germany. He was of a quiet, unassuming disposition and made many friends, especially among the older German people. When his son kept a cow it was the pleasure of the old gentleman to take the animal to pasture near Giraud avenue and bring it home at night. The field appealed to him especially and he spent most of his time there. Mr. Linke is survived by three sons, Frank, of this city; Julius and Powell, who live in Germany; also two daughters, Mrs. Theresa Pelz and Mrs. Annie Schmidt, who also live in Germany.

UNION CO.'S PHYSICIANS GATHERED AT ELIZABETH

A symposium on "Artificial Infant Feeding and Pure Milk" was the feature at the regular quarterly meeting of the Union County Medical Society in the Elks' clubhouse on Westfield avenue, Elizabeth, last night. Over one hundred physicians listened to interesting papers by leading physicians of this State and New York on this important subject, after which the meeting was open to general discussion. The speeches and their topics were:

BUILDING DEVELOPMENT FOR WEST FRONT STREET

Emil Kapelsohn, the builder, has broken ground at West Front street, Grace and Johannus avenues for the erection of four rows of apartments with ten apartments in each. They will be built for the purpose of meeting the demand in that section of the city for moderate priced houses. Mr. Kapelsohn before starting to build cut through two streets running parallel with Front stret, which he named for his two daughters. The lots have a depth of about 300 feet.

NEW FINANCIAL PLAN FOR TOWN OF MONTCLAIR

Bankers of Montclair have formed the Montclair Clearing House Association and chosen its officers. Only one other municipality in the State—Trenton—has such an association.

The officers of the Montclair organization are as follows: President, Ralph Crane, vice president and treasurer of the Montclair Savings Bank; vice president, Frederick W. Dunbar, president First National Bank of Montclair; secretary, Charles H. DuBuisson, assistant cashier Bank of Montclair.

The officers are now working on the details of procedure which, when completed, will be presented to the officers of all the banking institutions for approval.

It is intended at first to include in the association only the six financial institutions in Montclair. These are Bank of Montclair, Montclair Trust Company, Montclair Savings Bank, First National Bank of Montclair, Essex National Bank of Montclair and Essex Title Guarantee and Trust Company. The facilities afforded for local clearances will afterward be extended to other banking institutions of adjoining municipalities should such institutions desire to join. For many purposes, it is said, Montclair, Caldwell, Glen Ridge and Bloomfield, with adjoining places are practically one territory.

It is believed that the two national banks in Caldwell, the one in Glen Ridge and the three financial institutions of Bloomfield will eventually join Montclair in the clearing house plan.

DUGAN PROMOTED.

The Celebration of Our Anniversary Scores A Well Merited Success

Hundreds Attended Saturday, Sharing in the Dozens of Remarkable Values Offered in all Departments.

And today and tomorrow we shall continue to celebrate in the same manner—by giving out-of-the-ordinary values in every section of the store. By lowering prices in a manner that MUST AND WILL CONVINCE YOU that our statements regarding the values offered in this birthday celebration are bonafide—that they tell of ACTUAL PRICE REDUCTIONS.

We want to show our appreciation of your patronage in a practical and worth-while manner—in a way that will appeal to your purse rather than to your fancy. Therefore we offer these remarkable bargains in all departments—bargains that will remind you pleasantly of the store and the occasion.

Our Free Birthday Gifts-- REMEMBER TO BRING YOUR CIRCULARS WITH YOU

Gift numbers are changed each day—if you don't see your number displayed today, it may be tomorrow, so be sure and pay us a visit.

Ten different numbers for each day (80 in all) have been drawn by Mr. Fort, of the Daily Press, and if your circular has one of those numbers you are entitled to a gift. So visit the store each day of the Sale and see if your number is displayed—if it is that gift is yours free.

OUR STORE WILL CLOSE AT 5:30 P. M. DURING THE WARM WEATHER.

Believing that it will be for the benefit and comfort of our patrons and our salespeople we have decided that during July, August and September instead of opening the store at 8:30 and closing at 6 we will OPEN THE STORE AT 8 A. M. AND CLOSE AT 5:30 thus giving an extra half-hour in the cool of the early morning for you to shop in.

MISS KATHERINE FORCE.

Mrs. Astor's Sister Reported Engaged to Stockbroker.

MISS FORCE TO WED?

Rumor That Mrs. Astor's Sister Is Engaged to Broker.

New York, July 11.—The rumor of the engagement of Miss Katherine Force, the sister of Mrs. John Jacob Astor, has appeared again both here and in Newport, and this time it appears to be authentic. It is said that Mrs. Astor and Miss Force's parents have confirmed the report and have named Henri C. Harnickell, a young broker and banker who lives in Brooklyn.

Miss Force, who is nineteen years old, has been wooed by Mr. Harnickell ever since the first of the year, and during the last two months the young broker has been at the Force home almost every day.

No plans for the wedding have been announced, but it is probable that it will be a quiet ceremony, as both families are in mourning.

NO ALIMONY FOR WIFE WHO LIVED INDEPENDENT

Because Mrs. Yetta Melyer Sahn, of Manhattan, lived for upwards of two years without support from Israel Sahn, a tailor, of New Brunswick, she will have to do without alimony, pending the trial of a suit for divorce which Sahn has brought against her on the ground of desertion.

Vice-Chancellor Stevens so decided when Judge Hahn applied for alimony in Mrs. Sahn's behalf, but he allowed a counsel fee of $50.

The Sahn wedding took place in New York, March 26, 1910, and Sahn took his wife to his home at 139 Neilson street, New Brunswick, and introduced her to his nine children by a former marriage as their "new mamma." The "children," some of whom were adults, didn't take kindly to the new Mrs. Sahn.

TAFT AND TEDDY ROUNDLY BERATED

Prohibitionists' Convention Has Lively Opening.

DR. HOWARD MAKES ATTACK

Says That Roosevelt Is Least Desirable of All Candidates and That President Taft Has Surrendered Abjectly to the Liquor Interests of Nation.

Atlantic City, N. J., July 11.—A bitter arraignment of Theodore Roosevelt, William Howard Taft, the Democratic, Republican and "Bull Moose" parties by Dr. Clinton N. Howard of Rochester, N. Y., temporary chairman, and defeat of the plans of Oliver W. Stewart, insurgent, featured the opening session of the national Prohibition convention here on the Steel pier. One thousand delegates participated. Chairman Howard's attack on Roosevelt caused immense enthusiasm.

"This much talked of progressive Roosevelt party is not needed," he said. "We already have two whisky parties. That's too much. From our standpoint Roosevelt is the least desirable of them all, because of his record, public utterances and confessed personal habits.

"Posing as the 'Thou shalt not steal' candidates because his partisans were not preferred over those of President Taft in the convention, he brazenly boasts that he stole the isthmus of Panama from Colombia and then let congress debate it afterward. If the Chicago convention turned the same trick they took their cue from his actions. His title to the Panama strip was as good as the stolen Taft credentials in the hands of the boss made delegates, and no better.

"Stealing is stealing, Mr. Roosevelt. When you taught that the end justified the means you gave every thief a passport to heaven."

Of President Taft he had to say:

"No other president since the foundation of this government has surrendered more abjectly to the liquor interests of this nation than William Howard Taft. His record is too recent, familiar and odoriferous to require review in this intelligent presence."

WANTS DEEPER CHANNEL.

Camden Seeks to Improve Water Front and Extend Pier Line.

Camden, N. J., July 11.—A delegation of business men from this city and wharf and river front owners visited the office of Major Herbert Deaykne, government engineer for the district of Philadelphia, and requested that government clear a thirty-four foot channel along the Camden river front and extend the pier head line 300 feet westward so that modern piers of sufficient length can be constructed.

Included in the delegation were Mayor Charles H. Ellis of this city, representatives of the New York Shipbuilding company, the Pennsylvania railroad ferries and other big Camden concerns.

MORE TYPHOID IN WOODBURY.

Another Case Reported in New Jersey Town, Making Eleven.

Woodbury, N. J., July 11.—The city council deferred action on the water question which has arisen since the outbreak of the typhoid fever until the state board of health inspectors report.

One new case of typhoid was reported, making eleven since Saturday night. Another development was the stopping of the delivery of milk by one dealer. It was declared that the milk was not up to standard. Eight of the nine members of the council favor building a filtration plant. A petition urges artesian wells.

MAYOR'S WIDOW SUES.

$25,000 Asked For Train Accident at Ridgefield Park.

Hackensack, N. J., July 11.—Damages in the sum of $25,000 will be asked of the New York, Susquehanna and Western railroad by the widow of the late Mayor Carl Schulz of Ridgefield Park, who was killed by a train Feb. 17 last.

Papers in a suit for damages were filed with the county clerk.

Some Cackle Over Largest Egg.

Newton, N. J., July 11.—Surpassing all previous efforts in the line of egg raising in Sussex county, G. W. Saunders holds as the record an egg said to measure 9.5 by 7.5 inches. The egg was laid by one of his white leghorns, he declared. It had a soft shell and will be preserved in alcohol for exhibition.

Fresh Air Veteran Going Yet.

Newark, N. J., July 11.—George Clinton Paybe, having celebrated his one hundredth birthday, went back on his route as a book agent, insisting he was "good for twenty more years." Fresh air did it, he said.

Curious Death Custom in Fiji.

The Fijians believe that in case a marriageable youth or maiden dies without having gone through with the elaborate nuptial knot tying ceremony of the islands his or her soul is doomed to wander about forever in an intermediate region between heaven and hell. When any one dies—man, woman or child—a whale's tooth is placed in the hand of the corpse, the missile to be thrown at the tree which stands as a guidepost to point out the road that leads to heaven and the one that leads to hell.

RAILROADS PLEAD NOT GUILTY OF BOY'S DEATH

New Brunswick, July 11.—Pleas of not guilty were entered by three railroads yesterday before Judge Peter E. Daly to a charge of manslaughter resulting from the death of Daniel Coyne at South Amboy on January 23. A similar plea was made by L. L. Berry, superintendent of the New York and Long Branch Railroad.

Lawyer Alan H. Strong pleaded for the Pennsylvania and Lawyer John S. Applegate for the Central and Long Branch railroads. All three operate the road at this point.

Coyne was the son of an engineer employed on the New York and Long Branch Railroad. He was carrying lunch to his father, an engineer of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, when a Pennsylvania train ran down and killed him. The grand jury investigated the tragedy and returned indictments on the ground that the railroads were negligent in operating trains on the right of way of not properly safeguarded.

COULDN'T SAVE MOTHER, VICTIM OF EXPLOSION

Farmingdale, July 11.—Pouring kerosene oil in a lighted stove resulted in the death Tuesday night of Mrs. James Cox, of this place. Her eight-year-old son, James, received terrible burns on his body and is in a critical condition.

The Cox family moved to this place two days ago. Wishing to prepare a quick evening meal for her husband, who had not returned from his work, Mrs. Cox tried the oil to hasten the flames in the kitchen stove. The fire jumped up and entered the can, exploding it and setting fire to Mrs. Cox and the kitchen.

Attracted by her screams, her little son beat his mother's burning skirts, his clothes also taking fire. Neighbors rushed to their aid. Clarence Shafto, with a fire extinguisher, put out the fire, but not before Mrs. Cox and the boy were unconscious.

Dr. S. G. Williams was summoned and took the victims to the Long Branch Memorial Hospital by automobile. On the way to the hospital Mrs. Cox died. Her son James is in the hospital, one side of his body, hands and face being terribly burned. The doctors think he has a chance for recovery.

PLAN FLAG PRESENTATION.

Freeholder J. Hervey Doane, representing the county board of freeholders, and Dr. W. H. Murray, the governors of Bonnie Burn Sanitarium, held a conference with representatives of Watchung Council, Knights of Columbus, yesterday, regarding the presentation of an American flag to the sanitarium. The presentation will take place early in September, the exact date to be announced later.

TAX EXEMPTION CASES ARE DECIDED

Trenton, July 11.—Four memoranda handed down by the State Board of Equalization Tuesday disposed of appeals by religious, charitable or educational institutions claiming exemption under the revised tax act of 1903. In three cases the board dismissed the appeals, while in the fourth it held that part of the property involved should have been exempted.

The appeals dismissed were those of Stevens Institute of Technology at Hoboken; the Ocean Grove Campmeeting Association, at Ocean Grove, and Christ church, at Middletown, Monmouth county. The appeal sustained in part was that of St. Francis Sanitarium, in Rockaway Township, Morris county.

The exemption sought by Stevens Institute was on the building known as Castle Stevens and about four and a half acres of land surrounding it. The only question involved in the appeal was whether the property was actually used for purposes that would entitle it to exemption at the time the tax against it was laid for the year 1911 when possession was gained. The board held that it was not actually so used until the students returned in September.

The appeal of Christ church of Middletown, brought up the assessment upon six small houses, all owned by the church, and representing the investment of an endowment received by the church under the will of William Leeds, executed by him in 1735.

The board held it to be a settled rule in this State that the word "endowment" does not, in the sense of the tax act, include real estate. The board said:

"The buildings against which the assessment under review was levied are occupied as dwelling houses by tenants who pay rent to the church. The buildings are, therefore, not used exclusively for charitable purposes."

In the case of the St. Francis Sanitarium, the board ordered that the assessment fixed by Rockaway Township be reduced to $10,820. The property consists of 203 acres of land, a church, a parsonage, a convent, several buildings used for sanitarium purposes and a number of farm buildings.

The evidence showed that the institution is employed chiefly in the care and treatment of suffering humanity and that persons unable to pay are treated gratuitously.

From these facts the State board was satisfied that the institution was entitled to exemption upon the bulk of its property and the land necessary to its fair enjoyment. It found that five acres of ground was necessary for that purpose, but sustained the tax against the remaining 198 acres. All the buildings except a few structures used for farm purposes, were also ordered to be exempted.

AN IMPORTANT DECISION.

If a decision handed down by the New York Public Service Commission is sustained by the courts of that State, the greatest blow yet struck at what promises to be one of the worst trusts in the country has been dealt. The decision involves the combination of the New York Telephone Company, or the phone trust, and the Western Union Telegraph Company, with an idea of trying to divert business from the Postal Telegraph Company, and thus stifle or kill the healthy competition in telegraphic service. In New York State, as in New Jersey, if a telephone user asks for a telegraph office, the telephone central arbitrarily connects the Western Union, and wherever possible diverts business to that company's lines.

Naturally the Postal Telegraph Company entered a protest to the up-State Public Service Commission against this practice, alleging that it is unfair to accept a telegram by telephone without asking what company is wanted, being, to a certain extent, an action in restraint of legitimate business, so far as the Postal company is concerned. They argued that the operator should ask the subscriber which telegraph office is wanted and the commission sustained their contention. It is said that the result of the protest has been such that the action will now be taken into every State where there is a utility commission.

In its complaint, the Postal has been upheld at every point in the decision rendered. It was decided that the use of the word "Telegram" as a call word for the Western Union is discriminatory and unjust, and the telephone company is ordered to discontinue the use of the word to designate the Western Union or any other company. It is also directed that the telephone company shall no longer advise patrons which service to use, or in any other way show partiality.

In our opinion the New York Telephone Company is the one public service corporation that needs attention from the utilities commission of every State wherein it operates, and such decisions as the one just handed down should have a wholesome effect. It has been pointed out that the rates charged by this company about here, where there is no competition, are much higher than where it has competition, and that it makes rules which it does not think of making where its lines are paralleled. The breaking up of the combination with the Western Union Company should be accomplished in every State, and then it might be well to turn attention to the rates charged the public in localities where there is no competition, as compared with where the competing lines are strong. There is no field for investigation which would be of more benefit to the general public than an investigation of telephone charges.

We know of few organizations which do better work than the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, and yet the action taken yesterday by an officer of that society at Asbury Park is such as to bring ridicule upon the many members who are striving to really accomplish good for the suffering beasts. On the boardwalk at Asbury Park is a so-called "flea circus." An officer of the society sent the agent to visit it, because of an alleged complaint that cruelty was being practiced upon the "poor, defenseless fleas." It is hard to believe that anyone would make such a silly move, but the action is recorded, as seriously as such a thing can be recorded, in several of the State papers. Is a flea an animal? If it is, a fly must also be one, and every time we "swat the fly" we lay ourselves open to prosecution, on the theory that by so swatting we may hurt the fly's feelings, or perhaps injure him, but not enough to prevent him from getting away. Such action as that at Asbury Park makes the splendid society which was used as a means of getting publicity for this one member, the laughing stock of the whole State, and incidentally will greatly impair the efficiency of the particular branch of which the complainant is a member.

It is with much pleasure that we acknowledge the receipt of a check from E. T. Barrows, who contributes $2, making up the deficit for the "safe and sane" Fourth of July celebration, and $5 to be added to the Daily Press fund for the King's Daughters' Baby Camp. To the hundreds of Plainfielders who are enjoying the cool breezes at mountain resorts or on the coast, we beg to call attention to the needs of the Baby Camp. At that worthy institution on the mountain slope, the babies of the poor are given every comfort during the most trying season of the year and when it is borne in mind that the thermometer has been hovering around the 100 degree mark here for several days the necessity for the camp's existence is readily understood. In order to maintain this charity through the season, at least $600 is needed at once. Contributions sent to this paper are promptly acknowledged in its columns and as quickly transmitted to the Camp committee for immediate use.

One thing that the average man—no, we did not say woman—objects to at this season of the year is "advice." But, nevertheless, here are some rules as to how to make oneself as comfortable as possible when the mercury is playing tag with the 100 degree mark: Loaf and sleep every opportunity; wear lightest weight clothes and underwear, not wool; drink cool, not iced, drinks; be moderate in everything, and don't worry; don't drink alcohol; don't keep on looking at the thermometer; don't eat meat; don't sit under an electric fan and don't think how hot it is.

For the first time in many months nothing important enough happened yesterday in politics to get it on the front page of the papers this morning. It is a welcome relief to take up an exchange and read about the splendid work being done by the American athletes abroad, and to know when you are reading it that the newspapers are telling the truth, and are not printing stories twisted to fit their own way of thinking, as has been the case with the political stories for the past few months. The truth, so far as the New York press is concerned has been absolutely forgotten in at least fifty per cent. of the semi-editorial articles which they have printed about the national situation.

The Lorimer verdict is expected today. If that much abused, lofty-minded statesman should be made to suffer the outrage of expulsion from the United States Senate it would not be so bad after all. "Every cloud has a silver lining" and who knows but that with all time at his disposal, the Honorable Bill could not render a patriotic service as chairman of the National Committee. His work in Illinois certainly entitled that terribly misjudged statesman to some recognition.

L. Y. Sherman A Man Like Lincoln

ILLINOIS is about to reproduce in the councils of the government at Washington the Abraham Lincoln type of citizen and statesman.

Lawrence Y. Sherman, whom most of his friends call Larry Sherman, will be elected to the United States senate early next year unless there is a political cataclysm in November. By a plurality of nearly 50,000 votes the Republican electorate of Illinois expressed its preference for Sherman over Shelby M. Cullom for the senatorial term beginning March 4, 1913.

Even if the state of Illinois should be Democratic by 150,000 on the presidency in November it is said that the Republicans will have a majority of the legislative vote on joint ballot and will be able to elect a man of their party to the United States senate. There will be a considerable number of holdover Republican state senators.

Between Lincoln and Sherman the parallel is almost startling in its fullness. The two personalities touch at many points. The physical likeness is striking. The life of the one suggests the life of the other in many respects.

Abraham Lincoln was distinctive for the sad expression of his face in repose. Sherman's face is a face of sorrow. Lincoln's eyes were deep set, his cheeks sunken and heavily lined. So are the eyes and cheeks of Sherman. Lincoln was very tall and angular. Sherman is angular, but of average height.

Lincoln was careless of his personal appearance. Sherman is remoged to the nth power from a Beau Brummel. Lincoln preferred the garb which made him one with the everyday life and habits of his less famous neighbors. Sherman would rather be licked than put on evening clothes. A few years ago he never had worn a "dress suit." If he has one today it is safe to wager he bought it and uses it under protest. More than one function of state he has avoided because he hated to dress up and because he was not freakish enough in his tastes to wish to be conspicuous for unconventionality.

Lincoln was a man of broad sympathies, of democratic notions—a man of the people. Sherman is markedly so. He has the winning drollery, the dry, keen humor and the story telling habit for which Lincoln was famous. Sherman's stories, like Lincoln's, are not spun to kill time, but to point a moral, to enforce an argument or to reveal some phase of human nature that one needs to know in order to deal rightly with a human problem.

Sherman is a native of Miami county, O. He was born in 1858. Less than a year later he was taken to Illinois by his parents.

When he became sixteen this homely and almost alarmingly smart boy went to work on his father's acres, and for three or four years all the schooling he had was acquired under his own direction from books.

One summer he gathered together, as his earnings for helping his neighbors thrash their wheat, what was to him a big sum. He disgusted some of his acquaintances by spending the whole hoard for books, one of which was a dry looking document called "The Revised Statutes of Illinois, 1874."

A little later he was a student of law in McKendree college and was graduated in 1882. The budding lawyer started from Jasper to McDonough county with a load of apples gathered from his father's orchard. He sold these in Macomb from a one horse wagon. He carried the fruit downstairs in baskets and poured it around cellar floors. He set his hand to other humble tasks, and with a little change ahead he entered the law office of Judge Damon G. Tunnicliffe.

A little later he was elected city attorney of Macomb. In a very few years he became one of the leading attorneys of central Illinois. He was elected to the Illinois house of representatives in 1896.

Sherman served two sessions as speaker of the Illinois house of representatives. In 1904 he was elected lieutenant governor.

The Lord's Supper will be observed at Hope chapel Sunday night.

MOUNTED POLICE.

New York Traffic Squad Members Display Daring Horsemanship.

New York's squad of 200 or more mounted policemen are an important adjunct to the police force of the great city, which numbers some 10,000. While the squad's chief work is perhaps the traffic duty which they perform in the crowded thoroughfares, the members also do valuable service in patrolling the public parks.

Just as the traffic squad prevents congestion in the streets, so does it police the parks as no infantry force possibly could do. More than one runaway has been stopped by a mounted policeman on the bridle paths of the parks and drives, and a number of sensational rescues have been recorded.

The horses for the mounted squad are specially selected and are immaculately groomed. Their sleek flanks and skin as soft as a woman's glove are continual objects of admiration by the crowds that throng the parks almost daily. Some of the riders amuse the spectators with the various feats, although such performances are not strictly within the rules of the department.

Patent Curvers For Baseball Pitchers.

R. W. Jones of Lincoln, Neb., has just received a patent for a device which he calls a "baseball curver." This consists of a vacuum cup held in position by a band to fit the finger or in a size to fit two or more fingers in order that it may be shifted or adjusted to any position in relation to the fingers. The pitcher may adjust it as he likes in order to impart a whirling motion to the baseball, which he can regulate as he pleases with a very little practice. The illustration shows the apparatus attached to a hand holding a ball.

OFFERS FINDER $200 FOR RETURN OF RING

Stopping at Delisles Inn, at Allaire, on their return from Atlantic City last week when they enjoyed a several day's trip with friends in their big touring car, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Maltby, of Putnam avenue, suffered a loss. While in the wash room of the hotel, Mrs. Maltby removed a large sapphire and diamond ring from one of her fingers and forgot all about it until after they had left the Inn. The ring was particularly valuable and its owner at once had a search started. The result being futile, she has inserted the following advertisement in the personal columns of the New York Herald:

IN WOMAN'S REALM

TOUCHES OF FASHION.

Taffeta Bathing Suits Are Favorites This Season.

Bathing suits are made of taffeta in dark color set off by plaid bandings, collars and cuffs of terry cloth and loose panels and panel effects.

Scalloping is a furor. Every kind of material is finished in this way. There are actually immense scallops about the feet.

Thin black lace was used on a white agaric with "buff" agaric embroidery.

The flounce near the knee or a lace banding slightly fulled is one of the important points in this season's trimming. The skirt is generally fulled in a little, and the flounce runs up in front quite noticeably.

LINEN SUIT IN NORFOLK STYLE.

The linen suit made in Norfolk style is one of the fashionable models of the season, and a very satisfactory one it is for a summer traveling costume.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

These May Manton patterns are cut in sizes for the coat from 34 to 40 inches bust measure and for the skirt from 22 to 32 inches waist measure. Send 10 cents each for these patterns to this office, giving numbers, coat 7487 and for the three piece skirt 7440A, and they will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp. When ordering use coupon.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

LAMB CUTLETS.

WHEN you have bought a leg of lamb which is rather larger than you care to roast have the butcher slice cutlets about a half inch thick off the upper part. These may be served in several ways.

Cutlets With Dressing.—Take two pounds of cutlets and make a dressing as follows: Use one cupful of cream, one tablespoonful of onion juice, four tablespoonfuls of butter, one tablespoonful of flour, two eggs, the yolks of four more, two tablespoonfuls of finely chopped ham, one tablespoonful of lemon juice and salt and pepper to taste.

Fry Them Carefully.

Into a frying pan put two tablespoonfuls of butter and when the butter is hot put in the cutlets, which have been seasoned with salt and pepper. Let fry gently for five minutes and set away to cool. Put the rest of the butter in the frying pan and when hot stir in flour and cook for a minute, being careful not to allow it to brown, after which stir in the cream. Have the ham, the yolks of eggs, the onion and the lemon juice beaten together. Stir into the boiling sauce for about a minute and remove from the fire. Season with salt and pepper. Next dip the cutlets in the dressing, carefully covering them, and set away to cool. When cold dip them in beaten egg and breadcrumbs and fry in boiling fat for one or two minutes, as desired.

Well Seasoned.

Fricasseed Cutlets.—Cut and trim the cutlets and put them into a saucepan and cover with equal quantities of milk and water, the yellow rind of a lemon, a teaspoonful of salt, half a teaspoonful of white pepper and a small blade of mace. Let all stew slowly for half an hour. Then strain the liquid and set in another saucepan with half a pint of good veal gravy, which must be hot; add a gill of mushrooms, a gill of cream and seasonings to taste. Shake all over the fire till thoroughly hot and the mushrooms are tender. Arrange the cutlets in a circle on a hot dish with the mushrooms in the center, and strain the sauce over them. Garnish with parsley and thin slices of lemon.

Combined With Vegetables.

Cutlets With Stuffed Tomatoes.—Cut some large tomatoes in half, take out the seeds and fill with this mixture: Chop two ounces of suet finely, add four ounces of fine breadcrumbs, a little chopped onion and parsley and season all with pepper and salt. Mix the seasoning nicely, press it firmly into the center of each tomato and arrange carefully in a stewpan. Pour round half a pint of good gravy and simmer for a quarter of an hour. Meanwhile trim the cutlets, rub them with butter and grill over a clear fire. Make the cutlets stand up nicely in the center of the dish, arrange the tomatoes at the sides and over all pour the gravy.

MOTHERS' WORK

Conducted by the Plainfield Mothers' Association.
Every Thursday

Contributing Staff.
Mrs. G. Stuart Simons, Mrs. Jos. Smith, Mrs. Wm. M. Sandford, Jr.

The Daily Press for Thursdays containing the column on Mother's Work will be sent by mail for one dollar a year, in advance.

Newell Dwight Hillis, D. D., in an article on the Growth of Democracy says, "This year, 1912, has brought to the United States an educational commission from England. Think of it! The country of John Milton going to school to the Republic! This year has brought commissions from Italy, Germany, Russia, Japan and China. Our people should celebrate this Independance Day with peculiar ardor and enthusiasm, for the time has come when America is the educator of all the world in liberty and free institutions."

Now that the "dog days" are with us let us look at the facts regarding them and do what we can to prevent the annual attack of hysteria, which inflicts needless cruelty on the dogs and often irritates them into a viciousness that would not otherwise develope.

The Romans called the very hot days of July and August Dies Canis, the days of the dog, meaning the dog star Sirius, which is closest to the earth at this time. The term "dog days" has nothing to do with terrestrial curs. Dogs do not go mad more at this time than at other seasons of the year. The records show that hydrophobia is a little more common in spring than in summer.

Our playgrounds are open for the summer and it is expected that the mothers of Plainfield appreciate them. But we should not leave too much to be taken for granted. Go to the playgrounds now and then and show your appreciation to the teacher in charge. Incidentally you will learn a few things about your own children and how to keep them busy and interested. See that your children go to the play grounds. They may have other places to play but there is a great deal in example. If your children go some one is sure to follow them. All children are "copy-cats."

New Candle Shades.

Because they can be lined with asbestos, which protects them from igniting with the flame of a candle or a lamp, exceedingly pretty little shades of cardboard are being extensively used. These shades are hand painted in colors in stained glass effects as well as in a host of floral and conventional patterns or the four sides are divided into panels and decorated with card suits. The cardboard shades which come already decorated are even more attractive than are the homemade varieties, because they show landscape and characteristic scenes in Japanese hand painting. Next in favor to these asbestos lined shades are the ones of copper or Damascus brass, pierced in wicker.

Novel Dress Trimmings.

For use with the rich beaded embroideries which are seen on the smartest frocks there are wonderful novelties in buttons studded with rhinestones and colored crystal stones imitating jewels. Hand painted porcelain buttons are other interesting novelties.

As to the shapes of the buttons, they are flat, slightly convex or concave, of deep saucer shape and the always popular ball variety. One of the chief novelties in shape is the square shaped button with rounded corners.

The Key.

"And where, my fellow citizens," appealed the political speaker, "can we find an instrument so fit, so delicate, so adjustable and at the same time so unassuming and popular that it will unlock every department of state for the benefit of the people?"

"The hairpin!" shrieked an enthusiastic suffragist in the audience.

A USEFUL ADJUNCT TO THE SUMMER VACATION OUTFIT.

SUMMER LOUNGING CHAIR.

SUMMER ease is suggested by the pretty damsel in the steamer chair. One of these chairs may be packed with the luggage when one goes away for a vacation and will insure individual comfort when hammocks are not available. The wide outing hat hung on the chair is just the thing for the summer in camp or for the maid or matron who cares more for comfort than elegance. The white linen outing dress is adorned with a simple pattern in the new punched embroidery.

HOT WEATHER CLOTHES.

Attractive Garments In Washable Fabrics For All Occasions.

Never before has the so called tub frock appeared in so many attractive guises. Washable fabrics are made up for morning wear, for afternoon functions and in the elaborate lingerie creations suitable for evening toilettes. The smart woman provides herself with an ample supply of these, consisting of the simplest one piece linen morning frocks, tailored linen coat and skirt suits and dressier afternoon frocks of linen that still are simple in style.

The simple one piece frock of linen owes its modishness to cut and finish and color and to some original note in cravat collar rather than to trimming.

EMBROIDERED AFTERNOON GOWN.

Such frocks, easily washed and comfortable with turndown collar, trim because bodice and skirt are joined at the waist, even though a belt may be worn, are the ideal summer morning attire.

Where linen is too warm there are plenty of lighter cottons which may take its place, and never was there a season when more modish little tub frocks were offered ready made at low prices.

The finer grades of toweling are much used for tailored tub suits and for trimming cotton stuffs. The cotton corduroys and various corded materials on the order of pique are having a tremendous vogue.

Plain mannish shirt waists of linen, fine linon, etc., are always correct for outing and morning wear, but there are many attractive blouses, severely simple, but very fine in material, and made with turn away collar and shortened sleeves, which are comfortable for tennis, golf, etc., and look well with the cotton corduroy or pique skirt.

Norfolk suits of toweling or of lightweight woolens are exceedingly popular with girls for general rough and ready wear.

The handsome embroidered gown illustrated here is suitable for wear at a garden party or any afternoon function.

For the Face.

Be careful to use the purest benzoin in toilet creams. To test it put some in water. If pure it will turn the water white as milk.

HOME HYGIENE.

Simple Suggestions For Preserving the Health.

When suffering from indigestion drink a cup of hot water and at once lie on the right side. This will promote the passage of the food from the stomach into the intestine.

Egg yolk nourishes the nervous system. It contains lecithin, an essential to all nerve substance. This lecithin can be purchased in the extracted form. It is said that children and young animals fed with lecithin grow more rapidly.

It is best for your system to drink tea and coffee warm, but not hot. Drinking it hot weakens the inside organs—causes weak stomachs and other ailments. To be healthy take your drinks of the same temperature as your system.

Watercress is powerfully medicinal. It contains a volatile oil, the sulphocyanide of allyl; also iodine, iron, some sugar, starch and phosphates. It is useful in scrofula, gout, rheumatism, acne and all other conditions brought about by blood disorder.

Physiologists are all agreed that fish is one of the foods most fully absorbed. Not only is this the case, but the nutriment it contains will bear comparison with that in any other flesh food. It is difficult to grade fish as to their relative nutritiousness, but the following is a fairly accurate guide: Herring, eels, salmon, salt cod, mackerel, halibut, red mullet, plaice, sole.

Nuts have a high food value, but most people make the mistake of eating them after a meal, when they give them indigestion. Nuts are meat. Peanuts, almonds, English walnuts, hazel and hickory nuts are all delicious and can be used in a variety of ways—sprinkled over lettuce as a salad, used with rice or with bread in the form of sandwiches, while peanut butter and peanut meal can be used in a variety of ways in a household's planning.

A Nourishing Puree.

A nice way of making a carrot puree is to take three carrots, three potatoes, a couple of onions and three or four stalks of celery. Cut these up after the potatoes and carrots have been pared. Put some beef drippings or butter in the frying pan and fry until brown. Then boil the vegetables until tender and press through a sieve. Heat a pint of white stock and thicken it with a tablespoonful of flour. Add to this the vegetables, which should have been placed on the stove to keep warm after straining. Season with salt and pepper, two cloves, two tablespoonfuls of minced parsley and a tablespoonful of butter. After the vegetables are in the stock must be brought to a boil. Serve with croutons. If you wish to economize in making any of the purees, substitute a little water for part of the stock, milk or cream indicated.

Sofa Pillows.

When making sofa pillow covers for everyday use get plain, serviceable material (checked gingham serves very nicely) and trace some simple design upon it. Thread your sewing machine with some bright colored thread and stitch the design several times, following the outline as closely as possible. You will have a really pretty pillow cover with the expenditure of little time or labor. Stand covers, dresser or table scarfs and other articles of household use may be treated in the same way.

J. HERVEY DOANE AS FREEHOLDER CANDIDATE

Record of a Plainfielder Who Seeks Place on the New Board.

The new Board of Freeholders to be chosen in November will consist of seven members, electd at large in the county. The present board is composed of twenty members, elected by the different municipalities. J. Hervey Doane was first elected freholder in 1906, and will have served three consecutive terms when the present board goes out of existence. One of his first official acts affecting Plainfield was the introduction of a resolution recommending the adoption of Terrill road as a county road under the State Aid Act. He having smoothed the way, the recommendation was unanimously adopted, and subsequently the road was paved with Amiesite from East Front street to Two Bridges. Thus Plainfield secured its first county road. It is one of the best in the State and a thoroughfare for automobiles from Rahway to Plainfield.

Mr. Doane was active in securing the appropriation to build the beautiful new Washington avenue bridge, and worked persistently for two or three years with the Somerset county board, urging the removal of the unsightly and unsafe old structure and replacing it with the substantial one now spanning Green Brook near the Park Club. He was chairman of the bridge committee and protected the public interests in the construction of this bridge.

Mr. Doane has been actively concerned in the management of the County Jail. As a member of the jail committee, he has from time to time suggested reforms in the treatment of prisoners, many of which he has seen carried out. He is in favor of putting the prisoners to work on the roads, or on a farm, that they may be able to earn a little money to support their families during their term, and at the end, feeling strong to face the world, that they may be restored as safe members to society. He has been instrumental in distributing the trade in supplies for the jail and other county institutions among the merchants in different parts of the county, to the mutual advantage of the private dealers and the public customer.

Mr. Doane is chairman of the Soldiers' Monument committee whose duty it is to mark all graves of soldiers in the county and to see that they are suitably decorated on Memorial Day. A complete list of the dead heroes lying in our different cemeteries has been compiled by this committee and all graves marked, so that future generations will have no trouble in locating them.

He is also chairman of the committee in charge of the erection of Bonnie Burn Sanitarium for the prevention and cure of tuberculosis. To his humanitarian mind, it was essential that the site for this beneficient institution should be in a high altitude, and not at close quarters with other habitations. Through his efforts, zealously pursued, the present beautiful site in the Washington Valley was selected.

BITTEN THROUGH HAND WHILE SEPARATING DOGS

Dover, July 11.—While separating his two Boston bulldogs, who were engaged in a fight Sunday night, Charles W. Donohue, of Pine street, was bitten in the palm of his left hand. Mr. Donohue says it was a case of mistaken identity.

In the earlier hours of the afternoon Wesley, Mr. Donohue's oldest son, in company with a neighbor's boy, had been playing tricks on Sandy, who is a playful dog, especially with the children. The boys had fastened a stick over his head and back to the end of which was a bone dangling from a string. The boys enjoyed the sport of watching Sandy chase the bone. While trying to catch the morsel Sandy passed the kennel of Pebble, who is inclined to be vicious at times, and a fight ensued.

Mr. Donohue, assisted by his wife, spent a half-hour in an endeavor to separate the dogs, and had about succeeded when the younger dog made a lunge for Sandy, whom Mr. Donohue had under his arm. The latter snapped back, catching his owner's hand and sinking his big teeth almost through the palm. Mr. Donohue dressed the wound and thought nothing serious would result from it. The hand pained him considerably and yesterday he visited a local physician and had the wound cauterized.

PISCATAWAY TAX RATE.

The removal of about 150,000 tons of coal from the storage grounds at South Plainfield in Piscataway township in Middlesex county, has caused the tax rate of the township to be raised twenty points over last year's rate, which was 1.56. These figures, although not final, were given by George Coriell, assessor of the township. The tax on the coal stored in the township limits amounted to $4,000 last year but this year the tax cannot be collected as the coal has been removed during the winter when there was danger of a coal strike.

PREPARE GETTYSBURG CAMP SITE FOR THE N. G.

Gettysburg, Pa., July 10.—All work in preparation for the coming national guard encampment has been going on rapidly during the last two weeks. The wheat is all cut and the land made ready in general. Major Rausch has been on the ground for some time supervising the work, and under his direction everything will be in readiness when the citizen soldiers arrive in about ten days.

A few of the tents have already been pitched, so that the place is beginning to take on the looks of a camp. An artesian well of great depth has been sunk, which will furnish a bountiful supply of good pure water. Changes in the position of several of the commands have been made, bringing them closer to town. The location of the parade ground has also been changed, but the new site is equally as desirable as the one originally selected.

The whole camp will be on ground not heretofore used for this purpose. Lying to the west of the town it gives a magnificent view of the great scenery looking toward the Blue Ridge mountains, one of the finest of the many beautiful landscapes around Gettysburg.

Governor Tener will spend most of the week in camp. It is also rumored that Woodrow Wilson, Democratic candidate for president, will pay a visit here during the time that the N. G. N. J. will be here.

BILLION DOLLAR MARK PASSED BY THE B. & L.

Atlantic City, July 11—Assets of building and loan associations throughout the United States passed the billion dollar mark during the past year acording to statistics submitted to the twentieth annual convention of the Unite States League of Building and Loan Associations at the Hotel Strand Tuesday in the report of National Secretary H. F. Cellarius, of Cincinatti.

The growth of the associations of the country during the year has been nearly one hundred million dollars, the largest increase ever recorded in a single twelve months. Upward of a thousand delegates and guests were present when the national convention was called to order.

The comprehensive statement of Secretary Cellarius showed that there are in the United States a total of 6,099 associations, an increase of 230 for the year. The membership increased from 2,169,893 in 1910 to 2,232,839 during the last year, a net increase of 162,946.

The aggregate assets are now $1,030,031, an increase for the year of $89,819,955, or more than 10 per cent. The annual receipts of the societies has increased from $412,912 in 1902 to $768,185,132 in 1911.

Mr. and Mrs. aDniel F. Ginna, of Watchung avenue, are on their way to Europe, where they will spend the summer in travel.

MILLIONAIRE'S SON'S BODY STILL UNCLAIMED

"T. Stuart Sherwood," Inmate of Self Masters' Colony, to be Buried Today.

The body of "T. Stewart Sherwood," who died in the General hospital at Elizabeth Saturday night, he having been sent to that institution from the Self-masters' Colony at Union, is still at Martin's morgue waiting to be claimed. Mr. Martin said yesterday that he probably would bury the body this afternoon if it was not claimed.

"Sherwood" went to the Union colony eight months ago. He claimed that his mother was the daughter of a millionaire and that he had "struck out" for himself after he "received the worst of a money deal." All efforts to get the man to tell more of his life story were unsuccessful, all inquiries in neighboring cities having been fruitless.

"Sherwood" was often observed composing verses. Two poems, supposed to have been of his writing, were found scribbled on bits of paper in his clothing when the body was taken to the morgue. One is entitled "The Latch of His Father's House," and the other, "Nearer, Still Nearer."

AMERICANS TRAIL ENGLISH RUNNER

Big Disappointment In Result of 1,500 Meter Race.

JACKSON FINISHES FIRST

Sting of Defeat is Softened When Pat McDonald, Big New York Policeman Breaks Record For Putting the Shot Uncle Sam Has Underestimated Other Athletes.

Stockholm, July 11.—The defeat of America's great runners in the 1,500 meter final by A. N. S. Jackson of Oxford university was the feature of the fourth day of the Olympic meet.

A sweep for America was confidently looked for in this event, and when the Englishman headed Kiviat and Taber at the finish there was gloom in the camp, which even the landing of all three places in the shot put could not entirely dispel.

Even in the shot put there was a big surprise, though it did not affect in the scoring for America. The event had been by general consent conceded in advance to the Los Angeles giant; but, though scarcely a David in size, Pat McDonald, the modest New York policeman, metaphorically slew the Goliath of the shot putting world and finished in first place, making the new Olympic record of 50 feet 4 inches. Rose was only the extra four inches behind, and third place fell to L. A. Whitney of the Boston Athletic association, another of the supplementary men who justified his making the trip to Sweden on his own book.

Finnish Athlete Wins.

In the 5,000 meter finals the Americans realized that there was strong opposition in the Finnish and French contestants, and this was proved in the race when Kolehmainen of Finland finished first and Bouin of France second. The shock for America came when George Bonhag was beaten out at the tape by Hutsan of England for third place. As in the 1,500 meters, the winner of the 5,000 was forced to run in Olympic record time, the figures of 14 minutes 36 3-5 seconds constituting also a new world's record.

There was some consolation for the defeat of the American distance runners in the grand showing made by the sprinters and pole vaulters. In the preliminary heats of the 200 meter race there were eighteen heats, and in eight of them Americans flashed by the judges first. This percentage was well maintained in the semifinal contests, and all but two were won by the speedy sprinters from America. Ralph Craig, who has already placed the 100 meters to the credit of America, is in line for another victory, as he won the first semifinal heat. Others meeting with success were Donald B. Young, Boston Athletic association; Donald F. Lippincott, University of Pennsylvania, and Charles D. Reidpath of Syracuse university. The only men to contend with the Americans in the final are W. R. Applegarth of England and R. Rau, the German sprinter.

As a result of the trials in the pole vault there is an overwhelming preponderance of American talent to compete in the final test. No less than eight men carried the United States shield over the twelve feet that earned them places with the representatives of three other nations. These men were Frank T. Nelson, formerly of Yale university; Frank D. Murphy, University of Illinois; Harry S. Babcock, Columbia university; Marc S. Wright, Dartmouth college; C. B. Dukes, New York Athletic club; S. H. Behah, Multnomah Athletic club, Portland, Ore.; Frank J. Coyle University of Chicago and W. H. Tritz, Cornell.

Duke Kahanamoku, the Hawaiian, captured the first swimming race for America when he won the final of the 100 meter race from Healy of Australia, with Huragh of Chicago in third place. The duke's time of 1 minute 3 2-5 seconds beats the previous Olympic record, but he swam the distance even faster in his trial and semifinal heats.

Americans Too Confident.

Results of the races provided two lessons for the Americans, both of which the managers of the team have taken to heart. It his proved that the confidence which led to the expectations of practically a clean sweep in all the important events was begotten without due consideration of the character of the opposition to be met.

Some of the Americans' admirers say that the 1,500 meter race was handed to Jackson on a platter. He was underrated by the Americans who were concerned in running the race, each with the idea of winning glory for himself. With this idea in view, Jones, Taber, Kiviat and Sheppard all feared to set the pace as they thought that the one that made the running would be at a disadvantage when it came to the final sprint. Each of the Americans depended on his own speed to win out in the final dash for the tape. When that final dash came the unconsidered Britishers came through with the best sprint of all and snatched the victory away from America.

Jackson came to call on the Americans and admitted that he ran himself out in the race.

America is keeping a slight lead over the athletes from Sweden in the Olympic games but are not having their expected walkover.

Platt and Ben Adams, who formerly played on the local Y. M. C. A. baseball nine, are two of the most popular men in Stockholm.

They are not only confined to athletics but both are singing on the Yankee quartet which was formed on the way over.

To give the Europeans an opportunity to witness a real ball game, Manager Halpin has arranged for a baseball game to be played after the games are over, between two picked teams from the East and the West.

On the nine representing the East Platt will cavort around third base, while Ben will cover the first bag. Platt may also take a turn in the pitcher's box.

The surprise event in the Olympics yesterday turned out to be the 1,500 meter run.

A. N. S. Jackson, of Oxford College, outran John Paul Jones, the conceded victor, and Kiviat, Taber, Sheppard and other stars.

After winning the event the young Englishman collapsed at the finish and physicians worked over him for more than half an hour before he was able to stand.

Richie was the cause of the Giants downfall in the second game of the Chicago series yesterday.

He allowed but five bingles and not a New York player got by the first station.

Manager Wolverton of the Yankees, has decided to give Jack Martin, the local lad, who has been holding down the short stop position for the New York team, a rest and is using Dowd, his new acquisition to fill in.

Martin's spiked foot has not been healing as fast as was at first hoped and Wolverton thinks a short rest will put him back in first class shape.

The short stop position seems to have fallen into the hands of a coming star and Martin will have to go the limit in order to retain his hold.

He was compared favorably with Owie Bush by those who saw him in action yesterday.

JUNIOR BALL LEAGUE FOR THE PARKER FIELD

Big Leagues Clubs Names Taken for Nines—Games Start Monday.

A junior baseball team was organized at Parker Field this morning, consisting of four teams headed by Douglas Henderson, Arthur Kyle, Benjamin Rosenson and William Harper respectively. The nines have been named after four of the best aggregations in the big leagues, and will begin hostilities on Parker Field Monday morning at 9:30. After the opening game the schedule will call for a regular series of contests to be played on Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays of each week at 9:30. The major league organizations honored by the leaders of these four nines are Chicago, Pittsburgh, New York and Philadelphia Athletics. The games will all be played in the morning so as not to inconvience the large number of fellows that have paper routes and home duties to look after in the afternoon.

Charles R. Bostwick, the field director, has also organized a Parker Field Athletic Association similar to those now in use in the local high schools. Any fellow may become a regular member of the association and will be entitled to compete in track meets and other athletic affairs held under the auspices of the playground commission. It is planned to hold a junior field and track meet twice every week and only members of this association will be allowed to compete. An election of officers will take place in the near future and the organization will then take on the appearance of a flourishing club to promote athletics.

NEW YORK'S OLYMPIANS WON'T LOSE THEIR PAY

New York, July 11—New York city employees who are members of the American team competing in the Olympic games will not have to sacrifice their salaries by reason of their absence abroad. The Board of Alderman Tuesday by resolution awarded the athletes on the city payrolls their usual pay while away with the team, for a period not exceeding two months.

The athletes thus favored are Patrick McDonald, Mathew McGrath, Egon Erickson, John J. Eller, Jr., and Simon Gillis, of the police department; George V. Bonhag, of the department of water supply, and John Dietz, employed in the Seventy-first Regiment armory.

SCOTTISH TRACK MEET HERE ON AUGUST 17

Clan Mackenzie, Order of Scottish, headed by Robert Murray, will introduce a novelty in this city on August 17, in the shape of a Scottish track meet. No definite arrangements have as yet been completed for the affair, but it is planned to schedule typical Scottish events and the meet will afford a unique afternoon's entertainment. The Highlander's will appear dressed in kilts and will parade through the streets in costume previous to the meet on Parker Field.

Rehearsals will begin within the next week both on Mr. Murray's lawn and at the playground and those in charge are desirious of securing as many of Plainfield's young people as possible to take part in the affair. The meet will be open to all nationalities and there will be a program of events which can be easily mastered with a little practise.

The committee in charge will meet with members of the playground commission tomorrow and final details will be drawn up for the attraction.

DAVID DRISCOLL SIGNS SLOCUM AS A PITCHER

When Dave Driscoll invades New Brunswick with a team of nine fast ball players to revive the game in that city, he will in all probability have Louis Slocum, the Plainfield phenom, on the firing line. The local twirler is in receipt of a flattering offer from the New Brunswick manager, and when seen yesterday said he would accept it. Driscoll made an effort to sign up Walter Nelson to receive Slocum's shoots, but the New Market backstop does not play Sunday ball and Driscoll has secured one Lee, who is proclaimed a wonder behind the bat.

Slocum will continue to play Saturday ball with the Bound Brook aggregation but will turn his Sunday attention exclusively to the Brunswick nine. He has heretofore borne the burden of the Scotch Plains box work on Sundays and Frederickson will probably succeed him there.

Driscoll has not announced his opponents for the first game but is communicating with several fast semi-professional nines and says he will stage a star attraction. The New Brunswick combination will take the field with the following lineup: Slocum, p.; Lee, c.; Driscoll, 1b.; W. Stallings, 2b.; Emery, ss.; Dalton, 3b.; E. Stallings, lf.; Harter, cf.; Cosgrove, rf.

GOLF SCORES.

Martin J. O'Loughlin, the crack professional golf player of the Plainfield Country Club, finished in thirteenth place in the first day's play of the National Golf Association open championship held at Rye, yesterday. O'Loughlin turned in a score of 162, with rounds of 79 and 83. Herbert Strong, of the home club, led the field with a card of 73 and 74 for a total of 147.

ASSEMBLYMAN OTTO WANTS ANOTHER JOB

Elizabeth, July 11.—An announcement in political circles today was that Assemblyman George C. Otto is being urged by Republican leaders to become a candidate for surrogate to succeed George T. Parrot, who has held the office twenty-five years.

It is understood that Mr. Parrot following his custom of a quarter of a century will be a candidate for renomination, but there is certain to be vigorous opposition to him, it is said. The Democratic candidates for surrogate mentioned so far are Assistant Attorney Joseph T. Hague, of Elizabeth, and Fred C. Hyer, of Rahway. Leroy Gibbey, of Summit, may enter the race. The office pays $6,500 a year for a term of five years.

FUNERAL OF MRS. MUMFORD.

The funeral service of Mrs. Clara McKinley Mumford, wife of Thomas J. Mumford, will be held at the late residence, on West Ninth street, tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. Rev. John G. Currier, curate of Grace church, of which Mrs. Mumford was an active member, will officiate. The burial will be in Harrisburg cemetery, Harrisburg, Pa., Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

THE NOMINEES

The work is over, the deed is done! In Chicago they steam-rollered the Republican candidate on one ballot.
But down in Baltimore, it took 46 rounds before "Wilson, that's all" was billbryaned into first place.
In August there'll be another convention, but in the meantime, let's consider the convention of Reduced Suits now being held in my "Temple of Wearables."

ELECTORS WORRY TAFT MANAGERS

At Least 100 T. R. Men on Regular Ticket.

WILL NOT VOTE FOR TAFT

Problem Is Facer For Men Who Are Running the President's Campaign. Senator Gamble of South Dakota Says Roosevelt Program There Is "Steal."

Washington, July 11.—The problem of presidential electors is causing the managers of President Taft's campaign no little worry. They realize that Mr. Roosevelt is hoping for success by the manipulation of these electors.

"Thou shalt not steal" is one of the commandments often quoted these days at Oyster Bay. It is apparent now that the same commandment is to be hurled at Roosevelt by the Taft people, who are getting ready to accuse him of planning to "steal" the election through preventing a fair selection of electors in many of the states. This question of electors is really assuming alarming proportions for the Taft people.

All told, there are close to 100 men who are Roosevelt men but whose names will be on the regular Republican tickets. Many of these electors have said flatly that they would vote for Roosevelt, and most of the others are leaning toward that course of action.

This situation means that President Taft either has got to run his chances by accepting the Roosevelt electors nominated by regular Republican state organizations or else he will have to put another set of electors in the field. Several very serious conferences were held at the White House in regard to the growing mixup over Republican electors. The conferences related chiefly to Kansas, South Dakota, Pennsylvania, California, West Virginia and other states in which the confusion has already developed or is imminent.

Among those who talked with National Chairman Hilles were Representatives Burke of South Dakota, Moore of Pennsylvania and Campbell of Kansas. After a White House conference Representative Burke said, "The cardinal plank in the Roosevelt platform is 'Thou shalt not steal,' but in South Dakota the third party people have already proceeded to attempt to steal the Republican electoral vote of the state."

Big Fight on In Kansas.

Senator Gamble of South Dakota, who also called at the White House, denounced the Roosevelt program in South Dakota as a steal. President Taft has sent out a call to his friends in Kansas, who are working like beavers to carry the primaries on Aug. 6. The Taft Republicans have put up a ticket of electors and hope to be able to carry them over the Roosevelt electors.

Representative Moore of Pennsylvania had this to say in regard to the situation in that state: "If there are to be separate tickets for electors Republican congressional candidates may suffer in the states affected. We cannot fully comprehend this situation until the Roosevelt party program is announced. In Pennsylvania we now have the assurance of the Republican state chairman, Mr. Wasson, that regularly nominated congressional candidates are not to be interfered with by the third party, but that every effort will be made to uphold those Republican nominees whose records upon the tariff are all right."

Mr. Wasson has proposed that a separate set of Taft electors be put in the field in Pennsylvania. Chairman Hilles of the Republican national committee and his advisers hope to settle on a definite plan of campaign in regard to the electors at their meeting in New York on July 19.

MIDGET REAL ESTATE DEAL.

Man Acquires One-vigitillionth of an Inch, Enough to Cloud Title.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 11.—Though it cost Owen S. Gorham fees for his attorney and the cost of filing a suit, he acquired one-vigitillionth of an inch of property purchased by M. V. Truesdell in 1894. At a tax sale Gorham quieted title to it in Judge Houser's court.

In 1894, prior to Gorham's ownership, certain property in Gardenia was sold for delinquent taxes. The law provided that a purchaser could take as much of the property as would recompense him for paying the tax. Truesdell paid $13 and was given the one-vigitillionth of an inch across the front of the property. This amount of land is sufficient to put a cloud on the title.

$150,000 Fire In Boston.

Boston, July 11.—Fire which threatened to sweep the East Boston water front destroyed the buildings of the George W. McQuesten Lumber company and the Suffolk Coal company and caused a loss estimated at $150,000. A large amount of valuable lumber and hundreds of tons of coal were burned.

Kaiser Off on Annual Cruise.

Swinemuende, Germany, July 11.—Emperor William left this port on board the imperial yacht Hohenzollern for his annual cruise in Norwegian waters.

—Nell—"Why does she always dress in black?" Belle—"She's in training." Nell—"Training for what?" Belle—"Well, you see, she married an octogenarian."

SENATOR LORIMER.

Will Likely Know His Fate Before End of the Week.

JONES PLEADS SIX HOURS FOR LORIMER

Vote Expected In Senate Before End of Week.

Washington, July 11.—Senator Jones of Washington, one of President Taft's political supporters, declared in the senate that the president had been influenced to oppose Lorimer and that in so doing he had made a mistake.

"The opposition to Senator Lorimer enlisted the aid of the president," said Senator Jones, "and the president spoke to a number of senators against Lorimer. I have great admiration for President Taft, but this yielding on his part to popular clamor is one blot on his record that cannot be effaced."

Ex-President Roosevelt had been criticised repeatedly heretofore in the debate on the Lorimer case. Senator Fletcher of Florida condemned severely the refusal of Roosevelt to sit at dinner at the Hamilton club in Chicago if Mr. Lorimer attended.

The senator from Washington took the floor when the senate met and occupied it for six hours. He defended Senator Lorimer's title to his seat. Mr. Jones was severe in his criticism of the senators who are opposing Lorimer, declaring that they are being swayed by popular clamor. Senator Jones' constant repetition of this charge against his colleagues brought a protest from Senator Smith of Michigan. Senator Bailey opposed this, while Senator Crawford of South Dakota spoke in support of Senator Borah's contention.

Senator Johnston of Alabama, a Democrat who served on the investigating committee and joined in the majority report exonerating Senator Lorimer, was the other speaker in favor of Mr. Lorimer.

It developes that there are no more senators to be heard in defense of Mr. Lorimer, and the only other speech yet to come in his defense will be his own personal plea.

A vote will certainly be had before the end of the week and if necessary night sessions will be imposed, beginning tonight.

Miss Harriet Quimby's Will.

New York, July 11.—The will of Harriet Quimby, the aviator, who was killed near Boston July 1, was filed for probate here. Miss Quimby leaves an estate of less than $10,000 to her mother, Mrs. William Quimby. John A. Sleicher is made executor.

Water by Thimbleful.

Venice, Cal., July 11.—Bathers believed Miss Frances Wallace insane when she tried to sell water at 5 cents a thimbleful. After she was arrested it was learned the affair was a sorority initiation.

Printed Robes and Dress Patterns

WORTH $3 TO $5 AT ONLY $1.

Just think of it—one little round dollar for an attractive dress; seems incredible, but we'll prove it for you.

We try to see how good a lot of pattern dresses we could get together to sell at this uniform price, and we've succeeded beyond our expectations, and we know you'll be delighted to pick from these very pretty pattern dresses at the little price of $1.00

You may have read of school commencement graduates who were restricted to $1 dresses, or of the Women's Parade where the cost of gowns was limited to $1, and you may have pictured something very tawdry. But here we demonstrate that you can get materials of refinement and beauty that will need no apology, sufficient for a dress, at only $1.00

FORMER SENATOR MACKAY

Dead as Result of Heat Wave In New York City.

Former Senator William F. Mackay of Buffalo died of heat prostration in the Hotel Bristol, New York. His body was found at the time he was being called. When he failed to answer the phone some one was sent from the office, and it was learned he had died during the night.

ENGLAND MAY DELAY PANAMA CANAL BILL

Asks Time For Ambassador to Present Note.

Washington, July 11.—Great Britain has taken the step of asking that the pending bill for the operation of the Panama canal be held up until the British ambassador may present to this government a note on the question. It is rarely that any foreign government undertakes to forward any matter of international business by a request that may be regarded as interfering with the internal affairs of the United States. The gravity of the situation as viewed by Great Britain may be imagined from the manner and method taken to bring her attitude on the operation of the canal to the attention of this government.

It is not known just what the communication may be that is to be presented by the British ambassador. It is not supposed that there is any intention or desire on the part of Great Britain to delay action by congress on the canal, but yet the proposal for diplomatic consideration of the questions involved implies that there may be such a protracted discussion of the use of the canal as to postpone all legislation on the canal to another session.

SMITH'S T. R. VISIT.

Now Reported Commissioner of Corporations May Resign.

Washington, July 11.—The visit of Herbert Knox Smith, the commissioner of corporations, to Colonel Roosevelt has started a report here that he is about to resign, if he has not already done so. It is believed by some of Mr. Smith's colleagues in the department of commerce and labor that he has responded to the call of the wild and will be one of the active ones at the third party convention in Chicago.

When President Taft placed the responsibility for the failure to prosecute the harvester trust on Colonel Roosevelt by making public correspondence signed by Mr. Smith in his official capacity, Mr. Smith, it is said, with difficulty was restrained from making a statement which would have made it necessary for the president to remove him in the same manner that Gifford Pinchot was removed.

HOLDUP MAN ROBS 35.

Chicago Crook Tries to Kill Captor After Chase.

Chicago, July 11.—George Rogers, alias George Cook, an ex-convict, held up and robbed thirty-five patrons of the Boston saloon, in the heart of the business district.

He was captured after a desperate revolver battle in which he fired five shots in the face of a policeman without wounding the officer and was himself knocked senseless with a blackjack by his intended victim, Policeman Loeck, who unloosed his revolver and drove back the infuriated crowd which was threatening to kill the robber.

Advertising Pulls—It Doesn't Jerk

That is if it is put together rightly and placed in the right mediums. Under such conditions it is certain to influence your business to the betterment of it if you will only have the courage to "keep at it."

How did John Wanamaker and our other commercial kings build up their vast enterprises? Simply by good business ability and—Advertising constantly—keeping at it. You wouldn't apply a liniment with a feather would you, you rub it in—just the same with advertising, except that you keep on rubbing it in and the harder and longer you do the rubbing the greater the returns.

We once read in a country paper the following: "If you have a prosperous business, advertise and keep it—if not advertise and get it. If you can't find the necessary time to devote to advertising your business properly phone us. We have an expert who will put up your "Copy" that will bring sure results.

NEW CRUSADE BY MOTOR COMMISSIONER

That State Motor Vehicle Commissioner Job Lippincott will insist upon the strict enforcement of the New Jersey automobile law was further evidenced this week when the inspectors connected with his edpartment began a systematic investigation to ascertain if every person who operates a car in New Jersey is properly equipped with a driver's license, as required by the law.

Under the New York law a car owner there can operate his machine without a driver's license, but the professional chauffeur must have one. Under the provisions of the New Jersey reciprocity law New Yorkers are permitted in New Jersey for fifteen days under similar conditions. New Jersey's law, applied to its own citizens, is that every man who operates a car, whether owner or driver, must have a license. In the case of a New York owner who intends to operate here more than fifteen days, he must have a driver's license as well as a car license. Such a man often takes out a Jersey license for his car, but, it is said, frequently forgets to get a license for himself, although his chauffeur is thus equipped.

There has been some misunderstanding on the part of out-of-State motorists with regard to this clause, while some others, it is said, have violated the law knowingly. There is a fine of $250 provided for violations of this clause of the statute.

The practice of some Jerseymen who operate their cars with New York license tags and of New Yorkers, who, it is asserted, have long ago used up their fifteen days' touring privilege, but who are still running into this State, are also to receive attention. A case of a flagrant violation of the use of a New York tag is cited in the case of a Jersey City business concern, whose delivery wagon comes to Newark twice a week, and which never displays anything but a New York tag.

TRAIN VICTIM MAY DIE.

Elizabeth, July 11.—Mrs. Helen Ludwig, of Roselle Park, who was struck by a work train while walking along the Central Railroad tracks near Aldene Tuesday, is in a critical condition in the General Hospital. Mrs. Ludwig is suffering from concussion of the brain and her chances of recovery are said to be slight.

BURGLARS RANSACK HOUSE.

Elizabeth, July 11.—Burglars entered the home of Hudson Campbell, of 425 Jersey avenue, Tuesday night and secured valuables valued at $400. The articles taken included silverware, cut glass and jewelry, among which was a diamond brooch containing fifteen stones. Every room in the house was ransacked.

TOURISTS' 'LOG' ON THE "MERION"

Daily Press Girls Have Delightful Trip Across the Atlantic to Europe.

REPORT OF CHAPERONE

Miss Howard Gives an Interesting Description of How Her Wards Enjoyed Their Days on the Ocean—None Was Seasick.

Hundreds of friends of the six young women who are traveling in Europe as the guests of the Plainfield Daily Press, have inquired recently about the trip. The first direct communication from them arrived this morning, in a long letter from Miss Helen Howard, the chaperone, and in it she described the trip form the time they left Plainfield on Friday, June 21, until a short time before the ship docked last week.

Miss Howard describes in detail the experiences of the party on the afternoon of their arrival in Philadelphia, all of which has been told in the Press, and then gives an account of the ten days on the steamer. She says that not one of the tourists was seasick, and that all have enjoyed themselves to the limit. As a large number of readers of the Daily Press contributed to the pleasures of the trip, through assisting the young women by giving them subscriptions to this paper, the letter is here reproduced in full:

"On Saturday morning, June 22, after an early breakfast, we met our friends at eight o'clock, and we all went together in a large two-horse bus, with twelve others from Syracuse, to the pier. Here we were met by more friends. Among them Mr. Anderson, who took us aboard and introduced us to Captain Hill and—the bugle sounded. Then last farewells and a rush for places by the railing. A second bugle call and all visitors leave the boat, and in their turn, they rush for the dock. With cheers and flags waving we start on our way at 10:15. The dock was well filled. The light dresses and waving flags lent a charm to a picture which we shall long remember.

"We watched the pier till it faded from our view. Then to business to find our steamer chairs, to get rugs, also places at the dining table, and to inspect our rooms. We found our chairs all placed and ready to receive us in one of the best places on the deck. In the dining room we have a table all to ourselves, holding just six, near the port holes, nice and cool. We drew first table. Miss Agnes McWilliams keeps our table supplied with the loveliest flowers seen in the room. When all business was over we went on deck and rested for a short time. During this time we learned that the S. S. Merion carries 250 cabin and 950 steerage. There are only 200 of us on this trip and but 100 steerage. They are all in the back of the boat living in luxury and the front steerage deck is open to us. The young people and children use this deck for a gymnasium and playground. There are 23 life-boats swinging in sight. Enough to give our present company three or four seats apiece. The deck steward told us with pride that they had always carried this number of boats without any law to compel them so to do.

"The bugle called us to lunch long before we began to think of feeling hungry. After lunch we obtained steamer paper, envelopes and post cards of the Merion and began writing as fast as we could, to have our mail ready before the lighter returned. The boat was late in returning and we had a large supply ready for it. Dinner next, after which we gave ourselves up to pleasure. We walked, rested, and met some of our fellow passengers. My pedometer told me that it was ¼ of a mile around the deck. Later the steward verified the fact.

"The evening was delightful, moonlight charming, sea smooth as glass. We travelled 90 miles down the Delaware River today.

WATERMELON SOCIAL WITHOUT THE MELONS

The fact that there was not a watermelon to be found in Plainfield yesterday was disappointing to the Christian Endeavor Society of Warren chapel last night, when Alfred Everett of the society planned to give a treat in the shape of a watermelon social. It was learned that on Tuesday two carloads of melons were received here by dealers for general distribution, and soon afterward it was found that every melon was bad and therefore not fit to eat. The local commission merchant who received them was obliged to send them back to the New York wholesaler. In consequence there was not a melon in town yesterday.

Last night's event resolved itself into an ice cream festival. An informal program of games was also participated in by the Endeavorers.

R. B. TITSWORTH WEDS MISS FULLER ON TUESDAY

Invitations have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. Floyd D. Fuller, of Arlington avenue, to the marriage of their daughter, Miss Lulu Fuller, and Ralph Bentley Titsworth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis T. Titsworth, of West Fifth street. The wedding, which will be a small and quiet one, will take place Tuesday night, July 16, at 6.30 o'clock at the home of the bride-elect's parents.

Miss Fuller is a graduate of the Plainfield High School and Mt. Holyoke College. She is also a member of the Park Golf Club, being an enthusiastic golfer. She is an active member of the Congregational church, being interested in all the departments.

Mr. Titsworth is a graduate of the Plainfield High School and Rutgers College. He is a member of Chi Psi fraternity and is now the western contracting engineer with the McClintock Marshall Steel Construction Company with offices at Detroit, Michigan.

SUSPENDED SENTENCE FOR EXCISE VIOLATION

New Brunswick, July 12.—Egmont Latsko, a wholesale liquor dealer in North Plainfield, and his wife, who were arrested on a charge of the illegal selling of liquor in Middlesex county, were arraigned before Judge Daly in the county court, here, today. They entered a plea of non vult and Judge Daly suspended sentence. He gave as his reasons for so doing that the violation of the law took place prior to a recent decision of the higher courts in which it is held that liquor dealers in one municipality cannot deliver liquor in another municipality.

Judge Daly gave Mr. and Mrs. Latsko timely warning, telling them that if they appeared before him again on a similar charge they would get the full penalty.

OFFICERS INSTALLED BY FRATERNAL ORDER

Camp No. 1, Patroitic Order of America, at a regular meeting last night in Odd Fellows' Hall, Babcock building, installed the following officers for the coming year: Past President, Mrs. William Clausen; president, Mrs. Theodore VanPelt; vice president, Mrs. George Passmore; conductor, Mrs. Andrew McDowell; trustees, Mrs. Mary A. Cable and Mrs. Andrew McDowell; orator, Mrs. Andrew McDowell. At the next regular meeting the balance of the officers will be installed.

The installation was in charge of Mrs. Helen Freeman, district president and member of the local camp. After the business there was a social time and refreshments were served.

BELATED ANNOUNCEMENT OF MARRIAGE CEREMONY

Belated announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Bertha Rhine, of Trenton, and Fred Jackson, formerly of New York, but more recently of East Millstone. The ceremoney was performed in New York on July 1. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Welsh, of East Millstone, were the attendants. After the wedding Mr. Jackson gave a dinner party at the Hotel Astor and the couple are spending their honeymoon in Canada.

Mr. Jackson has a number of friends in this city. He possesses considerable wealth and devotes most of his time to traveling and his favorite sports, hunting and fishing.

BORO TO BUILD BRIDGE ADDITION

Sewer Pipe to Be Run Through New Structure Over Stoney Brook.

FREEHOLDERS CONSENT

$50 Towards Fund For Washington Rock Memorial—Adjourn to July 22 to Take Further Action on Sewers.

Permission having been obtained from the Somerset County Board of Freeholders to make additions to the new bridge now being constructed over Stony brook on West End avenue, the North Plainfield Council at an adjourned meeting, last night, adopted three resolutions offered by Councilman W. J. Buttfield, covering this work, and $1,000 was appropriated to meet the expense.

The Council desired to lay a sewer pipe across the brook to be connected with the proposed general sewage system when that is constructed, and recently, the members requested the Ferro Concrete Company, which is building the bridge, to defer work on a certain part of it until the matter was settled. On Tuesday, Mayor Robert Clark, Jr., and Borough Engineer H. C. Van Emburgh appeared before the Board of Freeholders at Somerville and secured permission to lay the pipe, it being understood that that borough is always to maintain and keep in repair that addition to the bridge.

The resolutions offered by Mr. Buttfield incorporated the action of the freeholders in giving permission for the work, including the provision that the borough is to always maintain and keep that part in repair; also appropriated $1,000 to cover the cost of the work and authorizing the Mayor and clerk to purchase 80 feet of 24 inch cast iron pipe and to enter into an agreement with the Ferro Concrete Company to make the addition to the bridge and lay the pipe. It is understood that the cost of the work is not to exceed $8 per cubic yard.

The sewage pipe is to be encased in a concrete addition to the arched bridge so that it will not be visible at any point. When the borough builds its sewage system it will then be an easy matter to connect up this pipe to complete the system.

Another resolution offered by Mr. Buttfield and adopted, authorized the appropriation of $50 to the fund being raised to erect a suitable monument at Washington Rock, which project is in the hands of Continental Chapter, D. A. R. Mr. Buttfield explained that under the provisions of the law of March 10, 1880, the Council has the right to appropriate an amount not exceeding $100 for such purposes, and he thought it fitting that $50 be given to this object. Building permits were given to Albert Pangborn to erect a shed on Chatham street and to Edmund Rushmore to erect a summer house in the rear of his lot at his home on Sycamore avenue.

The Council adjourned to meet on Monday night, July 22, when it is expected that there will be a further consideration of the joint sanitary sewage proposition. Mayor Robert Clark, Jr., and Councilmen Stahl, Woolston and Milne attended last night's meeting. George B. Wean, the city typist and stenographer, acted as clerk in the absence of Charles M. Dolliver, who is on his vacation.

HERE ON HONEYMOON.

George W. Stout, with his bride, who was Miss Bernice Burhans, of New York, will spend tomorrow and Sunday with the former's brother, Rev. Royal A. Stout, pastor of the Netherwood Reformed church. The couple was married in New York on July 3. He is a graduate of Rutgers College, and while in college was organist at the chapel and also at the First Reformed church, New Brunswick. Mr. Stout has recently taken the position of office manager in New York for the Universal Film Manufacturing Company, which is a combination of all the film manufacturers in this country and foreign countries.

HOLD DETECTIVE FOR GRAND JURY

Laveratt, Who Shot Youth, Released in $1,000 Bail by Judge Daly.

VERSION OF PRISONER

Acted in Self-Defense is Story of Jersey Central Detective—His Victim, John Levelle, in Muhlenberg Hospital Will Recover.

Charles Laveratt, the New Jersey Central detective, who is alleged to have shot John Levelle, aged 19 years, of Bayonne, at Dunellen, Wednesday afternoon, while trying to arrest the latter, appeared before Judge Daly in New Brunswick, this morning, to answer to a charge of atrocious assault and battery preferred by Levelle. He was accompanied by Henry L. DeForest, of this city, who is one of counsel for the New Jersey Central.

Laveratt entered a plea of not guilty and Judge Daly held him in $1,000 bail for the action of the Grand Jury. The bond was furnished by a security company. Prosecutor George Silzer, who was in court at the time, stated that he had been informed that Levelle was now out of danger and would recover.

Detective Laveratt in company with Detective Charles Hans, also of the New Jersey Central, was engaged in hunting for trespassers on the railroad property when the trouble occurred. Levelle with three companions had been riding on a freight train and on spying the detectives got off the train and started for the main street in Dunellen. The detectives followed them and Laveratt alleged that as he was about to arrest Levelle the latter struck him with a club. In the struggle which followed the detective alleges that his revolver dropped out of his pocket and as both men tried to get possession of it the weapon was discharged. The bullet entered Levelle's thigh, severing the main artery. The victim was brought to Muhlenberg Hospital by the detectives who afterwards gave themselves up at police headquarters. Later they were turned over to the Middlesex county authorities.

HE SAVED A YOUTH FROM WATERY GRAVE

Walter Debele Rescues Edward Allen at the Maple Avenue Pond.

Edward Allen, a young man residing on Lincoln place, the borough, had a narrow escape from drowning in Debele & Stahl's pond on Maple avenue, last night, and it was only through the quick action of Walter W. Debele, son of William G. Debele, of Somerset street, that he was rescued. Allen, in company with a number of companions, went to the pond for a swim, and all were engaged in doing a lot of "stunts."

Allen was showing Debele some fancy dives, imitating Annette Kellerman, when he lost his balance and fell in the water in the wrong position. The young man had come up twice and was going down when Debele jumped into the pond with his clothing on and after much difficulty succeeded in bringing Allen to the bank.

The swimmer was in a semi-conscious and weakened condition and it was a half-hour before he was able to go home. Allen said afterward that he had a cramp in his leg which made it impossible for him to help himself.

A NEIGHBORS' ROW.

Christina Bendle, of 206 Manson place, was arraigned in the city court this morning on a charge of keeping a disorderly house and with using vile and abusive language at the complainant, Mrs. Eliza Dunham, who lives next door to the Bendle woman. The affair turned out to be a personal quarrel between the two women and Judge DeMeza suspended sentence with the understanding that they would go home and in the future keep the peace.

WESTON-WASHINGTON.

Miss Sylvania Watson and Eugene Washington, colored, of Hampton, Va., were quietly married Wednesday night at the home of Edward Watson, 328 Plainfield avenue, by Rev. Littleton Sturgess, pastor of the A. M. E. church.

ORDERS OF CO. K FOR ENCAMPMENT

Captain Charles Peterson Issues Instructions to the Men of His Command.

TO LEAVE ON MONDAY

The Fifty-five Men Are Told What They Are to Carry—At Mt. Gretna, Pennsylvania, July Fifteen to Twenty-four.

Co. K received orders today from Captain Charles Peterson relative to the approaching encampment of his command at Mt. Gretna, Pa. The members will participate in a joint camp of instruction for the regular army and organized militia from July 15 to 24. The company will report at the armory in heavy marching order at 7 o'clock next Monday morning, and assemble at 7:15 sharp to march to the siding of the New Jersey Central to entrain special cars.

It is expected that fifty-five members of the company will go into camp. Each enlisted man will take with him the following articles: To be worn on person, one pair khaki breeches, one olive drab shirt, one pair canvas puttees, one pair serviceable marching shoes, russet; one campaign hat, one pair socks, underclothing, shirt and drawers. To be carried while marching to and from train: One rifle and bayonet, one belt and scabbard, one canteen, one haversack, one meat can, one knife, fork and spoon, one tin cup, one blanket roll, containing one shelter tent with pole and pins, one blanket, one poncho, one comb, one cake of soap, one pair of socks, one tooth brush, one towel.

To be carried in surplus kit: One khaki blouse, one olive drab shirt, one pair olive drab breeches, one towel, one pair drawers, one undershirt, one pair serviceable russet shoes, two pairs stockings, one pair shoe laces, extra, one bed sack, one razor, if desired.

All articles to be carried in the surplus kit will be neatly and compactly wrapped in the bed sack and handed to the squad leaders not later than 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The squad leaders will arrange to receive the bundles from the men composing their respective squads and to pack them in the squad bags so that they may be turned over to the quartermaster sergeant for transportation to the baggage car not later than 3:15 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

The surplus kits of the sergeants will be packed in one bag marked "sergeants" and turned over to the quartermaster sergeant for transportion to the baggage car not later than 3:15 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The armory will be open on Sunday from 1 to 3 o'clock in the afternoon for the purpose of packing the squad bags.

With a view to the elimination from the camp of all contagious diseases, each man must be examined by a medical officer prior to departure. Those who have not already been examined will report for examination at the administrative office tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. The officers of the company will be at the administrative office tomorrow night to give any further information that may be required.

MORE HEAT IS PROMISED FOR TOMORROW AFTERNOON

A sigh of gratitude was heaved this morning by suffering Plainfielders who have wilted for four consecutive days. Comparative comfort prevailed—thanks to the kindly showers of yesterday afternoon and early this morning. But local people, forewarned, are taking advantage of the breathing spell to prepare for another scorching session.

The weather prophets have sounded the warning. With cheerful pessimism they predict a return of the frying temperature by tomorrow afternoon and with scientific coolness point to the fact that things are warming up in the Rockies and Middle West. To back this prophecy the weather manipulators recall that there was a letup of two days in the heat spell last July before the worst.

So cheer up! If you felt more comfortable today attribute it to self-hypnotism, auto suggestion or simple imagination. The weather man isn't going to let you deceive yourself.

At 9 a. m. today the thermometer at the State Trust Company showed to be 79. At 11 o'clock it was 86, and at 1 o'clock stood at 96.

The humidity showed 80 per cent. at 8 today and 78 at 9 a. m.

Mrs. Frank Rickert, of 68 Fairview avenue, North Plainfield, who was stricken with apoplexy last Saturday, is in a serious condition.

MAN KILLED IN PANAMA NOT FORMER PLAINFIELDER

Barton Davis, of West Fifth street, has received word from the War Department at Washington that the R. W. Davis, the American, killed in a fight in Panama early in the month, was not his cousin as was at first believed. The name of the man killed with Rath W. Davis, a civilian, and an American who was traveling for his health. He was simply a spectator at the fight, but in some way which has not been explained, was killed.

The former Plainfielder, who it was thought was killed, is Russell S. Davis, who is a cousin of Barton Davis and Elston B. Davis, of this city. Before going to Panama he was employed by the Public Service Corporation at the Park avenue office. He holds a position of cashier for the Government in Panama.

PLAN BUSINESS BLOCK FOR SOMERSET STREET

Elston M. French has decided to improve some of his Somerset street property, near his residence, by the erection of a one-story brick building to replace some of the old wooden structures that have stood there for nearly forty years. The buildings to be removed are now occupied by George Stewart, the wheelwright, Benjamin Estrin, the tailor; Daniel Stello, a barber, and Horace J. Martin, Sr., blacksmith.

Mr. Martin owns the building he occupies, paying ground rent to Mr. French. He has been in that location over thirty years. The tenants have been given notice to remove by September 1. The new building, to be constructed of brick, will have a total frontage of 100 feet and a depth of 60 feet. There will be five large stores each 20x60. It is the intention later on to build two additional stores to the building. Edward V. French is the architect. The work will be started September 1 and completed by November 1.

DR. AYERS' LECTURE ON THE JERSEY MOSQUITO

The lecture delivered by Dr. Edward A. Ayers, of Branchville, in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium last night, took the form of a treatise on the mosquito extermination question. He had made an extensive study of the mosquito problem which is so much before the public just at present. A number of slides were thrown on the screen showing live specimens of this pest in a number of different stages of development. The speaker outlined the life history of the insect from the time the animal left the egg in the larvea form until it left the water and became a flying species of the insect type.

Dr. Ayers told of a number of different methods employed to get rid of the pest and described the harm resulting from the bite of the common mosquito.

FIGHT WHEN DISCHARGED EMPLOYE DEMANDS WAGES

In the city court this morning, Charles Borman, of 255 East Second street, was arraigned on a charge of disorderly conduct preferred against him by S. W. Rushmore, owner of the Rushmore Dynamo Works. It was alleged that when Borman was discharged by Mr. Rushmore this morning he refused to leave the premises until he received his money. The employer claimed that he could not make the proper change to pay the man and told the latter to return Saturday morning for his wages. Borman demanded his money and then Mr. Rushmore tried to eject him from the office. A fight ensued and the owner called a policeman who brought Borman into court. Several witnesses were on hand to corroborate the complainant's charges and Judge DeMeza found the accused guilty but discharged him with a reprimand.

NEXT EXCURSION JULY 18.

The next excursion to Asbury Park from this city will be that of the Sunday schools of the First Presbyterian, Congregational and Park Avenue Baptist churches on Thursday, July 18. The train will leave Plainfield at 8:15 in the morning and returning leave the shore at 6:30 o'clock in the evening.

DR. GARDINER WILL PREACH.

Owing to the illness of Rev. Edwin Shaw, pastor of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, Rev. Dr. T. L. Gardiner will preach tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock. The covenant meeting and the celebration of the Lord's Supper have been postponed infinitely.

VERDICT IS GIVEN BY LIABILITY ACT

Employe Hurt by Fall From Ladder Awarded $10 a Week for 298 Weeks.

SUED WALTER ARNOLD

Peter A. VanFleet, a Carpenter, first Litigant in Union Co. Under New Law, Awarded Damages Provided by the Statute.

Peter A. VanFleet, of 126 East Front street, a carpenter, who was severely injured last winter by a fall from a house on which he was working on Greenbrook road, was given a verdict yesterday by Judge E. S. Atwater in a suit brought against Walter Arnold, of this city, by whom Van Fleet was employed. The suit named Walter Arnold and his father, Charles Arnold, as defendants, but the court held as the son was building the house for his father the latter could not be made a party to the action.

The decision of the court was that Mr. Van Fleet should be paid $10 a week for 298 weeks, that being in accordance with the provisions of the Employers' Liability Act under which the suit was brought inasmuch as Mr. Van Fleet was unable to make a satisfactory settlement otherwise. Charles M. Dolliver, assisted by S. S. Swackhamer, represented the plaintiff, while Judge W. G. DeMeza and Winfield S. Anglemyan were the counsel for the defendant.

Mr. Van Fleet, who was engaged by Walter Arnold to assist in building a house, claimed that he fell from a narrow scaffolding that was covered with ice, and that as he slipped he took hold of some lathing which gave way causing him to lose his balance and fall. He contended that if this had been put up properly he wouuld not have fallen.

The defendant's counsel maintained that Mr. Arnold was not to blame for the accident and also attacked the constitutionality of certain features of the Employers' Liability Act. This, Judge Atwater said, he would let the higher courts decide. However, under the provisions of the act the defendant can have the case reviewed within one year if in his judgment the circumstances would warrant.

Mr. Van Fleet's injuries consisted of a fractured rib, concussion of the brain and a double vision. He has partially recovered from some of the injuries, but he still has the double vision which gives him a great deal of trouble and has seriously interfered with his following his trade.

PROTEST AGAINST WATER CHARGE BY HOTEL MEN

Long Branch, July 12.—A score or more of hotel men met at the Takanassee Hotel Wednesday night and formed the Long Branch Hotel Men's Association. The officers elected were: President, Arthur Sussman; vice presidents, Gornando Pannaci and Ernest Fidbourg; secretary, T. Fraser Price; treasurer, L. V. Kahn. The officers and J. O. Throckmorton form the board of directors. The dues were fixed at $10 per year, and former Judge Wilbur A. Heisley was appointed to draft bylaws.

The association appointed George E. Poland to appear before the city commissioners next Wednesday and ask their co-operation in an effort to reduce water rates charged by the Tintern Manor Water Company.

Up to last year a flat rate was charged the hotel-keepers. Judge Heisley took exception to a rate of $8[illegible] for the Takanassee and appealed to the State Utility Board, which resulted in the metering of all large hotels and users of water. This season the hotels are paying anywhere from $100 to $150 per month, or in some cases six times as much as last year. It is planned to appeal to the Utility Board again.

OWNERSHIP OF N. J. & PA. NOT DISCLOSED IN SUIT

Morristown, July 12.—The suit of George M. Frech against the New Jersey and Pennsylvania Railroad was concluded Wednesday without revealing the ownership of the road.

George Fisher, who has been the reputed owner of the road, volunteered the statement that such was not the fact and that he had no official position with the railroad, but acted as agent for it in some offices. The extension to Speedwell avenue, about which the suit was brought, according to his statement, was financed by a syndicate of three or four men. He refused to disclose their identity, but when pressed as to objections made by one of them said that he was Benjamin Paskus. The syndicate, he said, had no treasurer.

The suit was brought to recover a balance which Mr. Frech claimed is due him for the grading of the extension of the railroad to Speedwell avenue and the building of a concrete bridge at the Lake road. The parties differ as to yardage, classification of excavated material and cost of the bridge. The total cost was about $15,000.

The suit was brought before Judge Black, who referred it to Philander B. Pierson as referee. Pitney, Hardin & Skinner represented the railroad, and Willard W. Cutler the contractor. Four days have been necessary to try the case, and decision was reserved.

ENDEAVORERS WILL CONVENE.

New Brunswick, July 12.—The twenty-sixth annual State convention of the Christian Endeavor Society will be held in the Reformed church of this city October 2, 3 and 4. Endeavorers of national reputation will address the convention. Among them will be William Shaw, general secretary of the national society, and Walter D. Howell, of the Christian Endeavor World. Following the convention, Karl Lehman, interstate field secretary, is to tour the State, covering an itinerary to be arranged later by State President Sproul. He will spend a month in New Brunswick.

'CARNEGIE' LIBRARY.

Elizabeth, July 12.—Arrangements are being made to open the new Carnegie Library here early in September. It is believed that the contractors will complete their work next month and the building committee has been instructed to obtain bids for any extra work that is necessary.

RACES ON LAKE HOPATCONG

Lake Hopatcong, July 12.—The racing events held annually under the auspices of the Lake Hopatcong Yacht Club will commence tomorrow with trial races for the handicapping of motorboats. The races will then continue on each succeeding Saturday for the rest of the season.

Miss Elsa M. Cook, of the borough, is visiting at the country home of her cousin, Miss Louise Schmidt, in Millington.

UNLICENSED DENTISTS ARE FINED $200 EACH

New Brunswick, July 12.—Bertram Smith and Maurice Sapiro, local dentists, indicted for practicing without a license, pleaded non vult Wednesday afternoon and were each fined $200. This is their second offense. They got off the first time with $50 fine. They were released in the custody of their lawyers for two or three days to give them time to pay the fine.

WIDOW WAS ROBBED AT PATERSON WAKE

William Martin, of Paterson, was arrested on a charge of having robbed the widow of a friend at the latter's wake in Passaic, Wednesday. John McDermott, of No. 1,1[illegible] Main avenue, Lakeview, died on Tuesday. Among those who went to the wake was Martin. About 4 o'clock Wednesday morning all fell asleep except Martin. Mrs. Patrick McDermott, a sister of the widow, awoke with a start to see Martin running from the house.

Mae McDermott, sixteen years old, ran a quarter of a mile to notify Police Chief Coughlan, who chased Martin in an automobile.

"You are the meanest man I ever heard of and you belong in prison," said Judge Sutton to Martin. "I'll give you the limit prescribed by law, fifty dollars' fine or six months."

Martin went to the workhouse.

HELP PASTOR'S ENTERPRISE.

Highlands, July 12.—After a great deal of discussion at several Council meetings, the Council of the Borough of Highlands granted Rev. Dr. Thomas Huss, pastor of the First Methodist church of this town, permission to run an outdoor motion-picture show in connection with his "Ice Cream Parlors and Home Baker," conducted for the benefit of the church, in Bay avenue. Mr. Huss stated that his idea was to run a strictly moral show free of charge for those who patronized the ice cream parlor and believed that the class of pictures he intends to show will uplift the community. Several years ago Dr. Huss was assigned this charge and found an old dilapidated wooden church. He set out to build a new edifice and today there stands a modern cement block church built through his personal efforts. Dr. Huss expects to lift the balance of the mortgage on the building this fall through the efforts and work in the enterprise of which he is at the head.

PRECAUTIONS AGAINST PLAGUE.

Perth Amboy, July 12.—Dr. C. W. Naulty, federal health officer at the port of Perth Amboy, is trying to secure the co-operation of the State and local health authorities to make the territory for which he is responsible safe from the danger of the bubonic plague now in Cuba. Dr. Naulty has been ordered by Surgeon-General Blue to use every possible precaution. He has appealed to acting Mayor Garretson and the local Board of Health for aid in destroying the rats which infest the wharves and waterfront property. Dr. G. W. Fithian, the State health officer of the port of Perth Amboy, and Dr. A. Clark Hunt, chief inspector of the State Board of Health, have been asked to help also. Dr. Naulty is the only federal officer between Lewes, Del., and New York. Last year he passed and inspected 100 vessels, many of them from what is now known as the plague zone.

HISTORIC HALL IN THE DISCARD

Perth Amboy, July 12.—Combination Hall, for more than seventy years a landmark in this city, is being demolished. It was in use as a tenement until recently, when it was closed because it could not be made to conform to the requirements of the State tenement law. The building was erected in High street, near Smith, early in the last century. Twenty-five years ago it was moved to its present location in State street. Lawrence Lodge, No. 62, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, was instituted in the hall in 1848. The campaign clubs formed to parade when Abraham Lincoln was nominated for the Presidency were drilled there, and thirty years ago it was the headquarters of the Jefferson Light Guards, the local Democratic organization in the Garfield-Hancock campaign. The last use of the hall, twenty years ago, was by a colored Baptist church.

KNOCKED DOWN BY AN AUTO.

Metuchen, July 12.—Frederick Fox, an architect, was knocked down and run over Wednesday night at Main street and Amboy avenue by an automobile driven by Dr. Leslie F. Kountze. Mr. Fox was one of several persons about to board a street car when the machine bore down upon the group, and before he could get out of the way, he was struck. His right leg and ankle are badly sprained. He laid no charge against the physician.

NEGRO PHYSICIAN HELD.

Asbury Park, July 12.—On a charge of practicing medicine without a license, Dr. David Barksdale, colored, who said he was a graduate of Bermuda University, was held under $200 bail yesterday, for the grand jury. The evidence regarding the charge was brought out incidentally in the trial of Barksdale for assault and battery.

SATURDAY AND MONDAY

The Last 2 Days of the Anniversary Sale

Don't let this last opportunity slip by. Extraordinary bargains in all Departments are the attraction, and of course the sale cannot continue indefinitely. Monday is absolutely the last day. It is our desire to make these last days the most successful of the sale, so where quantities have been sold out we have replaced those bargains with others just as good and in some instances better. As we say, every Department contributes its share of these wonderfully low priced Birthday Bargains—prices so low as to mean far too substantial savings to be overlooked.

IN MONDAY'S PAPERS WE WILL HAVE A SPECIALLY INTERESTING ANNOUNCEMENT FOR YOU CONCERNING THOSE BIRTHDAY GIFTS WHICH STILL REMAIN UNCLAIMED—LOOK FOR IT.

We want you to get these Birthday Gifts which we have been offering during the sale, so have hit upon a plan whereby ALL will have an opportunity of securing one, and we therefore ask you to be sure and see next Monday's papers in which we will tell you what the plan is.

The Double Event!

Great Alteration Sale — First Semi-Annual Clearance Sale

A Money-Saving Event of Dual Importance

EVENT 1—Success has crowned our efforts since the opening of our new Store. We promised you at the start to keep abreast of the times, and intend to keep that promise. We need more room for the New Departments to be added this Fall, and in keeping with our New Main Floor and Subway Store, we need an entire new and up-to-dat Store Front. Contracts have been let to carry out the plans. The Carpenters, Painters, etc., want to start as soon as possible. We need the room to give them to work unhampered. Therefore the Great Alteration Sale. Which means also alteration downward of Rosenbaum's already low prices.

EVENT 2—The fixed policy of this store is that goods shall not be carried over from one season to another, for Merchandise bought at Rosenbaum's must be fresh, clean, dependable and of the present season's style. This compels a General Clearance Sale of all Spring and Summer Goods on hand to make way for our New Fall Stock.

These Two events coming at one time affords us the opportunity of placing our entire Stock on Extraordinary Special Sale at Prices so low that Competition is Impossible. Read this advertisement carefully—Bring it along with you. For here you will find no overstatement of Values. Merchandise of the Highest Class, and all of this season's fashions. Grasp this opportunity, for those who hesitate loose their one great chance to save money as this sale will make the Rosenbaum Store the mecca for bargain seekers for years to come.

ADVERTISE IN THE DAILY PRESS

MOSQUITO BITES DRIVE MAN INSANE

Attacked by Tramps, Left Nude In Swamp Land. A BLOOD POISONING FEARED

Physicians Say That Victim May Recover, Although It Is Thought That Insects' Bites May Cause Infection of a Serious Nature—Patient Lucid Only at Intervals.

Egg Harbor, N. J., July 12.—The man found in Mankiller swamp and taken to an Atlantic City hospital was identified by his brother as J. C. Holsworth of 826 Carpenter street, Philadelphia.

On Monday night residents of Cologne, a village near here, heard cries for help coming from the swamp. At daybreak a searching party started out and after an hour found a man entirely nude buried almost up to his neck in the mire. By means of a rope and plank he was rescued.

When he was examined in the hospital it was found that mosquitoes had bitten him until the pain had driven him out of his mind. He is still in a bad condition and only once or twice a day does he have lucid intervals. In one of these periods he gave the address of his relatives in Philadelphia.

From all that could be learned Holsworth left Philadelphia on Sunday to go to Vineland. It is thought that he was attacked by tramps, who beat him and then left him insensible in the road, after taking his clothing, and that he wandered into the mire. Physicians say he may recover, though they fear that the mosquito bites may cause infection of a serious nature.

BLOWOUT CAUSES PANIC.

Several Passengers Badly Hurt In Scramble at Newark.

Newark, N. J., July 12.—A number of passengers on a westbound Orange trolley car became panicstricken when a fuse in the controller box on the front platform blew out as the car was passing No. 7 engine house on Wallace place, Newark.

In the scramble some of the passengers jumped from the car while others were pushed off. Several of them were badly hurt. Mrs. Jane Johnson, sixty-five, of West Orange had her right leg broken. Miss Edna Smith, twenty-two, of this city was injured on the legs, and Alma and Olga Sorenson, seventeen and nineteen, respectively, of Bloomington were cut and bruised. The first two named were removed to the City hospital, while the other two were taken to the home of a relative in an automobile. The firemen extinguished a slight blaze in the car and gave first aid while awaiting ambulances.

STORM DAMAGE IN JERSEY.

Woman Knocked Unconscious When Lightning Strikes Her Home.

New Brunswick, N. J., July 12.—Mrs. Joseph G. Dey of Cranbury was knocked unconscious when lightning struck her house. The bolt shattered the front of the house and the porch. At the same time lightning struck and destroyed the barn of James H. Conover. A large chestnut tree on the lawn of the home of Raymond Griggs, near Cranbury, was struck and set on fire. The large barn of B. L. Gulick of Kingston was struck and twenty-five tons of hay destroyed.

Lightning struck the home of Charles Malmross, Jr., of Highland Park, and tore a hole in the roof, going down to the cellar through the partitions.

AUTO UPSETS GIRL BICYCLIST

Minnie Specht of Paterson Thrown to Sidewalk and Badly Hurt.

Paterson, N. J., July 12.—Minnie Specht, the fourteen-year-old daughter of Captain John Specht of Engine company 2, is dying at the General hospital from a fracture of the skull as the result of being wedged between an automobile and the curb while riding her bicycle.

The automobile was owned by Frank Schmittes of Park avenue, Hackensack. As it turned into the street Minnie Specht, who was passing on her bicycle on the far side of the street, was forced against the curb and hurled to the sidewalk, striking on her head.

TEST BLOOD OF MILKMEN.

Trying to Determine Cause of Woodbury's Typhoid Outbreak.

Woodbury, N. J., July 12.—Inspectors from the New Jersey board of health started to test the blood of all the dealers, milk wagon drivers and farm hands who milk cows in this vicinity to determine whether one or more of these men are responsible for the typhoid outbreak.

No new cases of typhoid were reported and several physicians believe some of the twelve cases now listed as "typhoid" are only malaria.

Wisdom From the Bench.

SEEKS WRIT TO REVIEW AWARDING OF CONTRACTS

Trenton, July 12.—On behalf of Thomas J. McGovern, a local contractor who figured conspicuously in various scandals involving the personal conduct of members of the Legislature a few years ago, application was made to Justice Trenchard yesterday for writs of certiorari to review the action of the City Commission in awarding various street paving contracts to Charles A. Reid & Co.

Justice Trenchard granted rules to show cause why the writs should not be allowed. McGovern claimed that he was the low bidder and should have been awarded the contracts because the variety of brick which he offered to furnish met the minimum requirements called for by the specifications.

WILD DUCKS BROODING ALONG UPPER PASSAIC

Farmers who gather the natural meadow hay from the Big Piece, Little Piece, Swinefield, Troy, Black and Great Meadows, bordering on the upper Passaic River between Two Bridges and Hanover, say that that section of the State contains many broods of wild ducks. Wood duck, teal, beach duck, Mallards and spoon bills have all been seen.

While gathering hay on the Swinefield Meadow, Marvin Keating, of Pine Brook reports seeing four flocks of duck between the juncture of the Passaic and Rockaway Rivers and Great Bend, a distance of less than one-half mile. Frank VanDuyne, of Montville, says he saw several flocks also in the slough of the Big Piece.

Ducks, excepting an occasional wood duck, have not been known to breed in the swamp lands bordering the upper Passaic before for many years. Their presence this year is assigned to two reasons. One of these is because of the length of the wet season this spring, which flooded the low lands for long distances back from the stream. The other is because the law now prohibits spring shooting of water fowl and the migratory birds were not frightened away.

It is said that the flocks contain from eight to fifteen birds each.

WOMAN RAZOR WIELDER HELD FOR GRAND JURY

Hoboken, July 12.—On a charge of atrocious assault and battery, Mrs. Anna Elste, of 570 Clinton avenue, West Hoboken, who slashed Mrs. Mary Diestenberg, janitor at the same address, with a razor Tuesday night, was sent to the Hudson county jail Wednesday to await the action of the grand jury.

The imprisonment of the woman leaves a five months' old baby and two other children in the sole care of the father. Mrs. Diestenberg was released from the hospital long enough to appear against her assailant. It was neseccary to take twenty-three stitches to close her wounds. The physicians say she is not yet out of danger.

Mrs. Elste demanded leave to make a statement, but Recorder Vollmer, before whom she was arraigned, warned her that anything she said might be used against her, and when she persevered refused to listen to her. Her husband has not yet been able to get bail for her.

MOTOR VEHICLE DEPUTY IN SMASH, SWEEPS ROAD

Asbury Park, July 12.—While driving along Lake avenue Wednesday afternoon a large touring car in which A. Barrett Le Massena, deputy commissioner of motor vehicles in Newark, and three other persons were riding, smashed into a bakery wagon, slightly injuring the driver, Charles Croxon.

The police took no part in the affair. Mr. Le Massena, after the car had been driven to a nearby garage, borrowed a broom and swept the road clean of the glass.

COMMITTED ON THEFT CHARGE.

Elizabeth, July 12.—Charged with stealing $78 and two gold-plated watches, John Maroski, forty years old, was arrested Wednesday afternoon and today was committed in default of bail. John Smith, of 122 Bond street, of Elizabethport, alleged that the prisoner entered his bedroom June 8 while he was asleep, and took the money and watches out of his vest. Maroski then disappeared from Elizabeth and had only just returned.

Was not the principal argument in justification of the throwing out of two Roosevelt delegates to the Republican national convention from the State of California, based on the fact that the National Committee claimed that it had more authority in matters of this kind than did State law. Why cannot the same argument be used inversely by these electors, who may state that they were selected under State laws to vote for Theodore Roosevelt, and as the convention does not recognize State laws, they need not recognize the convention? However, if one side violates a State law for political reasons, that is no reason why the other side should also ignore the law.

In Minnesota, for example, the electors were chosen to vote for Mr. Roosevelt before the National convention, and Mr. Taft did not even have "a look in" in that State. Why should not these electors, if chosen in November at the polls, carry out that pledge, especially when they frankly claim that Mr. Taft has secured the party label by questionable means, take the position that they feel neither morally nor legally bound to vote for him. That is one argument.

Probably none of the men who are supporting Mr. Roosevelt feel that he will be elected. The newspapers tell us every day about the Progressive leaders who do not believe in a third party, but who will not vote for Mr. Taft, and have thrown their support to Governor Wilson. We have yet to see where a real Progressive leader has declared for President Taft personally. If the Roosevelt men have no hope of winning, and say so frankly, claiming that their battle is for a principle, why should they not stick to the man whom they are pledged to by their nomination?

As a rule railroad detectives do not enjoy the best of reputations. Especially is this true when the estimate of local police is put on them. That the railroad policemen are too ready with the gun and do not have the very highest regard for the value of human life is a popular impression. It is therefore the duty of the Middlesex county prosecutor to give his attention to the shooting of a nineteen years old youth by a Jersey Central detective at Dunellen on Wednesday afternoon. This wounding did not take place on the railroad property but on the public highway and it is not the first time that Charles Laveratt, the detective held to await the action of the grand jury, has been connected with a shooting. We have no desire to prejudice the case of this man, but we consider hat human life is altogether too valuable to be dealt with recklessly and that it should be ascertained definitely whether this man Laveratt was justified in firing upon his victim.
